COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY

PREFACE

This is the third edition of the Code of Laws of the District of Columbia prepared and published pursuant to the Act of May 29, 1928 (45 Stat. 1007), as amended by the Act of March 2, 1929 (45 Stat. 1541). This edition contains all the general and permanent laws relating to or in force in the District of Columbia, on January 2, 1951, except such laws as are of application in the District of Columbia by reason of being laws of the United States general and permanent in their nature. The Code is prima facie evidence of existing law.

Many new features and improvements were incorporated in the 1940 edition, reflecting, as far as practicable, the preferences of the users of the Code who responded to a questionnaire sent out by the Committee on Revision of the Laws to several thousand attorneys and Government officers and employees within the District of Columbia.

An entirely new arrangement of subject matter was adopted which presents all the procedural statutes in Volume One and the general statutes, in modern alphabetical arrangement, in Volume Two. A complete index to the statutes contained in the Code will be found at the back of Volume Two, together with complete reference tables. In addition, the 1929 edition citation is indicated in brackets next to the section number of each section of the text.

A modern method of numbering the sections was adopted. The number before the dash indicates the title; the last two numbers indicate the section; and the middle number or numbers indicates the chapter. No chapter in any title has more than 60 sections. An example: Section 11–1208 would be found as Section 8 of chapter 12 in Title 11. Section 1–240 would be Title 1, chapter 2, section 40.

Provision has been made for future annual supplements in the form of pocket parts rather than separate volumes.

The 1940 edition was the first official Code containing the annotations of the court decisions interpreting these laws. Numerous cross references and historical notes have been added to increase the usefulness of this Code. These annotations, cross references and historical notes are brought up to date in this edition and will be kept current in the future annual supplements.

The work of preparing copy was done by the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives with the assistance of the Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., of Albany, N. Y. The Committee acknowledges especially the valuable assistance rendered by Charles J. Zinn, law revision counsel for the Committee. Acknowledgment is also made to the numerous officials of the District and Federal governments and the members of the bench and bar of the District whose suggestions have been most helpful.

The Committee invites all criticisms and suggestions looking to the improvement of the Code.

Chairman.

Sec. 2 of the Act of April 20, 1948 (62 Stat. 176, ch. 217, § 2) provided that the sentence reading "The salary of each of the members of the Board shall be $5,000 per annum" shall remain in force and effect until the classification provided for by Sec. 25–104a shall have been effected and thereafter the sentence shall stand repealed.

§ 25–104a. Classification of positions of members of board.

The positions of members of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board for the District of Columbia shall be classified in accordance with the Classification Act of 1923, as amended. (April 20, 1948, 62 Stat. 176, ch. 217, § 1.)

No member or employee of the board, directly or indirectly, individually, or as a member of a partnership or association, or stockholder in a corporation shall have any interest whatsoever in dealing in, manufacturing, transporting, or storing alcoholic beverages, nor receive any commission or profit what-

No provision of this section, however, shall prevent any such member or such employee from purchasing, transporting, and keeping in his possession any alcoholic beverage for the personal use of himself or members of his family or guests. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 322, ch. 4, § 5.)

The right, power, and jurisdiction to issue, transfer, revoke, and suspend all licenses under this chapter shall be vested solely in the board, and the action of the Board on any question of fact shall be final and conclusive; except that, in case a license is revoked or is suspended for a period of more than thirty days by the Board, the licensee may, within ten days after the order of revocation, or the order of suspension for a period of more than thirty days is entered, appeal in writing to the Commissioners to review said action of the Board, the hearings on said appeal to be submitted either orally or in writing at the discretion of the Commissioners, and the Commissioners shall not be required to take evidence, either oral, written, or documentary. The decision of the Commissioners on any question of fact involved in such appeal shall be final and conclusive. Pending such appeal, the license shall stand suspended unless the Commissioners shall otherwise order.

That the right and power be vested in the Board, for good cause shown, to issue permits for the sales of stocks of beverages located in the District of Columbia by individuals, corporations or associations, partnerships, executors, administrators, being owners thereof, receivers or other representatives of a court, to persons licensed under this chapter.

Said Board shall have such other authority and perform such other duties as the Commissioners may, by regulation, prescribe. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 322, ch. 4, § 6; Aug. 27, 1935, 49 Stat. 897, ch. 756, § 2.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

INDEFINITE SUSPENSION

While license of any person appealing from order of Alcoholic Beverage Control Board revoking license is suspended until final decision of Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia, the commissioners have no right to cause suspension of license to continue indefinitely by arbitrarily refusing to decide issue of fact. Lambros v. Young, 1944 (145 F. 2d 341, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 247).

INJUNCTION AGAINST REVOCATION

Where this section provided that decision of Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia on questions of fact on appeal from Alcoholic Beverage Control Board should be final, but order revoking liquor license was upheld by a one to one vote, an injunction would be granted against enforcement of order which would terminate when appeal was reinstated, and after appeal was reinstated the license would stand suspended during time reasonably necessary for commissioners to reach a final decision. Lambros v. Young, 1944 (145 F. 2d 341, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 247).

INTERIM AFFIRMANCE

The effect of a one to one vote of Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia upholding order of Alcoholic Beverage Control Board revoking liquor license is an interim affirmance of the Board which suspends the license until final decision of the commissioners. Lambros v. Young, 1944 (145 F. 2d 341, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 247).

MANDAMUS

In action in the nature of a petition for writ of mandamus to require Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to issue a retailers' Class "C" license to petitioning restaurant, question before the court was whether action of the Board was based upon substantial evidence, and if it was, mandamus would not lie, whereas if it was not, next question was whether action of Board was arbitrary or capricious. Clore Restaurant v. Payne (D. C., D. C. 1947, 72 F. Supp. 677).

QUESTIONS OF FACT

Under this section governing appeal to Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia from Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, provision that decision of commissioners on questions of fact should be final means that the Board of Commissioners must actually make a decision. Lambros v. Young, 1944 (145 F. 2d 341, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 247).

A one to one vote of Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia upholding order of Alcoholic Beverage Control Board revoking liquor license did not constitute a "decision of fact" within statute providing that decision of commissioners on question of fact should be final. Lambros v. Young, 1944 (145 F. 2d 341, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 247).

SCOPE OF REVIEW

Where the ruling of the majority of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board denying application for a retailers' Class "C" license is based upon sound legal principles and upon substantial evidence, the federal court would not be justified in interfering, but if there is no substantial evidence upon which to predicate a rejection, the action of the Board is subject to judicial review. Clore Restaurant v. Payne (D. C., D. C. 1947, 72 F. Supp. 677).

§ 25–107 [20: 1907]. Powers of Commissioners—Rules and regulations—Licenses.

The Commissioners are hereby authorized to prescribe such rules and regulations not inconsistent with this chapter as they may deem necessary to carry out the purposes thereof and to control and regulate the manufacture, sale, keeping for sale, offer for sale, solicitation of orders for sale, importation, exportation, and transportation of alcoholic beverages in the District of Columbia for the protection of the public health, comfort, safety, and morals.

The Commissioners shall have specific authority to make rules and regulations for the issuance, transfer, and revocation of licenses; to facilitate and insure the collection of taxes; to govern the operation of the business of licensees, with full power and authority to prescribe the terms and conditions under which alcoholic beverages may be sold by each class of licensees; to forbid the issuance of licenses for manufacture, sale, or storage of alcoholic beverages in such localities in, and such sections and portions of, the District of Columbia as they may deem proper in the public interest; to limit the number of licenses of each class to be issued in the District of Columbia and to limit the number of licenses of each class in any locality in, or sections or portions of, the District of Columbia as they may deem proper in the public interest; to forbid the issuance of licenses for businesses conducted on such premises as they, in the public interest, may deem inappropriate; to forbid the issuance of any class or classes of licenses for businesses established subsequent to January 24, 1934, near or around schools, colleges, universities, churches, or public institutions, to prescribe the hours during which beverages may be sold and to forbid the sale on Sundays; but the commissioners shall not authorize the sale by any licensee, other than the holder of a retailer's license, class E, of any beverages on Sundays other than light wines and beer, and any such sale is hereby prohibited. The powers and authorities expressly enumerated are to be construed as in addition to, and not by way of limitation of, the general powers herein granted. Different regulations may be prescribed for the different classes of licenses, for the different classes of beverages, and for different localities in or sections or portions of the District of Columbia.

Any regulations promulgated hereunder shall become effective five days after being published in any daily newspaper of general circulation in the District of Columbia. Such regulations may be altered or amended from time to time as the commissioners may deem desirable. The Commissioners shall also have authority in any time of public emergency, without previous notice or advertisement, to prohibit the sale of any or all beverages during the period of such emergency. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 322, ch. 4, § 7.)

(a) Denatured alcohol produced and used pursuant to Acts of Congress and regulations promulgated thereunder;

(b) Patent, proprietary, medicinal, pharmaceutical, antiseptic, and toilet preparations;

(c) Flavoring extracts, syrups, and food products;

(d) Scientific, chemical, mechanical, and industrial products.

(a) No individual, partnership, association, or corporation shall, within the District of Columbia, manufacture for sale, keep for sale, or sell any alcoholic beverage without having first obtained a license under this chapter for such manufacture or sale, except as provided in section 25–131.

(b) No individual shall, within the District of Columbia, offer for sale or solicit any order for the sale of any alcoholic beverage, irrespective of whether such sale is to be made within or without the District of Columbia, unless such individual has first obtained a license of the character described in section 25–111, subsection (k).

Nothing in this subsection shall apply to any offer for sale or solicitation made upon the premises designated in the license of the vendor.

No individual shall within the District of Columbia offer any beverage for sale to, or solicit orders for the sale of any beverage from, any person not a licensee under this chapter, irrespective of whether such sale is to be made within or without the District of Columbia.

(c) A physician may administer alcoholic beverages to a bona fide patient in cases of actual need when, in the judgment of the physician, the use of alcoholic beverages is necessary.

(d) A dentist who deems it necessary that a bona fide patient being then under treatment by him is in actual need of and should be supplied with alcoholic beverages as a stimulant or restorative, may administer to the patient alcoholic beverages.

(e) A veterinarian who deems it necessary may, in the course of his practice, administer or cause to be administered alcoholic beverages to a dumb animal.

(f) A person in charge of an institution regularly conducted as a hospital or sanatorium for the care of persons in ill health, or as a home devoted exclusively to the care of aged people, may administer or cause to be administered alcoholic beverages to any bona fide patient or inmate of the institution who is in need of the same, either by way of external application or otherwise for emergency medicinal purposes, and may charge for the alcoholic beverages so administered. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 323, ch. 4, § 9.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

As originally enacted, the exception set forth included § 32 of the act as well as § 31 (§ 25–131). Section 32 dealt with manufacturer's permits under the National Prohibition Act and has been omitted as obsolete. See also compiler's notes to §§ 25–101 and 25–132.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

AFFIDAVITS OF JUROR

Affidavit in present case does not present facts justifying an exception to the rule that jurors in the federal courts will not be heard for the purpose of impeaching the verdict returned where the facts sought to be shown are such that they essentially inhere in the verdict. Only an extreme case will bring about an exception. Edwards v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 286).

ARGUMENT TO JURY

No prejudicial error was committed by the prosecuting attorney, who, in his argument to the jury, explained the failure to introduce the marked money by saying "it had not been introduced because it could not be determined which was used for the purchase of the whiskey and which was used for other purposes." Assuming that "other purposes" referred to the purchase of lottery tickets, there was no prejudicial error since there was no testimony in respect of claim that defendants were anywise connected with the sale of lottery tickets. Edwards v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 286).

PLACE OF COMMITTING OFFENSE

Failure of government in prosecution for keeping and selling alcoholic beverages without a license, to offer specific proof offenses were committed in District of Columbia, but merely giving location of house by its street number, was not ground for reversal. Hoover v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 730).

SEARCH WARRANT

Where defendants were charged with violating statute in the sale of alcoholic beverages, the intervention of Sunday did not prevent a valid execution of the search warrant. The relevancy of the validity of the search warrant was not apparent where under the ruling of the trial court, no evidence seized under the warrant was used in evidence against defendant. Edwards v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 286).

SEPARATE OFFENSES

In prosecution for keeping and selling alcoholic beverages without a license, the admission of evidence that defendant, who had been identified as person who paid rent for house and one by whose bedside whisky and marked money were found, had come from an adjoining bedroom into room where liquor was being sold and consumed, and joined in a crap game, was not erroneous as allowing proof of separate offense. Hoover v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 730).

SUPPRESSION OF EVIDENCE

Where counsel for defendant charged with keeping and selling alcoholic beverages without a license objected to admission of bottles of liquor and marked money on ground search warrant had not been produced in evidence, without moving to suppress during more than two weeks between arraignment and trial, admission of testimony that raiding officers who came upon premises after the first group of officers had made their purchases were there pursuant to a search warrant, was not error. Hoover v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 730).

§ 25–110 [20: 1910]. Licenses — Applications for — To whom granted—Records.

The board is authorized to issue licenses to individuals, partnerships, or corporations, but not to unincorporated associations, on application duly made therefor, for the manufacture, sale, offer for sale, or solicitation of orders for sale of alcoholic beverages within the District of Columbia. The board shall keep a full record of all applications for licenses, and of all recommendations for and remonstrances against the granting of licenses and of the action taken thereon. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 324, ch. 4, § 10.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

MANDAMUS

Rejection by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, of application for a retailers' Class "C" license on ground that area was adequately serviced, was arbitrary and capricious, in absence of any evidence on the point. Clore Restaurant v. Payne (D. C., D. C. 1947, 72 F. Supp. 677).

In action in the nature of a petition for writ of mandamus to require Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to issue a retailers' Class "C" license to petitioning restaurant, question before the court was whether action of the Board was based upon substantial evidence, and if it was, mandamus would not lie, whereas if it was not, next question was whether action of Board was arbitrary or capricious. Clore Restaurant v. Payne (D. C., D. C. 1947, 72 F. Supp. 677).

§ 25–111 [20: 1911]. License classifications—Fees.

It shall not authorize the sale of beverages to any other person except as may be provided by regulations promulgated by the Commissioners under this chapter. Except in the case of clubs, hotels, and passenger-carrying marine vessels serving meals in interstate commerce of one hundred miles or more, no beverage shall be sold or served to a customer in any closed container. Such a license shall authorize the holder thereof to sell beer and light wines at the place therein described for consumption only in said place. Except in the case of clubs and hotels, no beer or light wines shall be sold or served to a customer in any closed container. In the case of restaurants, taverns, and passenger-carrying marine vessels and club cars or dining cars on a railroad, said beer and light wines shall be sold or served only to persons seated at public tables or at bona fide lunch counters, except that beer and light wines may be sold or served to assemblages of more than six individuals in a private room when such room has been previously approved by the Board. Such package shall not be opened after sale, nor its contents consumed, on the premises where sold. Such prescription, when filled, shall be canceled by writing across its face the word "Canceled" together with the date on which it is presented and filled, and such prescriptions shall be numbered consecutively as filled and kept on file in consecutive order. No such prescription shall be refilled. The annual fee for such license shall be $40.

No beer or light wines shall be sold or served to a customer in any unopened container. The issuance of such a permit shall be solely in the discretion of the Board. The fee for each such license shall be $7.50 per day.

(k) Solicitor's licenses.—Such a license shall authorize the licensee to offer for sale to or solicit orders from licensees for the sale of any beverage on behalf of the vendor whose name appears upon such license and whom the solicitor represents. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as repealing any portion of section 7 of the District of Columbia Appropriation Act for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, approved July 1, 1902, as amended (32 Stat. 622, ch. 1352, § 7). Every license shall particularly describe the place where the rights thereunder are to be exercised, and beverages shall not be manufactured or kept for sale or sold by any licensee except at the place so described in his license: Provided, however, That the holder of a manufacturer's or wholesaler's license or the holder of a retailer's license, class C, and class D, issued for a passenger-carrying marine vessel or club car or a dining car on a railroad may store beverages, with the consent of the Board, upon premises other than the premises designated in the license. AMENDMENT

Prior to the 1935 amendment the first sentence of the proviso read as follows: "Provided, however, That the holder of a manufacturer's or wholesaler's license may store beverages, with the consent of the board, upon premises other than designated in the license."

§ 25–115 [20: 1914]. Applications for licenses—Qualification of applicants—Moral character—Citizenship—Prior convictions—Ownership—Interest of manufacturer in retail business—Character of premises—Advertising application—Hearing of protests—Objection of property-owners—Removal of bonded liquor from Government warehouses—Bond—Penalty.

(a) Any individual, partnership, or corporation desiring a license under this chapter shall file with the Board an application in such form as the Commissioners may prescribe, and such application shall contain such additional information as the Board may require, and (except in the case of an application for a manufacturer's license, retailer's license, class E, or solicitor's license) shall contain a statement setting forth the name and address of the true and actual owner of the premises upon which the business to be licensed is to be conducted. Before a license is issued the Board shall satisfy itself:

1. That the applicant, if an individual, or, if a partnership, each of the members of the partnership, or, if a corporation, each of its principal officers and directors, is of good moral character and generally fit for the trust to be in him reposed.

2. That the applicant, if an individual, or, if a partnership, each of the members of the partnership, or, if a corporation, each of its principal officers, is a citizen of the United States, not less than twenty-one years of age, and has not, within five years prior to the filing of such application, been convicted of a misdemeanor under the National Prohibition Act, as amended and supplemented, or, within ten years prior to such filing, been convicted of any felony.

3. Except in the case of an application for a solicitor's license, that the applicant is the true and actual owner of the business for which the license is desired, and that he intends to carry on the business authorized by the license for himself and not as the agent of any individual, partnership, association, or corporation, and that he intends to superintend in person the management of the business licensed, or intends to have some other person, to be approved by the Board, manage the business for him, which said manager must possess all of the qualifications required of a licensee hereunder.

4. That in the case of an applicant for a wholesaler's license or a retailer's license (except a retailer's license class E), no manufacturer or wholesaler of beverages other than the applicant (including a stockholder holding 25 per centum or more of the common stock, or an officer of any manufacturer or wholesaler of beverages, if such manufacturer or wholesaler is a corporation), has such a substantial interest, direct or indirect, in the business for which the license is requested, or in the premises in respect of which such license is to be issued, as in the judgment of the Board may tend to influence such licensee to purchase beverages from such manufacturer or wholesaler, and that such business will not be conducted with any money, equipment, furniture, fixtures, or property rented from or loaned or given by any such manufacturer or wholesaler (including such stockholder or officer) or sold by such manufacturer or wholesaler (including such stockholder or officer) to any such licensee for less than the fair market value or upon a conditional sale agreement or chattel trust.

5. That the place for which the license is to be issued is an appropriate one considering the character of the premises, its surroundings, and the wishes of the persons residing or owning property in the neighborhood of the premises for which the license is desired.

(b) Before granting a retailer's license, except a retailer's license class E or class F, the Board shall give notice by advertisement published once a week and for at least two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the District of Columbia. The advertisement so published shall contain the name of the applicant and a description by street and number, or other plain designation, of the particular location for which the license is requested and the class of license desired. Such notice shall state that remonstrants are entitled to be heard before the granting of such licenses and shall name the time and place of such hearing. There shall also be posted by the Board a notice, in a conspicuous place, on the outside of the premises. This notice shall state that remonstrants are entitled to be heard before the granting of such license and shall name the same time and place for such hearing as set out in the public advertisement; and, if remonstrance against the granting of such license is filed, no final action shall be taken by the Board until the remonstrant shall have had an opportunity to be heard, under rules and regulations prescribed by said Board. Any person wilfully removing, obliterating, marring, or defacing said notice shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this chapter. The provisions of this subsection relating to notice by advertisement in some newspaper of general circulation shall not apply to the issuance of a license to a retailer for any place of business if such retailer is the holder of a license of the same class for the same place and if said last-mentioned license is in effect on the date the application for the new license is filed.

(c) Except in the case of a retailer's license class C or class D, to be issued for a hotel or club, or a retailer's license class B or class E, no place for which a license under this chapter has not been issued and in effect on the date the written objections hereinafter provided for are filed, shall be deemed appropriate if the owners of a majority of the real property within a radius of six hundred feet of the boundary lines of the lot or parcel of ground upon which is situated the place for which the license is desired, shall, on a form to be prescribed by the Commissioners filed with the Board, object to the granting of such license. In determining the sufficiency of such objections the owners of all such property not lying within a residential use district as defined in the zoning regulations and shown in the official atlases of the Zoning Commission shall be taken as consenting to the granting of such license, except that the Commissioners shall have power to file objections on behalf of any property lying within such radius owned by the United States or the District of Columbia. This subsection shall be construed as a limitation upon the discretion of the Board in granting a license and not as a limitation upon the discretion of the Board in refusing a license: Provided, however, That none of the provisions of this chapter shall prevent the Board from promulgating regulations to permit the lawful bona fide owners of warehouse receipts for bonded liquors stored in Government warehouses either in the District of Columbia or elsewhere from withdrawing such bonded liquors for personal use on payment to the Collector of Taxes for the District of Columbia, taxes at such rates as provided in this chapter: Provided, That such bona fide holder of such warehouse receipts held legal title to such warehouse receipts prior to the passage of this chapter.

(d) A separate application shall be filed with respect to each place of business, except that a company engaged in interstate commerce may file one application for a license for the operation thereunder of all of its dining, club, and lounge cars operated on railroads within the District of Columbia. The required license fee shall be paid to the collector of taxes and his duplicate receipt shall accompany the application for license. In the event the license is denied the fee shall be returned. Every such application shall be verified by the affidavit of the applicant, if an individual, or by all of the members of a partnership, or by the president or vice president of a corporation. If any false statement is knowingly made in such application, or in any accompanying statement under oath which may be required by the Commissioners or the Board, the person making the same shall be deemed guilty of perjury. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Rejection by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, of application for a retailers' Class "C" license on ground that area was adequately serviced, was arbitrary and capricious, in absence of any evidence on the point. Clore Restaurant v. Payne (D. C., D. C. 1947, 72 F. Supp. 677).

In action in the nature of a petition for writ of mandamus to require Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to issue a retailers' Class "C" license to petitioning restaurant, question before the court was whether action of the Board was based upon substantial evidence, and if it was, mandamus would not lie, whereas if it was not, next question was whether action of Board was arbitrary or capricious. Clore Restaurant v. Payne (D. C., D. C. 1947, 72 F. Supp. 677).

No retailer's licenses except of classes B or E shall be issued for any business conducted in a residential-use district as defined in the zoning regulations and shown in the official atlases of the Zoning Commission, except for a restaurant or tavern conducted in a hotel, apartment house, or club, and then only when the entrance to such restaurant or tavern is entirely inside of the hotel, apartment house, or club and no sign or display is visible from the outside of the building.

No wholesaler's license shall be issued for any establishment conducted in such residential-use district and no manufacturer's license shall be issued for any establishment conducted in a residential or first commercial-use district as defined in the zoning regulations and shown in the official atlases of the Zoning Commission. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as permitting the establishment of a bottling works in violation of said zoning regulations. (Jan. 24 1934, 48 Stat. 330, ch. 4, § 16; May 27, 1949, 63 Stat. 135, ch. 146, title V, § 503.)

Witnesses, other than those employed by the District of Columbia or the United States Government, summoned to appear before said board shall be entitled to the same fees as are paid witnesses for attendance before the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, but said fees need not be paid said witnesses in advance of their appearing and testifying, or producing books, records, papers, documents, or other legal evidence before said board. Any person who shall wilfully swear falsely in any proceeding, matter, or hearing before said board shall be deemed guilty of perjury. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 333, ch. 4, § 26.)

(c) Nothing herein contained shall be construed as repealing or modifying any provision of sections 40–301 to 40–304 and 40–603 to 40–612. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 333, ch. 4, § 27.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

Sections 40–301 to 40–304, 40–603 to 40–612 contain provisions concerning operation of motor vehicles.

§ 25–128 [20: 1928]. Drinking of alcoholic beverage in street, alley, park, parking, or unlicensed public place forbidden—Intoxication in street, alley, park, or parking forbidden—Penalty.

(a) No person shall in the District of Columbia drink any alcoholic beverage in any street, alley, park, or parking; or in any vehicle in or upon the same; or in any place to which the public is invited for which a license has not been issued hereunder permitting the sale and consumption of such alcoholic beverage upon such premises; or in any place to which the public is invited (for which a license under this chapter has been issued) at a time when the sale of such alcoholic beverage on the premises is prohibited by this chapter or by the regulations promulgated thereunder. No person shall be drunk or intoxicated in any street, alley, park, or parking, or in any vehicle in or upon the same or in any place to which the public is invited or at any public gathering and no person anywhere shall be drunk or intoxicated and disturb the peace of any person.

AMENDMENT

The 1935 amendment added that part of the first sentence of paragraph (a) that follows the last semicolon, and that part of paragraph (b) that follows the word "court" the first time it appears in the said paragraph.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

FINES AND IMPRISONMENT

Where defendant, convicted of being drunk in a public park and unable to pay fine, was imprisoned, his argument that general authority given by § 11–606 and 11–616 is limited by the later § 25–128, is without merit where the general statute existed before the special one Congress must have been aware of the older statutes, and had it intended later to modify the earlier, would have done so. Peoples v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 75 A. 2d 845).

§ 25–129 [20: 1929]. Search warrants for illegal alcoholic beverages—Penalty for resisting officer—Disposition of illegal beverages—Payment of bona fide liens.

(a) A search warrant may be issued by any judge of the police court of the District of Columbia or by a United States Commissioner for the District of Columbia when any alcoholic beverages are manufactured for sale, kept for sale, or sold in violation of the provisions of this chapter, and any such alcoholic beverages and any other property designed for use in connection with such unlawful manufacture for sale, keeping for sale, or selling may be seized thereunder, and shall be subject to such disposition as the court may make thereof, and such alcoholic beverages may be taken on the warrant from any house or other place in which it is concealed.

(b) A search warrant can not be issued but upon probable cause supported by affidavit particularly describing the property and the place to be searched.

(c) The judge or commissioner must, before issuing the warrant, examine on oath the complainant and any witness he may produce, and require their affidavits or take their depositions in writing and cause them to be subscribed by the parties making them.

(d) The affidavits or depositions must set forth the facts tending to establish the grounds of the application or probable cause for believing that they exist.

(e) If the judge or commissioner is thereupon satisfied of the existence of the grounds of the application or that there is probable cause to believe their existence, he must issue a search warrant signed by him with his name of office to the major and superintendent of police of the District of Columbia or any member of the Metropolitan police department, stating the particular grounds or probable cause for its issue and the names of the persons whose affidavits have been taken in support thereof, and commanding him forthwith to search the place named for the property specified and to bring it before the judge or commissioner.

(f) A search warrant may in all cases be served by any of the officers mentioned in its direction, but by no other person, except in aid of the officer on his requiring it, he being present and acting in its execution.

(g) The officer may break open any outer or inner door or window of a house, or any part of a house, or anything therein, to execute the warrant, if, after notice of his authority and purpose, he is refused admittance.

(h) The judge or commissioner must insert a direction in the warrant that it be served in the daytime unless the affidavit is positive that the property is in the place to be searched in which case he must insert a direction that it be served at any time in the day or night.

(j) When the officer takes property under the warrant, he must give a copy of the warrant together with a receipt for the property taken (specifying it in detail) to the person from whom it was taken by him, or in whose possession it was found; or, in the absence of any person, he must leave it in the place where he found the property.

(k) The officer must forthwith return the warrant to the judge or commissioner and deliver to him a written inventory of the property taken, made publicly or in the presence of the person from whose possession it was taken, and of the applicant for the warrant, if they are present, verified by the affidavit of the officer at the foot of the inventory and taken before the judge or commissioner at the time, to the following effect: "I, R. S., the officer by whom this warrant was executed, do swear that the above inventory contains a true and detailed account of all the property taken by me on the warrant."

(l) The judge or commissioner must thereupon, if required, deliver a copy of the inventory to the person from whose possession the property was taken and to the applicant for the warrant.

(m) The judge or commissioner must annex the affidavits, search warrant, return, inventory, and evidence, and at once file the same, together with a copy of the record of his proceedings, with the clerk of the police court.

(p) If any of said property so seized, other than the said beverages and the containers thereof, shall be subject to a lien which is established by intervention or otherwise to the satisfaction of the court as being bona fide and as having been created without the lienor's having any notice that said property was to be used in connection with the illegal manufacture for sale, keeping for sale, or selling of alcoholic beverages, the court, upon the conviction of the accused, shall order a sale of said property at public auction and the officer making the sale, after deducting the expenses of keeping the property, the fee for the seizure and the cost of the sale, shall pay all such liens according to their priorities, and such lien or liens shall be transferred from the property to the proceeds of the sale thereof. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 334, ch. 4, § 29.)

Any permittee thereunder may make an application for a license under this chapter and, if said application is approved by the Board, such permittee shall surrender his permit and he shall be allowed a refund of the permit fee prorated as hereinafter provided. Any permittee under said Act of April 5, 1933, may surrender his permit and receive a refund of the permit fee prorated from the date of surrender of such permit to the date of expiration thereof. All such refunds shall be paid from the permanent indefinite appropriation for refunding erroneously paid taxes in the District of Columbia. All permits issued under said Act of April 5, 1933, shall remain in force and effect for the respective periods for which they were issued, unless sooner surrendered. After the approval of this chapter no taxes shall be collected under section 11 of the Act approved April 5, 1933. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 336, ch. 4, § 31.)

The Beverage License Act, §§ 1801–1816, inclusive, of D. C. 1929 Supp. V, title 20 (act of Apr. 5, 1933, 48 Stat. 25, ch. 19, §§ 1–16) was repealed by § 31 of the act of 1934, effective one year from the date of approval of this chapter.

§ 25–132 [20: 1933]. Penalty for violation where no specific penalty provided—Prosecution by corporation counsel in police court—Prosecution for felonies by United States Attorney.

Prosecutions for violations of this chapter shall be on information filed in the police court by the corporation counsel or any of his assistants, except for such violations as are felonies, and prosecutions for such violations as are felonies shall be by the United States Attorney in and for the District of Columbia or any of his assistants. COMPILER'S NOTE

Section 32 of the act of 1934, which appeared as title 20, § 1932 of Supp. V of D. C. Code 1929, is omitted as obsolete. See also note to § 20–101.

Section 34 of the said act, which appeared as title 20, § 1934 of Supp. IV of D. C. Code 1929, provided as follows: "All laws which prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages in certain defined sections or parts of the District of Columbia are hereby repealed."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CONSOLIDATION

It was not error for trial court to refuse to consolidate the counts of keeping liquor for sale where motion was made at end of government's case on ground that appellant could have asked for a bill of particulars before trial and could have pleaded a defective information. Davenport v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 67 A. 2d 522).

EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES

A court may not limit cross-examination upon a pertinent subject at the outset, but after a substantial exploration of the subject, a judge is within his right in limiting examination which may become needlessly protracted. Where the record discloses that during a trial for the illegal sale of alcoholic beverages, appellant's counsel was permitted freely and fully to cross-examine all government witnesses, there was no undue restriction or limitation upon the right of cross-examination. Davenport v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 209; Appeal denied 180 F. 2d 909, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 430).

Where government witness admitted that during a recess, he had talked with another government witness who had been excluded from the court room, trial court did not abuse its discretion in permitting him to testify. Davenport v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 209, appeal denied, 180 F. 2d 909).

FAILURE TO REPORT VIOLATION

It is an offense for any officer to fail to report prohibition violations to the corporation counsel. Donnelley v. United States (276 U. S. 505, 72 L. Ed. 767, 48 Sup. Ct. 400).

INSTRUCTION

Police officers who, though privately employed, are engaged in keeping law and order in a public place, are neither informers nor detectives engaged in the business of spying for hire and are not the type of witnesses whose testimony the court must instruct must be received with caution. Davenport v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 209, appeal denied, 180 F. 2d 909).

Where judge's charge stated "I charge you it is his constitutional right not to take the stand if he [the appellant] wishes not to do so," it was not prejudicial error not to have stated that the fact appellant had not taken the witness stand, should not be construed in any way to his prejudice. Davenport v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 67 A. 2d 522).

OFFICERS OF THE UNITED STATES

Prohibition agent appointed by the commissioner, with the approval of the Secretary of Treasury, is not an "officer of the United States"; however police captains are officers of the District but not of the United States. Keehn v. United States ((C. C. A. 1), 300 Fed. 493).

§ 25–133 [20: 1935]. Sale by retailer of beverages on credit prohibited—Exceptions.

No holder of a retailer's license, except a retailer's license, class E, shall sell on credit any beverages except beer and light wines. This section shall not prohibit a club from extending credit to its members or the guests of members or a hotel from extending credit to its registered guests. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 336, ch. 4, § 35.)

CROSS REFERENCE

§ 25–134 [20: 1936]. Containers to be labeled—Content.

No rectified or blended spirits shall be sold unless the container in which it is sold shall bear a legible label firmly affixed thereto stating the nature and percentage of each ingredient therein (except water), the age of each such ingredient, and the alcoholic content of such spirits by volume. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 336, ch. 4, § 36.)

§ 25–135 [20: 1937]. Offenses under National Prohibition Act to be prosecuted.

Any offense committed, or any right accrued, or any penalty or obligation incurred, or any seizure or forfeiture made, prior to the effective date of this chapter, under the provisions of the National Prohibition Act, as amended and supplemented, or under any permit or regulation issued thereunder, or under any other provision of law repealed by this chapter, may be prosecuted or enforced in the same manner and with the same effect as if this chapter had not been enacted. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 337, ch. 4, § 37.)

§ 25–136 [20: 1938]. Saving clause.

If any provision of this chapter, or the application thereof to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the remainder of the chapter, and the application of such provisions to other persons or circumstances, shall not be affected thereby. (Jan. 24, 1934, 48 Stat. 337, ch. 4, § 38.)

§ 25–137 [20: 1939]. Unlawful transportation—Penalty.

(a) It shall be unlawful for anyone, except a public or common carrier or the holder of a manufacturer's, wholesaler's, or retailer's license issued under this chapter, to transport, import, bring, or ship or cause to be transported, imported, brought, or shipped into the District of Columbia from without the District of Columbia any wines, spirits, or beer in a quantity in excess of one gallon at any one time.

(b) No public or common carrier shall transport or bring into the District of Columbia wine, spirits, or beer in a quantity in excess of one gallon at any one time for delivery to any one person in the District of Columbia other than the holder of a manufacturer's, wholesaler's, or retailer's license issued under this chapter.

(c) The provisions of this section shall not apply to bona fide possessors of old stocks who are moving into the District of Columbia nor to embassies or diplomatic representatives of foreign countries, nor to wines imported for religious or sacramental purposes, nor to wine, spirits, and beer to be delivered to the holder of a manufacturer's, wholesaler's, or retailer's license issued under this chapter.

(d) The penalty for violation of this section shall consist of the forfeiture of the beverages transported, imported, or shipped or caused to be transported, imported, brought, or shipped in violation of this section, and a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for not more than six months. (Jan. 24, 1934, ch. 4, § 39, as added Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 803, ch. 766, § 4.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Other provisions concerning transportation, §§ 25–112, 25–138.

§ 25–138 [20: 1940]. Tax on beer.

(a) There shall be levied and collected by the District of Columbia on all beer sold by the holder of a manufacturer's or wholesaler's license, except such beer as may have been purchased from a licensee under this chapter, and except such beer as may be sold to a dealer licensed under the laws of any State or Territory of the United States and not licensed under this chapter, and on all beer purchased for resale by the holder of a retailer's license, except such beer as may have been purchased from a licensee under this chapter, a tax of $1 for every barrel containing not more than thirty-one gallons and at a like rate for any other quantity or for the fractional parts thereof. Unless the Commissioners shall by regulation prescribe otherwise, the collection and payment of such tax shall be in the manner following:

(1) Each holder of a manufacturer's or wholesaler's license shall, on or before the 10th day of each month, furnish to the assessor of the District of Columbia, on a form to be prescribed by the Commissioners, a statement under oath showing the quantity of beer subject to taxation hereunder sold by him during the preceding calendar month and shall, on or before the 15th day of each month, pay to the collector of taxes of the District of Columbia the tax hereby imposed upon the quantity of beer subject to taxation hereunder sold by him during the preceding calendar month.

(2) No licensee holding a retailer's license shall transport or cause to be transported into the District of Columbia for resale any beer, other than the regular stock on hand in a passenger-carrying marine vessel operating in and beyond the District of Columbia, or a club car or a dining car on a railroad operating in and beyond the District of Columbia, for which a retailer's license, class C or D, has been issued under this chapter, unless such licensee has first obtained a permit so to do from the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board. No such permit shall issue until the tax imposed by this section shall have been paid for the beer for which the permit is requested. Such permit shall specifically set forth the quantity, character, and brand or trade name of the beer to be transported and the names and addresses of the seller and of the purchaser. Such permit shall accompany such beer during its transportation in the District of Columbia to the licensed premises of such retail licensee and shall be exhibited upon the demand of any police officer or duly authorized inspector of the Board. Such permit shall, immediately upon receipt of the beer by the retail licensee, be marked "canceled" and retained by him.

(b) The Commissioners are authorized and empowered to prescribe by regulation such other methods or devices or both for the assessment, evidencing of payment, and collection of the taxes imposed by this section in addition to or in lieu of the method hereinbefore set forth whenever, in their judgment, such action is necessary to prevent frauds or evasions.

(c) The taxes imposed hereby, when collected, shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the District of Columbia. (Jan. 24, 1934, ch. 4, § 40, as added May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 376, ch. 223, § 8; May 27, 1949, 63 Stat. 136, ch. 146, title V, § 508.)

AMENDMENT

The 1949 amendment amended subsection (a) by striking out the figures and word "50 cents" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "$1". For effective date, see note for § 25–111.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

AUTHORITY TO TAKE POSSESSION

Comptroller's authority and power to take possession was precisely the power given him by statute to take possession of a national bank; and, if we are correct in this position, then it follows equally that under the powers vested in him by law he was authorized to investigate the condition of the bank and declare it insolvent, and to appoint a receiver and make an assessment against the stockholders. Dunn v. O'Connor (67 App. D. C. 76, 89 Fed. (2d) 820).

CONSTITUTIONALITY

This act was held constitutional. Lyons v. Bank of Discount ((C. C.-N. Y.), 154 Fed. 391).

This act incorporates all the United States Bank Acts which have to do with administration in the case of insolvent banks and gives to the Comptroller the same control and management as in the case of national banks. Hamilton v. Offutt (64 App. D. C. 385, 78 Fed. (2d) 735).

Where foreign bank establishes house in District of Columbia, it submitted itself to the provisions of this act. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. Allman (63 App. D. C. 116, 70 Fed. (2d) 282).

The liquidation of bank organized under West Virginia law and doing business solely in District of Columbia was governed by this chapter, and not by law of West Virginia. Parsons v. Barry (D. C., D. C. 1944, 59 F. Supp. 221, affirmed 148 F. 2d 21, certiorari denied 66 S. Ct. 32, 90 L. Ed. 431).

INSOLVENCY

Where the Comptroller of the Currency has held a bank to be insolvent and has appointed a receiver for it, the court will not substitute its judgment for the judgment of the Comptroller, unless it appears by convincing proof that the Comptroller's action is plainly arbitrary, and made in bad faith. United States Sav. Bank v. Morgenthau (66 App. D. C. 234, 85 Fed. (2d) 811).

LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS

This section does not impose double liability on stockholders where State laws impose none. Hamilton v. Offutt (64 App. D. C. 385, 78 Fed. (2d) 735, cert. den. 296 U. S. 592, 80 L. Ed. 419, 56 Sup. Ct. 121); Hamilton v. Bergling (66 App. D. C. 83, 85 Fed. (2d) 249).

Though bank stockholders' liability under state law may be enforced in the District of Columbia by a receiver appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency, both the existence and the duration of the liability must be determined by the law of the state of the bank's incorporation. Moran v. Cobb, 1941 (120 F. 2d 16, 73 App. D. C. 200, certiorari dismissed 62 S. Ct. 134, 314 U. S. 703, 86 L. Ed. 562).

NATIONAL SAVINGS BANK

The National Savings Bank of the District of Columbia was organized by the act of May 24, 1870, to accept deposits from depositors, to invest such funds for their benefit, and disburse revenues to the depositors. The corporators have no shares and receive no profits, and have not such interest as will warrant an action for an account and distribution of the profits. Huntington v. National Sav. Bank (96 U. S. 388, 24 L. Ed. 777).

PAYMENT OF INTEREST IN LIQUIDATION

When assets of insolvent bank being liquidated under Comptroller of the Currency are sufficient to pay more than 100 percent of principal amount of depositors' claims, depositors are entitled to interest on their claims from date of suspension until paid, computed at statutory or legal rate of jurisdiction in which the liquidation is had. Parsons v. Barry (D. C., D. C. 1944, 59 F. Supp. 221, affirmed 148 F. 2d 21, certiorari denied 66 S. Ct. 32, 90 L. Ed. 431).

Interest on time and savings deposits should be computed to date of bank's closing at contract rate, and after closing, deposits, whether savings or demand, should bear interest at local statutory rate on judgments. Parsons v. Barry (D. C., D. C. 1944, 59 F. Supp. 221, affirmed 148 F. 2d 21, certiorari denied 66 S. Ct. 32, 90 L. Ed. 431).

A judgment of United States Court of Appeals for District of Columbia that no part of assets of closed bank organized under state authority and doing business in District of Columbia could be turned over by receiver to stockholders until after principal and interest on debts were paid was res judicata of depositors' right to interest on their deposits. Parsons v. Barry (D. C., D. C. 1944, 59 F. Supp. 221, affirmed 148 F. 2d 21, certiorari denied 66 S. Ct. 32, 90 L. Ed. 431).

PERSONAL LIABILITY OF DIRECTORS

Directors of bank not liable personally for deposits made after expiration of charter, where bank continued business. Thompson v. Park Sav. Bank (64 App. D. C. 308, 77 Fed. (2d) 955, cert. den. 296 U. S. 592, 80 L. Ed. 419, 56 Sup. Ct. 104).

RECEIVER

Receiver is the mere instrument of the Comptroller, and the declaration of the Comptroller, rather than the receiver, is the essential factor in determining the necessity for the assessment. Here the Comptroller has made the decision, and his conclusion is not subject to attack or open to review except for fraud. Harper v. Moran (64 App. D. C. 210, 76 Fed. (2d) 980).

Plaintiff was appointed and qualified as receiver of the bank by the Comptroller of the Currency. Moran v. Schlosberg (67 App. D. C. 163, 90 Fed. (2d) 408).

REORGANIZATION PLAN

Comptroller of the Currency was acting within his statutory authority in holding that the plan of reorganization proposed by appellant was not fair and equitable as to the depositors and other creditors of the bank, and is not in the public interest, and that the Comptroller was right in refusing to adopt appellant's proposed plan, and consequently that his action in this behalf was not arbitrary or capricious. Cooper v. Woodin (63 App. D. C. 311, 72 Fed. (2d) 179).

§ 26–102 [5: 299]. Examination by Comptroller of the Currency—Section 84 of Title 12, United States Code, extended to banks and trust companies—Reserves.

(a) The Comptroller of the Currency, in addition to the powers now conferred upon him by law for the examination of national banks, is hereby further authorized, whenever he may deem it advisable, to cause examination to be made into the condition of any bank mentioned in section 26–101. The expense of such examination shall be paid in the manner provided by section 482, Title 12, U. S. Code relating to the examination of national banks.

(b) The provisions of section 84, Title 12, U. S. Code are hereby extended to apply to all banks and trust companies doing business in the District of Columbia.

(c) Each bank and trust company doing business in the District of Columbia and not a member of the Federal Reserve System shall within six months from March 4, 1933, establish and maintain reserves on the same basis and subject to the same conditions as may by law on March 4, 1933, or thereafter be prescribed for national banks located in the District of Columbia, except that such reserves shall be established and maintained at such agency or agencies which shall have the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency: Provided, however, (1) That the required reserves carried by such bank or trust company with an agency or agencies may, under the regulations and subject to such penalties as may be prescribed by the Comptroller of the Currency, be checked against and withdrawn by such bank or trust company for the purpose of meeting existing liabilities, and (2) that no such bank or trust company shall at any time make new loans or shall pay any dividends unless and until the total reserves required by law shall be fully restored. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1303, ch. 854, § 714; Mar. 4, 1933, 47 Stat. 1566, ch. 274, § 3.)

COMPILER'S NOTES

The act of March 4, 1933, cited to text, entitled "An Act to further regulate banking, banks, trust companies, and building and loan associations in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes," provides in section 9 as follows: "The right to alter, amend, or repeal this act is hereby expressly reserved. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, or part of this act shall for any reason be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder of this act, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered."

Section 84, title 12, U. S. Code, mentioned in paragraph (b), limits the liability of any person to bank.

AMENDMENT

The first paragraph of this section originally provided that the Comptroller might cause examination of any bank in the District organized under act of Congress, that he might, at his discretion, report thereon to Congress, and that the expense should be paid out of any appropriation made by Congress for special bank examinations. The 1933 amendment changed this paragraph to read as above and added subsections (b) and (c).

C. 311, 72 Fed. (2d) 179).

§ 26–103 [5: 300]. Banking—Foreign corporations not to engage in—Approval of Comptroller of the Currency—"Branches" defined—Building associations—Dissolution of solvent banking corporations—Penalties.

(a) No banking business shall be done in the District of Columbia except by corporations organized in accordance with the provisions of this Code, as amended, or by national banking associations organized in accordance with the laws of the United States, except that this paragraph shall not apply to (1) corporations engaged in and doing a banking business on March 4, 1933, (2) individuals, partnerships, associations, or corporations primarily engaged as brokers in buying, selling, exchanging, and/or otherwise dealing in stocks, bonds, and/or other securities, for the account of others, and incidentally thereto conducts banking transactions, (3) individuals, partnerships, associations, or corporations not doing a bank-of-deposit business.

(d) Any solvent financial institution in the District of Columbia under the supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency may go into liquidation and discontinue business by the vote of its shareholders owning two-thirds of its stock. NOTES TO DECISIONS

BANKS OPERATING PRIOR TO STATUTE

Bank incorporated under a state law operating a bank in the District of Columbia prior to April 26, 1922, was entitled to continue. (33 O. A. G. 395.)

STATE LAW DETERMINING LIABILITY

In absence of words creating liability claimed, or finding by necessary implication that the section plainly and convincingly adopts the national banking law of double liability, the law of Virginia as the place where bank was created would govern in measuring liability of appellees as stockholders. Hamilton v. Offutt (64 App. D. C. 385, 78 Fed. (2d) 735).

§ 26–104 [5: 300a]. Liability of stockholders of bank or savings company—"Entered into or incurred" defined—Certain provisions of United States Code extended to District of Columbia—Shareholders' liability not applicable to new stock issues.

(b) The shareholders, on March 4, 1933, of every savings bank or savings company other than building associations organized under authority of any Act of Congress to do business in the District of Columbia, and of every banking institution organized by virtue of the laws of any of the states of this Union to do or doing a banking business in the District of Columbia, shall be held individually responsible, equally and ratably, and not one for another for all contracts, debts, and engagements of such savings bank, savings company, or banking institution, entered into or incurred subsequent to March 4, 1933, to the extent of the amount of their stock therein at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such shares. The words "entered into or incurred" as used in this section, shall be held to include any extension or renewal of any contracts, debt, and engagement renewed or extended after March 4, 1933. The additional liability imposed by this subsection upon the shareholders of the savings banks, savings companies, and banking institutions specified in this subsection shall not apply with respect to shares in any such savings bank, savings company or banking institution issued after February 16, 1934.

(c) The provisions of U. S. Code, title 12, sections 55, 192, 193, 194, 198, 199, 200, 67, 191, 65, 197, and 62, are extended to apply to any bank, savings bank, or trust company organized, hereafter organized, or doing a banking business in the District of Columbia and to the shareholders of such institutions, except as limited by the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section: Provided, however, That the provisions of section 26–101 shall not be construed to be repealed by this section but shall have application to the banks, savings banks, savings companies, other than building associations, and trust companies embraced within this section.

(d) That portion of section 24 of the Judicial Code, as amended, applying to suits against national-banking associations (U. S. C., title 28, sec. 41, par. 16) shall be extended and shall apply to all actions arising under the provisions of this section. (Mar. 4, 1933, 47 Stat. 1566, ch. 274, § 4; Feb. 16, 1934, 48 Stat. 352, ch. 14, § 2.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

This section originally contained a paragraph (a) which was repealed by the act of February 16, 1934 (48 Stat. 352, ch. 14, § 1). It provided as follows: "The shareholders of every savings bank or savings company other than building associations now or hereafter organized under authority of any Act of Congress to do business in the District of Columbia and of every banking institution organized by virtue of the laws of any of the States of the Union to do or doing a banking business in the District of Columbia, who acquire in any manner the shares of any such savings bank or savings company or such banking institutions other than building associations after the enactment of this Act, shall be held individually responsible equally and ratably, and not one for another, for all contracts, debts, and engagements of such bank or company, to the extent of the amount of their stock so acquired therein, at the par value thereof in addition to the amount invested in such shares."

AMENDMENT

The last sentence of subsection (b) was added by the 1934 amendment which repealed the former subsection (a). See compiler's note.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

FOREIGN BANK DOING BUSINESS IN DISTRICT

When there was, at the time, no statute in the District creating double liability in the case of a stockholder of a foreign bank doing business exclusively in the District, the liability of the stockholder is determined by the charter of incorporation and laws of the State in which incorporation is had. Hamilton v. Bergling (66 App. D. C. 83, 85 Fed. (2d) 249).

§ 26–105. Shareholders' liability terminated after July 1, 1937—Conditions.

The additional liability imposed by section 26–104 upon the shareholders of savings banks, savings companies, and banking institutions and the additional liability imposed by section 26–322 upon the shareholders of trust companies, shall cease to apply on July 1, 1937, with respect to such savings banks, savings companies, banking institutions, and trust companies which shall be transacting business on such date: Provided, That not less than six months prior to such date, the savings bank, savings company, banking institution or trust company, desiring to take advantage hereof, shall have caused notice of such prospective termination of liability to be published in a newspaper published in the District of Columbia and having general circulation therein. In the event of failure to give such notice as and when above provided, a termination of such additional liability may thereafter be accomplished as of the date six months subsequent to publication in the manner above provided. Each such savings bank, savings company, banking institution, and trust company shall, before the declaration of a dividend on its shares of common stock, carry not less than one-tenth part of its net profits of the preceding half year to its surplus fund until the same shall equal the amount of its common stock: Provided, That for the purposes of this section, any amounts paid into a fund for the retirement of any preferred stock or debentures of any such savings bank, savings company, banking institution, or trust company, out of its net earnings for such half-year period shall be deemed to be an addition to its surplus if, upon the retirement of such preferred stock or debentures, the amount so paid into such retirement fund for such period may then properly be carried to surplus. In any such case the savings bank, savings company, banking institution, or trust company shall be obligated to transfer to surplus the amount so paid into such retirement fund for such period, on account of the preferred stock or debentures as such stock or debentures are retired. NOTES TO DECISIONS

GIFT CAUSA MORTIS

Where depositor, not in contemplation of impending death, had brother's name added to bank account, but did not pass a present interest therein to brother, and retained control of account, there was no "gift causa mortis". Gibson v. Industrial Bank of Washington (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 36 A. 2d 62).

JOINT ACCOUNT

A showing that name of depositor's brother was merely appended to bank account, without more, is insufficient to establish intention of depositor to establish a joint account with right of survivorship. Gibson v. Industrial Bank of Washington (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 36 A. 2d 62).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

Language of the act of incorporation "liable to the creditors" does not create an independent and direct property right of creditors enforceable only by them in an equity suit, but it is a right which, though created for their benefit, accrues to the Comptroller and through him to his receiver, by whom alone it is enforceable in the administration of the trust estate. Dunn v. O'Connor (67 App. D. C. 76, 89 Fed. (2d) 820).

§ 26–302 [5: 342]. Title insurance companies may become perpetual.

Any company formed prior to January 1, 1902, agreeably to law, for the purpose of insuring titles to real estate may become perpetual by filing, in the office of the recorder of deeds, a certificate to that effect, in like manner as is provided by law for the filing of the original certificate of incorporation. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1289, ch. 854, § 641.)

§ 26–303 [5: 342a]. Trust companies to have perpetual succession.

Any company transacting the business of a trust company and heretofore or hereafter organized or operating under the provisions of this title shall have perpetual succession from the date of its organization, or until such time as it be dissolved, or until its franchise shall become forfeited by reason of violation of law, or until terminated by either a general or special Act of Congress or until its affairs be placed in the hands of a receiver and finally wound up by him. COMPILER'S NOTE

The word "chapter" refers to the 1901 act of which this section is a part and which was the 1901 Code. As this is a criminal provision, it would probably be strictly construed to include only the sections of this title which, as they stand or as they have been amended, were contained in the said 1901 act (Code). These would be as follows: §§ 26–101, 26–102, 26–301 to 26–336, 26–401 to 26–415. The acts of Congress which are §§ 26–103 to 26–110 and 26–501 to 26–518 appear to be independent legislation, not purporting to amend the 1901 act (Code). Note also a similar provision in the act of March 4, 1909, 35 Stat. 1058, ch. 303 (§ 26–404) which purports to amend the 1901 act (Code).

§ 26–321 [5: 360]. Stock deemed personal estate of holder—Transfer—Face to show par value, amount paid.

The stock of such company shall be deemed personal estate, and shall be transferable only on the books of such company in such manner as shall be prescribed by the by-laws of the company; but no shares shall be transferable until all previous calls thereon shall have been fully paid. All certificates of the stock of any company organized under this title shall show upon their face the par value of each share and the amount paid thereon. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1307, ch. 854, § 733; July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 619, ch. 1352, § 6, par. 5.)

AMENDMENT

As enacted, the first sentence of this section was continued as follows: "and the said stock shall not be taxable in the hands of individual owners, the tax on the gross earnings of the company hereinbefore provided being in lieu of other personal tax." This has been deleted as repealed in view of paragraph 5 of § 6 of the 1902 act. See also amendment note to § 26–318 for deletion of provision for tax on gross earnings as provided by 1901 act.

§ 26–322 [5: 361]. Liability of stockholders.

(Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1307, ch. 854, § 734.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

DETERMINATION OF LIABILITY

Liability of a stockholder is determined by the charter of incorporation and the laws of the State in which incorporation is had, and no liability will be read into statute where none exists. Hamilton v. Offutt (64 App. D. C. 385, 78 Fed. (2d) 735, cert. den. 296 U. S. 592, 80 L. Ed. 419, 56 Sup. Ct. 121).

DOUBLE LIABILITY

Taking possession of District bank by Comptroller does not impose double liability on stockholders unless State does. Hamilton v. Offutt (64 App. D. C. 385, 78 Fed. (2d) 735, cert. den. 296 U. S. 592, 80 L. Ed. 419, 56 Sup. Ct. 121).

Double liability is no more the asset of the corporation than the double liability created by the District statute with relation to trust companies. In either case it is an asset of creditors and not of the corporation. Dunn v. O'Connor (67 App. D. C. 76, 89 Fed. (2d) 820).

§ 26–323 [5: 362]. Stock to be paid up in money only—Exception—Companies doing business prior to January 1, 1902.

§ 26–324 [5: 363]. Number of directors or trustees—Election—Tenure.

The stock, property, and concerns of such company shall be managed by not less than nine nor more than thirty directors or trustees, who shall, respectively, be stockholders, and at least one-half residents and citizens of the District of Columbia, and shall, except the first year, be annually elected by the stockholders at such time and place and after such published notice as shall be determined by the by-laws of the company, and said directors or trustees shall hold until their successors are elected and qualified. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1308, ch. 854, § 736.)

Subordinate officers may be appointed by the directors or trustees, and all such officers may be required to give such security for the faithful performance of the duties of their offices as the directors or trustees may require. If the directors or trustees of any company shall declare or pay any dividend the payment of which would render it insolvent, or which would create a debt against such company, they shall be jointly and severally liable as guarantors for all the debts of the company then existing, and for all that shall be thereafter contracted while they shall, respectively, remain in office. § 26–330 [5: 369]. Executors, administrators, guardians, or trustees not liable as stockholder—Estate liable.

No person holding stock in such company as executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee shall be personally subject to any liability as stockholder of such company, but the estate and funds in the hands of such executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee shall be liable in like manner and to the same extent as the testator or intestate or the ward or the person interested in such trust fund would have been if he had been living and competent to act and hold the stock in his own name. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1308, ch. 854, § 742.)

§ 26–331 [5: 370]. Increase or decrease of capital stock—Approval by Comptroller—Distribution of assets.

Any corporation which may be formed under this chapter may increase its capital stock by complying with the provisions of this chapter to any amount which may be deemed sufficient and proper for the purposes of the corporation.

Any company transacting the business of a trust company heretofore or after June 20, 1938, organized or operating under the provisions of this subchapter may by the vote of shareholders owning two-thirds of its capital stock reduce its capital to any sum not below the amount required by this chapter; but no such reduction shall be made until the amount of the proposed reduction has been reported to the Comptroller of the Currency and such reduction has been approved by said Comptroller of the Currency, and no shareholder shall be entitled to any distribution of cash or other assets by reason of any reduction of the common capital of any such corporation unless such distribution shall have been approved by the Comptroller of the Currency and by the affirmative vote of at least two-thirds of the shares of stock outstanding. COMPILER'S NOTE

The 1909 act amends § 691 of the 1901 act (Code) to read as above. It would seem, therefore, that the word "chapter" means the 1901 act (Code) and not merely §§ 26–404 and 26–405 (i. e., the sections of the 1901 act amended by the 1909 act) or that part of the 1901 act (Code) concerned with building associations (this chapter). However, similar provisions are found in § 732 of the 1901 act (Code) compiled herein as § 26–320.

AMENDMENT

Act of March 3, 1901, read as follows: "The object of such corporation shall be the accumulation of a capital in money, to be derived from the savings and accumulation by the members thereof, to be paid into said corporation in periodical instalments, in fixed and certain sums, and in such amount as shall be designated by the by-laws, until the value of all the shares of stock in said corporation, and every series thereof, shall be equal to the nominal or par value thereof or of some multiple thereof, at which time said corporation shall cease to exist, and in the meantime to enable the members thereof, by obtaining advances upon their shares of stock, to purchase or erect homes for themselves."

§ 26–405 [5: 45]. Associations existing under laws of other States doing business in District of Columbia must comply—Provisions requisite—Penalty.

No foreign association shall make loans of any kind or transact any building and loan business within the District of Columbia or maintain an office in the District of Columbia for the purpose of transacting such business until it procures from the Comptroller of the Currency a certificate of authority to do such business in said District, after complying with the following provisions:

(a) It shall deposit with the Treasurer of the United States $50,000 in cash or bonds of the United States or bonds which the United States guarantees the payment of both principal and interest. A foreign association may collect and use the interest on securities deposited with the Treasurer of the United States, as hereinabove provided, so long as it fulfills its obligations and complies with the laws of the District of Columbia. It may also exchange them for other securities of the United States or for cash. The deposit made by a foreign association with the Treasury of the United States shall be held as security for all claims of residents of the District of Columbia against such association, and be liable for all judgments or decrees thereon, and subjected to the payment thereof in the same manner as the property of other nonresidents. Should an association cease to do business in said District, the Treasurer of the United States, upon a certificate from the Comptroller of the Currency, may release securities in his discretion, retaining sufficient to satisfy all outstanding liabilities;

(b) It shall file with the Comptroller of the Currency a certified copy of its charter, constitution, and bylaws, and other rules and regulations showing its manner of conducting business, together with a statement such as is required semiannually from all associations;

(c) It shall file with the Comptroller of the Currency a power of attorney appointing a citizen of the District of Columbia, resident within said District, the agent or attorney for such foreign association upon whom process of law can be served. There must also be filed a certified copy of the vote or resolution of the directors appointing such agent or attorney, which appointment shall continue until another agent or attorney is substituted, and said writing or power of attorney shall stipulate and agree on the part of such foreign association making the same that any lawful process against said association, which is served on such agent or attorney, shall be of the same legal force and validity as if served on such association within the District of Columbia; and, also, that in the case of the death or absence of the agent or attorney so appointed, service or process may be made upon the Comptroller of the Currency, and such power of attorney cannot be revoked or modified (except that a new one may be substituted) so long as any liability remains outstanding against such foreign association in the District of Columbia. The term "process," used above, shall be held and deemed to include any writ, summons, or order whereby any action, suit, or proceeding shall be commenced, or which shall be issued in or upon any action, suit, or proceeding by any court, officer, or magistrate.

(d) It shall pay to the collector of taxes the following fees:

For filing an application for admission to do business in the District of Columbia, $500;

For each certificate of authority and annual renewal thereof, $200.

(e) When a foreign association has complied with the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section, and the Comptroller of the Currency is satisfied that it is doing or will do its building and loan business in the District of Columbia in accordance with the laws of the District of Columbia, he may issue his certificate of authority to such foreign association to do a building and loan business in the District of Columbia. Annually thereafter, if the Comptroller of the Currency is satisfied as herein provided, he shall issue a renewal of such certificate.

(f) Should the Comptroller of the Currency find that such foreign association does not conduct its building and loan business in accordance with law, or that the affairs of such association are in unsafe condition, or if such foreign association refuses to permit examination to be made, the Comptroller of the Currency may revoke the certificate of authority granted, after ninety days' notice, to such foreign association to do a building and loan business in the District of Columbia; Provided, That upon revocation of such certificate of authority the Comptroller of the Currency shall mail a notice thereof to the home office of such foreign association and cause a similar notice to be published in at least one daily newspaper of general circulation in the District of Columbia. After so notifying said home office and after the publication of said notice, it shall be unlawful for any agent of such foreign association to receive any further payments from shareholders residing in the District of Columbia.

(g) Every foreign association doing a building and loan business in the District of Columbia shall be subject to the same examination as are domestic associations and such examination may include examination of all subsidiaries of such foreign associations and all business operations wherever apparent: Provided, That the Comptroller of the Currency may accept reports of examination by other supervisory agents in lieu of making such examinations and provided that all the actual and necessary expense of such examinations of such foreign associations shall be paid by the association examined if said examination is made beyond the limits of the District of Columbia, but if made within the limits of the District of Columbia, the cost of the examination to be at the same rate and upon the same terms as provided in section 26–404.

(h) Whenever any taxes, fines, penalties, fees, licenses, or conditions precedent are imposed by the laws of any State upon building and loan associations organized or incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia, and doing business in the said State, in excess of the taxes, fines, penalties, fees, licenses, or conditions precedent imposed by the laws of the District of Columbia upon foreign associations doing a building and loan business in the District of Columbia, the same taxes, fines, penalties, fees, licenses, or conditions precedent shall be imposed upon every association incorporated under the laws of such State doing, or applying to do, a building and loan business in the District of Columbia, so long as such excess taxes, fines, penalties, fees, licenses, or conditions precedent are imposed by such State; and upon the failure of any association incorporated under the laws of such State to comply therewith the Comptroller of the Currency shall revoke the certificate of authority of such association to do a building and loan business in the District of Columbia or shall refuse to grant such certificate of authority in the first instance.

COMPILER'S NOTES

Section 2 of the act of July 18, 1939, provided: "All other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed. This act shall take effect on the date of its enactment."

The 1909 act purports to amend the 1901 Code (act of Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1298, ch. 854) and, historically, should be considered amendatory thereof.

AMENDMENTS

Prior to the 1939 amendment, this section provided as follows: "That any building association incorporated or unincorporated, organized and existing under the laws of any State or Territory, except the District of Columbia, to do or now doing, in the District of Columbia, a building association business or otherwise operating as a building association, shall be subject to all the provisions of the foregoing section of this act in respect of the powers of the Comptroller of the Currency hereunder, and, any such association or corporation shall at all times keep on deposit with the Comptroller of the Currency in money or stocks, bonds or mortgages or other securities to be approved by said officer not less than ten per centum of its capital and surplus as security for its depositors and creditors, and as a guarantee for the faithful performance of its contracts, and may also make such further deposit of its assets as above described with the Comptroller for such purpose as it may from time to time desire so to do."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

STATUS OF CONTRACT AFTER INSOLVENCY

Where contract between borrowing member of a building association by the giving of a bond and a deed of trust to secure the bond, is that in consideration of sum advanced he will pay to the association monthly payments, the insolvency of the association and appointment of a receiver will not abrogate the contract between it and one of its members and the substitution for that contract of some other arrangement which a court may deem equitable. Armstrong v. United States Bldg. & Loan Assn. (15 App. D. C. 1).

SURRENDER OF STOCK

Where building association advanced money to one of its members and received therefor an assignment of stock held by him, and a deed of trust upon his real estate to secure his notes, a suit by a person who purchased the property was entitled to a release of the deed of trust upon payment of remaining notes, and the association could not enforce payment of accruing dues after the payment of the last note. Eastern Bldg. & Loan Assn. v. Olmsted (16 App. D. C. 387).

When borrower from building association surrenders his stock to the association upon mortgage loan being made to him, he becomes a creditor of the association and when accounting is made he is to be charged with amount actually received by him on account of loan, with interest, whether by way of premium, dues or interest. Croissant v. Empire State Realty Co. (29 App. D. C. 538).

USURIOUS PREMIUMS

A provision of building association mortgage that the borrower instead of paying the usual premium is to pay monthly during continuance of the mortgage, a specified sum called premium, in addition to legal rate of interest, is void as usurious payment. Middle States Loan v. Baker (19 App. D. C. 1).

The provision that premiums to be charged by building associations shall not be deemed usurious, is not retroactive, and it does not affect borrower's right to redeem mortgaged property from building association, when such right existed before the Code went into effect. Washington Nat. Bldg. & Loan Assn. v. Fiske (20 App. D. C. 514, cert. den. 188 U. S. 740, 47 L. Ed. 677, 23 Sup. Ct. 848).

Test to determine whether building association loan is usurious is usually whether the promise to pay the sum above legal interest depends upon a contingency, and not upon the happening of a certain event. The loan is not usurious if it depends upon a contingency. Whelpley v. Ross (25 App. D. C. 207).

§ 26–407 [5: 47]. Security for advancement.

For every advance made as aforesaid a bond in a penalty equal to the ultimate value of the shares advanced may be required, secured by a first mortgage or deed of trust on real estate, and a pledge of the shares advanced upon, as additional or collateral security, which bond shall be conditioned for the payment at the stated meetings of the corporation of the monthly dues on the share so advanced upon and the interest on the sum advanced, and the instalments of premium, if made so payable, and all fines chargeable upon arrears of payments, until said shares shall reach their ultimate value aforesaid, or said advance be otherwise canceled or discharged. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1299, ch. 854, § 693.)

§ 26–408 [5: 48]. Profits.

The shares advanced upon shall participate equally with the other shares in the profits and the amounts paid by the advanced shareholders, together with such proportion of the profits accrued or such rate of interest as said by-laws may determine, the same as allowed on shares withdrawn not advanced upon, less all fines and a proportionate part of losses and other charges incurred. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1299, ch. 854, § 694.)

§ 26–409 [5: 49]. Redemption of shares.

Where advances from the funds on hand can not be made on satisfactory terms, the shareholders failing to bid therefor, the by-laws may provide for the redemption of shares of stock, with the consent of the shareholders, and in case that can not be done, for the involuntary withdrawal and cancelation of shares, the said shares to be selected by lot, always from the oldest series, until exhausted, or the funds to be applied ratably among the owners of shares of the same series. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1300, ch. 854, § 695.)

§ 26–410 [5: 50]. Withdrawal by shareholder.

A shareholder shall be entitled to withdraw at any time, by giving such notice as the by-laws may require, where no advance has been made on his shares, in which case he shall be entitled to receive the amount of dues paid in by him on each of his shares, together with such proportion of the profits accrued or such rate of interest as said by-laws may determine, less all fines due and a proportionate part of all losses and other charges incurred: Provided, That not more than one-half of the funds in the treasury at any time shall be applicable to the demands of the withdrawing shareholders without the consent of the board of trustees. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1300, ch. 854, § 696.)

§ 26–411 [5: 51]. Repayment of advances.

A shareholder who has been advanced may at any time repay his advance upon application to the corporation, whereupon, on settlement of his account, he shall be charged with the full amount of the advance and of the accrued instalments of the premium, if that has been added to the advancement and made payable in instalments, together with all monthly dues, interest, and fines accrued and charged, and shall receive credit for all monthly dues paid on his shares and the profits thereon the same as are allowed under the by-laws on shares withdrawn not advanced upon, and, if the premium has been deducted in advance, with such proportion of the premium as the by-laws may direct, and the balance remaining due, over and above such credits, shall be received by said corporation in satisfaction and discharge of said advance: Provided, That in case of the insolvency of the association, he shall not be entitled to credit for the full amount of dues paid by him, but shall only be entitled to a dividend upon said amount, in common with the nonadvanced shareholders. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1300, ch. 854, § 697.)

§ 26–412 [5: 52]. Forfeiture.

Any nonadvanced shareholder failing to pay the instalments due on his share and the fines due from him for such time as the by-laws shall determine, shall forfeit his stock, but may, on application, receive a return of the amount paid in on account of his stock, less the accrued fines. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1300, ch. 854, § 698.)

§ 26–413 [5: 53]. Foreclosure.

In case any advanced shareholder shall fail to pay all dues, interest, or premiums and shall be in arrears for any part of the same for the period of two months, the payment of the same and of the principal of the advance may be enforced by a foreclosure of the securities given for the same, and if upon a statement of account, as in case of a voluntary settlement of said advance, as hereinbefore authorized, there shall be any surplus of the proceeds of sale of the property given as security over the amount found due from such advanced shareholder, together with all costs incurred by the corporation, such surplus shall be paid to said defaulting shareholder, or his assigns, and his shares of stock so advanced upon shall be the property of the corporation. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1300, ch. 854, § 699.)

§ 26–414 [5: 54]. Investment of funds in real estate.

Such corporation shall not invest its fund in any real estate except what is necessary for the conduct of its business, but may purchase such property at sales made upon foreclosure of mortgages or in satisfaction of judgments or other liens held by it: Provided, That such property so purchased be sold within a reasonable time thereafter. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1300, ch. 854, § 700.)

No member shall be entitled to vote by proxy, but a member other than a natural person may vote through an agent delegated for the purpose. No member shall, irrespective of the number of shares held by him, have more than one vote; and, after a credit union has been incorporated one year, no member thereof shall be entitled to vote until he has been a member for more than three months. All offices of a credit union shall be in the District of Columbia. (June 23, 1932, 47 Stat. 329, ch. 272, § 10.)

(e) Supervisory committee.—The supervisory committee shall make an examination of the affairs of the credit union at least quarterly, including an audit of its books; shall make an annual audit and report to be submitted at the annual meeting of the corporation; by a unanimous vote may suspend any officer of the corporation, or any member of the credit committee or of the board of directors until the next members' meeting, at which time the suspension shall be acted on by the members; and, by a majority vote, may call a meeting of the shareholders to consider any violation of this chapter or of the by-laws, or any practice of the corporation deemed by the committee to be unsafe or unauthorized. The said committee shall fill vacancies in its membership until successors to be elected at the next annual meeting have qualified: Provided, however, That before the treasurer shall enter upon his duties he shall give bond with good and sufficient security, in an amount to be determined by the board of directors, conditioned upon the faithful performance of his trust. (June 23, 1932, 47 Stat. 329, ch. 272, § 11; April 28, 1950, 64 Stat. 90, ch. 119.)

§ 26–514 [5: 390d]. Expulsion and withdrawal of members.

A member may be expelled by a two-thirds vote of the members of the corporation present at a special meeting called for such purpose, but only after an opportunity has been given him to be heard. The credit union may require sixty days' notice of intention to withdraw shares. Expulsion or withdrawal shall not operate to relieve a member from any remaining liability to the credit union. All amounts paid in on shares or deposited by expelled or withdrawing members prior to their expulsion or withdrawal shall be paid to them in the order of their withdrawal or expulsion, but only as funds become available and after deducting any amounts due from such members to the credit union. (June 23, 1932, 47 Stat. 331, ch. 272, § 14.)

§ 26–515 [5: 390e]. Shares issued to minors or in trust.

Shares may be issued and deposits received in the name of a minor or in trust in such manner as the by-laws may provide. The name of the beneficiary shall be disclosed to the credit union. (June 23, 1932, 47 Stat. 331, ch. 272, § 15.)

Credit unions, but not the members thereof, shall be exempt from Federal and District of Columbia taxation except taxes upon real property. (June 23, 1932, 47 Stat. 331, ch. 272, § 16.)

§ 26–517 [5: 390g]. Restriction on use of words "credit union"—Penalty.

It shall be unlawful for any individual, partnership, association, or corporation, except corporations organized in accordance with this chapter, to transact business in the District of Columbia under any name or title containing the words "credit union," or to transact business at any place in the United States under any name or title containing the words "credit union" and "District of Columbia" or other words indicating that the business is transacted pursuant to authority of any Act of Congress. AMOUNT AS DETERMINING APPLICABILITY

This section making it unlawful to engage in business of loaning money upon which a rate of interest greater than six percent per annum is charged on any security of any kind without procuring a license has application to a loan larger than $200. Hartman v. Lubar, 1942 (133 F. 2d 44, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 95, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1329, 319 U. S. 767, 87 L. Ed. 1716, rehearing denied 64 S. Ct. 30, 320 U. S. 808, 88 L. Ed. 488).

BURDEN OF PROOF

It is well established that one who alleges usury or any contractual illegality has the burden of proving it. It was incumbent on the District to adduce evidence establishing an excessive finance payment. The fact that the plaintiff bank did not prove the amount of insurance premium did not relieve the District of its burden of proof. District of Columbia v. Hamilton National Bank (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 60).

CONSTRUCTION

This chapter, the usury law, § 28–2703 et seq., and § 47–1701 et seq., regarding financial institutions are to be read together and when so read constitute a comprehensive code for business of lending money in the District of Columbia. Hartman v. Lubar, 1942 (133 F. 2d 44, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 95, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1329, 319 U. S. 767, 87 L. Ed. 1716, rehearing denied 64 S. Ct. 30, 320 U. S. 808, 88 L. Ed. 488).

DEFENSES

Defense that contract violates this chapter is available, not only against the nominal maker of the loan, but against the principal for whom he acts and against the holder of an instrument given to secure payment of loan, if the holder knew of its illegality. Hartman v. Lubar, 1942 (133 F. 2d 44, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 95, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1329, 319 U. S. 767, 87 L. Ed. 1716, rehearing denied 64 S. Ct. 30, 320 U. S. 808, 88 L. Ed. 488).

EVIDENCE

Where lender of approximately $900 took from borrower note for $1,000 payable in $20 weekly installments and secured by chattel trust deed, in replevin suit by trustee of endorsee finance company to recover the chattel, evidence that lender was principal stockholder and president of endorsee company, that trustee was officer of and counsel for the company, that loan was actually made by the company and that the company was engaged in business of lending money in District of Columbia at an interest rate greater than six percent without having procured a license was admissible to show illegality of the transaction and the resulting absence of title in trustee. Hartman v. Lubar, 1942 (133 F. 2d 44, 319 U. S. 767, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 95, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1329, 319 U. S. 767, 87 L. Ed. 1716, rehearing denied 64 S. Ct. 30, 320 U. S. 808, 88 L. Ed. 488).

Evidence that lender had made five loans was not sufficient to warrant finding that lender was engaged in the "business of loaning money" within this chapter. Knott v. Jackson (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 662).

Where borrowers contended that lender was engaged in business of loaning money within this chapter and that payee of note was but a straw party for the lender, trial court properly refused to admit in evidence against lender other notes payable to same payee, where witness testified that the payee lent money herself. Knott v. Jackson (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 662).

Where there was evidence that indorsee finance company for which trustee brought replevin suit to recover chattels named in chattel trust deed securing a note was in the business of lending money rather than solely that of discounting notes in the sense of buying from a creditor an existing obligation at less than face value, proffered evidence consisting of court trials of five municipal court cases in which finance company sued to recover on notes assigned to it was material to defendant's defense that finance company was in business of lending money at rate of interest greater than 6 percent without required license and should have been admitted. Hartman v. Lubar (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 553).

ILLEGAL CONTRACTS

Every consideration of "public policy" suggests that a contract made in violation of this chapter should be unenforceable. Hartman v. Lubar, 1942 (133 F. 2d 44, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 95, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1329, 319 U. S. 767, 87 L. Ed. 1716, rehearing denied 64 S. Ct. 30, 320 U. S. 808, 88 L. Ed. 488).

INFERENCES

Where defendant had subpoenas duces tecum served upon officers of indorsee finance company for which trustee was maintaining replevin suit to compel them to produce at trial all records regarding the company for purpose of showing that company was in business of lending money at rate of interest greater than 6 percent without required license, and officers failed to produce the records, jury could infer from failure to produce subpoenaed records that contents thereof would have been unfavorable to trustee's case. Hartman v. Lubar (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 553).

OCCASIONAL LOANS

A nonresident who makes occasional loans on real estate in the District, is not engaged "in the business" of loaning money within the meaning of the Loan Shark Law. Zirkle v. Daly (60 App. D. C. 344, 54 Fed. (2d) 455).

OFFICE OUTSIDE THE DISTRICT

A pawnbroker violates this law if he stores pledged goods in the city of Washington, and uses it as a collecting center, but applications for loans are made just over the line in Virginia, to which place free automobile service is maintained, and loans are there made at an excessive rate. Horning v. District of Columbia (254 U. S. 135, 65 L. Ed. 185, 41 Sup. Ct. 53).

SMALL LOANS

Loan Shark Law was intended to apply only to persons making small loans upon personal security and not to a case in which a debt of $177,500 was secured by a first trust upon real estate. Von Rosen v. Dean (59 App. D. C. 359, 41 Fed. (2d) 982).

This chapter is not a usury statute, but an act licensing, under limitations and restrictions, the lending of money in small sums on personal security, and was intended to apply only to persons making small loans on personal security. Knott v. Jackson (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 662).

Loan of nearly $700 was not a "small loan" within this chapter, which provides, under § 26–605, that person violating the provisions of this chapter shall forfeit all interest, and in addition a sum equal to one-fourth of the principal sum. Knott v. Jackson (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 662).

§ 26–602 [17: 22]. Application for license filed with Commissioners—Contents of application—Date and expiration of license—Notice of application posted and published—Protests—Hearings—Rejection of application.

Applications for license to conduct such business must be made in writing to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and shall contain the full names and addresses of applicants, if natural persons, and in the case of firms and voluntary associations, the full names and addresses of all the members thereof, and in the case of joint-stock companies, incorporated societies, and corporations, the full names and addresses of the officers and directors thereof and under what law or laws organized or incorporated, and the place where such business is to be conducted, and such other information as the said commissioners may require. Every license granted shall date from the first of the month in which it is issued and expire on the 31st day of the following October, and such license shall be kept conspicuously displayed in the place of business of the licensee. Every application shall be filed not less than thirty days prior to the granting of such license, and notice of the filing of such application shall be posted in the office of the Superintendent of Licenses of the said District and be published twice a week for three successive weeks in a daily newspaper published in the District of Columbia. Protest may be made by any person to the issuing of such license, and when such protests are filed with the said commissioners the latter shall give public notice of and hold a public hearing upon such protests before issuing such license. The said commissioners shall have the power to reject any application for license after a hearing upon such protest or for failure on the part of the applicant to observe this chapter, or when such applicant shall have violated its provisions. (Feb. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 657, ch. 26, § 2; Mar. 3, 1917, 39 Stat. 1006, ch. 160.)

AMENDMENT

The 1917 act substituted "Superintendent of Licenses" for the "assessor."

§ 26–603 [17: 23]. Bond to accompany application—Sureties—Actions on bond—Copy of bond to be furnished upon request—Renewal of bond.

Each application shall be accompanied by a bond to the District of Columbia in the penal sum of five thousand dollars, with two or more sufficient sureties, and conditioned that the obligor will not violate any law relating to such business. The execution of any such bond by a fidelity or surety company authorized by the laws of the United States to transact business therein shall be equivalent to the execution thereof by two sureties, and such company, if excepted to, shall justify in the manner required by law of fidelity and surety companies. If any person shall be aggrieved by the misconduct of any such licensed person, firm, voluntary association, joint-stock company, incorporated society, or corporation, or by his, their, or its violation of any law relating to such business, and shall recover a judgment therefor, such person or his personal representative or heirs or distributees may, after a return unsatisfied either in whole or in part of any execution issued upon such judgment, maintain an action in his own name upon such bond herein required in any court having jurisdiction of the amount claimed. The commissioners of the District of Columbia shall furnish to anyone applying therefor a certified copy of any such bond filed with them, upon the payment of a fee of twenty-five cents, and such certified copy shall be prima facie evidence in any court that such bond was duly executed and delivered by the person, firm, voluntary association, joint-stock company, incorporated society, or corporation whose names appear thereon. Said bond shall be renewed and refiled annually in October of each year, or the licensed person, firm, voluntary association, joint-stock company, incorporated society, or corporation shall within thirty days thereafter, cease doing business, and their license shall be revoked by the said commissioners, but said bond until renewed and refiled as aforesaid shall be and remain in full force and effect. (Feb. 4. 1913, 37 Stat. 658, ch. 26, § 3.)

§ 26–604 [17: 24]. Register to be kept—Contents—Inspection of register—Annual statements.

Every person, firm, voluntary association, joint-stock company, incorporated society, or corporation conducting such business shall keep a register, approved by said commissioners, showing in English, the amount of money loaned, the date when loaned and when due, the person to whom loaned, the property or thing named as security for the loan, where the same is located and in whose possession, the amount of interest, all fees, commissions, charges, and renewals charged, under whatever name. Such register shall be open for inspection to the said commissioners, their officers and agents, on every day, except Sundays and legal holidays, between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon. Every such person, firm, voluntary association, joint-stock company, incorporated society, or corporation conducting such business shall, on or before the 20th day of January of each year, make to the said commissioners an annual statement in the form of a trial balance of its books on the 31st day of December in each year, specifying the different kinds of its liabilities and the different kinds of its assets, stating the amount of each, together with such other information as may be called for. (Feb. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 658, ch. 26, § 4.)

No such person, firm, voluntary association, joint-stock company, incorporated society, or corporation shall charge or receive a greater rate of interest upon any loan made by him or it than one per centum per month on the actual amount of the loan, and this charge shall cover all fees, expenses, demands, and services of every character, including notarial and recording fees and charges, except upon the foreclosure of the security. The foregoing interest shall not be deducted from the principal of loan when same is made. Every such person, firm, voluntary association, joint-stock company, incorporated society, or corporation conducting such business shall furnish the borrower a written, typewritten, or printed statement at the time the loan is made, showing, in English, in clear and distinct terms, the amount of the loan, the date when loaned and when due, the person to whom the loan is made, the name of the lender, the amount of interest charged, and the lender shall give the borrower a plain and complete receipt for all payments made on account of the loan at the time such payments are made. No such loan greater than two hundred dollars shall be made to any one person: Provided, That any person contracting, directly or indirectly, for, or receiving a greater rate of interest than that fixed in this chapter, shall forfeit all interest so contracted for or received; and in addition thereto shall forfeit to the borrower a sum of money, to be deducted from the amount due for principal, equal to one-fourth of the principal sum: And provided further, That any person in the employ of the Government who shall loan money in violation of the provisions of this chapter shall forfeit his office or position, and be removed from the same. (Feb. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 659, ch. 26, § 5.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ADVANCE DEDUCTIONS

In replevin by trustee of indorsee finance company to recover chattels named in trust deed securing a note, evidence that loan was usurious, in that an amount in excess of legal rate was deducted in advance and that plaintiff knew the amount deducted in advance, was sufficient to make defense of illegality available to defendant. Hartman v. Lubar (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 553).

§ 26–606 [17: 26]. Complaints — Hearings on complaints—Record of hearings—Revoking of, or refusal to grant license.

Complaints against any licensee or applicant for a license shall be made in writing to the said commissioners, and notice thereof of not less than three days shall be given to said licensee or applicant by serving upon him a concise statement of the facts constituting the complaint, and a hearing shall be had before the said commissioners within ten days from the date of the filing of the complaint, and no adjournment shall be taken for longer than one week. A daily calendar shall be kept of all hearings by the said commissioners, which shall be posted in a conspicuous place in their public office for at least three days before the date of such hearings. The said commissioners shall render their decision within eight days from the time the matter is finally submitted to them. Said commissioners shall keep a record of all such complaints and hearings, and may refuse to issue and shall suspend or revoke any license for any good cause shown, within the meaning and purpose of this chapter; and when it is shown to their satisfaction, whether as a result of a written complaint as aforesaid or otherwise, that any licensee or applicant under this chapter either before or after conviction, is guilty of any conduct in violation of this or any law relating to such business it shall be the duty of the said commissioners to suspend or revoke the license of such licensee or reject the petition of the applicant, but notice of the written complaint or proposed action shall be presented to and reasonable opportunity shall be given said licensee or applicant to be heard in his defense. Whenever for any cause such license is revoked, said commissioners shall not issue another license to said licensee until the expiration of at least one year from the date of revocation of such license, and not at all if such licensee shall have been convicted of a violation of this chapter under the

TRUSTS FOR PERPETUAL MAINTENANCE

This section permits trusts for the perpetual maintenance of cemetery lots and monuments or other structures erected thereon, and is not in conflict with the rule against perpetuities in 1901 Code, § 1023 (§ 45–102). Such a trust was held valid where it was to be carried out by a New York corporation in the State of New York. Iglehart v. Iglehart (204 U. S. 478, 51 L. Ed. 575, 27 Sup. Ct. 329, affg. 26 App. D. C. 209).

It shall be the duty of the owner or owners of any cemetery or cemeteries in said District to divide the area to be used for graves into lots of reasonable size, to be permanently designated by conspicuous marks, so that the position of each may be readily determined, each lot to be duly numbered. A plat of such cemetery showing the area so divided, the division into lots, and the number of each such lot shall be filed in the office of the surveyor of said District; the grave spaces hereafter laid out for the burial of persons above ten years of age to be at least eight feet by three feet, and those for the burial of children under ten years of age at least six feet by two feet, or, if preferred by said owner or owners, one-half the measurement of the adult grave space, namely, four feet by three feet. No coffin shall be buried in said District so that any part thereof is within less than four feet of the ordinary level of the ground, unless it contains the body of a child under twelve years of age, when it shall not be less than three feet below that level. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1295, 1297, ch. 854, §§ 672, 681.)

The act of Dec. 16, 1944, cited to text, amended section by inserting "or any duly appointed deputy, or by the proper municipal, county, or State authorities at the place where the death or disinterment occurred" preceding proviso, and by omitting "municipal, county or State" preceding "authorities" and "of the place at which such person died" following "authorities" in the proviso.

§ 27–119a. Disposal of dead bodies—Permits required—Violations.

It shall be unlawful to remove, transport, inter, disinter, or otherwise dispose of the dead body, or any part thereof, of any human being, except upon a permit, duly issued by the Director of Public Health of the District of Columbia, or such other person or persons as the Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall designate, upon such terms and conditions as the Commissioners may specify. COMPILER'S NOTE

No such body or part thereof shall be kept in said District in such manner as to give rise to any offensive odors to the annoyance of any person or persons in the neighborhood or to the public, nor so as to be exposed to the public view; nor shall any such body or part thereof be permitted by the person or persons having custody or control of it to remain unburied for a longer period than one week after death without permission of the health officer, unless it has been cremated or deposited in the vault of some cemetery; nor shall any person publicly exhibit in said District, for pay or otherwise, any dead body of any human being or any part of such body without a permit from the health officer of said District so to do, except such exhibition be in connection with some government museum or with some institution of learning permanently located in said District. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1297, ch. 854, § 677.)

§ 27–125 [5: 95]. Permit to cremate—Embalming.

It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to cremate or otherwise to destroy the dead body, or part of the dead body, of any human being in said District before the issue of the burial permit by the health officer of said District, and then only when said permit is countersigned by the coroner of said District, authorizing such cremation or destruction. NOTES TO DECISIONS

POST-MORTEM EXAMINATIONS

It was not error to admit testimony relative to the disinterment and post-mortem examination of the body of the deceased, and it was unnecessary that notice should be given the defendant of the intention on the part of the government to make the investigation. Nor is it material whether or not there was full compliance with this section. Laney v. United States (54 App. D. C. 56, 294 Fed. 412).

§ 27–129 [20: 1211]. Public crematory—Cremation required in certain cases.

Whenever the dead body of any person who has died from smallpox, Asiatic cholera, typhus fever, the plague, leprosy, glanders, scarlet fever, diphtheria, or epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis comes into the custody of any officer, employee, or agent of the District of Columbia to be disposed of at public expense, the said officer, employee, or agent shall cause said body to be incinerated. (Apr. 20, 1906, 34 Stat. 123, ch. 1641, § 1.)

§ 27–130 [20: 1212]. Establishment of crematory—Rules and regulations—Fees.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized and directed to operate on reservation thirteen, commonly known as the Washington Asylum grounds, in the city of Washington, in said District, a crematorium of size sufficient for the incineration of all bodies that can not, except at public expense, be disposed of within a reasonable time after death, and for the incineration of such other bodies as may be presented for that purpose by the persons having custody thereof. Said Commissioners are hereby authorized to make and enforce all rules necessary for the proper maintenance and operation of said crematorium, and to prescribe and collect for the incineration of bodies not necessarily disposed of at public expense fees in such amounts as may be required to defray the cost of incineration: Provided, That in any case the Commissioners may, by special order, waive or reduce the usual charges whenever, in the opinion of said Commissioners, to enforce such charges would be burdensome or oppressive upon the person or persons responsible for the disposal of the remains. All fees collected under the provisions of this section shall be paid to the collector of taxes of the District of Columbia, and be deposited by him in the Treasury of the United States wholly to the credit of the District of Columbia. (Apr. 20, 1906, 34 Stat. 123, ch. 1641, § 2; Feb. 22, 1921, 41 Stat. 1144, ch. 70, § 7.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

Relative to the collection and crediting of fees, acts 1922, 42 Stat. 668, 669, ch. 249, § 1, provided as follows: "Annually, from and after July 1, 1922, 60 per centum of such expenses of the District of Columbia as Congress may appropriate for shall be paid out of the revenues of the District of Columbia derived from taxation and privileges, and the remaining 40 per centum by the United States excepting such items of expense as Congress may direct shall be paid on another basis * * *. After June 30, 1922, where the United States is the owner of ground or the holder thereof in trust for the public, upon which improvements have been made at the joint expense of the United States and the District of Columbia, the revenues therefrom shall first be used to pay the United States 3 per centum of the full value of the ground as a ground rent, and the remainder shall be divided between them in the same proportion that each contributed to said improvements, and for such purposes the assessor for the District of Columbia shall fix the full value of the ground after he has first made oath that he will fairly and impartially appraise the same; and that after June 30, 1922, any revenue derived from any activity or source whatever, including motor-vehicle licenses, not otherwise herein disposed of, which activity or source of revenue is appropriated for by both the United States and the District of Columbia, shall be divided between the two in the same proportion that each has contributed thereto."

The appropriation act of June 7, 1924, 43 Stat. 539, ch. 302, § 1, made a lump-sum appropriation as follows: "Any revenue (not including the proportionate share of the United States in any revenue arising as the result of the expenditure of appropriations made for the fiscal year 1924 and prior fiscal years) now required by law to be credited to the District of Columbia and the United States in the same proportion that each contributed to the activity or source from whence such revenue was derived shall be credited wholly to the District of Columbia, and in addition, $9,000,000 is appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and all the remainder out of the combined revenues of the District of Columbia and such advances from the Federal Treasury as are authorized in the District of Columbia Appropriation Act for the fiscal year 1923, namely:"

Subsequent appropriation acts contained similar provisions, changing only the amount of the appropriation and the fiscal year (see act of June 12, 1940, 54 Stat. —, ch. 333, § 1). These appropriation acts did not, however, provide for the repeal of the provisions of the 1922 act above quoted. This was done by the act of May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 375, § 8, which added title 10 to the District of Columbia Revenue Act of 1937, 50 Stat. 673, ch. 690.

From the foregoing it would seem that there is no longer any apportionment of expenses or segregation of revenues unless specific provision is made therefor by Congress subsequent to the repeal provision.

§ 27–131 [20: 1213]. Act for promotion of anatomical science not affected by crematory law.

Nothing in sections 27–129 to 27–131 shall be construed as repealing or in any way modifying any of the provisions of sections 2–201 to 2–209. (Apr. 20, 1906, 34 Stat. 124, ch. 1641, § 3.)

§ 28–102 [22: 2]. Negotiability—Requirements—Form.

An instrument to be negotiable must conform to the following requirements:

First. It must be in writing and signed by the maker or drawer.

Second. It must contain an unconditional promise or order to pay a certain sum in money.

Third. It must be payable on demand or at a fixed or determinable future time.

Fourth. It must be payable to order or to bearer; and,

Fifth. Where the instrument is addressed to a drawee he must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1395, ch. 854, § 1305.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

POSTAL MONEY ORDERS

Postal money orders are not negotiable instruments. Jaselli v. Riggs Nat. Bank (36 App. D. C. 159, 31 L. R. A. (N. S.) 763, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 119).

UNCONDITIONAL PROMISE TO PAY

An instrument, reading "I. O. U. 2165.55 for business expense" at certain address was not "negotiable promissory instrument" within § 28–201 providing that such an instrument is deemed prima facie to have been issued for valuable consideration, as instrument contained no unconditional promise or order to pay certain sum of money on demand or at fixed or determinable future time to order or bearer. Bader v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 637).

§ 28–103 [22: 3]. Certainty as to sum—What constitutes.

The sum payable is a sum certain within the meaning hereof, although it is to be paid—

First. With interest; or Second. By stated instalments; or,

Third. By stated instalments, with a provision that upon default in payment of any instalment or of interest the whole shall become due; or Fourth. With exchange, whether at a fixed rate or at the current rate; or,

Fifth. With costs of collection or an attorney's fee, in case payment shall not be made at maturity. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1395, ch. 854, § 1306.)

§ 28–104 [22: 4]. When promise is unconditional.

An unqualified order or promise to pay is unconditional within the meaning hereof, though coupled with—

First. An indication of a particular fund out of which reimbursement is to be made, or a particular account to be debited with the amount; or,

Second. A statement of the transaction which gives rise to the instrument.

But an order or promise to pay out of a particular fund is not unconditional. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1396, ch. 854, § 1307.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

INDORSEMENTS

Following indorsements were not of such nature as to destroy negotiability by being notice that promise to pay was conditional.

"As collateral for Loan, $7,225.00.

"J. P. M.

"LOS ANGELES, CAL. — 192—.

"For value received ——— hereby grant and assign the within note together with all rights accrued or to accrue under deed of trust securing same, so far as same relates to this note, and waive presentment, demand, notice, protest, and notice of protest." Seaside Nat. Bank v. Allen (35 Ariz. 302, 277 Pac. 68).

UNCONDITIONAL PROMISE TO PAY

Unless changed by statute, the rule is that to be negotiable the instrument must be payable at all events and unconditionally. United States v. Bank of New York Nat. Banking Assn. ((C. C. A. 2), 219 Fed. 648, L. R. A. 1915D, 797); Rector v. Strauss (134 Ark. 374, 203 S. W. 1024).

§ 28–105 [22: 5]. Determinable future time—What constitutes.

An instrument is payable at a determinable future time, within the meaning hereof, which is expressed to be payable—

First. At a fixed period after date or sight; or,

Second. On or before a fixed or determinable future time specified therein; or,

Third. On or at a fixed period after the occurrence of a specified event which is certain to happen, though the time of happening be uncertain.

An instrument payable upon a contingency is not negotiable, and the happening of the event does not cure the defect. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1396, ch. 854, § 1308.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

EXTENSION OF MATURITY

Extension of maturity of notes is not invalid because extension slip was not signed by payee or payee's transferee who permitted the payee to retain possession of notes, as the maker and payee agreed to the extension and were bound. Counselman v. Pitzer (65 App. D. C. 71, 79 Fed. (2d) 707, cert. den. 296 U. S. 650, 80 L. Ed. 463, 56 Sup. Ct. 310).

§ 28–106 [22: 6]. Negotiability—Effect of additional provisions—Promise to do any act in addition to promise of payment.

An instrument which contains an order or promise to do any act in addition to the payment of money is not negotiable. But the negotiable character of an instrument otherwise negotiable is not affected by a provision which—

First. Authorizes the sale of collateral securities in case the instrument be not paid at maturity; or,

Second. Authorizes a confession of judgment if the instrument be not paid at maturity; or,

Third. Waives the benefit of any law intended for the advantage or protection of the obligor; or,

Fourth. Gives the holder an election to require something to be done in lieu of payment of money.

But nothing in this section shall validate any provision or stipulation otherwise illegal. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1396, ch. 854, § 1309.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

SALE OF COLLATERAL SECURITIES

An agreement in a promissory note, the payment of which is secured by collateral securities, that on sale of the securities for default on the part of the maker, the holder of the note may become purchaser, is valid, and the holder's agent may purchase securities for his principal. Metropolitan Loan & Trust Co. v. Schafer (44 App. D. C. 356).

§ 28–107 [22: 7]. Validity and negotiability—Effect of omissions—Seal—Particular money.

The validity and negotiable character of an instrument are not affected by the fact that—

First. It is not dated; or,

Second. Does not specify the value given, or that any value has been given therefor; or,

Third. Does not specify the place where it is drawn or the place where it is payable; or,

Fourth. Bears a seal; or,

Fifth. Designates a particular kind of current money in which payment is to be made.

But nothing in this section shall alter or repeal any statute requiring in certain cases the nature of the consideration to be stated in the instrument. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1396, ch. 854, § 1310.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

SEAL

A note containing the word "seal" printed to the right and directly in line with maker's signature is a sealed instrument notwithstanding the note contained no indication that the maker adopted printed seal, as regards question of limitation. Wells v. Alropa Corp. (65 App. D. C. 281, 82 Fed. (2d) 887).

§ 28–108 [22: 8]. Instrument payable on demand.

An instrument is payable on demand—

First. Where it is expressed to be payable on demand, or at sight, or on presentation; or,

Second. In which no time for payment is expressed.

Where an instrument is issued, accepted, or indorsed when overdue, it is, as regards the person so issuing, accepting, or indorsing it, payable on demand. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1396, ch. 854, § 1311.)

§ 28–109 [22: 9]. Instrument payable to order.

The instrument is payable to order where it is drawn payable to the order of a specified person or to him or his order. It may be drawn payable to the order of—

First. A payee who is not maker, drawer, or drawee; or,

Second. The drawer or maker; or,

Third. The drawee; or,

Fourth. Two or more payees jointly; or,

Fifth. One or some of several payees; or,

Sixth. The holder of an office for the time being.

Where the instrument is payable to order, the payee must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1397, ch. 854, § 1312.)

§ 28–110 [22: 10]. Instrument payable to bearer.

The instrument is payable to bearer—

First. When it is expressed to be so payable; or,

Second. When it is payable to a person named therein or bearer; or,

Third. When it is payable to the order of a fictitious or nonexisting person and such fact was known to the person making it so payable; or,

Fourth. When the name of the payee does not purport to be the name of any person; or,

Fifth. When the only or last indorsement is an indorsement in blank. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1397, ch. 854, § 1313.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

INDORSEMENT IN BLANK

Sale of notes indorsed in blank—extension by maker without notice of sale—innocent purchaser acquires superior title. Counselman v. Pitzer (65 App. D. C. 71, 79 Fed. (2d) 707, cert. den. 296 U. S. 650, 80 L. Ed. 463, 56 Sup. Ct. 310).

When promissory notes were indorsed in blank by payee to a holder for value, it had the effect of making them bearer paper, and the negotiability of the notes was not destroyed by the execution of extension slips by the owner and holder of property which was covered by trust deed securing the notes, and the bank, who had possession of notes which were fraudulently delivered to them by holder's agent as security for his own debt, had title to notes superior to that of the holder. Ragan v. Wardell (67 App. D. C. 222, 91 Fed. (2d) 253).

NEGOTIABLE UPON DELIVERY

Notes payable to bearer are negotiable upon delivery. Commercial Nat. Bank v. McCandlish (57 App. D. C. 378, 23 Fed. (2d) 986).

§ 28–111 [22: 11]. Terms—Sufficiency.

The instrument need not follow the language herein employed, but any terms are sufficient which clearly indicate an intention to conform to the requirements hereof. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1397, ch. 854, § 1314.)

§ 28–112 [22: 12]. Date—Presumption as to.

Where the instrument or an acceptance or any indorsement thereon is dated, such date is deemed prima facie to be the true date of the making, drawing, acceptance, or indorsement, as the case may be. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1397, ch. 854, § 1315.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PAROL EVIDENCE

Permitting plaintiff to testify that two checks given as part payment on note were postdated did not violate parol evidence rule in suit between original parties to note. Cooper v. Marosy (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 135).

§ 28–113 [22: 13]. Antedated or postdated instrument—Validity—Effective date.

The instrument is not invalid for the reason only that it is antedated or postdated: Provided, That this is not done for an illegal or fraudulent purpose. The person to whom an instrument so dated is delivered acquires the title thereto as of the date of delivery. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1397, ch. 854, § 1316.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

POST-DATED CHECKS

Post-dated checks are considered as negotiable instruments similar to bills of exchange payable in the future and their purpose is to obtain extension of credit. Daine v. Price (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 767).

§ 28–114 [22: 14]. When date may be inserted.

Where an instrument expressed to be payable at a fixed period after date is issued undated, or where the acceptance of an instrument payable at a fixed period after sight is undated, any holder may insert therein the true date of issue or acceptance, and the instrument shall be payable accordingly. The insertion of a wrong date does not avoid the instrument in the hands of a subsequent holder in due course; but as to him the date so inserted is to be regarded as the true date. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1397, ch. 854, § 1317.)

§ 28–115 [22: 15]. Blanks—Authority to complete—Enforceability.

Where the instrument is wanting in any material particular, the person in possession thereof has a prima facie authority to complete it by filling up the blanks therein. And a signature on a blank paper delivered by the person making the signature, in order that the paper may be converted into a negotiable instrument, operates as a prima facie authority to fill it up as such for any amount. In order, however, that any such instrument, when completed, may be enforced against any person who became a party thereto prior to its completion, it must be filled up strictly in accordance with the authority given and within a reasonable time; but if any such instrument, after completion, is negotiated to a holder in due course, it is valid and effectual for all purposes in his hands, and he may enforce it as if it had been filled up strictly in acordance with the authority given and within a reasonable time. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1397, ch. 854, § 1318.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ERASURES AND SUBSTITUTIONS

Although one is given permission to fill blanks in a note, he cannot subsequently recover it and erase material words and substitute and interline others. Ofenstein v. Bryan (20 App. D. C. 1).

Authority to fill blank notes does not give additional authority to change the terms by erasure or interlineation. National Capital Bank v. Bryan (20 App. D. C. 26).

MATERIAL ALTERATION

Where the alteration is material, and such as reasonably to excite suspicion, it is incumbent upon the party offering it in support of his claim thereunder, to give some evidence tending to explain its condition. Ofenstein v. Bryan (20 App. D. C. 1).

§ 28–116 [22: 16]. Undelivered incomplete instrument—Validity.

Where an incomplete instrument has not been delivered it will not, if completed and negotiated without authority, be a valid contract in the hands of any holder as against any person whose signature was placed thereon before delivery. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1398, ch. 854, § 1319.)

§ 28–117 [22: 17]. Delivery — When effectual — When presumed.

Every contract on a negotiable instrument is incomplete and revocable until delivery of the instrument for the purpose of giving effect thereto. As between immediate parties and as regards a remote party other than a holder in due course, the delivery, in order to be effectual, must be made either by or under the authority of the party making, drawing, accepting, or indorsing as the case may be; and in such case the delivery may be shown to have been conditional or for a special purpose only, and not for the purpose of transferring the property in the instrument. But where the instrument is in the hands of a holder in due course, a valid delivery thereof by all parties prior to him, so as to make them liable to him, is conclusively presumed. And where the instrument is no longer in the possession of a party whose signature appears thereon, a valid and intentional delivery by him is presumed until the contrary is proved. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1398, ch. 854, § 1320.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PRESUMPTION OF TRANSFER OF TITLE

Transfer of possession of a negotiable instrument is presumably a transfer of title, and especially is this true when the transfer is made to one who is not a debtor or is under no obligation to receive or pay it. Lee v. Mitcham (69 App. D. C. 17, 98 Fed. (2d) 298, 117 A. L. R. 1427).

§ 28–118 [22: 18]. Construction where instrument is ambiguous.

Where the language of the instrument is ambiguous, or there are omissions therein, the following rules of construction apply:

First. Where the sum payable is expressed in words and also in figures and there is a discrepancy between the two, the sum denoted by the words is the sum payable; but if the words are ambiguous or uncertain, reference may be had to the figures to fix the amount.

Second. Where the instrument provides for the payment of interest without specifying the date from which interest is to run, the interest runs from the date of the instrument, and if the instrument is undated, from the issue thereof.

Third. Where the instrument is not dated it will be considered to be dated as of the time it was issued.

Fourth. Where there is conflict between the written and printed provisions of the instrument, the written provisions prevail.

Fifth. Where the instrument is so ambiguous that there is doubt whether it is a bill or note, the holder may treat it as either at his election.

Sixth. Where a signature is so placed upon the instrument that it is not clear in what capacity the person making the same intended to sign, he is to be deemed an indorser.

Seventh. Where an instrument containing the words, "I promise to pay" is signed by two or more persons, they are deemed to be jointly and severally liable thereon. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1398, ch. 854, § 1321.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PAROL EVIDENCE

In absence of fraud, accident, or mistake, parol evidence of an oral agreement alleged to have been made at the time of drawing, making, or indorsing a bill or note cannot be permitted to vary, qualify, or contradict, or to add to or subtract from, the absolute terms of the written contract. Hutchins v. Langley (27 App. D. C. 234).

§ 28–119 [22: 19]. Liability—Person not signing—Person signing in trade or assumed name.

No person is liable on the instrument whose signature does not appear thereon, except as herein otherwise expressly provided. But one who signs in a trade or assumed name will be liable to the same extent as if he had signed in his own name. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1398, ch. 854, § 1322.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

AGREEMENT TO PAY

Where defendant purchased encumbered property without assuming liability on note secured by deed of trust but, to obtain extension, agreed to pay note and thereafter sold property to one who did not assume indebtedness, the fact that holder of note granted extension to defendant's vendee without defendant's knowledge or consent did not preclude enforcement of defendant's agreement since defendant's liability was not a "secondary liability". Ober v. Riggs Nat. Bank of Washington, D. C. (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 877).

§ 28–120 [22: 20]. Signature by agent—Authority.

The signature of any party may be made by a duly-authorized agent. No particular form of appointment is necessary for this purpose, and the authority of the agent may be established as in other cases of agency. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1398, ch. 854, § 1323.)

§ 28–121 [22: 21]. Liability of agent.

Where the instrument contains or a person adds to his signature words indicating that he signs for or on behalf of a principal, or in a representative capacity, he is not liable on the instrument if he was duly authorized, but the mere addition of words describing him as an agent or as filling a representative character without disclosing his principal does not exempt him from personal liability. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1398, ch. 854, § 1324.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PRESUMPTION OF AGENCY

Under the statute, the instrument creates a presumption of agency which may be rebutted by competent proof. Eisinger v. E. J. Murphy Co. (52 App. D. C. 197, 285 Fed. 931).

Signer is not liable if he was duly authorized, but mere addition of words describing him as agent does not exempt him from liability. There is a presumption that an acceptance of a draft on an individual described as agent, is the act of the agent, but it may be rebutted by competent proof. Eisinger v. E. J. Murphy Co. (52 App. D. C. 197, 285 Fed. 931).

§ 28–122 [22: 22]. Signature by procuration.

A signature by "procuration" operates as notice that the agent has but a limited authority to sign, and the principal is bound only in case the agent in so signing acted within the actual limits of his authority. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1325.)

§ 28–123 [22: 23]. Indorsement by corporation or infant.

The indorsement or assignment of the instrument by a corporation or by an infant passes the property therein, notwithstanding that from want of capacity the corporation or infant may incur no liability thereon. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1326.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ACCOMMODATION INDORSEMENT

Whether trading corporation had implied power to make indorsement of negotiable paper for accommodation solely, it is not necessary to consider, but assuming the want of power, the defense is unavailable where the party acting upon the faith of that indorsement had no notice of the fact, as its effect was, nevertheless, to pass the property therein. Willard v. Crook (21 App. D. C. 237).

OMISSION OF WORD

Omission of word "by" between title of corporation, and officer acting for it in the indorsement, is immaterial. Clark v. Read (12 App. D. C. 343).

SEAL OF CORPORATION

Impression of the seal of a corporation upon an instrument otherwise negotiable, especially when such impression is in connection with an indorsement of the note by such corporation, does not of itself suffice to restrain the negotiability of the paper or to convert it into a specialty. Clark v. Read (12 App. D. C. 343).

§ 28–124 [22: 24]. Signature forged or without authority.

Where a signature is forged or made without the authority of the person whose signature it purports to be it is wholly inoperative, and no right to retain the instrument, or to give a discharge therefor, or to enforce payment thereof against any party thereto can be acquired through or under such signature, unless the party against whom it is sought to enforce such right is precluded from setting up the forgery or want of authority. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1327.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Liability of bank or trust company on forged, altered, or raised check, §§ 28–1008 to 28–1010.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

GENERALLY

Where signature of payee of check is forged, it is inoperative and gives no right to enforce payment unless the party against whom writ is sought to enforce the right is precluded from setting up the forgery. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. U. S., 1943 (134 F. 2d 59, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 284, affirming 47 F. Supp. 25).

ACCEPTANCE OF FORGED PAPER

If one accepts forged paper purporting to be his own and pays it to a holder for value, the Supreme Court has said that it is undoubtedly true as a general rule of commercial law that he cannot recall the payment. What he has done amounts to an adoption of the paper as genuine. He is presumed to know his own signature. United States v. Bank of New York Nat. Banking Assn. ((C. C. A. 2), 219 Fed. 648, L. R. A. 1915D, 797).

BILL PAID UPON PRESENTMENT

Principle applies as well to the case of a bill paid upon presentment as to one accepted and afterwards paid. United States v. Bank of New York Nat. Banking Assn. ((C. C. A. 2), 219 Fed. 648, L. R. A. 1915D, 797).

FORGERY AGAINST UNITED STATES

United States cannot recover money paid on draft that has forged signature of one of its consuls, where the defendant has not been guilty of negligence so as to contribute to the fraud. United States v. Bank of New York Nat. Banking Assn. ((C. C. A. 2), 219 Fed. 648, L. R. A. 1915D, 797).

HISTORICAL

The principle established by Price v. Neale (3 Burrows, 1354), decided in 1762, has been incorporated into uniform Negotiable Instruments Act, which has been adopted in the District of Columbia. That act provides that the acceptor by accepting the instrument engages that he will pay it according to the tenor of his acceptance and admits "the existence of the drawer, the genuineness of his signature, his capacity and authority to draw the instrument." As payment is equivalent to acceptance, the United States under the act admitted the genuineness of the drawer's signature if the bill was negotiable. United States v. Bank of New York Nat. Banking Assn. ((C. C. A. 2), 219 Fed. 648, L. R. A. 1915D, 797).

LIABILITY OF BANK

Liability of bank for payment of check on forged indorsement. Central Nat. Bank v. National Met. Bank (31 App. D. C. 391, 17 L. R. A. (N. S.) 520).

Bank accepting indorsed check without requiring identification of payee's signature, which was in fact forged, is liable to drawee bank on guaranty of prior indorsements. District Nat. Bank v. Washington Loan & Trust Co. (62 App. D. C. 198, 65 Fed. (2d) 831).

When one bank received money from a second bank on checks to husband and wife which it had acquired through forged indorsements and which under the Negotiable Instruments Law were legally uncollectible, the conduct of the second bank in delivering the checks to the husband did not, in the circumstances, preclude it from setting up the forgery of the indorsement. City Bank v. Hamilton Nat. Bank (71 App. D. C. 225, 108 Fed. (2d) 588).

Price v. Neale goes upon the same theory as do those cases which hold that a bank is bound to know its customer's signature, and has no remedy where it has paid or certified a forged check to a bona fide holder for value. United States v. Bank of New York Nat. Banking Assn. ((C. C. A. 2), 219 Fed. 648, L. R. A. 1915D, 797).

Where Government employee made up fraudulent payroll vouchers for fictitious employees of an imaginary C. C. C. camp and such employee forged endorsement on checks made payable to the fictitious employees but shortage was not discovered or suspected during four or five years during which the employee operated, the Government was entitled to recover from banks amount paid to them on their presentation of checks bearing the forged endorsements and neither negligence in issuance of checks nor late discovery of forgeries was defense which banks could interpose under "equitable estoppel" doctrine since the Government as drawer owed no duty to the banks with reference to the endorsements and the banks were under duty to determine the genuineness of the endorsements. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. U. S., 1943 (134 F. 2d 59, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 284, affirming 47 F. Supp. 25).

Where bank presenting checks for payment did not designate or identify itself as agent or trustee for collection, and did not represent itself as acting only for the account of its principal, but instead indorsed checks so as to imply to drawee that prior payments had been made to and acknowledged by identical persons named as payees, and where warranty, which was false, was relied on by the United States, as drawee, the presenting bank could not escape liability on ground that it acted only as agent for another. National Metropolitan Bank v. U. S., 1944 (142 F. 2d 474, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 54, affirmed 65 S. Ct. 354, 323 U. S. 454, 89 L. Ed. 383).

Where checks were drawn by one governmental agency on another, were negligently issued on fraudulent vouchers, names of payees were forged by dishonest employee of government, government was negligent in not sooner discovering fraud, and checks were cashed or deposited in banks and sums of checks thereafter paid on demand by the government on faith of the banks' guarantee of all indorsements, the government was entitled to recover amount of the checks from bank presenting them for payment, since government as drawer and drawee owed no duty to banks with reference to indorsements, whereas it was obligation of banks, at their peril, to be sure the indorsements which they guaranteed were genuine. National Metropolitan Bank v. U. S., 1944 (142 F. 2d 474, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 54, affirmed 65 S. Ct. 354, 323 U. S. 454, 89 L. Ed. 383).

Holder of checks was under statutory duty to determine genuineness of indorsement and when it presented checks for payment with a warranty, express or implied, that indorsements were in all respects regular, holder thereby made itself liable to drawer or drawee if it afterwards was shown that indorsements were forged. National Metropolitan Bank v. U. S., 1944 (142 F. 2d 474, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 54, affirmed 65 S. Ct. 354, 323 U. S. 454, 89 L. Ed. 383).

Chapter 2.—CONSIDERATION

Sec.
28–201. Presumption of valuable consideration.
28–202. What is value.
28–203. Who is holder for value.
28–204. Holder of lien on instrument is holder for value.
28–205. Absence or failure of consideration is defense.
28–206. "Accommodation parties" defined—Liability.

§ 28–201 [22: 31]. Presumption of valuable consideration.

Every negotiable instrument is deemed prima facie to have been issued for a valuable consideration, and every person whose signature appears thereon to have become a party thereto for value. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1328.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF DEBT

Generally, instrument containing no unconditional promise or order to pay certain sum of money on demand or at fixed or determinable future time to order or bearer is not good negotiable instrument, but merely acknowledgment of debt, to which presumptions of this section, such as that of valuable consideration, are inapplicable. Bader v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 637).

BURDEN OF PROOF

When defendant alleged want of consideration for the note, this did not impose upon the plaintiff the burden of proof. Towles v. Tanner (21 App. D. C. 530).

If, upon proof of fraud or illegality in the inception of the negotiable paper, the indorsee or transferee thereof cannot avail himself of the presumption of bona fide ownership, certainly as between the original parties thereto, upon proof of want or failure of consideration, the burden is on the plaintiff to prove by a preponderance of the evidence, without the aid of the presumption of consideration, that he is a holder for value. Holley v. Smalley (50 App. D. C. 178, 269 Fed. 694).

In action upon note when defense is want of consideration or mistake, defendant has burden to present evidence to sustain such defense, which must be more than a mere suggestion of a defense. Sheriger v. Gruner (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 35).

PRESUMPTION REBUTTABLE

When the plaintiff introduced the note and rested, he had made a prima facie case which, if unchallenged, would have been sufficient to sustain a verdict and judgment in his favor. This amounts, however, to a mere legal presumption, which disappears when confronted by facts setting up either absence or failure of consideration. Holley v. Smalley (50 App. D. C. 178, 269 Fed. 694).

Where the consideration for a note was the surrender of certain prior notes, which the payee failed to do, there was a complete failure of consideration for the note first mentioned. Holley v. Smalley (50 App. D. C. 178, 269 Fed. 694).

PRIMA FACIE EVIDENCE

As the consideration is presumed, evidence to establish a consideration is not required. Towles v. Tanner (21 App. D. C. 530).

Every negotiable instrument is deemed prima facie to have been issued for a valuable consideration, and every person whose signature appears thereon to have become a party thereto for value. Towles v. Tanner (21 App. D. C. 530).

Plaintiff made a prima facie case by the authentication and introduction of the note against the maker, see § 28–205 (31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1332). Kiess v. Baldwin (67 App. D. C. 147, 90 Fed. (2d) 392).

§ 28–202 [22: 32]. What is value.

Value is any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract. An antecedent or preexisting debt constitutes value, and is deemed such whether the instrument is payable on demand or at a future time. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1329.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ASSUMPTION OF LIABILITY

Assumption of a liability at the request of the promisor is a valuable consideration, as, for example, a guaranty of the promissor's debt. Commercial Nat. Bank v. McCandlish (57 App. D. C. 378, 23 Fed. (2d) 986).

EXTENSION OF TIME

When note was given to indorser in exchange for six months' extension and a previous note to bank, for which the indorser gave his own note to bank, which turned over to the indorser the makers' original note for collection, it was supported by consideration and the bank was estopped from making claim on original note. McNeill v. Lilly (65 App. D. C. 210, 82 Fed. (2d) 620).

§ 28–203 [22: 33]. Who is holder for value.

Where value has at any time been given for the instrument, the holder is deemed a holder for value in respect to all parties who became such prior to that time. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1330.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

HOLDER FOR VALUE

A promissory note in the hands of a bona fide purchaser for value without notice is valid in District of Columbia even though it is made upon a gambling consideration. Wirt v. Stubblefield (17 App. D. C. 283).

"One who holds a negotiable note taken before maturity as collateral security for a preexisting debt, is a holder for value." Thompson v. Franklin Nat. Bank (45 App. D. C. 218, cert. den. 242 U. S. 637, 61 L. Ed. 540, 37 Sup. Ct. 21).

Evidence sustained finding that indorsee was bona fide holder for value of note even though payee breached agreement that he would complete his work. Gross v. Delaney (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 629).

§ 28–204 [22: 34]. Holder of lien on instrument is holder for value.

Where the holder has a lien on the instrument, arising either from contract or by implication of law, he is deemed a holder for value to the extent of his lien. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1331.)

§ 28–205 [22: 35]. Absence or failure of consideration is defense.

Absence or failure of consideration is matter of defense as against any person not a holder in due course; and partial failure of consideration is a defense pro tanto, whether the failure is an ascertained and liquidated amount or otherwise. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1332.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

DEFENSES

Threat to prosecute son is sufficient duress and is good defense on promissory note. O'Toole v. Lamson (41 App. D. C. 276).

No particular sanctity attaches to a promissory note and is subject, at the suit of the original payee, to any defense available against the enforcement of a written contract. McReynolds v. National Woodworking Co. (58 App. D. C. 197, 26 Fed. (2d) 975).

FAILURE OF CONSIDERATION

There was no evidence from which a jury could have concluded that there was an absence of consideration, as the record did not show evidence that wife did not give her note in exchange for the husband's or that it should be substituted for husband's note, or that she gave note only as security. Kiess v. Baldwin (67 App. D. C. 147, 90 Fed. (2d) 392).

Payee's promise to complete his work was a valid consideration for note, and whatever defense, if any, maker might thereafter have, would be failure, not lack, of consideration. Gross v. Delaney (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 629).

One suing wife on spouses' I. O. U. for money advanced by plaintiff on purchase price of restaurant business to be conducted by spouses jointly could not recover on theory that detriment suffered by plaintiff as result of making further advances on account of such business in reliance on wife's signature of instrument constituted sufficient consideration therefor, in absence of evidence that plaintiff told wife that he would make no further advances unless she signed instrument. Bader v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 637).

Where corporation's president honestly believed that he had interest in land which president and defendant's wife agreed to buy and title to which was conveyed to wife who paid entire purchase price when president failed to pay his half of additional amount required for settlement of purchase contract, and defendant and wife recognized president's claim, note executed by defendant in partial consideration of president's relinquishment of claim was supported by valid consideration, notwithstanding that the consideration passed from president to wife, and that president designated corporation as payee of note. Belfiore v. B. J. Crivella, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 542).

FALSE AND FRAUDULENT REPRESENTATIONS

Although contract is in writing and its terms cannot be varied by parol evidence, it is admissible to show evidence of false and fraudulent representations made to induce the contract as to one of original parties or one substituted for the purpose of excluding the defense of fraud. First Nat. Bank v. Fox (40 App. D. C. 430).

PARTIAL FAILURE OF CONSIDERATION

A partial failure of consideration would be a defense pro tanto to the note which was given in place of prior notes which he had signed as an indorser, and when he was only liable on part of the prior notes. Ryan v. Security Sav. & Commercial Bank (50 App. D. C. 292, 271 Fed. 366).

Partial failure of consideration is a defense pro tanto. Ryan v. Security Sav. & Commercial Bank (50 App. D. C. 292, 271 Fed. 366).

SUBSTITUTION OF NOTES

Surrender of one note and the taking of another in substitution therefor is a valid consideration for the latter, and the fact that no consideration moves to the maker of the substituted note is immaterial. Kiess v. Baldwin (67 App. D. C. 147, 90 Fed. (2d) 392).

§ 28–206 [22: 36]. "Accommodation parties" defined—Liability.

An accommodation party is one who has signed the instrument as maker, drawer, acceptor, or indorser, without receiving value therefor, and for the purpose of lending his name to some other person. Such a person is liable on the instrument to a holder for value, notwithstanding such holder at the time of taking the instrument knew him to be only an accommodation party. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1333.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

MARRIED WOMAN

Married woman's liability on note dated and made payable in Washington, D. C., which maker signed in Pennsylvania, is determined by law of District of Columbia as to question of wife's capacity to sign note as accommodation maker for her husband. Kiess v. Baldwin (64 App. D. C. 66, 74 Fed. (2d) 470).

OBLIGATION OF ACCOMMODATION MAKER

Obligation of an accommodation maker, though made without value received by him, is none the less an obligation recognized in law to be supported by a valid consideration. Chase v. Du Pont Nat. Bank ((C. C. A. 3), 277 Fed. 235).

28–314. Payee's name misspelled.
28–315. Indorsement in representative capacity.
28–316. Presumption of negotiation before maturity.
28–317. Place of indorsement—Presumption.
28–318. Negotiable instrument continues as such.
28–319. Striking out indorsements.
28–320. Transfer without indorsing—Time of taking effect.
28–321. Transfer back to prior party—Rights of intervening party.

§ 28–301 [22: 41]. Definition—Bearer instrument—Order instrument.

An instrument is negotiated when it is transferred from one person to another in such manner as to constitute the transferee the holder thereof. If payable to bearer it is negotiated by delivery; if payable to order it is negotiated by the indorsement of the holder, completed by delivery. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1334.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

INDORSEMENT AND DELIVERY

When party took title by delivery under the blank indorsement of the payee, its effect was to make the note payable to bearer, and pass by delivery. Jerman v. Edwards (29 App. D. C. 535).

It is essential for the negotiation of note payable to order that there be an indorsement and delivery. McKee v. District Nat. Bank (38 App. D. C. 465).

WRONGFUL DELIVERY

When bank had possession of note indorsed in blank which belonged to another, and wrongly transferred it to another's file, the executor of the latter is not holder in due course for the note was not negotiated. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. Cowgill (66 App. D. C. 89, 85 Fed. (2d) 255).

§ 28–302 [22: 42]. Indorsement — How made — Sufficiency.

The indorsement must be written on the instrument itself or upon a paper attached thereto. The signature of the indorser, without additional words, is a sufficient indorsement. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1335.)

§ 28–303 [22: 43]. Indorsement must be of entire instrument.

The indorsement must be an indorsement of the entire instrument. An indorsement which purports to transfer to the indorsee a part only of the amount payable, or which purports to transfer the instrument to two or more indorsees severally, does not operate as a negotiation of the instrument; but where the instrument has been paid in part it may be indorsed as to the residue. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1336.)

§ 28–304 [22: 44]. Kinds of indorsement.

An indorsement may be either special or in blank; and it may also be either restrictive or qualified or conditional. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1337.)

§ 28–305 [22: 45]. Special indorsement—Indorsement in blank.

A special indorsement specifies the person to whom or to whose order the instrument is to be payable; and the indorsement of such indorsee is necessary to the further negotiation of the instrument. An indorsement in blank specifies no indorsee, and an instrument so indorsed is payable to bearer and may be negotiated by delivery. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1399, ch. 854, § 1338.)

EFFECT

A check after having been endorsed in blank may be negotiated by its holder without further endorsement. Milton v. United States (71 App. D. C. 394, 110 Fed. (2d) 556).

GENERAL INDORSEMENT

A general indorsement by demanding bank is the equivalent of representation that bank has valid title to check and to proceeds in its own right and it must make restitution when its warranty is shown to be untrue. National Metropolitan Bank v. U. S., 1944 (142 F. 2d 474, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 54, affirmed 65 S. Ct. 354, 323 U. S. 454, 89 L. Ed. 383).

NOTE

A note endorsed in blank may be negotiated by delivery. Mazo v. Ed. L. Stock, Inc. (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 660).

§ 28–306 [22: 46]. Blank indorsement may be converted into special indorsement.

The holder may convert a blank indorsement into a special indorsement by writing over the signature of the indorser in blank any contract consistent with the character of the indorsement. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, § 1339.)

§ 28–307 [22: 47]. Restrictive indorsement.

An indorsement is restrictive which either—

First. Prohibits the further negotiation of the instrument; or,

Second. Constitutes the indorsee the agent of the indorser; or,

Third. Vests the title in the indorsee in trust for or to the use of some other person. But the mere absence of words implying power to negotiate does not make an indorsement restrictive. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, § 1340.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

FAILURE TO RESTRICT

Where bank presenting checks for payment did not designate or identify itself as agent or trustee for collection, and did not represent itself as acting only for the account of its principal, but instead indorsed checks so as to imply to drawee that prior payments had been made to and acknowledged by identical persons named as payees, and where warranty, which was false, was relied on by the United States, as drawee, the presenting bank could not escape liability on ground that it acted only as agent for another. National Metropolitan Bank v. U. S., 1944 (142 F. 2d 474, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 54, 324 U. S. 454, affirmed 65 S. Ct. 354, 323 U. S. 454, 89 L. Ed. 383).

An unconditional demand for payment of check was a representation of valid title in demanding bank and a certification that all prior indorsements were regular and valid and entitled the holder to receive the proceeds. National Metropolitan Bank v. U. S., 1944 (142 F. 2d 474, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 54, 324 U. S. 454, affirmed 65 S. Ct. 354, 323 U. S. 454, 89 L. Ed. 383).

§ 28–308 [22: 48]. Effect of restrictive indorsement—Rights of indorsee.

A restrictive indorsement confers upon the indorsee the right—

First. To receive payment of the instrument.

Second. To bring any action thereon that the indorser could bring.

Third. To transfer his rights as such indorsee where the form of the indorsement authorizes him to do so.

But all subsequent indorsees acquire only the title of the first indorsee under the restrictive indorsement. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, § 1341.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ADDITIONAL ENDORSEMENTS

Where note bore two endorsements, one for collection account of payee and other without recourse to payee, and it did not appear which endorsement was made first, the holder was entitled to maintain suit to collect unpaid balance of note. Mazo v. Ed L. Stock, Inc. (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 660).

ENDORSEMENT FOR COLLECTION ACCOUNT

An endorsement for collection account constitutes a "restrictive endorsement" conferring on the endorsee right to bring any action endorser could bring. Mazo v. Ed L. Stock, Inc. (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 660).

§ 28–309 [22: 49]. Qualified indorsement.

A qualified indorsement constitutes the indorser a mere assignor of the title to the instrument. It may be made by adding to the indorser's signature the words "without recourse," or any words of similar import. Such an indorsement does not impair the negotiable character of the instrument. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, § 1342.)

§ 28–310 [22: 50]. Conditional indorsement.

Where an indorsement is conditional, a party required to pay the instrument may disregard the condition and make payment to the indorsee or his transferee, whether the condition has been fulfilled or not. But any person to whom an instrument so indorsed is negotiated will hold the same, or the proceeds thereof, subject to the rights of the person indorsing conditionally. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, § 1343.)

§ 28–311 [22: 51]. Special indorsement — Instrument payable to bearer.

Where an instrument payable to bearer is indorsed specially it may, nevertheless, be further negotiated by delivery; but the person indorsing specially is liable as indorser to only such holders as make title through his indorsement. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, § 1344.)

§ 28–312 [22: 52]. Indorsement by joint payees not partners.

Where an instrument is payable to the order of two or more payees or indorsees who are not partners all must indorse, unless the one indorsing has authority to indorse for the others. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, §1345.)

§ 28–313 [22: 53]. Payable to cashier.

Where an instrument is drawn or indorsed to a person as "cashier" or other fiscal officer of a bank or corporation, it is deemed prima facie to be payable to the bank or corporation of which he is such officer, and may be negotiated by either the indorsement of the bank or corporation or the indorsement of the officer. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, § 1346.)

§ 28–314 [22: 54]. Payee's name misspelled.

Where the name of a payee or indorsee is wrongly designated or misspelled he may indorse the instrument as therein described, adding, if he think fit, his proper signature. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, § 1347.)

§ 28–315 [22: 55]. Indorsement in representative capacity.

Where any person is under obligation to indorse in a representative capacity he may indorse in such terms as to negative personal liability. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, § 1348.)

§ 28–316 [22: 56]. Presumption of negotiation before maturity.

Except where an indorsement bears date after the maturity of the instrument, every negotiation is deemed prima facie to have been effected before the instrument was overdue. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1400, ch. 854, § 1349.)

§ 28–317 [22: 57]. Place of indorsement—Presumption.

Except where the contrary appears, every indorsement is presumed prima facie to have been made at the place where the instrument is dated. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1350.)

§ 28–318 [22: 58]. Negotiable instrument continues as such.

An instrument negotiable in its origin continues to be negotiable until it has been restrictively indorsed or discharged by payment or otherwise. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1351.)

§ 28–319 [22: 59]. Striking out indorsements.

The holder may at any time strike out any indorsement which is not necessary to his title. The indorser whose indorsement is struck out and all indorsers subsequent to him are thereby relieved from liability on the instrument. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1352.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

This provision of the code is but declaratory of the law as it was recognized before the adoption of the Negotiable Instruments Act. Jerman v. Edwards (29 App. D. C. 535).

RESTRICTIVE SUBSEQUENT INDORSEMENT

One is entitled to strike out a subsequent indorsement when he does not claim title thereunder, and when there is no defense to the note as against anyone whose name appears on it, it is immaterial whether or not such subsequent indorsement is restrictive. Jerman v. Edwards (29 App. D. C. 535).

§ 28–320 [22: 60]. Transfer without indorsing—Time of taking effect.

Where the holder of an instrument payable to his order transfers it for value without indorsing it, the transfer vests in the transferee such title as the transferrer had therein, and the transferee acquires, in addition, the right to have the indorsement of the transferrer. But for the purpose of determining whether the transferee is a holder in due course, the negotiation takes effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1353.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

EVIDENCE

Plaintiff, to maintain action on negotiable note as transferee without formal indorsement, was required to offer evidence of transfer to it by payee and that such transfer was for value, and production by plaintiff of note did not alone prima facie establish his title or ownership. Bonuso v. Shroyer Loan & Finance Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 760).

HOLDER IN DUE COURSE

A physical holder of an unindorsed note drawn to order is not a "holder in due course" and a transfer of the note without indorsement, although valid under §§ 28–320 to 28–402, destroys negotiability of the note. Bonuso v. Shroyer Loan & Finance Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 760).

RIGHT TO MAINTAIN ACTION

This section, by vesting title of transferor in transferee without formal indorsement, entitles transferee to maintain an action in his own name on a negotiable instrument. Bonuso v. Shroyer Loan & Finance Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 760).

§ 28–321 [22: 61]. Transfer back to prior party—Rights of intervening party.

Where an instrument is negotiated back to a prior party such party may, subject to the provisions of this act, reissue and further negotiate the same. But he is not entitled to enforce payment thereof against any intervening party to whom he was personally liable. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1354.)

28–405. Defective title—Definition.
28–406. Notice of infirmity—Sufficiency.
28–407. Rights of holder in due course.
28–408. Rights of holder other than holder in due course.
28–409. Presumption as to holding in due course—Burden of proof when transferor's title shown defective.
28–410. Lost or miscarried bill of exchange—Drawer to issue duplicate.

§ 28–401 [22: 71]. May sue in own name—Discharge of instrument by payment.

The holder of a negotiable instrument may sue thereon in his own name, and payment to him in due course discharges the instrument. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1355.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CHECK GIVEN AS DEPOSIT

Where check given as deposit to be applied in part payment of purchase price was made payable to broker handling sale for vendor, broker was the proper party to bring an action on the check. Schlosberg v. Shannon & Luchs Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 53 A. 2d 722).

HOLDER BY PURCHASE AFTER MATURITY

Where a stranger acquires a note from a holder authorized to sell, the transaction, either upon proof of the stranger's intention to purchase or upon the presumption of fact that he intended a purchase, will be held to be a purchase rather than a discharge of the note. As purchaser he would succeed to all the rights in the pledged security; and this is true notwithstanding the notes had passed their maturity date. Lee v. Mitcham (69 App. D. C. 17, 98 Fed. (2d) 298, 117 A. L. R. 1427).

HOLDER BY PURCHASE BEFORE MATURITY

Plaintiff established a prima facie case of liability by maker of note, when he introduced note and testified that he purchased the note for value before maturity, that the note was due and unpaid, that he was not a party to the note and that it was purchased without knowledge of defenses. Klingstein v. Thomas Circle Cafe (68 App. D. C. 5, 92 Fed. (2d) 554).

Holder of note payable 60 days after date who purchased note for value and before maturity was entitled to recover on note from makers, notwithstanding their claim that they signed note under belief that it called for monthly payments of balance owing on contract and that payee breached the contract. Fabrizio v. Anderson (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 314).

HOLDER UNDER INDORSEMENT IN TRUST

A legal holder under indorsement in trust may bring suit. National City Bank v. Bankers Trust Co. (37 App. D. C. 553).

While an indorsement of promissory note in trust restricts the free circulation of a note, and takes it out of the class known as commercial paper, the indorsee, having the legal title thereto, and having authority to receive payment thereof, may bring suit in his own name to enforce payment. National City Bank v. Bankers Trust Co. (37 App. D. C. 553).

Unless circumstances are such that reasonable men could draw only one inference from them, question of whether holder of note is holder in due course is for the jury. Zier v. Eastern Acceptance Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 106).

HOLDER UNDER RESTRICTIVE INDORSEMENT

An indorsee under a restrictive indorsement has the right to bring any action thereon that the indorser could bring. McKee v. District Nat. Bank (38 App. D. C. 465).

TRANSFEREE WITHOUT INDORSEMENT

Plaintiff, to maintain action on negotiable note as transferee without formal indorsement, was required to offer evidence of transfer to it by payee and that such transfer was for value, and production by plaintiff of note did not alone prima facie establish his title or ownership. Bonuso v. Shroyer Loan & Finance Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 760).

§ 28–402 [22: 72]. "Holder in due course" defined.

A holder in due course is a holder who has taken the instrument under the following conditions:

First. That it is complete and regular upon its face.

Second. That he became the holder of it before it was over due, and without notice that it had been previously dishonored, if such was the fact.

Third. That he took it in good faith and for value.

Fourth. That at the time it was negotiated to him he had no notice of any infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating it. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1356.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Provisions under this section refer only to negotiable instruments. Arnett v. Clack (122 Ariz. 409, 198 Pac. 127).

COMPLETE AND REGULAR

Indorsee of an instrument containing a blank as to any material part is not a "holder in due course" because, under such circumstances, instrument when received is not complete and regular on its face. Zier v. Eastern Acceptance Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 106).

EVIDENCE, SUFFICIENCY

In suit for cancellation of note and deed of trust and return of usurious payments, evidence did not sustain finding that defendant was a holder in due course. Hill v. Hawes, 1944 (144 F. 2d 511, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 168).

EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES

Where note sued on was in blank when signed by maker, circumstances surrounding filling of blanks, and negotiation of note had a direct bearing upon whether indorsee was a holder in due course and sustaining of objection to maker's cross-examination of indorsee's credit manager as to who had figured finance charges as embodied in the note and shown by notice sent to maker was reversible error. Zier v. Eastern Acceptance Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 106).

FINANCE COMPANY

Finance company engaged in business of discounting trade acceptances, when purchasing certificate of deposit after inquiry of issuing bank's cashier, is holder in due course. International Finance Corp. v. Peoples Bank ((D. C.-W. Va.), 27 Fed. (2d) 523).

NOTICE

Where plaintiff received payments on note until shortly before suit was filed no inference could be drawn that plaintiff was not a holder in due course from plaintiff's delay in notifying defendant that it was holder of note. Eastern Acceptance Corp. v. Henry (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 309).

PLACE OF PAYMENT

In action by indorsee against maker on negotiable note, fact that note was made payable at indorsee's office did not preclude indorsee from subsequently acquiring note as a holder in due course, but was to be taken into account along with other circumstances to determine whether indorsee was such a holder. Zier v. Eastern Acceptance Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 106).

PRESUMPTION

While knowledge of an infirmity in a negotiable instrument may be established by circumstantial evidence, endorsee's bad faith or fraud in acquiring a negotiable note can never be assumed but must be shown by clear and unequivocal testimony; mere suspicion being insufficient to upset proof offered by endorsee that it is a holder in due course. Eastern Acceptance Corp. v. Henry (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 309).

QUESTION FOR JURY

Evidence whether plaintiff was an innocent holder for value, of promissory note sued on, was properly submitted to the jury. Edwards v. Fox (40 App. D. C. 439).

TRANSFEREE OF FRAUDULENT AGENT

When holder of notes executed extension slips, which were held under indorsements in blank, it did not give notice to subsequent transferee from fraudulent agent of the holder, who had transferred the notes to the bank as security for his own debt, and the transferee remained a good-faith holder. Ragan v. Wardell (67 App. D. C. 222, 91 Fed. (2d) 253).

UNINDORSED NOTE

A physical holder of an unindorsed note drawn to order is not a "holder in due course" and a transfer of the note without indorsement, although valid under §§ 28–320 to 28–402, destroys negotiability of the note. Bonuso v. Shroyer Loan & Finance Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 760).

WANT OF CONSIDERATION

Defendant, in addition to the fact that the discount was applied, must also allege that the money, at the time of the notice, remained in the bank to the credit of the discounter. If it has been paid to him or his order, the bank necessarily becomes a holder for value. Richards v. Street (31 App. D. C. 427).

WRONGFUL DELIVERY

When bank had possession of note indorsed in blank which belonged to another, and wrongly transferred it to another's file, the executor of the latter is not holder in due course for the note was not negotiated. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. Cowgill (66 App. D. C. 89, 85 Fed. (2d) 255).

§ 28–403 [22: 73]. Holder in due course—Demand instrument.

Where an instrument payable on demand is negotiated an unreasonable length of time after its issue, the holder is not deemed a holder in due course. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1357.)

§ 28–404 [22: 74]. Notice before full amount is paid.

Where the transferee receives notice of any infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating the same before he has paid the full amount agreed to be paid therefor, he will be deemed a holder in due course only to the extent of the amount theretofore paid by him. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1358.)

§ 28–405 [22: 75]. Defective title—Definition.

The title of a person who negotiates an instrument is defective within the meaning hereof when he obtained the instrument, or any signature thereto, by fraud, duress, or force and fear or other unlawful means, or for any illegal consideration, or when he negotiates it in breach of faith or under such circumstances as amount to a fraud. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1359.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

BURDEN OF PROOF

When it is shown that the title of any person who has negotiated the instrument was defective, the burden is on the holder to prove that he or some person under whom he claims acquired the title as a holder in due course. Bowen v. Mount Vernon Sav. Bank (70 App. D. C. 273, 105 Fed. (2d) 796).

KNOWLEDGE OF MAKER

Where finance company was named on face of note given for part of purchase price of automobile as dealer's agent to receive payment, it was reasonable to infer that the company was in possession of note and demanded payment in agency capacity, and if so, it was disabled from subsequently acquiring the note in good faith and without notice because of knowledge which it had acquired from maker, when demand for payment was made, that the dealer's title was defective. Palmer v. Associates Discount Corporation, 1941 (124 F. 2d 225, 74 App. D. C. 386).

PLEADING

In action on note given for part of purchase price of automobile, affidavit of defense alleging that automobile dealer represented the automobile to be in good condition, that the automobile was found to be in an unsafe and dangerous condition and with numerous and serious defects, that the dealer did not remedy the defect notwithstanding repeated demands and that automobile had been returned to dealer as worthless was sufficient to permit maker of note to establish defenses of failure of consideration, breach of warranty, and that he was induced to purchase the automobile and to sign the note by fraudulent misrepresentations. Palmer v. Associates Discount Corporation, 1941 (124 F. 2d 225, 74 App. D. C. 386).

USURY

The fact that competent businessmen do not purchase notes in substantial sums executed by unknown parties whose credit they have not investigated, together with claim of holder of usurious note, amply secured by trust deed, that he bought note at 40 percent discount, made a prima facie showing of usury which must be explained before holder could be found a holder in due course. Hill v. Hawes, 1944 (144 F. 2d 511, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 168).

Pretended bona fide purchases of note at large discount, out of the normal course of business, must be viewed with suspicion to protect against usury. Hill v. Hawes, 1944 (144 F. 2d 511, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 168).

§ 28–406 [22: 76]. Notice of infirmity—Sufficiency.

To constitute notice of an infirmity in the instrument, or defect in the title of the person negotiating the same, the person to whom it is negotiated must have had actual knowledge of the infirmity or defect or knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounted to bad faith. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1360.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ACTUAL NOTICE REQUIRED

Party who takes negotiable paper before due for a valuable consideration, without knowledge of any defect of title, in good faith, can hold it against all the world. A suspicion that there is a defect of title in the holder, or a knowledge of circumstances that might excite suspicion in the mind of a cautious person, or even gross negligence at the time, will not defeat the title of the purchaser. That result can be produced only by bad faith, which implies guilty knowledge or wilful ignorance; and the burden of proof lies on the assailant of the title. Hutchins v. Langley (27 App. D. C. 234).

Fact that deed of trust was released by trustees before maturity of promissory note secured by it will not be sufficient to charge the purchaser for value of subsequent note secured by a new deed of trust and upon which there was an indorsement of part payment, with constructive notice that the first note had not been paid, especially if he bought his note a year after release of first deed of trust and recording of its release, and at time when note it secured, if not paid was long overdue. Martin v. Poole (36 App. D. C. 281).

When promissory note was obtained from the maker by payee, by fraud and deception, nothing short of guilty knowledge of fraud and deception by subsequent indorsee for value will defeat his right to recover on it, as mere suspicion or even gross negligence is not sufficient. Hazen v. Van Senden (43 App. D. C. 161).

To constitute notice of an infirmity in the instrument, or defect in the title of the person negotiating the same, the person to whom it is negotiated must have had actual knowledge of the infirmity or defect; or knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounted to bad faith. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. Cowgill (66 App. D. C. 89, 85 Fed. (2d) 255).

Where notes have been negotiated before a breach occurs, knowledge of fact that notes were given for work to be performed is not notice of an infirmity in payee's title and does not put purchaser from payee on inquiry. Gross v. Delaney (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 629).

BAD FAITH

The fact that holder of note payable 60 days after date and given for balance due contractor for remodeling work knew that balance was to be paid in monthly installments did not establish bad faith of holder in purchasing note so as to prevent holder from recovering as a holder in due course against makers. Fabrizio v. Anderson (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 314).

INDORSEMENT IN BLANK

When indorsing note in blank and delivering it back to the maker, the payee makes the maker his agent and one who receives the note from the latter in good faith, for value, receives it in due course and may recover. Howell v. Commercial Nat. Bank (40 App. D. C. 370).

A note is not "negotiated" which is indorsed in blank and in possession of bank which purchased it for customer—and left in bank for safekeeping. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. Cowgill (66 App. D. C. 89, 85 Fed. (2d) 255).

NEGLIGENCE IN OBTAINING NOTICE

To effect purchaser for value with constructive notice, it must appear that his failure to obtain actual notice was due to gross or culpable negligence. Martin v. Poole, (36 App. D. C. 281).

SUBSEQUENT PURCHASER WITHOUT NOTICE

When notes were due in 1931 and payable to bank's cashier and were indorsed by him in blank without recourse and sold to one who let bank retain possession of notes, and maker without knowledge of sale executed extension slip extending maturity of notes to 1934, a subsequent purchase of notes for value in 1932 by one without notice or knowledge of preceding sale and not noticing that part of extension slip to be signed by the holder, but had not been signed, invested title to notes in subsequent purchaser, superior to claim of first purchaser. Counselman v. Pitzer (65 App. D. C. 71, 79 Fed. (2d) 707).

§ 28–407 [22: 77]. Rights of holder in due course.

A holder in due course holds the instrument free from any defect of title of prior parties and free from defenses available to prior parties among themselves, and may enforce payment of the instrument for the full amount thereof against all parties liable thereon. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1401, ch. 854, § 1361.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CONFLICT OF LAWS

British statutes of 16 Car. 2, ch. 8, and 9 Anne, ch. 14 (§§ 16–701 to 16–705) against gaming, so far as they might or would, if in force, affect the validity of the negotiable instruments which are within the provisions of the Negotiable Instruments Law, to the extent that they are so inconsistent or repugnant to the Negotiable Instruments Act, are no longer, as to negotiable instruments, in force in District of Columbia. Wirt v. Stubblefield (17 App. D. C. 283).

CONSIDERATION

To constitute one a "holder in due course" it is not necessary that full consideration be paid for a negotiable instrument. Interstate Bankers Corporation v. Kennedy (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 165).

One purchasing a note, given in consideration of an executory agreement, before breach occurs, acquires an indefeasible title. Gross v. Delaney (D. C. Munn. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 629).

CONSTRUCTION WITH OTHER LAWS

Under § 11–808 providing for conduct of trial so as to do "substantial justice" in small claims and conciliation branch of municipal court, where payee on note given for horseback riding instructions failed to perform, in action on notes judge of small claims court could not limit recovery by holders in due course to unpaid balance less discount charged by holders for purchase of notes, by ignoring substantive law rule that holder in due course of negotiable instrument was entitled to payment of full amount. Interstate Bankers Corporation v. Kennedy (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 165).

DEFENSES

Promissory note although made upon a gambling consideration is good in the hands of a bona fide purchaser for value without notice. Wirt v. Stubblefield (17 App. D. C. 283).

Borrowers of money at usurious rates are not entitled to relief as against innocent holders for value. Whipp v. Glueck (61 App. D. C. 118, 58 Fed. (2d) 523).

When holder of notes executed extension slips, which were held under indorsements in blank, it did not give notice to subsequent transferee from fraudulent agent of the holder, who had transferred the notes to the bank as security for his own debt, and the transferee remained a good-faith holder. Ragan v. Wardell (67 App. D. C. 222, 91 Fed. (2d) 253).

The failure of an executory consideration is not a defense against a holder in due course of a negotiable instrument. Interstate Bankers Corporation v. Kennedy (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 165).

Knowledge on part of purchaser of a note that it was given in consideration of an executory contract does not prevent purchaser from becoming a holder in due course, and a breach of the contract after purchase of note is no defense against such a holder. Fabrizio v. Anderson (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 314).

In action by indorsee against maker on negotiable note, wherein maker defended on ground that indorsee was not a holder in due course, evidence of maker showing that title of contractor to whom note was originally given was defective, in that contractor negotiated note before completion of work when its contract provided that work was not to be paid for until completed, established prima facie defense. Zier v. Eastern Acceptance Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 106).

In action on a note, evidence established that plaintiff was a holder in due course and hence took instrument free from defenses available by maker against payee. Eastern Acceptance Corp. v. Henry (D. C. Mun App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 309).

ESTOPPEL

Where literate and reasonably intelligent people sign a note, but fail to read it, they are negligent and are estopped from raising question of fraud against holder in due course, though they are not estopped from urging on other grounds that holder is not a holder in due course. Zier v. Eastern Acceptance Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 106).

HOLDER WITHOUT NOTICE OF DEFECTS

A bona fide holder of a negotiable instrument, for a valuable consideration, without any notice of facts which impeach its validity, as between antecedent parties, if he takes it under an indorsement made before the same becomes due, holds the title unaffected by these facts, and may recover thereon, although, as between the antecedent parties, the transaction may be without any legal validity. Thompson v. Franklin Nat. Bank (45 App. D. C. 218, cert. den. 242 U. S. 637, 61 L. Ed. 540, 37 Sup. Ct. 21).

§ 28–408 [22: 78]. Rights of holder other than holder in due course.

In the hands of any holder other than a holder in due course, a negotiable instrument is subject to the same defenses as if it were nonnegotiable. But a holder who derives his title through a holder in due course, and who is not himself a party to any fraud or illegality affecting the instrument, has all the rights of such former holder in respect of all parties prior to the latter. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1402, ch. 854, § 1362.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

FRAUD

Fraud in inception of note on account of which the consideration fails constitutes a good defense against indorsee after maturity. Lincoln v. Grant (47 App. D. C. 475).

HOLDER AFTER MATURITY

Indorsee of negotiable note after maturity takes it subject to defenses which affect the instrument and not to matters such as set-offs which arise out of independent transactions between maker and payee. Lincoln v. Grant (47 App. D. C. 475).

§ 28–409 [22: 79]. Presumption as to holding in due course—Burden of proof when transferor's title shown defective.

Every holder is deemed prima facie to be a holder in due course; but when it is shown that the title of any person who has negotiated the instrument was defective, the burden is on the holder to prove that he or some person under whom he claims acquired the title as a holder in due course. But the last-mentioned rule does not apply in favor of a party who became bound on the instrument prior to the acquisition of such defective title. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1402, ch. 854, § 1363.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

BAD FAITH

An averment "that I am credibly informed and believe, and expect to prove at the trial, that the plaintiff became holder of promissory note, if holder at all, in bad faith, and without any belief that it was valid obligation of mine, and that plaintiff did not receive my note in regular course of business," taken in connection with other averments tending to show close intimacy between plaintiff and original payee, as well as knowledge of payee's methods of transacting business, is sufficient to send the case to trial. Hazen v. Van Senden (43 App. D. C. 161).

Where makers gave negotiable notes payable in monthly installments over a period of a year for instructions in horseback riding and payee failed to perform, purchase of notes by holder in due course at discount of 15 percent was not unreasonable or evidence of bad faith justifying deduction of discount from amounts collectible on notes. Interstate Bankers Corporation v. Kennedy, (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 165).

BURDEN OF PROOF

Every holder of a negotiable instrument is deemed prima facie to be a holder in due course; but when it is shown that the title of any person who has negotiated the instrument was defective, the burden is on the holder to prove that he or some person under whom he claims acquired the title as a holder in due course. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. Cowgill (66 App. D. C. 89, 85 Fed. (2d) 255).

Where the title of negotiator of note is defective the burden is on holder to prove that it acquired note as a holder in due course. Palmer v. Associates Discount Corporation, 1941 (124 F. 2d 225, 74 App. D. C. 386).

Where payee's title was defective and endorsement upon which holder relied was undated, as the date of the endorsement was a fact peculiarly within the holder's knowledge, the holder was required to establish it, especially where, whether it took with notice of defenses or without notice after default in payments would depend on that fact. Palmer v. Associates Discount Corporation, 1941 (124 F. 2d 225, 74 App. D. C. 386).

In action by indorsee against maker on negotiable note, burden was on indorsee to prove that he was a holder in due course. Zier v. Eastern Acceptance Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 106).

DURESS

As note was obtained by duress, the burden was on the defendant "to prove that he or some person under whom he claims acquired the title as a holder in due course." O'Toole v. Lamson (41 App. D. C. 276).

PRESUMPTION OF CONSIDERATION AND INDORSEMENT

With the introduction of the notes in evidence, and the admission of the genuineness of the signatures, valuable consideration and indorsement before maturity are presumed. Catholic University v. Waggaman (32 App. D. C. 307).

§ 28–410 [22: 81]. Lost or miscarried bill of exchange—Drawer to issue duplicate.

In case any inland bill or bills of exchange shall happen to be lost or miscarried within the time limited for payment of the same, then the drawer of the said bill or bills is and shall be obliged to give another bill or bills of the same tenor with those first given, the person or persons to whom they are and shall be so delivered giving security, if demanded, to the said drawer, to indemnify him against all persons whatsoever, in case the said bill or bills of exchange so alleged to be lost or miscarried, shall be found again. (9–10 Wm. 3, ch. 17, § 3; Kilty Rep., p. 244; Alex. Br. Stat., p. 634; Comp. Stat. D. C., p. 66, § 3.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

This section is obsolete and largely inoperative. See compiler's note to § 28–101.

Sec.

28–501. Liability of maker.

28–503. Liability of acceptor.
28–504. Liability of signer of instrument other than maker, drawer, or acceptor.
28–505. Liability of stranger who signs in blank.
28–506. Warranties of negotiator by delivery or qualified indorsement.
28–507. Warranties of indorser without qualification.

28–510. Liability of agent of undisclosed principal.

§ 28–501 [22: 80]. Liability of maker.

The maker of a negotiable instrument, by making it, engages that he will pay it according to its tenor, and admits the existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1402, ch. 854, § 1364.)

§ 28–502 [22: 91]. Liability of drawer.

The drawer, by drawing the instrument, admits the existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse, and engages that on due presentment the instrument will be accepted and paid, or both, according to its tenor, and that if it be dishonored and the necessary proceedings on dishonor be duly taken, he will pay the amount thereof to the holder or to any subsequent indorser who may be compelled to pay it. But the drawer may insert in the instrument an express stipulation negativing or limiting his own liability to the holder. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1402, ch. 854, § 1365.)

§ 28–503 [22: 92]. Liability of acceptor.

The acceptor, by accepting the instrument, engages that he will pay it according to the tenor of his acceptance, and admits—

Second. The existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1402, ch. 854, § 1366.)

§ 28–504 [22: 93]. Liability of signer of instrument other than maker, drawer, or acceptor.

A person placing his signature upon an instrument otherwise than as a maker, drawer, or acceptor is deemed to be an indorser, unless he clearly indicates by appropriate words his intention to be bound in some other capacity. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1402, ch. 854, § 1367.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CIRCUMSTANCES OF INDORSEMENT

"The mere fact that he wrote his name on the back of the notes does not show even prima facie that he was a technical indorser. It is important to know when and under what circumstances he wrote his name there. If it was before or near the time the notes were delivered, or after they were delivered, but for the purpose of strengthening the credit of the note, and before the payee had indorsed, he would be a maker, and not entitled to any of the rights or privileges of an indorser." Ryan v. Security Sav. & Commercial Bank (50 App. D. C. 292, 271 Fed. 366), citing Chandler & Taylor Co. v. Norwood (14 App. D. C. 357), Randle v. Davis Coal Co. (15 App. D. C. 357).

INDORSEMENT IN BLANK

When a person indorses a negotiable note in blank, and sends the instrument forth into commercial channels, stamped with all the indicia of commercial paper, negotiable by indorsement or delivery, the mere genuineness of his signature is sufficient, prima facie, to establish liability. Thompson v. Franklin Nat. Bank (45 App. D. C. 218).

Party indorsing in blank for the accommodation of maker is liable as indorser, and not as a joint maker. Bost v. Rexine Co. (56 App. D. C. 34, 8 Fed. (2d) 795, 55 A. L. R. 670), overruling Ryan v. Security Sav. & Commercial Bank (50 App. D. C. 292, 271 Fed. 366).

§ 28–505 [22: 94]. Liability of stranger who signs in blank.

Where a person not otherwise a party to an instrument places thereon his signature in blank before delivery he is liable as indorser in accordance with the following rules:

First. If the instrument is payable to the order of a third person he is liable to the payee and to all subsequent parties.

Second. If the instrument is payable to the order of the maker or drawer, or is payable to bearer, he is liable to all parties subsequent to the maker or drawer.

Third. If he signs for the accommodation of the payee he is liable to all parties subsequent to the payee. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1402, ch. 854, § 1368.)

CROSS REFERENCE

See notes to § 28–504.

§ 28–506 [22: 95]. Warranties of negotiator by delivery or qualified indorsement.

Every person negotiating an instrument by delivery or by a qualified indorsement warrants—

First. That the instrument is genuine and in all respects what it purports to be.

Second. That he has a good title to it.

Third. That all prior parties had capacity to contract.

Fourth. That he has no knowledge of any fact which would impair the validity of the instrument or render it valueless.

But when the negotiation is by delivery only the warranty extends in favor of no holder other than the immediate transferee.

The provisions of subdivision three of this section do not apply to persons negotiating public or corporate securities other than bills and notes. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1402, ch. 854, § 1369.)

§ 28–507 [22: 96]. Warranties of indorser without qualification.

Every indorser who indorses without qualification warrants to all subsequent holders in due course—

First. The matters and things mentioned in subdivisions one, two, and three of section 28–506; and Second. That the instrument is at the time of his indorsement valid and subsisting.

And, in addition, he engages that on due presentment it shall be accepted or paid, or both, as the case may be, according to its tenor, and that if it be dishonored and the necessary proceedings on dishonor be duly taken, he will pay the amount thereof to the holder or to any subsequent indorser who may be compelled to pay it. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1403, ch. 854, § 1370.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ADDITIONAL INDORSER

Holders subsequent to forged indorsement, treating the indorsement as genuine and valid, as they were entitled to do, had the right to rely upon the apparent liability of an additional indorser. Milton v. United States (71 App. D. C. 394, 110 Fed. (2d) 556).

OTHER CONTRACTS

A bank is not prohibited from entering into other contracts with a company, maker of note, for future loans, because of its ownership of indorsed notes. Hannan v. Hardee (63 App. D. C. 76, 79, 69 Fed. (2d) 394, 397).

WARRANTY OF PRESENT AND PRIOR INDORSERS

Individual indorser, subsequent to a corporation indorser, was a warranty of the genuineness of the paper of his own title thereto, and of the capacity of all the preceding parties to contract. Willard v. Crook (21 App. D. C. 237).

§ 28–508 [22: 97]. Liability of indorser of instrument negotiable by delivery.

Where a person places his indorsement on an instrument negotiable by delivery he incurs all the liabilities of an indorser. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1403, ch. 854, § 1371.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

FRAUD

In action against indorsers on note for amount due for gasoline and oil purchased from payee, when no evidence was introduced tending to prove that the payee knew of inaccuracy in the marking of its tank truck compartments nor evidence showing amount by which motor service had been overcharged as a result of inaccuracy in markings, and defendants failed to show that payee had any reasons to question the accuracy, it was insufficient for the jury as to question of fraud in obtaining signatures of indorsers. Public Motor Service v. Standard Oil Co. (69 App. D. C. 89, 99 Fed. (2d) 124).

§ 28–509 [22: 98]. Order in which indorsers are liable.

As respects one another indorsers are liable prima facie in the order in which they indorse, but evidence is admissible to show that as between or among themselves they have agreed otherwise. Joint payees or joint indorsees who indorse are deemed to indorse jointly and severally. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1403, ch. 854, § 1372.)

§ 28–510 [22: 99]. Liability of agent of undisclosed principal.

Where a broker or other agent negotiates an instrument without indorsement he incurs all the liabilities prescribed by section 28–506, unless he discloses the name of his principal and the fact that he is acting only as agent. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1403, ch. 854, § 1373.)

Diligence in notifying indorser of dishonor. Bost v. Rexine Co. (56 App. D. C. 34, 8 Fed. (2d) 795, 55 A. L. R. 670).

§ 28–712 [22: 152]. Notice to persons jointly liable.

AMENDMENT

The 1902 amendment struck out the word "Act" in the last line of this section and inserted in lieu thereof the word "chapter."

"Chapters 1–10 of this title" refer to said chapter which is the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law. The 1901 act did not contain §§ 28–410, 28–920, 28–1008 to 28–1010, and the cross reference should not be read to include these sections.

§ 28–714a. Dishonor of demand items by banks.

(a) In any case in which a bank in the District of Columbia receives, other than for immediate payment over the counter, a demand item payable by, at, or through such bank and such bank gives credit for such demand item before midnight of the day of receipt of such item, such bank may have until midnight of its next business day after receipt of such item within which to dishonor or refuse payment of such item. Any credit so given, together with all related entries on the books of the receiving bank, may be revoked by such bank, by returning such item, or if such item is held for protest, or at the time is lost, or is not in the possession of such bank, by giving written notice of dishonor, nonpayment, or revocation. Such credit and related entries shall be revoked by such bank only if such item or such written notice is dispatched in the mails or by other expeditious means not later than midnight of such bank's next business day after the item was received. For the purpose of determining when notice of dishonor must be given or protest must be made under the law relative to negotiable instruments, an item duly presented, credit for which is revoked as authorized by this section, shall be deemed dishonored on the day such item or such written notice is dispatched. A bank, revoking credit pursuant to the authority of this section, is entitled to refund of, or credit for, the amount of such item.

(b) For the purposes of this section—

(1) a demand item received by a bank on a day other than its business day, or received on a business day after its regular business hours, or during afternoon or evening periods when it has reopened or remained open for limited functions, shall be deemed to have been received at the opening of such bank's next business day;

(2) the term "credit" includes payment, remittance, advice of credit, or authorization to charge and, in cases where the item is received for deposit as well as for payment, such term also includes the making of appropriate entries to the receiving bank's general ledger without regard to whether such item is posted to individual customers' ledgers;

(3) each branch or office of a bank shall be deemed a separate bank; and

(4) the term "bank" includes any bank or trust company doing business in the District of Columbia.

(c) The effect of this section may be varied by written agreement. (Aug. 7, 1950, 64 Stat. 416, ch. 602, §§ 1–3.)

§ 28–715 [22: 155]. When notice to be given if parties reside in same place.

Where the person giving and the person to receive notice reside in the same place, notice must be given within the following times:

First. If given at the place of business of the person to receive notice, it must be given before the close of business hours on the following day.

Second. If given at his residence, it must be given before the usual hours of rest on the day following.

Third. If sent by mail, it must be deposited in the post office in time to reach him in the usual course on the day following. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1406, ch. 854, § 1407.)

§ 28–716 [22: 156]. When notice to be given if parties reside in different places.

Where the person giving and the person to receive notice reside in different places, the notice must be given within the following times:

First. If sent by mail, it must be deposited in the post office in time to go by mail the day following the day of dishonor, or, if there be no mail at a convenient hour on that day, by the next mail thereafter.

Second. If given otherwise than through the post office, then within the time that notice would have been received in due course of mail if it had been deposited in the post office within the time specified in the last subdivision. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1406, ch. 854, § 1408.)

§ 28–717 [22: 157]. Mailing notice sufficient.

Where notice of dishonor is duly addressed and deposited in the post office the sender is deemed to have given due notice, notwithstanding any miscarriage in the mails. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1406, ch. 854, § 1409.)

§ 28–718 [22: 158]. Depositing notice in post office—What constitutes.

Notice is deemed to have been deposited in the post office when deposited in any branch post office or in any letter box under the control of the Post Office Department. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1406, ch. 854, § 1410.)

§ 28–719 [22: 159]. Notice to subsequent parties by party notified by holder.

Where a party receives notice of dishonor he has, after the receipt of such notice, the same time for giving notice to antecedent parties that the holder has after the dishonor. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1406, ch. 854, § 1411.)

§ 28–720 [22: 160]. Where notice must be sent—Sufficiency of actual notice.

Where a party has added an address to his signature, notice of dishonor must be sent to that address; but if he has not given such address, then the notice must be sent as follows:

First. Either to the post office nearest to his place of residence, or to the post office where he is accustomed to receive his letters; or,

Second. If he live in one place and have his place of business in another, notice may be sent to either place; or,

Third. If he is sojourning in another place, notice may be sent to the place where he is so sojourning.

But where the notice is actually received by the party within the time specified by chapters 1–10 of this title it will be sufficient, though not sent in accordance with the requirements of this section. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1406, ch. 854, § 1412; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 543, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

The 1902 amendment changed the word "Act" in the last paragraph to "chapter."

"Chapters 1–10 of this title" refer to said chapter which is the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law. The 1901 act did not contain §§ 28–410, 28–920, 28–1008 to 28–1010, and the cross reference should not be read to include these sections.

§ 28–721 [22: 161]. Waiver of notice.

Notice of dishonor may be waived either before the time of giving notice has arrived or after the omission to give due notice, and the waiver may be expressed or implied. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1407, ch. 854, § 1413.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

Evidence was admissible as to waiver of notice, and also admissible under the common counts. Green v. Higgin Mfg. Co. (44 App. D. C. 186).

§ 28–722 [22: 162]. Parties bound by waiver of notice.

Where the waiver is embodied in the instrument itself it is binding upon all parties, but where it is written above the signature of an indorser it binds him only. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1407, ch. 854, § 1414.)

§ 28–723 [22: 163]. Waiver of protest.

A waiver of protest, whether in the case of a foreign bill of exchange or other negotiable instrument, is deemed to be a waiver not only of a formal protest, but also of presentment and notice of dishonor. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1407, ch. 854, § 1415.)

§ 28–724 [22: 164]. When notice dispensed with.

Notice of dishonor is dispensed with when, after the exercise of reasonable diligence, it can not be given to or does not reach the parties sought to be charged. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1407, ch. 854, § 1416.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

REASONABLE DILIGENCE

Diligence in effort to find indorser's proper address was not shown, by notary, by merely searching through city and telephone directory. Bost v. Rexine Co. (56 App. D. C. 34, 8 Fed. (2d) 795, 55 A. L. R. 670).

§ 28–725 [22: 165]. Excuse for delay in giving notice.

Delay in giving notice of dishonor is excused when the delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the holder and not imputable to his default, misconduct, or negligence. When the cause of delay ceases to operate notice must be given with reasonable diligence. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1407, ch. 854, § 1417.)

§ 28–726 [22: 166]. When notice to drawer is not required.

Notice of dishonor is not required to be given to the drawer in either of the following cases:

First. Where the drawer and the drawee are the same person.

Second. Where the drawee is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract.

Third. Where the drawer is the person to whom the instrument is presented for payment.

Fourth. Where the drawer has no right to expect or require that the drawee or acceptor will honor the instrument; or,

Fifth. Where the drawer has countermanded payment. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1407, ch. 854, § 1418.)

§ 28–727 [22: 167]. When notice to indorser is not required.

Notice of dishonor is not required to be given to an indorser in either of the following cases:

First. Where the drawee is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract, and the indorser was aware of the fact at the time he indorsed the instrument.

Second. Where the indorser is the person to whom the instrument is presented for payment; or,

Third. Where the instrument was made or accepted for his accommodation. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1407, ch. 854, § 1419.)

§ 28–728 [22: 168]. Notice of nonpayment—When not necessary.

Where due notice of dishonor by nonacceptance has been given, notice of a subsequent dishonor by nonpayment is not necessary, unless in the meantime the instrument has been accepted. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1407, ch. 854, § 1420.)

§ 28–729 [22: 169]. Omission to give notice of nonacceptance.

An omission to give notice of dishonor by nonacceptance does not prejudice the rights of a holder in due course subsequent to the omission. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1407, ch. 854, § 1421.)

§ 28–730 [22: 170]. Protest—Not required except on foreign bills of exchange—Original protest as evidence.

Where any negotiable instrument has been dishonored it may be protested for nonacceptance or nonpayment, as the case may be; but protest is not required except in the case of foreign bills of exchange.

The original protest of a notary public, under his hand and official seal, of any bill of exchange, check, or order for nonacceptance or nonpayment, or of any promissory note for nonpayment, stating the presentment by him of such bill of exchange, check, order, or promissory note for acceptance or payment and the nonacceptance or nonpayment thereof, and the service of notice thereof on any of the parties to such bill of exchange, promissory note, or check, and the mode of giving such notice, and the reputed place of business or residence of the party to whom the same was given shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein contained. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1407, ch. 854, § 1422; Apr. 19, 1920, 41 Stat. 569, ch. 153.)

AMENDMENT

The 1920 amendment struck out the words "in the District" which appeared after the words "notary public" in the first sentence of the second paragraph.

28–802. Discharge of person secondarily liable.
28–803. Payment by party secondarily liable not a discharge—Further negotiation.
28–804. Discharge by renunciation of rights against party—Except holder in due course.

§ 28–801 [22: 181]. Means of discharge of negotiable instrument.

A negotiable instrument is discharged—

First. By payment in due course by or on behalf of the principal debtor.

Second. By payment in due course by the party accommodated, where the instrument is made or accepted for accommodation.

Third. By the intentional cancelation thereof by the holder.

Fourth. By any other act which will discharge a simple contract for the payment of money.

Fifth. When the principal debtor becomes the holder of the instrument at or after maturity in his own right. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1408, ch. 854, § 1423.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ACCEPTANCE FOR ANTECEDENT DEBT

Acceptance of a negotiable note for an antecedent debt will not extinguish such debt, unless it is expressly agreed that it is received as payment. Ryan v. Security Sav. & Commercial Bank (50 App. D. C. 292, 271 Fed. 366).

PAYMENT TO PERSON NOT IN POSSESSION

Payment of a promissory note to a person not in possession of it is at the peril of the payor and imposes the duty of showing by satisfactory evidence that the person to whom payment was made was authorized to receive it. Davis v. Casey (70 App. D. C. 27, 103 Fed. (2d) 529).

Eastern Acceptance Corp. v. Henry (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 309).

PLACE OF TENDER

When promissory note is payable at third person's office, it is the duty of the maker or indorsee, in the absence of directions from holder to the contrary, to tender payment there and if the note is in possession of a third person, he has the right to assume that such person has authority to receive the payment. Fifth Congregational Church v. Bright (28 App. D. C. 229, cert. den. 205 U. S. 541, 51 L. Ed. 921, 27 Sup. Ct. 788).

WAIVER OF DEFENSE OF USURY

When the debtor under a usurious obligation, which has come into the hands of an innocent purchaser for value, executes a new note to such third person, he will be deemed to have waived his right to set up usury, and the new note will be deemed to be upon a valid consideration. McNeill v. Lilly (65 App. D. C. 210, 82 Fed. (2d) 620).

§ 28–802 [22: 182]. Discharge of person secondarily liable.

A person secondarily liable on the instrument is discharged—

First. By an act which discharges the instrument.

Second. By the intentional cancelation of his signature by the holder.

Third. By the discharge of a prior party.

Fourth. By a valid tender of payment made by a prior party.

Fifth. By a release of the principal debtor, unless the holder's right of recourse against the party secondarily liable is expressly reserved.

Sixth. By an agreement binding upon the holder to extend the time of payment, or to postpone the holder's right to enforce the instrument, unless made with the assent of the party secondarily liable or unless the right of recourse against such party is expressly reserved. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1408, ch. 854, § 1424.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

AGREEMENT TO PAY

Where defendant purchased encumbered property without assuming liability on note secured by a deed of trust but, to obtain extension, agreed to pay note and thereafter sold property to one who did not assume indebtedness, but who obtained extension without defendant's knowledge or consent, §§ 28–119, 28–302, 28–504 and this section regarding party liable on note where inapplicable in determining defendant's liability to holder of note since defendant was not a "party liable on note." Ober v. Riggs Nat. Bank of Washington, D. C. (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 877).

CANCELATION

Sections 181, 182, and 185, D. C. 1929, title 22 (§§ 28–801, 28–802, 28–805), speak of cancelation but at no place in the statute is there a definition of the term. Hence, resort must be had to the rules of the law merchant for proper application of the term. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. Colby (71 App. D. C. 236, 108 Fed. (2d) 743).

EXTENSION OF TIME WITHOUT KNOWLEDGE OF INDORSER

Party secondarily liable is discharged if an agreement is entered into between the makers of the note and the payee for an extension of the time of payment without the knowledge or consent of the indorser. It is immaterial whether the extension is made before or after maturity of the note. Anderson v. Lee D. Butler, Inc. (61 App. D. C. 380, 63 Fed. (2d) 271).

NEW AGREEMENT

A failure to pay the first note under the bill of sale substituted for the original note without knowledge of the indorser did not operate to revive the obligation of such indorser on the original note. Anderson v. Lee D. Butler (61 App. D. C. 380, 63 Fed. (2d) 271).

NOTE OF DEBTOR

Note of debtor himself, or of a third party, is never considered as a payment of a precedent debt, unless there be a special agreement to that effect. Ryan v. Security Sav. & Commercial Bank (50 App. D. C. 292, 271 Fed. 366).

RELEASE OF SECURITY

Where a purchaser of an automobile, having given note with indorsement, executed instalment notes and bill of sale as security, released indorser without knowledge of such transaction. Anderson v. Lee D. Butler, Inc. (61 App. D. C. 380, 63 Fed. (2d) 271).

§ 28–803 [22: 183]. Payment by party secondarily liable not a discharge—Further negotiation.

Where the instrument is paid by a party secondarily liable thereon it is not discharged; but the party so paying it is remitted to his former rights as regards all prior parties, and he may strike out his own and all subsequent indorsements and again negotiate the instrument, except—

First. Where it is payable to the order of a third person and has been paid by the drawer; and,

Second. Where it was made or accepted for accommodation and has been paid by the party accommodated. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1408, ch. 854, § 1425.)

§ 28–804 [22: 184]. Discharge by renunciation of rights against party—Except holder in due course.

The holder may expressly renounce his rights against any party to the instrument before, at, or after its maturity. An absolute and unconditional renunciation of his rights against the principal debtor made at or after the maturity of the instrument discharges the instrument; but a renunciation does not affect the rights of a holder in due course without notice. A renunciation must be in writing, unless the instrument is delivered up to the person primarily liable thereon. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1408, ch. 854, § 1426.)

§ 28–805 [22: 185]. Cancelation.

A cancelation made unintentionally, or under a mistake, or without the authority of the holder, is inoperative; but where an instrument or any signature thereon appears to have been canceled the burden of proof lies on the party who alleges that the cancela-tion was made unintentionally, or under a mistake, or without authority. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1408, ch. 854, § 1427.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

MARKING NOTE "CANCELED"

Marking a note "canceled," as was done in the instant case, is sufficient to discharge the note. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. Colby (71 App. D. C. 236, 108 Fed. (2d) 743).

§ 28–806 [22: 186]. Alteration—Effect.

Where a negotiable instrument is materially altered without the assent of all parties liable thereon it is avoided, except as against a party who has himself made, authorized, or assented to the alteration and subsequent indorsers.

But when an instrument has been materially altered and is in the hands of a holder in due course, not a party to the alteration, he may enforce payment thereof according to its original tenor. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1408, ch. 854, § 1428.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF ALTERED INSTRUMENT

While there is a conflict of authority on the point whether one can bind himself by the acknowledgment of an altered or forged instrument and a promise to pay the same without a new consideration, or some special ground of estoppel; however, he may do so provided the paper is in the hands of one who had no connection with the forgery, and the promise is not involved in an attempt to compound the felony. Ofenstein v. Bryan (20 App. D. C. 1); National Capital Bank v. Bryan (20 App. D. C. 26).

ALTERATION BEFORE INDORSEMENT

If the note in suit has not been materially altered at any time, or if it has been materially altered, but before indorsement thereof by the defendants, the plaintiff is entitled to recover notwithstanding such material alteration. Towles v. Tanner (21 App. D. C. 530).

BURDEN OF PROOF

If the defendants have shown such alteration, the burden of proof thereupon shifted to the plaintiff to show that such alteration was made before the indorsement of the note by the defendants; or that, if it was made after such indorsement, it was made with the knowledge or consent of the defendants, or was ratified by them with full knowledge thereof or with the means of knowledge in their possession, or that the note so altered was declared by them to be good and valid with a view to its negotiation. Towles v. Tanner (21 App. D. C. 530).

EXPLANATION OF ALTERATION

Where the alteration is material, and such as reasonably to excite suspicion, it is incumbent upon the party offering it, in support of his claim thereunder, to give some evidence tending to explain its condition. Ofenstein v. Bryan (20 App. D. C. 1); National Capital Bank v. Bryan, (20 App. D. C. 26).

If upon the face of the note it appears to have been materially altered, and the alteration is such as reasonably to excite suspicion, it is incumbent upon the plaintiff to explain its condition. But if alteration is not so apparent on the face of the paper as reasonably to excite suspicion, which is a question for the court in the first instance, then it is incumbent on the defendants, as matter of defense, to show the alteration. Towles v. Tanner (21 App. D. C. 530).

QUESTIONS FOR COURT

Question whether the alteration is material and so plainly suspicious as to warrant the requirement of some explanatory evidence as the condition of its admission, is for the determination of the court. Ofenstein v. Bryan (20 App. D. C. 1).

QUESTIONS FOR JURY

Question whether alteration was made before or after delivery, or with or without the knowledge or consent of the several signers and indorsers, is one that must be submitted to the jury. Ofenstein v. Bryan (20 App. D. C. 1).

§ 28–807 [22: 187]. Material alteration—Definition.

Any alteration which changes—

First. The date.

Second. The sum payable, either for principal or interest.

Third. The time or place of payment.

Fourth. The number or the relations of the parties.

Fifth. The medium or currency in which payment is to be made.

Or which adds a place of payment where no place of payment is specified, or any other change or addition which alters the effect of the instrument in any respect is a material alteration. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1429.)

A bill of exchange is an unconditional order in writing addressed by one person to another, signed by the person giving it, requiring the person to whom it is addressed to pay on demand or at a fixed or determinable future time a sum certain in money to order or to bearer. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1430.)

§ 28–902 [22: 192]. Bill not an assignment of funds—Liability of drawee.

A bill of itself does not operate as an assignment of the funds in the hands of the drawee available for the payment thereof, and the drawee is not liable on the bill unless and until he accepts the same. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1431.)

§ 28–903 [22: 193]. Drawee—Joint—Can not be alternative or successive.

A bill may be addressed to two or more drawees jointly, whether they are partners or not, but not to two or more drawees in the alternative or succession. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1432.)

§ 28–904 [22: 194]. Foreign and inland bills—Definitions.

An inland bill of exchange is a bill which is or on its face purports to be both drawn and payable within this District. Any other bill is a foreign bill. Unless the contrary appears on the face of the bill the holder may treat it as an inland bill. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1433.)

It must not express that the drawee will perform his promise by any other means than the payment of money. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1436.)

§ 28–908 [22: 202]. Holder entitled to acceptance on face of bill.

The holder of a bill presenting the same for acceptance may require that the acceptance be written on the bill, and if such a request is refused may treat the bill as dishonored. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1437.)

§ 28–909 [22: 203]. Acceptance by separate instrument.

Where an acceptance is written on a paper other than the bill itself it does not bind the acceptor except in favor of a person to whom it is shown and who, on the faith thereof, receives the bill for value. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1438.)

§ 28–910 [22: 204]. Acceptance before bill drawn.

An unconditional promise in writing to accept a bill before it is drawn is deemed an actual acceptance in favor of every person who, upon the faith thereof, receives the bill for value. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1439.)

§ 28–911 [22: 205]. Time allowed for accepting.

The drawee is allowed twenty-four hours after presentment in which to decide whether or not he will accept the bill; but the acceptance, if given, dates as of the day of presentation. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1440.)

§ 28–912 [22: 206]. Liability of drawee retaining or destroying bill.

Where a drawee to whom a bill is delivered for acceptance destroys the same or refuses within twenty-four hours after such delivery, or within such other period as the holder may allow, to return the bill accepted or nonaccepted to the holder he will be deemed to have accepted the same. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1409, ch. 854, § 1441.)

§ 28–913 [22: 207]. Acceptance of incomplete, overdue, or previously dishonored bill.

A bill may be accepted before it has been signed by the drawer, or while otherwise incomplete, or when it is overdue, or after it has been dishonored by a previous refusal to accept, or by nonpayment. But when a bill payable after sight is dishonored by nonacceptance and the drawee subsequently accepts it, the holder, in the absence of any different agreement, is entitled to have the bill accepted as of the date of the first presentment. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1410, ch. 854, § 1442.)

§ 28–914 [22: 208]. Kinds of acceptance.

An acceptance is either general or qualified. A general acceptance assents without qualification to the order of the drawer. A qualified acceptance in express terms varies the effect of the bill as drawn. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1410, ch. 854, § 1443.)

§ 28–915 [22: 209]. General acceptance.

An acceptance to pay at a particular place is a general acceptance, unless it expressly states that the bill is to be paid there only and not elsewhere. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1410, ch. 854, § 1444.)

§ 28–916 [22: 210]. Qualified acceptance.

An acceptance is qualified which is—

First. Conditional; that is to say, which makes payment by the acceptor dependent on the fulfillment of a condition therein stated.

Second. Partial; that is to say, an acceptance to pay part only of the amount for which the bill is drawn.

Third. Local; that is to say, an acceptance to pay only at a particular place.

Fourth. Qualified as to time.

Fifth. The acceptance of some one or more of the drawees, but not of all. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1410, ch. 854, § 1445.)

§ 28–917 [22: 211]. Holder not bound to take qualified acceptance—Effect of taking—Notice to drawer and indorser.

The holder may refuse to take a qualified acceptance, and if he does not obtain an unqualified acceptance he may treat the bill as dishonored by nonacceptance. Where a qualified acceptance is taken, the drawer and indorsers are discharged from liability on the bill unless they have expressly or impliedly authorized the holder to take a qualified acceptance or subsequently assent thereto. When the drawer or an indorser receives notice of a qualified acceptance, he must within a reasonable time express his dissent to the holder or he will be deemed to have assented thereto. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1410, ch. 854, § 1446.)

PRESENTMENT FOR ACCEPTANCE

§ 28–918 [22: 221]. When presentment for acceptance must be made.

Second. Where the bill expressly stipulates that it shall be presented for acceptance; or,

Third. Where the bill is drawn payable elsewhere than at the residence or place of business of the drawee.

In no other case is presentment for acceptance necessary in order to render any party to the bill liable. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1410, ch. 854, § 1447.)

§ 28–919 [22: 222]. When failure to present for acceptance releases drawer and indorser.

Except as herein otherwise provided, the holder of a bill which is required by section 28–918 to be presented for acceptance must either present it for acceptance or negotiate it within a reasonable time. If he fail to do so, the drawer and all indorsers are discharged. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1410, ch. 854, § 1448.)

§ 28–920 [22: 223]. Acceptance in satisfaction of former debt—When deemed in complete payment.

If any person doth accept any bill of exchange for and in satisfaction of any former debt, or sum of money formerly due unto him, the same shall be accounted and esteemed a full and complete payment of such debt, if such person, accepting of any such bill for his debt, doth not take his due course to obtain payment thereof, by endeavoring to get the same accepted and paid, and make his protest, either for nonacceptance, or nonpayment thereof: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall extend to discharge any remedy, that any person may have against the drawer, accepter or indorser of such bill. (3 & 4 Ann. ch. 9, §§ 7 & 8 (1704); Kilty's Rep. p. 245; Alex. Br. Stat., p. 653; Comp. Stat. D. C. Code, p. 68, §§ 9 and 10.)

AMENDMENT

Act of March 3, 1901, was amended by striking out the word "Act" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "chapter." "Chapters 1–10 of this title" refers to said chapter which is the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law. The 1901 act did not contain §§ 28–410, 28–920, and 28–1008 to 28–1011, and the cross reference should not be read to include these sections.

§ 28–926 [22: 229]. Dishonor by nonacceptance within prescribed time—Right of recourse.

Where a bill is duly presented for acceptance and is not accepted within the prescribed time, the person presenting it must treat the bill as dishonored by nonacceptance or he loses the right of recourse against the drawer and indorsers. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1411, ch. 854, § 1454.)

§ 28–927 [22: 230]. Right of recourse when bill not accepted.

When a bill is dishonored by nonacceptance an immediate right of recourse against the drawer and indorsers accrues to the holder, and no presentment for payment is necessary. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1411, ch. 854, § 1455.)

Where a foreign bill, appearing on its face to be such, is dishonored by nonacceptance, it must be duly protested for nonacceptance, and where such a bill which has not previously been dishonored by nonacceptance is dishonored by nonpayment it must be duly protested for nonpayment. If it is not so protested the drawer and indorsers are discharged. Where a bill does not appear on its face to be a foreign bill, protest thereof in case of dishonor is unnecessary. Where two or more parts of a set are negotiated to different holders in due course the holder whose title first accrues is, as between such holders, the true owner of the bill. § 28–957 [22: 294]. Acceptance of bills in a set—Liability of acceptor.

The acceptance may be written on any part, and it must be written on one part only. If the drawee accepts more than one part, and such accepted parts are negotiated to different holders in due course, he is liable on every such part as if it were a separate bill. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 767).

§ 28–1005 [22: 304]. Certifying check—Effect.

Where a check is certified by the bank on which it is drawn the certification is equivalent to an acceptance. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1414, ch. 854, § 1491.)

§ 28–1006 [22: 305]. Effect where holder of check procures certification.

Where the holder of a check procures it to be accepted or certified the drawer and all indorsers are discharged from liability thereon. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1414, ch. 854, § 1492.)

§ 28–1007 [22: 306]. Check not an assignment of funds.

A check of itself does not operate as an assignment of any part of the funds to the credit of the drawer with the bank, and the bank is not liable to the holder unless and until it accepts or certifies the check. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1414, ch. 854, § 1493.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

EVIDENCE

In action against administratrix to impress a lien on a certain fund and to have it distributed pro rata to plaintiffs for whom decedent had collected rents, the District Court properly found under the evidence that decedent's delivery to plaintiffs of rental statements and checks drawn on special rent account shortly before his death was not accompanied by an understanding sufficient to constitute an equitable assignment pro tanto of the special fund to plaintiffs. Brown v. Christman, 1942 (120 F. 2d 625, 75 U. S. App. D. C. 203).

§ 28–1008 [22: 307]. Liability of bank or trust company on forged, altered, or raised check.

(a) No bank or trust company doing business in the District of Columbia, which has paid and charged to the account of a depositor any money on a forged, altered, or raised check issued in the name of said depositor shall be liable to said depositor for the amount paid thereon unless either (1) within one year after notice to said depositor that the vouchers representing payments charged to the account of said depositor for the period during which such payment was made are ready for delivery, or (2), in case no such notice has been given, within six months after the return to said depositor of the voucher representing such payment, said depositor shall notify the bank or trust company that the check so paid is forged, altered, or raised.

(b) The notice referred to in subsection (a) may be given by mail to said depositor at his last-known address with postage prepaid.

(c) This section shall not be construed to relieve a depositor from due diligence in the examination of returned vouchers or in otherwise discovering that a check has been forged, altered, or raised, or in notifying the bank or trust company of his actual discovery of a forgery or alteration.

(d) When used in this section the word "check" shall also include drafts, notes, acceptances, or other negotiable instruments payable at a bank or trust company, and the word "forged" shall also include an unauthorized signature by an agent or officer of a depositor.

(e) The provisions of this section shall not be held to apply to the forgery of an endorsement. (Apr. 5, 1939, 53 Stat. 566, ch. 37, § 3.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

This section is not a part of the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law. See compiler's note to §§ 28–101, 28–925.

§ 28–1009 [22: 308]. Liability of bank or trust company for nonpayment of check through error.

No bank or trust company doing business in the District of Columbia shall be liable to a depositor because of the nonpayment through mistake or error and without malice of a check, draft, note, acceptance, or other negotiable instrument, payable at any bank or trust company, which should have been paid unless the depositor shall allege and prove actual damage by reason of such nonpayment and in such event the liability shall not exceed the amount of damage so proved. (Apr. 5, 1939, 53 Stat. 567, ch. 37, § 6.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

This section is not a part of the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law. See compiler's note to §§ 28–101, 28–925.

§ 28–1010 [22: 309]. Liability of forwarding bank on failure of payor bank to account for proceeds of check.

Any bank or trust company doing business in the District of Columbia receiving for collection or deposit any check, draft, note, acceptance, or other negotiable instrument drawn upon or payable at any other bank, located outside the District of Columbia, may forward such instrument for collection directly to the bank on which it is drawn or at which it is made payable, and such method of forwarding direct to the payer shall be deemed due diligence, and the failure of such payor bank, because of its insolvency or other default, to account for the proceeds thereof shall not render the forwarding bank liable therefor: Provided, however, That such forwarding bank shall have used due diligence in other respects in connection with the collection of such instrument. (Apr. 5, 1939, 53 Stat. 567, ch. 37, § 7.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

This section is not a part of the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law. See compiler's note to §§ 28–101, 28–925.

§ 28–1011. Revocations, countermands and stop-payment orders.

(a) No revocation, countermand, or stop-payment order hereafter made relating to the payment of any check or draft against an account of a depositor in any bank or trust company doing business in the District of Columbia, or relating to the payment of a note or acceptance made payable at any such bank or trust company, shall be valid unless the same be in writing specifically describing the instrument to which it relates by stating the amount of the item upon which payment is to be stopped, the date thereof, and the name of the payee and be delivered to the bank or trust company at the particular office, or branch, if any, on which such instrument was drawn or at which it was made payable: Provided, however, That any stop-payment order transmitted by telephone to an officer of the bank upon which the instrument has been drawn shall be accepted by the bank upon such identification that will insure the order has been transmitted by its depositor as an effective notice for a period of twenty-four hours, after which time it shall no longer be valid unless followed by a written order as otherwise provided herein.

(b) The delivery to one office or branch of a bank or trust company of any such revocation, countermand, or stop-payment order shall not constitute notice, actual or constructive, to any other office or branch of the same bank or trust company and shall not impair the right of such bank or trust company, acting through any such other office or branch, to be a holder in due course of the instrument.

(c) No such written revocation, countermand, or stop-payment order shall remain in effect more than six months after delivery thereof to the bank or trust company, unless same be renewed. The first or any subsequent renewal thereof shall be in writing; shall specifically describe the instrument or the revocation, countermand, or stop-payment order to which it relates; shall be delivered to the bank or trust company at the particular office or branch, if any, on which such instrument was drawn or at which it was made payable; and shall be in effect for not more than six months from the date of delivery thereof. The bank or trust company to which such a revocation, countermand, or stop-payment order has been delivered may, at its option and without liability, stop the payment of such an instrument after the expiration date of the order or any renewal thereof.

(d) Any revocation, countermand, or stop-payment order existing on the date of enactment of this section in any bank or trust company doing business in the District of Columbia may be canceled by the bank or trust company after six months from such date, by giving notice of such cancellation to the depositor at his last known address by registered mail but such a notice shall not be effective until thirty days have elapsed from the time of the mailing of such notice.

(e) Any bank or trust company that pays a check or other instrument drawn by or against the account of a depositor, the payment of which has been ordered stopped, and the order is still in effect, as herein provided, shall be responsible to the depositor for the amount thereof. When restored to such a depositor, the bank shall be subrogated to any benefits receivable, or amounts recoverable, by the depositor but shall pursue its remedy at its own expense. (July 26, 1949, 63 Stat. 481, ch. 365, §§ 1–5.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

The date of enactment of the section, to which specific reference is made in paragraph (d), was July 26, 1949.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CONDITIONAL SALE

The effectiveness of a conditional sales contract must be considered in the light of status of the parties at time contract was made. Daine v. Price (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 767).

CONSIDERATION

In so-called "cash transactions" in which passage of title depends upon payment, a check is generally considered conditional payment only and payment is effected only when check itself is paid. Daine v. Price (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 767).

RETAINED TITLE

In this jurisdiction, the retained title is nothing more than a security interest invocable only upon default by the buyer. It is well settled that the happening of such default clothes the seller with immediate right of repossession and also with the right to subject the property to the satisfaction of the unpaid obligation. District of Columbia v. Hamilton National Bank (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 60).

SALE VERSUS CONSIGNMENT

A contract constitutes a sale when the consignee agrees to pay a certain price for consigned goods as he sells them and there are no restrictions or limitations imposed upon his right to sell the goods or as to the price on a sale by him, even though the contract contains a clause giving the consignee the right to return unsold goods. Martin Co. v. Sumpter (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 64 A. 2d 425).

If a contract under which personal property is delivered to another permits him to sell the same at retail at prices fixed by himself and to retain the proceeds, his only obligation being to pay for the property as and when sold at prices fixed by the contract, the contract is not one of consignment but one of sale. Martin Co. v. Sumpter (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 64 A. 2d 425).

§ 28–1102 [11: 62]. Capacity of parties—Liabilities for necessaries—Definition.

Capacity to buy and sell is regulated by the general law concerning capacity to contract, and to transfer and acquire property.

Where necessaries are sold and delivered to an infant, or to a person who by reason of mental incapacity or drunkenness is incompetent to contract, he must pay a reasonable price therefor.

"Necessaries" in this section means goods suitable to the condition in life of such infant or other person, and to his actual requirements at the time of delivery. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 30, ch. 43, § 2.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

INFANTS

Where infant did not misrepresent his age in purchasing a motor scooter he could recover purchase price, for inability to return the consideration and restore the status quo may not deprive him of his rights to repudiate. Emancipation does not give an infant enlarged capacity to contract. Dawson v. Fox (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 64 A. 2d 162).

FORMALITIES OF THE CONTRACT

§ 28–1103 [11: 63]. Form of contract of sale.

Subject to the provisions of chapters 11–16 of this title and of any statute in that behalf, a contract to sell or a sale may be made in writing (either with or without seal), or by word of mouth, or partly in writing and partly by word of mouth or may be inferred from the conduct of the parties. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 30, ch. 43, § 3.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 11–16 of this title" set forth the Uniform Sales Act.

§ 28–1104 [11: 64]. Statute of frauds.

(1) A contract to sell or a sale of any goods or choses in action of the value of $500 or upwards shall not be enforceable by action unless the buyer shall accept part of the goods or choses in action so contracted to be sold or sold, and actually receive the same, or give something in earnest to bind the contract, or in part payment, or unless some note or memorandum in writing of the contract or sale be signed by the party to be charged or his agent in that behalf.

(2) The provisions of this section apply to every such contract or sale, notwithstanding that the goods may be intended to be delivered at some future time or may not at the time of such contract or sale be actually made, procured, or provided, or fit or ready for delivery, or some act may be requisite for the making or completing thereof, or rendering the same fit for delivery; but if the goods are to be manufactured by the seller especially for the buyer and are not suitable for sale to others in the ordinary course of the seller's business, the provisions of this section shall not apply.

(3) There is an acceptance of goods within the meaning of this section when the buyer, either before or after delivery of the goods, expresses by words or conduct his assent to becoming the owner of those specific goods. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 30, ch. 43, § 4.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

It is considered that this section supersedes § 12–304.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ACCEPTANCE

Evidence justified a finding that delivery of goods amounted to an "assent on the part of the buyer to take existing and identified goods as owner" so as to constitute acceptance within the meaning of the Uniform Sales Act, Code § 28–1104. Stamates v. Andelman (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 903).

SUBJECT MATTER OF CONTRACT

§ 28–1105 [11: 65]. Existing and future goods.

(1) The goods which form the subject of a contract to sell may be either existing goods, owned or possessed by the seller, or goods to be manufactured or acquired by the seller after the making of the contract to sell, in chapters 11–16 of this title called future goods.

(2) There may be a contract to sell goods, the acquisition of which by the seller depends upon a contingency which may or may not happen.

(3) Where the parties purport to effect a present sale of future goods, the agreement operates as a contract to sell the goods. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 30, ch. 43, § 5.)

§ 28–1106 [11: 66]. Undivided shares—Fungible goods.

(1) There may be a contract to sell or a sale of an undivided share of goods. If the parties intend to effect a present sale, the buyer, by force of the agreement, becomes an owner in common with the owner or owners of the remaining shares.

(2) In the case of fungible goods, there may be a sale of an undivided share of a specific mass, though the seller purports to sell and the buyer to buy a definite number, weight, or measure of the goods in the mass, and though the number, weight, or measure of the goods in the mass is undetermined. By such a sale the buyer becomes owner in common of such a share of the mass as the number, weight, or measure bought bears to the number, weight, or measure of the mass. If the mass contains less than the number, weight, or measure bought, the buyer becomes the owner of the whole mass and the seller is bound to make good the deficiency from similar goods unless a contrary intent appears. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 30, ch. 43, § 6.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Other provisions concerning sale of an undivided share, § 28–1201.

§ 28–1107 [11: 67]. Destruction of goods sold—Option of buyer.

(1) Where the parties purport to sell specific goods, and the goods without the knowledge of the seller have wholly perished at the time when the agreement is made, the agreement is void.

(2) Where the parties purport to sell specific goods, and the goods without the knowledge of the seller have perished in part or have wholly or in a material part so deteriorated in quality as to be substantially changed in character, the buyer may at his option treat the sale—

(a) As avoided; or

(b) As transferring the property in all of the existing goods or in so much thereof as have not deteriorated, and as binding the buyer to pay the full agreed price if the sale was indivisible, or to pay the agreed price for the goods in which the property passes if the sale was divisible. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 31, ch. 43, § 7.)

§ 28–1108 [11: 68]. Destruction of goods contracted to be sold—Option of buyer.

(1) Where there is a contract to sell specific goods, and subsequently, but before the risk passes to the buyer, without any fault on the part of the seller or the buyer, the goods wholly perish, the contract is thereby voided.

(2) Where there is a contract to sell specific goods, and subsequently, but before the risk passes to the buyer, without any fault of the seller or the buyer, part of the goods perish or the whole or a material part of the goods so deteriorate in quality as to be substantially changed in character, the buyer may at his option treat the contract—

(a) As avoided; or

THE PRICE

§ 28–1109 [11: 69]. Price—Ascertainment—Interest in real property as price.

(1) The price may be fixed by the contract, or may be left to be fixed in such manner as may be agreed, or it may be determined by the course of dealing between the parties.

(2) The price may be made payable in any personal property.

(3) Where transferring or promising to transfer any interest in real estate constitutes the whole or part of the consideration for transferring or for promising to transfer the property in goods, chapters 11–16 of this title shall not apply.

(4) Where the price is not determined in accordance with the foregoing provisions, the buyer must pay a reasonable price. What is a reasonable price is a question of fact dependent on the circumstances of each particular case. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 31, ch. 43, § 9.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 11–16 of this title" set forth the Uniform Sales Act.

§ 28–1110 [11: 70]. Price and terms to be fixed by third person—Failure to do so—Remedies.

(1) Where there is a contract to sell or a sale of goods at a price or on terms to be fixed by a third person, and such third person without fault of the seller or the buyer can not or does not fix the price or terms, the contract or the sale is thereby avoided; but if the goods or any part thereof have been delivered to and appropriated by the buyer he must pay a reasonable price therefor.

(2) Where such third person is prevented from fixing the price or terms by fault of the seller or the buyer, the party not in fault may have such remedies against the party in fault as are allowed by chapters 14 and 15 of this title. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 32, ch. 43, § 10.)

CONDITIONS AND WARRANTIES

§ 28–1111 [11: 71]. Breach of conditions—Effect—Remedies.

(1) Where the obligation of either party to a contract to sell or a sale is subject to any condition which is not performed, such party may refuse to proceed with the contract or sale or he may waive performance of the condition. If the other party has promised that the condition should happen or be performed, such first-mentioned party may also treat the nonperformance of the condition as a breach of warranty.

(2) Where the property in the goods has not passed, the buyer may treat the fulfillment by the sell of his obligations to furnish goods as described and as warranted expressly or by implication in the contract to sell as a condition of the obligation of the buyer to perform his promise to accept and pay for the goods. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 32, ch. 43, § 11.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

The word "sell" in line 3 of subsection (2) probably should read "seller."

§ 28–1112 [11: 72]. Express warranty—Definition.

Any affirmation of fact or any promise by the seller relating to the goods is an express warranty if the natural tendency of such affirmation or promise is to induce the buyer to purchase the goods, and if the buyer purchases the goods relying thereon. No affirmation of the value of the goods, nor any statement purporting to be a statement of the seller's opinion only shall be construed as a warranty. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 32, ch. 43, § 12.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ADOPTION OF WARRANTIES

The mere resale of an article to which the manufacturer has affixed his warranty is not sufficient in itself to constitute an adoption of the warranty by the seller. There must be in addition some affirmation of fact or promise by the seller himself which tends to induce the buyer to purchase the article. Orrison v. Ferrante (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 72 A. 2d 771).

AUTHORITY OF AGENT

A customer who went to defendant's retail jewelry store and was there shown jewelry by a salesman could reasonably assume that salesman was defendant's agent, and not acting as an independent jeweler, in selling a watch to customer and making a warranty as to its quality, and defendant was liable for acts of salesman on theory of salesman's "apparent authority." Livingston v. Fuhrman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 747).

BURDEN OF PROOF

One suing for a breach of warranty has the burden of establishing the warranty and its breach. Livingston v. Fuhrman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 747).

Buyer's burden of proving a breach of warranty that a watch was "waterproof" was not sustained by proof that watch was rusty and beyond repair at end of six months, in the absence of proof as to conditions under which the watch was used and the treatment it received. Livingston v. Fuhrman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 747).

CIRCUMSTANCES INDICATING EXPRESS WARRANTY

Where plaintiff asked for a waterproof watch at defendant's jewelry store and was shown watches purporting to answer that description, and receipt for watch purchased recited payment for a waterproof watch, there was an "express warranty" that watch was waterproof. Livingston v. Fuhrman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 747).

PLEADING

In action on note given for part of purchase price of automobile, affidavit of defense alleging that automobile dealer represented the automobile to be in good condition, that the automobile was found to be in an unsafe and dangerous condition and with numerous and serious defects, that the dealer did not remedy the defect notwithstanding repeated demands, and that automobile had been returned to dealer as worthless was sufficient to permit maker of note to establish defenses of failure of consideration, breach of warranty, and that he was induced to purchase the automobile and to sign the note by fraudulent misrepresentations. Palmer v. Associates Discount Corporation, 1941 (124 F. 2d 225, 74 App. D. C. 386).

Where subject matter of the present suit was returned after suit was filed but prior to the filing of the answer, evidence warranted the invocation of the rule providing that when issues not raised by the pleadings are tried by express or implied consent of the parties, they shall be treated in all respects as if they had been raised by the pleadings. Orrison v. Ferrante (D. C. Mun. App. 1950. 72 A. 2d 771).

PRESUMPTION

In the absence of evidence of the meaning of the word "waterproof" as applied to watches, the court could not assume that a warranty of a waterproof watch warrants the watch to be waterproof regardless of conditions and treatment. Livingston v. Fuhrman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 747).

STATEMENTS OF SALESMEN

Salesman's statement, in reply to buyer's inquiry, that carpet was of a very good grade and should give buyer satisfactory wear, and that it was made by well-known rug maker, did not constitute an express warranty. Mars v. Herman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 351).

§ 28–1113 [11: 73]. Implied warranties of title.

In a contract to sell or a sale, unless a contrary intention appears, there is—

(1) An implied warranty on the part of the seller that in case of a sale he has a right to sell the goods, and that in case of a contract to sell he will have a right to sell the goods at the time when the property is to pass;

(2) An implied warranty that the buyer shall have and enjoy quiet possession of the goods as against any lawful claims existing at the time of the sale;

(3) An implied warranty that the goods shall be free at the time of the sale from any charge or encumbrance in favor of any third person, not declared or known to the buyer before or at the time when the contract or sale is made.

(4) This section shall not, however, be held to render liable a sheriff, auctioneer, mortgagee, or other person professing to sell by virtue of authority in fact or law, goods in which a third person has a legal or equitable interest. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 32, ch. 43, § 13.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

LIABILITY FOR BREACH

Where defendant by contract authorized wrecking company to demolish lumber sheds and retain as its property the salvaged lumber but defendant had previously by lease with oil company transferred to oil company right to the salvaged material, defendant having failed through no fault of wrecking company to perform unqualified undertaking to deliver merchandise was liable for damages. Stern v. Ace Wrecking Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 626).

§ 28–1114 [11: 74]. Implied warranty in contract to sell or sale of goods by description—By sample.

Where there is a contract to sell or a sale of goods by description, there is an implied warranty that the goods shall correspond with the description and if the contract or sale be by sample, as well as by description, it is not sufficient that the bulk of the goods corresponds with the sample if the goods do not also correspond with the description. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 32, ch. 43, § 14.)

§ 28–1115 [11: 75]. Implied warranties of quality or fitness—Effect of express warranty.

Subject to the provisions of chapters 11–16 of this title and of any statute in that behalf, there is no implied warranty or condition as to the quality or fitness for any particular purpose of goods supplied under a contract to sell or a sale, except as follows:

(1) Where the buyer, expressly or by implication, makes known to the seller the particular purpose for which the goods are required, and it appears that the buyer relies on the seller's skill or judgment (whether he be the grower or manufacturer or not), there is an implied warranty that the goods shall be reasonably fit for such purpose.

(2) Where the goods are bought by description from a seller who deals in goods of that description (whether he be the grower or manufacturer or not), there is an implied warranty that the goods shall be merchantable quality.

(3) If the buyer has examined the goods, there is no implied warranty as regards defects which such examination ought to have revealed.

(4) In the case of a contract to sell or sale of a specified article under its patent or other trade name, there is no implied warranty as to its fitness for any particular purpose.

(5) An implied warranty or condition as to the quality or fitness for a particular purpose may be annexed by the usage of trade.

(6) An express warranty or condition does not negative a warranty or condition implied under chapters 11–16 of this title unless inconsistent therewith. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 32, ch. 43, § 15.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 11–16 of this title" set forth the Uniform Sales Act.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

BURDEN OF PROOF

Buyer suing for breach of warranty in sale of a carpet had burden of proving that in making purchase buyer relied on seller's skill or judgment and that carpet was not reasonably fit for its known purpose. Mars v. Herman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 351).

DESCRIPTION, SALE BY

Where seller's salesman suggested to buyer that buyer select a carpet at a store and obtain the number and identifying description from the tag, and that salesman would then procure such carpet from manufacturer, sale of carpet obtained from manufacturer was by description, as regards whether there was an implied warranty as to fitness of the carpet. Mars v. Herman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 351).

DIRECTION OF VERDICT

That buyer's nonexpert testimony that fur coat had several spots where fur was worn off after three months' wear was contradicted by seller's experts who testified that fur was not worn off but merely "matted down" and could be restored by heavy brushing did not require direction of verdict for seller in buyer's action for breach of implied warranty of fitness because buyer introduced no expert testimony, where coat involved was admitted in evidence for jury's inspection. Woodward & Lothrop v. Heed (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 369).

EVIDENCE, ADMISSIBILITY

Where issue of fact is a condition of an article, such as a fur coat involved in action for breach of implied warranty of fitness, the introduction in evidence of such article to enable jury to observe its condition is competent and persuasive evidence. Woodward & Lothrop v. Heed (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 369).

EVIDENCE, SUFFICIENCY

In action for breach of warranty in sale of carpet, evidence which merely showed the retail price of carpet at time of delivery, had its quality answered to the warranty was insufficient basis for jury's award of damages. Mars v. Herman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 351).

Evidence that carpet corresponding to number, pattern and color was delivered at buyer's apartment, and that after carpet had been used for 2½ years buyer noticed that carpet had faded and that one spot in living room was badly worn did not support a finding that carpet was not of "merchantable quality" within intent of implied warranty provision of this section. Mars v. Herman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 351).

Where defects allegedly developed in fur coat purchased by fur wearing out after only three months' wear, evidence of durability of a comparable object was not required to sustain buyer's action for breach of implied warranty of fitness. Woodward & Lothrop v. Heed (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 369).

GENERAL USE, FITNESS FOR

Where carpet sold was for use in usual apartment occupied for residence purposes by a small family, fitness for a known purpose implied under implied warranty provision of this section was fitness for general use, so that there where no special conditions requiring a carpet of unusual specifications, or one of other than a quality reasonably fit for its purpose. Mars v. Herman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 351).

Since outer garments intended for domestic wear are not unlikely to come into momentary contact with lighted matches, tobacco or stoves, a robe, which when this contact occurs instantly bursts into flame and inflicts severe injury is unreasonably dangerous and unfit for use, and there is a breach of seller's implied warranty of fitness. Deffebach v. Lansburgh & Bro. (App. D. C. 1945, 150 F. 2d 591, 80 U. S. App. D. C. 185, 168 A. L. R. 1052).

The implied warranty of fitness of article sold prescribed by subsection (1) of this section must be reasonably construed in light of common knowledge in reference to nature of such article. Woodward & Lothrop v. Heed (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 369).

INSTRUCTIONS

In buyer's action for breach of warranty in sale of carpet, instructions should take into consideration evidence concerning durability of carpet of period and comparable in price with that purchased, seller's warranty being that carpet is of not less than the fair minimum grade or quality of typical carpets of the price range at the time of the sale. Mars v. Herman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 351).

Where plaintiff who was not an expert in textiles purchased a robe from defendant for use as a lounging robe and her examination of the robe could not have revealed the fact that it would burn up in an instant if it came in contact with flame, the court erred in failing to instruct jury, in action for breach of warranty, that if the robe caught fire and burned as plaintiff testified, there was a breach of defendant's implied warranty of fitness. Deffebach v. Lansburgh & Bro. (App. D. C. 1945, 150 F. 2d 591, 80 U. S. App. D. C. 185, 168 A. L. R. 1052).

INTENDED USE, KNOWLEDGE OF

Where contract provided for installation of boiler for heating purposes, and purpose for which boiler was to be used was made known to seller prior to contract, an "implied warranty" existed that the boiler was reasonably fit for that purpose. Griffith-Consumers Co. v. Noonan (App. D. C. 1943, 136 F. 2d 271).

LOSS OF WARRANTIES

Where the evidence was clear that the customer made the original repairs herself and the machine then worked, but that thereafter the machine stopped completely and "you could see the damage in the gear," such evidence does not indicate the need for a minor repair but rather for general overhauling and possible replacement of parts. Against such defective materials or workmanship there was no implied warranty by the dealer since it would have been inconsistent with the written express warranty of the manufacturer who agreed to replace such parts. Orrison v. Ferrante (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 72 A. 2d 771).

PARTICULAR PURPOSE

This section providing that in case of sale of specified article under trade name there is no implied warranty as to its fitness for any "particular purpose" uses quoted phrase as meaning a usage other or different in kind or extent than the ordinary uses the article was made to meet. Mars v. Herman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 351).

QUESTIONS FOR JURY

In buyer's action for breach of implied warranty of fitness of fur coat purchased, buyer's nonexpert testimony that she purchased coat on assurance of defendant's salesman that it would wear well and that she relied on his skill and judgment, but that after three months' careful wear fur had worn off in several places, though contradicted by seller's experts, presented jury issue as to whether coat was reasonably fit for purpose for which sold. Woodward & Lothrop v. Heed (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 369).

SALES OF FOOD

The language of the statute held sufficiently broad to cover sales of food. Hanback v. Dutch Baker Boy, Inc. (70 App. D. C. 398, 107 Fed. (2d) 203).

SUCCESSOR IN INTEREST

Donee—consumer of food not successor in interest of the buyer. Hanback v. Dutch Baker Boy, Inc. (70 App. D. C. 398, 107 Fed. (2d) 203).

SALE BY SAMPLE

§ 28–1116 [11: 76]. Implied warranties in contract to sell or sale by sample.

In the case of a contract to sell or a sale by sample—

(a) There is an implied warranty that the bulk shall correspond with the sample in quality.

(b) There is an implied warranty that the buyer shall have a reasonable opportunity of comparing the bulk with the sample, except so far as otherwise provided in section 28–1307.

(c) If the seller is a dealer in goods of that kind, there is an implied warranty that the goods shall be free from any defect rendering them unmerchantable which would not be apparent on reasonable examination of the sample. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 33, ch. 43, § 16.)

§ 28–1201 [11: 77]. No property passes until goods are ascertained.

Where there is a contract to sell unascertained goods no property in the goods is transferred to the buyer unless and until the goods are ascertained, but property in an undivided share of ascertained goods may be transferred as provided in section 28–1106. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 33, ch. 43, § 17.)

§ 28–1202 [11: 78]. Property in specific goods passes when parties so intend.

(1) Where there is a contract to sell specific or ascertained goods, the property in them is transferred to the buyer at such time as the parties to the contract intend it to be transferred.

(2) For the purpose of ascertaining the intention of the parties, regard shall be had to the terms of the contract, the conduct of the parties, usages of trade, and the circumstances of the case. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 33, ch. 43, § 18.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

INTENT, DETERMINATION OF

In determining when title passes from seller to buyer under the Uniform Sales Act § 28–1101 et seq., actual intent of parties must be determined from the terms of the contract, the conduct of the parties and all the circumstances. Secor v. Charles H. Tompkins Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 117).

PASSAGE OF TITLE

Where nothing remains to be done but completion of payment, title was transferred as the parties to the contract intended and unless a contrary intention appears, in an unconditional contract to sell specific goods in a deliverable state, property passes to the buyer when the contract is made and it is immaterial whether time of payment or delivery be postponed. Daine v. Price (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 767).

§ 28–1203 [11: 79]. Rules for ascertaining intention.

Unless a different intention appears, the following are rules for ascertaining the intention of the parties as to the time at which the property in the goods is to pass to the buyer:

Rule 1. Where there is an unconditional contract to sell specific goods, in a deliverable state, the property in the goods passes to the buyer when the contract is made and it is immaterial whether the time of payment, or the time of delivery, or both, be postponed.

Rule 2. Where there is a contract to sell specific goods and the seller is bound to do something to the goods, for the purpose of putting them into a deliverable state, the property does not pass until such thing is done.

Rule 3. (1) When goods are delivered to the buyer "on sale or return," or on other terms indicating an intention to make a present sale, but to give the buyer an option to return the goods instead of paying the price, the property passes to the buyer on delivery, but he may revest the property in the seller by returning or tendering the goods within the time fixed in the contract, or, if no time has been fixed, within a reasonable time.

(2) When goods are delivered to the buyer on approval or on trial or on satisfaction, or other similar terms, the property therein passes to the buyer—

(a) When he signifies his approval or acceptance to the seller or does any other act adopting the transaction;

(b) If he does not signify his approval or acceptance to the seller, but retains the goods without giving notice of rejection, then if a time has been fixed for the return of the goods, on the expiration of such time, and, if no time has been fixed, on the expiration of a reasonable time. What is a reasonable time is a question of fact.

Rule 4. (1) Where there is a contract to sell unascertained or future goods by description, and goods of that description and in a deliverable state are unconditionally appropriated to the contract, either by the seller with the assent of the buyer, or by the buyer with the assent of the seller, the property in the goods thereupon passes to the buyer. Such assent may be expressed or implied, and may be given either before or after the appropriation is made.

(2) Where, in pursuance of a contract to sell, the seller delivers the goods to the buyer, or to a carrier or other bailee (whether named by the buyer or not) for the purpose of transmission to or holding for the buyer, he is presumed to have unconditionally appropriated the goods to the contract, except in the cases provided for in the next rule and in section 28–1204. This presumption is applicable, although by the terms of the contract, the buyer is to pay the price before receiving delivery of the goods, and the goods are marked with the words "collect on delivery" or their equivalents.

Rule 5. If the contract to sell requires the seller to deliver the goods to the buyer, or at a particular place, or to pay the freight or cost of transportation to the buyer, or to a particular place, the property does not pass until the goods have been delivered to the buyer or reached the place agreed upon. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 33, ch. 43, § 19.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Delivery to carrier on behalf of buyer, § 28–1306.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

DELIVERY AT DESTINATION

Where sale contract requires delivery at point of destination, title usually remains in the shipper, and the risks of transportation must be borne by him. Secor v. Charles H. Tompkins Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 117).

Under Uniform Sales Act § 28–1101 et seq., title to goods did not pass to buyer until physical delivery at the point of destination was accomplished, so as to make seller liable for loss by breakage in transit, where contract required seller to ship the goods by freight to point of destination by a carrier not specified by buyer, and seller was to pay the freight. Secor v. Charles H. Tompkins Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 117).

LOSS OR DAMAGE IN TRANSIT

In determining whether loss by breakage during transit falls on buyer or seller of goods, the general rule is that loss or damage to goods in transit usually follows title to the goods. Secor v. Charles H. Tompkins Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 117).

PASSAGE OF TITLE

Where nothing remains to be done but completion of payment, title was transferred as the parties to the contract intended and, unless a contrary intention appears in an unconditional contract to sell specific goods in a deliverable state, property passes to the buyer when the contract is made and it is immaterial whether time of payment or delivery be postponed. Daine v. Price (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 767).

PREPAYMENT OF FREIGHT

The prepayment of freight by seller and use of the term "f. o. b." in sales contract are only two of the facts to be given consideration in determining time and place at which parties intended to pass title, and the answer must be found in all facts showing actual intention of the parties. Electric Storage Battery Co. v. District of Columbia (App. D. C. 1946, 155 F. 2d 867).

Under written contract entered into by taxpayer, which was a New Jersey corporation maintaining a branch office but no warehouse or stock of merchandise in District of Columbia, with one to act as its wholesale distributor in District, the title to goods passed from taxpayer to distributor when delivery was made by taxpayer to carrier outside of the District, so that the sales made to distributor were not required to be reported as gross income from sources within the District, notwithstanding that taxpayer agreed to pay cost of transportation and reserved the right to select the carrier. Electric Storage Battery Co. v. District of Columbia (App. D. C. 1946, 155 F. 2d 867).

§ 28–1204 [11 : 80]. Reservation by seller of right of possession or property to secure performance by buyer—Bill of lading.

(1) Where there is a contract to sell specific goods, or where goods are subsequently appropriated to the contract, the seller may, by the terms of the contract or appropriation, reserve the right of possession or property in the goods until certain conditions have been fulfilled. The right of possession or property may be thus reserved notwithstanding the delivery of the goods to the buyer or to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer.

(2) Where goods are shipped, and by the bill of lading the goods are deliverable to the seller or his agent, or to the order of the seller or of his agent, the seller thereby reserves the property in the goods. But if, except for the form of the bill of lading, the property would have passed to the buyer on shipment of the goods, the seller's property in the goods shall be deemed to be only for the purpose of securing performance by the buyer of his obligations under the contract.

(3) Where goods are shipped, and by the bill of lading the goods are deliverable to the order of the buyer or of his agent, but possession of the bill of lading is retained by the seller or his agent, the seller thereby reserves a right to the possession of the goods as against the buyer.

(4) Where the seller of goods draws on the buyer for the price and transmits the bill of exchange and bill of lading together to the buyer to secure acceptance or payment of the bill of exchange, the buyer is bound to return the bill of lading if he does not honor the bill of exchange, and if he wrongfully retains the bill of lading he acquires no added right thereby. If, however, the bill of lading provides that the goods are deliverable to the buyer or to the order of the buyer, or is endorsed in blank, or to the buyer by the consignee named therein, one who purchases in good faith, for value, the bill of lading, or goods from the buyer will obtain the property in the goods, although the bill of exchange has not been honored, provided that such purchaser has received delivery of the bill of lading endorsed by the consignee named therein, or of the goods, without notice of the facts, making the transfer wrongful. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 34, ch. 43, § 20.)

§ 28–1205 [11: 81]. Sale by auction—Separate contracts—When sale complete—Seller's right to bid—Notice.

In the case of a sale by auction—

(1) Where goods are put up for sale by auction in lots, each lot is the subject of a separate contract of sale.

(2) A sale by auction is complete when the auctioneer announces its completion by the fall of the hammer, or in other customary manner. Until such announcement is made, any bidder may retract his bid; and the auctioneer may withdraw the goods from sale unless the auction has been announced to be without reserve.

(3) A right to bid may be reserved expressly by or on behalf of the seller.

(4) Where notice has not been given that a sale by auction is subject to a right to bid on behalf of the seller, it shall not be lawful for the seller to bid himself or to employ or induce any person to bid at such sale on his behalf, or for the auctioneer to employ or induce any person to bid at such sale on behalf of the seller or knowingly to take any bid from the seller or any person employed by him. Any sale contravening this rule may be treated as fraudulent by the buyer. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 35, ch. 43, § 21.)

§ 28–1206 [11: 82]. Risk of loss.

Unless otherwise agreed, the goods remain at the seller's risk until the property therein is transferred to the buyer, but when the property therein is transferred to the buyer the goods are at the buyer's risk whether delivery has been made or not, except that—

(a) Where delivery of the goods has been made to the buyer or to a bailee for the buyer, in pursuance of the contract and the property in the goods has been retained by the seller merely to secure performance by the buyer of his obligations under the contract, the goods are at the buyer's risk from the time of such delivery.

(b) Where delivery has been delayed through the fault of either the buyer or seller the goods are at the risk of the party in fault as regards any loss which might not have occurred but for such fault. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 35, ch. 43, § 22.)

TRANSFER OF TITLE

§ 28–1207 [11: 83]. Sale by a person not the owner.

(1) Subject to the provisions of chapters 11–16 of this title, where goods are sold by a person who is not the owner thereof, and who does not sell them under the authority or with the consent of the owner, the buyer acquires no better title to the goods than the seller had, unless the owner of the goods is by his conduct precluded from denying the seller's authority to sell.

(2) Nothing in chapters 11–16 of this title, however, shall affect—

(a) The provisions of any factors' acts, recording acts, or any enactment enabling the apparent owner of goods to dispose of them as if he were the true owner thereof.

(b) The validity of any contract to sell or sale under any special common-law or statutory power of sale or under the order of a court of competent jurisdiction. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 35, ch. 43, § 23.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 11–16 of this title" set forth the Uniform Sales Act.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ESTOPPEL

The general rule is that the seller of chattels can confer no better title than he himself has, but a recognized exception to the rule is based on estoppel. General Credit v. Universal Credit Co. (69 App. D. C. 80, 99 Fed. (2d) 115).

If the owner of automobiles stands by and permits a licensed dealer in automobiles to hold himself out as the owner, to treat the goods as his own and place them with similar goods in a public show room and to offer them for sale to the public, he will be estopped from asserting his ownership against a purchaser for value without notice. General Credit v. Universal Credit Co. (69 App. D. C. 80, 99 Fed. (2d) 115).

§ 28–1208 [11: 84]. Sale by one having a voidable title.

Where the seller of goods has a voidable title thereto, but his title has not been voided at the time of the sale, the buyer acquires a good title to the goods, provided he buys them in good faith, for value, and without notice of the seller's defect of title. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 36, ch. 43, § 24.)

§ 28–1209 [11: 85]. Sale by seller in possession of goods already sold.

Where a person having sold goods continues in possession of the goods, or of negotiable documents of title to the goods, the delivery or transfer by that person, or by an agent acting for him, of the goods or documents of title under any sale, pledge, or other disposition thereof, to any person receiving and paying value for the same in good faith and without notice of the previous sale, shall have the same effect as if the person making the delivery or transfer were expressly authorized by the owner of the goods to make the same. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 36, ch. 43, § 25.)

§ 28–1210 [11: 86]. Creditors' rights against sold goods in seller's possession.

Where a person having sold goods continues in possession of the goods, or of negotiable documents of title to the goods and such retention of possession is fraudulent in fact or is deemed fraudulent under any rule of law, a creditor or creditors of the seller may treat the sale as void. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 36, ch. 43, § 26.)

§ 28–1211 [11: 87]. Negotiable documents of title—Definition.

A document of title in which it is stated that the goods referred to therein will be delivered to the bearer, or to the order of any person named in such document is a negotiable document of title within the meaning of chapters 11–16 of this title. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 36, ch. 43, § 27.)

§ 28–1212 [11: 88]. Negotiation of negotiable documents by delivery.

A negotiable document of title may be negotiated by delivery—

(a) Where by the terms of the document the carrier, warehouseman, or other bailee issuing the same undertakes to deliver the goods to the bearer; or

(b) Where by the terms of the document the carrier, warehouseman, or other bailee issuing the same, undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of a specified person, and such person or a subsequent endorsee of the document has endorsed it in blank or to the bearer.

Where by the terms of a negotiable document of title the goods are deliverable to bearer or where a negotiable document of title has been endorsed in blank or to bearer, any holder may endorse the same to himself or to any specified person, and in such case the document shall thereafter be negotiated only by the endorsement of such endorsee. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 36, ch. 43, § 28.)

§ 28–1213 [11: 89]. Negotiation of negotiable documents by endorsement.

A negotiable document of title may be negotiated by the endorsement of the person to whose order the goods are by the terms of the document deliverable. Such endorsement may be in blank, to bearer, or to a specified person. If endorsed to a specified person, it may be again negotiated by the endorsement of such person in blank, to bearer, or to another specified person. Subsequent negotiations may be made in like manner. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 36, ch. 43, § 29.)

§ 28–1214 [11: 90]. Negotiable documents of title marked "Not negotiable."

If a document of title which contains an undertaking by a carrier, warehouseman, or other bailee to deliver the goods to the bearer, to a specified person or order, or to the order of a specified person, or which contains words of like import, has placed upon it the words "not negotiable," "nonnegotiable," or the like, such a document may nevertheless be negotiated by the holder and is a negotiable document of title within the meaning of chapters 11–16 of this title. But nothing in chapters 11–16 of this title contained shall be construed as limiting or defining the effect upon the obligations of the carrier, warehouseman, or other bailee issuing a document of title or placing thereon the words "not negotiable," "nonnegotiable," or the like. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 37, ch. 43, § 30.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 11–16 of this title" set forth the Uniform Sales Act.

§ 28–1215 [11: 91]. Transfer of nonnegotiable documents.

A document of title which is not in such form that it can be negotiated by delivery may be transferred by the holder by delivery to a purchaser or donee. A nonnegotiable document cannot be negotiated and the endorsement of such a document gives the transferee no additional right. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 37, ch. 43, § 31.)

§ 28–1216 [11: 92]. Who may negotiate a negotiable document.

A negotiable document may be negotiated by any person in possession of the same, however such possession may have been acquired if, by the terms of the document, the bailee issuing it undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of such person, or if at the time of negotiation the document is in such form that it may be negotiated by delivery. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 37, ch. 43, § 32.)

§ 28–1217 [11: 93]. Title and rights of person to whom negotiable document has been negotiated.

A person to whom a negotiable document of title has been duly negotiated acquires thereby—

(b) The direct obligation of the bailee issuing the document to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the document as fully as if such bailee had contracted directly with him. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 37, ch. 43, § 33.)

§ 28–1218 [11: 94]. Rights of transferee of document—Nonnegotiable document—Notice to bailee—Remedy of creditors of transferor.

A person to whom a document of title has been transferred, but not negotiated, acquires thereby, as against the transferor, the title to the goods, subject to the terms of any agreement with the transferor.

If the document is nonnegotiable, such person also acquires the right to notify the bailee who issued the document of the transfer thereof, and thereby to acquire the direct obligation of such bailee to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the document.

Prior to the notification of such bailee by the transferor or transferee of a nonnegotiable document of title, the title of the transferee to the goods and the right to acquire the obligation of such bailee may be defeated by the levy of an attachment or execution upon the goods by a creditor of the transferor, or by a notification to such bailee by the transferor or a subsequent purchaser from the transferor of a subsequent sale of the goods by the transferor. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 37, ch. 43, § 34.)

§ 28–1219 [11: 95]. Transfer of negotiable document without endorsement—Time of taking effect.

Where a negotiable document of title is transferred for value by delivery, and the endorsement of the transferor is essential for negotiation, the transferee acquires a right against the transferor to compel him to endorse the document unless a contrary intention appears. The negotiation shall take effect as of the time when the endorsement is actually made. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 37, ch. 43, § 35.)

§ 28–1220 [11: 96]. Warranties on sale of document.

A person who for value negotiates or transfers a document of title by endorsement or delivery, including one who assigns for value a claim secured by a document of title unless a contrary intention appears, warrants:

(a) That the document is genuine;

(b) That he has a legal right to negotiate or transfer it;

(c) That he has knowledge of no fact which would impair the validity or worth of the document; and

(d) That he has a right to transfer the title to the goods and that the goods are merchantable or fit for a particular purpose, whenever such warranties would have been implied if the contract of the parties had been to transfer without a document of title the goods represented thereby. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 38, ch. 43, § 36.)

§ 28–1221 [11: 97]. Liability of endorser—Limitation.

The endorsement of a document of title shall not make the endorser liable for any failure on the part of the bailee who issued the document or previous endorsers thereof to fulfill their respective obligations. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 38, ch. 43, § 37.)

§ 28–1222 [11: 98]. Negotiation to bona fide holder for value without notice not impaired by breach of duty, fraud, mistake, or duress.

The validity of the negotiation of a negotiable document of title is not impaired by the fact that the negotiation was a breach of duty on the part of the person making the negotiation, or by the fact that the owner of the document was deprived of the possession of the same by loss, theft, fraud, accident, mistake, duress, or conversion, if the person to whom the document was negotiated or a person to whom the document was subsequently negotiated paid value therefor in good faith without notice of the breach of duty, or loss, theft, fraud, accident, mistake, duress, or conversion. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 36, ch. 43, § 38.)

§ 28–1223 [11: 99]. Attachment or levy upon goods for which a negotiable document has been issued.

If goods are delivered to a bailee by the owner or by a person whose act in conveying the title to them to a purchaser in good faith for value would bind the owner and a negotiable document of title is issued for them, they cannot thereafter, while in the possession of such bailee, be attached by garnishment or otherwise or be levied under an execution unless the document be first surrendered to the bailee or its negotiation enjoined. The bailee shall in no case be compelled to deliver up the actual possession of the goods until the document is surrendered to him or impounded by the court. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 38, ch. 43, § 39.)

§ 28–1224 [11: 100]. Creditors' remedies to reach negotiable documents.

A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a negotiable document of title shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction by injunction and otherwise in attaching such document or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed at law or in equity in regard to property which cannot readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 38, ch. 43, § 40.)

Chapter 13.—PERFORMANCE OF CONTRACT

Sec.

28–1301. Duty of seller to deliver and buyer to accept and pay for goods.
28–1302. Delivery and payment are concurrent conditions.
28–1303. Delivery — Time — Place — Manner—Demand—Expense.
28–1304. Delivery of wrong quantity or mixed with other goods.
28–1305. Delivery in installments.
28–1306. Delivery to a carrier on behalf of the buyer—Duty of seller to contract with carrier—Insurance.
28–1307. Right of buyer to examine the goods—Exception—Authorized delivery to carrier.
28–1308. Acceptance—Definition.
28–1309. Acceptance does not bar action for damages or breach of warranty—Notice required.
28–1310. Buyer is not bound to return goods not accepted—Notice to seller.
28–1311. Buyer's liability for failing to accept delivery—Rights of seller.

§ 28–1301 [11: 101]. Duty of seller to deliver and buyer to accept and pay for goods.

It is the duty of the seller to deliver the goods, and of the buyer to accept and pay for them, in accordance with the terms of the contract to sell or sale. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 38, ch. 43, § 41.)

§ 28–1302 [11: 102]. Delivery and payment are concurrent conditions.

Unless otherwise agreed, delivery of the goods and payment of the price are concurrent conditions; that is to say, the seller must be ready and willing to give possession of the goods to the buyer in exchange for the price and the buyer must be ready and willing to pay the price in exchange for possession of the goods. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 38, ch. 43, § 42.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CONCURRENT CONDITIONS

Where the contract contemplates a single act or exchange of acts, unless the circumstances show a contrary intention, the court will interpret a promise which does not in terms state the time of performance as intending performance in a reasonable time. Martin Co. v. Sumpter (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 64 A. 2d 425).

Delivery of goods and payment of the price are ordinarily concurrent conditions, but the act recognizes that parties may make any terms they wish. Where in the alleged transaction, sales were made on credit with the only difference relating to the terms of such credit, the rule is that until the term of the credit has expired, the buyer is not obligated to pay. Martin Co. v. Sumpter (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 64 A. 2d 425).

§ 28–1303 [11: 103]. Delivery—Time—Place—Manner—Demand—Expense.

(1) Whether it is for the buyer to take possession of the goods or for the seller to send them to the buyer is a question depending in each case on the contract, express or implied, between the parties. Apart from any such contract, express or implied, or usage of trade to the contrary, the place of delivery is the seller's place of business if he have one, and if not his residence; but in case of a contract to sell or a sale of specific goods, which to the knowledge of the parties when the contract or the sale was made were in some other place, then that place is the place of delivery.

(2) Where by a contract to sell or a sale the seller is bound to send the goods to the buyer, but no time for sending them is fixed, the seller is bound to send them within a reasonable time.

(3) Where the goods at the time of sale are in the possession of a third person, the seller has not fulfilled his obligation to deliver to the buyer unless and until such third person acknowledges to the buyer that he holds the goods on the buyer's behalf; but as against all others than the seller the buyer shall be regarded as having received delivery from the time when such third person first has notice of the sale. Nothing in this section, however, shall affect the operation of the issue or transfer of any document of title to goods.

(4) Demand or tender of delivery may be treated as ineffectual unless made at a reasonable hour. What is a reasonable hour is a question of fact.

(5) Unless otherwise agreed, the expenses of and incidental to putting the goods into a deliverable state must be borne by the seller. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 39, ch. 43, § 43.)

§ 28–1304 [11: 104]. Delivery of wrong quantity or mixed with other goods.

(1) Where the seller delivers to the buyer a quantity of goods less than he contracted to sell, the buyer may reject them, but if the buyer accepts or retains the goods so delivered, knowing that the seller is not going to perform the contract in full, he must pay for them at the contract rate. If, however, the buyer has used or disposed of the goods delivered before he knows that the seller is not going to perform his contract in full, the buyer shall not be liable for more than the fair value to him of the goods so received.

(2) Where the seller delivers to the buyer a quantity of goods larger than he contracted to sell, the buyer may accept the goods included in the contract and reject the rest, or he may reject the whole. If the buyer accepts the whole of the goods so delivered he must pay for them at the contract rate.

(3) Where the seller delivers to the buyer the goods he contracted to sell mixed with goods of a different description not included in the contract, the buyer may accept the goods which are in accordance with the contract and reject the rest, or he may reject the whole.

(4) The provisions of this section are subject to any usage of trade, special agreement, or course of dealing between the parties. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 39, ch. 43, § 44.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

AGREEMENT ON QUANTITY

Subsection (2) of this section does not apply unless delivery is made under contract wherein quantity has been fixed by agreement. Shpetner v. Hollywood Credit Clothing Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 522).

EVIDENCE, SUFFICIENCY

Where buyer's order of two dozen ladies' hats was subject to confirmation by seller, and without further notice seller shipped four boxes each containing two dozen hats and first box was accepted by buyer, and other boxes later received were rejected, and copy of shipping receipt delivered to buyer bore notation, "No. Pieces 4", in seller's action to recover for the other six dozen hats evidence warranted judgment for buyer. Shpetner v. Hollywood Credit Clothing Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 522).

PURCHASER, RIGHTS OF

On receiving an order for merchandise may submit a counter offer by shipping different goods or greater quantity of goods ordered, and that is but a tender which purchaser may accept, thereby becoming bound for the whole, or reject without incurring liability, but, if he retains part and rejects part, no contract is created requiring him to pay for the whole unless delivery was expressly made subject to that condition or other circumstances exist from which it may be found that he assented to delivery not conforming to terms of his order. Shpetner v. Hollywood Credit Clothing Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 522).

§ 28–1305 [11: 105]. Delivery in installments.

(1) Unless otherwise agreed, the buyer of goods is not bound to accept delivery thereof by installments.

(2) Where there is a contract to sell goods to be delivery by stated installments, which are to be separately paid for, and the seller makes defective deliveries in respect of one or more installments, or the buyer neglects or refuses to make delivery of or pay for one or more installments, it depends in each case on the terms of the contract and the circumstances of the case, whether the breach of contract is so material as to justify the injured party in refusing to proceed further and suing for damages for breach of the entire contract, or whether the breach is severable, giving rise to a claim for compensation but not to a right to treat the whole contract as broken. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 39, ch. 43, § 45.)

§ 28–1306 [11: 106]. Delivery to a carrier on behalf of the buyer—Duty of seller to contract with carrier—Insurance.

(1) Where, in pursuance of a contract to sell or a sale, the seller is authorized or required to send the goods to the buyer, delivery of the goods to a carrier, whether named by the buyer or not, for the purpose of transmission to the buyer is deemed to be a delivery of the goods to the buyer, except in the cases provided for in section 28–1203, rule 5, or unless a contrary intent appears.

(2) Unless otherwise authorized by the buyer, the seller must make such contract with the carrier on behalf of the buyer as may be reasonable, having regard to the nature of the goods and the other circumstances of the case. If the seller omits so to do, and the goods are lost or damaged in course of transit, the buyer may decline to treat the delivery to the carrier as a delivery to himself, or may hold the seller responsible in damages.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed, where goods are sent by the seller to the buyer under circumstances in which the seller knows or ought to know that it is usual to insure, the seller must give such notice to the buyer as may enable him to insure them during their transit, and, if the seller fails to do so, the goods shall be deemed to be at his risk during such transit. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 40, ch. 43, § 46.)

§ 28–1307 [11: 107]. Right of buyer to examine the goods—Exception—Authorized delivery to carrier.

(1) Where goods are delivered to the buyer which he has not previously examined, he is not deemed to have accepted them unless and until he has had a reasonable opportunity of examining them for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are in conformity with the contract.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed, when the seller tenders delivery of goods to the buyer, he is bound, on request, to afford the buyer a reasonable opportunity of examining the goods for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are in conformity with the contract.

(3) Where goods are delivered to a carrier by the seller, in accordance with an order from or agreement with the buyer, upon the terms that the goods shall not be delivered by the carrier to the buyer until he has paid the price, whether such terms are indicated by marking the goods with the words "collect on delivery," or otherwise, the buyer is not entitled to examine the goods before payment of the price in the absence of agreement permitting such examination. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 40, ch. 43, § 47.)

§ 28–1308 [11: 108]. Acceptance—Definition.

The buyer is deemed to have accepted the goods when he intimates to the seller that he has accepted them, or when the goods have been delivered to him, and he does any act in relation to them which is inconsistent with the ownership of the seller, or when, after the lapse of a reasonable time, he retains the goods without intimating to the seller that he has rejected them. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 40, ch. 43, § 48.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ACCEPTANCE

Evidence justified a finding that goods delivered amounted to an "assent on the part of the buyer to take existing and identified goods as owner" and constituted acceptance within the meaning of the Code. Stamates v. Andelman (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 903).

§ 28–1309 [11: 109]. Acceptance does not bar action for damages or breach of warranty—Notice required.

In the absence of express or implied agreement of the parties, acceptance of the goods by the buyer shall not discharge the seller from liability in damages or other legal remedy for breach of any promise or warranty in the contract to sell or the sale. But, if, after acceptance of the goods, the buyer fails to give notice to the seller of the breach of any promise or warranty within a reasonable time after the buyer knows, or ought to know of such breach, the seller shall not be liable therefor. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 40, ch. 43, § 49.)

§ 28–1310 [11: 110]. Buyer is not bound to return goods not accepted—Notice to seller.

Unless otherwise agreed, where goods are delivered to the buyer, and he refused to accept them, having the right so to do, he is not bound to return them to the seller, but it is sufficient if he notifies the seller that he refuses to accept them. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 40, ch. 43, § 50.)

§ 28–1311 [11: 111]. Buyer's liability for failing to accept delivery—Rights of seller.

When the seller is ready and willing to deliver the goods, and requests the buyer to take delivery, and the buyer does not within a reasonable time after such request take delivery of the goods, he is liable to the seller for any loss occasioned by his neglect or refusal to take delivery, and also for a reasonable charge for the care and custody of the goods. If the neglect or refusal of the buyer to take delivery amounts to a repudiation or breach of the entire contract, the seller shall have the right against the goods and on the contract hereinafter provided in favor of the seller when the buyer is in default. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 41, ch. 43, § 51.)

(a) When the whole of the price has not been paid or tendered.

(b) When a bill of exchange or other negotiable instrument has been received as conditional payment, and the condition on which it was received has been broken by reason of the dishonor of the instrument, the insolvency of the buyer, or otherwise.

(2) In this part of chapters 11–16 of this title the term "seller" includes an agent of the seller to whom the bill of lading has been endorsed, or a consignor or agent who has himself paid, or is directly responsible for, the price, or any other person who is in the position of a seller. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 41, ch. 43, § 52.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 11–16 of this title" set forth the Uniform Sales Act.

§ 28–1402 [11: 113]. Remedies of an unpaid seller.

(1) Subject to the provisions of chapters 11–16 of this title, notwithstanding that the property in the goods may have passed to the buyer, the unpaid seller of goods, as such has—

(a) A lien on the goods or right to retain them for the price while he is in possession of them;

(b) In case of insolvency of the buyer, the right of stopping the goods in transitu after he has parted with the possession of them;

(c) A right of resale as limited by chapters 11–16 of this title; and

(d) A right to rescind the sale as limited by chapters 11–16 of this title.

(2) Where the property in goods has not passed to the buyer, the unpaid seller has, in addition to his other remedies, a right of withholding delivery similar to and coextensive with his rights of lien and stoppage in transitu where the property has passed to the buyer. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 41, ch. 43, § 53.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 11–16 of this title" set forth the Uniform Sales Act.

UNPAID SELLER'S LIEN

§ 28–1403 [11: 114]. When right of lien may be exercised.

(1) Subject to the provisions of chapters 11–16 of this title, the unpaid seller of goods who is in possession of them is entitled to retain possession of them until payment or tender of the price in the following cases, namely—

(a) Where the goods have been sold without any stipulation as to credit;

(b) Where the goods have been sold on credit, but the term of credit has expired; and

(c) Where the buyer becomes insolvent

(2) The seller may exercise his right of lien, notwithstanding that he is in possession of the goods as agent or bailee for the buyer. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 41, ch. 43, § 54.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 11–16 of this title" set forth the Uniform Sales Act.

§ 28–1404 [11: 115]. Lien after part delivery.

Where an unpaid seller has made part delivery of the goods, he may exercise his right of lien on the remainder, unless such part delivery has been made under such circumstances as to show an intent to waive the lien or right of retention. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 41, ch. 43, § 55.)

§ 28–1405 [11: 116]. When lien is lost.

(1) The unpaid seller of goods loses his lien thereon—

(a) When he delivers the goods to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer without reserving the property in the goods or the right to the possession thereof;

(b) When the buyer or his agent lawfully obtains possession of the goods; and

(c) By waiver thereof.

(2) The unpaid seller of goods, having a lien thereon, does not lose his lien by reason only that he has obtained judgment or decree for the price of the goods. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 42, ch. 43, § 56.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PASSAGE OF TITLE

Where nothing remains to be done but completion of payment, title was transferred as the parties to the contract intended. Unless a contrary intention appears in an unconditional contract to sell specific goods in a deliverable state, property passes to the buyer when the contract is made and it is immaterial whether time of payment or delivery be postponed. Daine v. Price (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 767).

TRANSFER OF POSSESSION

A seller's lien is predicated upon possession and is lost when the buyer lawfully obtains possession of the goods. Daine v. Price (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 767).

STOPPAGE IN TRANSITU

§ 28–1406 [11: 117]. Seller may stop goods in transitu on buyer's insolvency.

Subject to the provisions of chapters 11–16 of this title when the buyer of goods is or becomes insolvent, the unpaid seller who has parted with the possession of the goods has the right of stopping them in transitu; that is to say, he may resume possession of the goods at any time while they are in transit, and he will then become entitled to the same rights in regard to the goods as he would have had if he had never parted with the possession. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 42, ch. 43, § 57.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 11–16 of this title" set forth the Uniform Sales Act.

§ 28–1407 [11: 118]. When goods are in transit.

(1) Goods are in transit within the meaning of section 28–1406—

(a) From the time when they are delivered to a carrier by land or water, or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer, until the buyer, or his agent in that behalf, takes delivery of them from such carrier or other bailee; and

(b) If the goods are rejected by the buyer, and the carrier or other bailee continues in possession of them, even if the seller has refused to receive them back.

(2) Goods are no longer in transit within the meaning of section 28–1406—

(a) If the buyer, or his agent in that behalf, obtains delivery of the goods before their arrival at the appointed destination;

(b) If, after the arrival of the goods at the appointed destination, the carrier or other bailee acknowledges to the buyer or his agent that he holds the goods on his behalf and continues in possession of them as bailee for the buyer or his agent; and it is immaterial that a further destination for the goods may have been indicated by the buyer; and

(c) If the carrier or other bailee wrongfully refuses to deliver the goods to the buyer or his agent in that behalf.

(3) If goods are delivered to a ship chartered by the buyer, it is a question depending on the circumstances of the particular case, whether they are in the possession of the master as a carrier or as agent of the buyer.

(4) If part delivery of the goods has been made to the buyer, or his agent in that behalf, the remainder of the goods may be stopped in transitu, unless such part delivery has been made under such circumstances as to show an agreement with the buyer to give up possession of the whole of the goods. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 42, ch. 43, § 58.)

§ 28–1408 [11: 119]. Ways of exercising the right of stoppage in transitu—Duty of carrier or bailee in possession.

(1) The unpaid seller may exercise his right of stoppage in transitu either by obtaining actual possession of the goods or by giving notice of his claim to the carrier or other bailee in whose possession the goods are. Such notice may be given either to the person in actual possession of the goods or to his principal. In the latter case the notice, to be effectual, must be given at such time and under such circumstances that the principal, by the exercise of reasonable diligence, may prevent a delivery to the buyer.

(2) When notice of stoppage in transitu is given by the seller to the carrier, or other bailee in possession of the goods, he must redeliver the goods to, or according to the directions of, the seller. The expenses of such delivery must be borne by the seller. If, however, a negotiable document of title representing the goods has been issued by the carrier or other bailee, he shall not be obliged to deliver or justified in delivering the goods to the seller unless such document is first surrendered for cancelation. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 42, ch. 43, § 59.)

RESALE BY THE SELLER

§ 28–1409 [11: 120]. Unpaid seller's right to resell—Notice—Validity of sale.

(1) Where the goods are of perishable nature, or where the seller expressly reserves the right of resale in case the buyer should make default, or where the buyer has been in default in the payment of the price an unreasonable time, an unpaid seller having a right of lien or having stopped the goods in transitu may resell the goods. He shall not thereafter be liable to the original buyer upon the contract to sell or the sale or for any profit made by such resale, but may recover from the buyer damages for any loss occasioned by the breach of the contract or the sale.

(2) Where a resale is made, as authorized in this section, the buyer acquires a good title as against the original buyer.

(3) It is not essential to the validity of a resale that notice of an intention to resell the goods be given by the seller to the original buyer. But where the right to resell is not based on the perishable nature of the goods or upon an express provision of the contract or the sale, the giving or failure to give such notice shall be relevant in any issue involving the question whether the buyer had been in default an unreasonable time before the resale was made.

(4) It is not essential to the validity of a resale that notice of the time and place of such resale should be given by the seller to the original buyer.

(5) The seller is bound to exercise reasonable care and judgment in making a resale, and subject to this requirement may make a resale either by public or private sale. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 43, ch. 43, § 60.)

RESCISSION BY THE SELLER

§ 28–1410 [11: 121]. Unpaid seller's right to rescind the transfer of title—Notice of intention to rescind.

(1) An unpaid seller having the right of lien or having stopped the goods in transitu, may rescind the transfer of title and resume the property in the goods, where he expressly reserved the right to do so in case the buyer should make default, or where the buyer has been in default in the payment of the price an unreasonable time. The seller shall not thereafter be liable to the buyer upon the contract to sell or the sale, but may recover from the buyer damages for any loss occasioned by the breach of the contract or the sale.

(2) The transfer of title shall not be held to have been rescinded by an unpaid seller until he has manifested by notice to the buyer or by some other overt act an intention to rescind. It is not necessary that such overt act should be communicated to the buyer, but the giving or failure to give notice to the buyer of the intention to rescind shall be relevant in any issue involving the question whether the buyer had been in default an unreasonable time before the right of rescission was asserted. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 43, ch. 43, § 61.)

§ 28–1411 [11: 122]. Effect of sale by buyer of goods subject to lien or stoppage in transitu—Bona fide purchaser of negotiable document of title.

Subject to the provisions of chapters 11–16 of this title, the unpaid seller's right of lien or stoppage in transitu is not affected by any sale, or other disposition of the goods which the buyer may have made, unless the seller has assented thereto.

If, however, a negotiable document of title has been issued for goods, no seller's lien or right of stoppage in transitu shall defeat the right of any purchaser for value in good faith to whom such document has been negotiated, whether such negotiations be prior or subsequent to the notification to the carrier, or other bailee who issued such document, of the seller's claim to a lien or right of stoppage in transitu. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 44, ch. 43, § 62.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

Chapter 15.—ACTIONS FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT

Sec.

28–1501. Action for the price.
28–1502. Action for damages for nonacceptance of the goods—Measure of damages.
28–1503. When seller may rescind contract to sell or sale—Notice to buyer.
28–1504. Action for converting or detaining goods.
28–1505. Action for damages for nondelivery—Measure of damages.
28–1506. Action for specific performance.
28–1507. Remedies for breach of warranty—Rescinding the contract—Measure of damages.
28–1508. Recovery of interest and special damages.

§ 28–1501 [11: 123]. Action for the price.

(2) Where, under a contract to sell or a sale, the price is payable on a day certain, irrespective of delivery or of transfer of title, and the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to pay such price, the seller may maintain an action for the price, although the property in the goods has not passed, and the goods have not been appropriated to the contract. But it shall be a defense to such an action that the seller at any time before judgment in such action has manifested an inability to perform the contract or the sale on his part or an intention not to perform it.

(3) Although the property in the goods has not passed, if they can not readily be resold for a reasonable price, and if the provisions of section 28–1502 (4) are not applicable, the seller may offer to deliver the goods to the buyer, and, if the buyer refuses to receive them, may notify the buyer that the goods are thereafter held by the seller as bailee for the buyer. Thereafter the seller may treat the goods as the buyer's and may maintain an action for the price. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 44, ch. 43, § 63.)

§ 28–1502 [11: 124]. Action for damages for nonacceptance of the goods—Measure of damages.

(1) Where the buyer wrongfully neglects or refuses to accept and pay for the goods, the seller may maintain an action against him for damages for nonacceptance.

(2) The measure of damages is the estimated loss directly and naturally resulting, in the ordinary course of events, from the buyer's breach of contract.

(3) Where there is an available market for the goods in question, the measure of damages is, in the absence of special circumstances, showing proximate damage of a greater amount, the difference between the contract price and the market or current price at the time or times when the goods ought to have been accepted, or, if no time was fixed for acceptance, then at the time of the refusal to accept.

(4) If, while labor or expense of material amount are necessary on the part of the seller to enable him to fulfill his obligations under the contract to sell or the sale, the buyer repudiates the contract or the sale, or notifies the seller to proceed no further therewith, the buyer shall be liable to the seller for no greater damages than the seller would have suffered if he did nothing toward carrying out the contract or the sale after receiving notice of the buyer's repudiation or countermand. The profit the seller would have made if the contract or the sale had been fully performed shall be considered in estimating such damages. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 44, ch. 43, § 64.)

§ 28–1503 [11: 125]. When seller may rescind contract to sell or sale—Notice to buyer.

Where the goods have not been delivered to the buyer, and the buyer has repudiated the contract to sell or sale, or has manifested his inability to perform his obligations thereunder, or has committed a material breach thereof, the seller may totally rescind the contract or the sale by giving notice of his election so to do to the buyer. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 45, ch. 43, § 65.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

MUTUAL MISUNDERSTANDING

Where defendant by contract authorized wrecking company to demolish lumber sheds and retain as its property the salvaged lumber, but defendant had previously by lease with oil company transferred to oil company right to the salvaged material, defendant was not entitled to rescission of contract with wrecking company on ground of mutual mistake. Stern v. Ace Wrecking Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 626).

§ 28–1504 [11: 126]. Action for converting or detaining goods.

Where the property in the goods has passed to the buyer and the seller wrongfully neglects or refuses to deliver the goods, the buyer may maintain any action allowed by law to the owner of goods of similar kind when wrongfully converted or withheld. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 45, ch. 43, § 66.)

§ 28–1505 [11: 127]. Action for damages for nondelivery—Measure of damages.

(1) Where the property in the goods has not passed to the buyer, and the seller wrongfully neglects or refuses to deliver the goods, the buyer may maintain an action against the seller for damages for nondelivery.

(2) The measure of damages is the loss directly and naturally resulting in the ordinary course of events, from the seller's breach of contract.

(3) Where there is an available market for the goods in question, the measure of damages, in the absence of special circumstances showing proximate damages of a greater amount, is the difference between the contract price and the market or current price of the goods at the time or times when they ought to have been delivered or if no time was fixed, then at the time of the refusal to deliver. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 45, ch. 43, § 67.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

AMOUNT OF RECOVERY

Where seller breached obligation to deliver used lumber and buyer's witnesses made detailed count and measurement of lumber and based on such measurement and on actual sales of part of lumber, gave estimate of value, and trial judge found that strong preponderance of evidence as to value supported buyer's estimate but in entering finding for buyer reduced claim by about 20 percent, defendant could not complain. Stern v. Ace Wrecking Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 626).

IMPOSSIBILITY OF PERFORMANCE

Where defendant by contract authorized wrecking company to demolish lumber sheds and retain as its property the salvaged lumber but defendant had previously by lease with oil company transferred to oil company right to the salvaged material and wrecking company did not know of prior claim of oil company, defendant could not escape liability for damages on theory of impossibility of performance. Stern v. Ace Wrecking Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 626).

KNOWLEDGE OF INABILITY TO PERFORM

Neither defense of mistake nor impossibility of performance can prevail if the inability to perform was known to, or foreseeable by, or caused by the promisor, and unknown to the promisee. Stern v. Ace Wrecking Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 626).

SPECULATIVE DAMAGES

Where seller breached obligation to deliver used lumber and buyer's witnesses made detailed count and measurement of lumber and based on such measurement and on actual sales of part of lumber gave estimate of value, seller testified that though he had not measured or counted lumber, buyer's estimates were too high and seller gave lower figure as representing fair market value, recovery by buyer was not precluded on theory that damages claimed were speculative. Stern v. Ace Wrecking Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 626).

§ 28–1506 [11: 128]. Action for specific performance.

Where the seller has broken a contract to deliver specific or ascertained goods, a court having the powers of a court of equity may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the buyer, by its judgment or decree direct that the contract shall be performed specifically, without giving the seller the option of retaining the goods on payment of damages. The judgment or decree may be unconditional or upon such terms and conditions as to damages, payment of the price, and otherwise, as to the court may seem just. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 45, ch. 43, § 68.)

§ 28–1507 [11: 129]. Remedies for breach of warranty—Rescinding the contract—Measure of damages.

(1) Where there is a breach of warranty by the seller, the buyer may, at his election—

(a) Accept or keep the goods and set up against the seller the breach of warranty by way of recoupment in diminution or extinction of the price;

(b) Accept or keep the goods and maintain an action against the seller for damages for the breach of warranty;

(c) Refuse to accept the goods, if the property therein has not passed, and maintain an action against the seller for damages for the breach of warranty; and

(d) Rescind the contract to sell, or the sale, and refuse to receive the goods; or if the goods have already been received return them or offer to return them to the seller and recover the price or any part thereof which has been paid.

(2) When the buyer has claimed and has been granted a remedy in any one of these ways, no other remedy can thereafter be granted.

(3) Where the goods have been delivered to the buyer, he cannot rescind the sale if he knew of the breach of warranty when he accepted the goods, or if he fails to notify the seller within a reasonable time of the election to rescind, or if he fails to return or to offer to return the goods to the seller in substantially as good condition as they were in at the time the property was transferred to the buyer. But if deterioration or injury of the goods is due to the breach of warranty, such deterioration or injury shall not prevent the buyer from returning or offering to return the goods to the seller and rescinding the sale.

(4) Where the buyer is entitled to rescind the sale and elects to do so, the buyer shall cease to be liable for the price upon returning or offering to return the goods. If the price or any part thereof has already been paid, the seller shall be liable to repay so much thereof as has been paid, concurrently with the return of the goods, or immediately after an offer to return the goods in exchange for repayment of the price.

(5) Where the buyer is entitled to rescind the sale and elects to do so, if the seller refuses to accept an offer of the buyer to return the goods, the buyer shall thereafter be deemed to hold the goods as bailee for the seller, but subject to a lien to secure the repayment of any portion of the price which has been paid, and with the remedies for the enforcement of such lien allowed to an unpaid seller by section 28–1402.

(6) The measure of damages for breach of warranty is the loss directly and naturally resulting, in the ordinary course of events, from the breach of warranty.

(7) In the case of breach of warranty of quality, such loss, in the absence of special circumstances showing proximate damage of a greater amount, is the difference between the value of the goods at the time of delivery to the buyer and the value they would have had if they had answered to the warranty. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 45, ch. 43, § 69.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

APPRAISEMENT OF DAMAGES

The jury's appraisement of damages for breach of warranty must be based upon evidence, not speculation. Mars v. Herman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 351).

CHILD NOT SUCCESSOR IN INTEREST

Child who ate food purchased by its mother held not "a successor in interest of the buyer." Hanback v. Dutch Baker Boy, Inc. (70 App. D. C. 398, 107 Fed. (2d) 203).

ELECTION OF REMEDIES

One who has been induced to enter into a contract by false and fraudulent representations may rescind the contract; or he may affirm it, keeping what he has received under it, and maintain an action to recover damages as sustained by reason of the fraud; or he may set up damages as a complete or partial defense if sued on the contract by the other party. Simmons v. Brook (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 517).

A final and decisive choice of the equitable remedy by way of rescission and cancellation operates as an election of remedies and bars a subsequent action at law for damages. Simmons v. Brook (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 517).

EVIDENCE, SUFFICIENCY

In action for breach of warranty in sale of carpet, evidence which merely showed the retail price of carpet at time of delivery, had its quality answered to the warranty, was insufficient basis for jury's award of damages. Mars v. Herman (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 351).

MEASURE OF DAMAGES

In the case of breach of warranty of quality, the loss, in the absence of special circumstances showing proximate damage of a greater amount, is the difference between the value of the goods at the time of delivery to the buyer and the value they would have had if they had answered to the warranty. Orrison v. Ferrante (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 72 A. 2d 771).

A buyer loses his right to rescind and recover the price paid by continuing to treat the property as his own. Orrison v. Ferrante (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 72 A. 2d 771).

SALES OF FOOD

The language of the statute held sufficiently broad to cover sales of food. Hanback v. Dutch Baker Boy, Inc. (70 App. D. C. 398, 107 Fed. (2d) 203).

§ 28–1508 [11: 130]. Recovery of interest and special damages.

Nothing in chapters 11–16 of this title shall affect the right of the buyer or the seller to recover interest or special damages in any case where by law interest or special damages may be recoverable, or to recover money paid where the consideration for the payment of it has failed. (Mar. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 46, ch. 43, § 70.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CONSTRUCTION

This section et seq., and §§ 28–1901 et seq., 28–2001 et seq., 28–2101 et seq. and 28–2201 et seq. do not attempt to codify or regulate laws applicable to warehousemen, but are an act to make uniform the law of warehouse receipts. Terminal Warehouse & Refrigeration Co. v. Cross Transp. Co. (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 617).

§ 28–1802 [27: 12]. Form of receipts—Essential terms—Liability for omissions.

Warehouse receipts need not be in any particular form, but every such receipt must embody within its written or printed terms—

(a) The location of the warehouse where the goods are stored;

(b) The date of issue of the receipt;

(c) The consecutive number of the receipt;

(d) A statement whether the goods received will be delivered to the bearer, to a specified person, or to a specified person or his order;

(e) The rate of storage charges;

(f) A description of the goods or of the packages containing them;

(g) The signature of the warehouseman, which may be made by his authorized agent;

(h) If the receipt is issued for goods of which the warehouseman is owner, either solely or jointly or in common with others, the fact of such ownership; and

(i) A statement of the amount of advances made and of liabilities incurred for which the warehouseman claims a lien. If the precise amount of such advances made or of such liabilities incurred is, at the time of the issue of the receipt, unknown to the warehouseman or to his agent who issues it, a statement of the fact that advances have been made or liabilities incurred and the purpose thereof is sufficient.

A warehouseman shall be liable to any person injured thereby for all damage caused by the omission from a negotiable receipt of any of the terms herein required. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 301, ch. 167, § 2.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

LIABILITY FOR CONTENTS

Where locked chest obviously having contents was deposited for storage, it was within contemplation of parties that warehouseman should be responsible not only for chest itself but the contents as well. Barrett v. Freed (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 180).

§ 28–1803 [27: 13]. Form of receipts—What terms may be inserted.

A warehouseman may insert in a receipt issued by him any other terms and conditions, provided that such terms and conditions shall not—

(a) Be contrary to the provisions of chapters 18–22 of this title;

(b) In any wise impair his obligation to exercise that degree of care in the safe-keeping of the goods intrusted to him which a reasonably careful man would exercise in regard to similar goods of his own. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 301, ch. 167, § 3.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 18–22 of this title" set forth the Warehouse Receipts Act.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

NEGLIGENCE OF WAREHOUSEMAN

In absence of any statute, neither a conditional vendee nor a mortgagor may by any contract with a warehouseman subordinate the interest of the conditional vendor or mortgagee to the warehouseman's lien. Smiths Transfer & Storage Co. v. Reliable Stores Corp. (61 App. D. C. 106, 58 Fed. (2d) 511).

The provision in a receipt that no transfer would be recognized unless entered on the books of the warehouse would not relieve the storage company for delivery of goods to transferor rather than to transferee, where the company had been notified of the transfer and failure to have it entered in the books was due to its negligence. Fidelity Storage Co. v. Kingsbury (64 App. D. C. 208, 76 Fed. (2d) 978, revd. on other grounds on reh. 65 App. D. C. 69, 79 Fed. (2d) 705).

§ 28–1804 [27: 14]. Nonnegotiable receipt—Definition.

A receipt in which it is stated that the goods received will be delivered to the depositor, or to any other specified person, is a nonnegotiable receipt. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 301, ch. 167, § 4.)

§ 28–1805 [27: 15]. Negotiable receipt — Definition — "Nonnegotiable provision" void.

A receipt in which it is stated that the goods received will be delivered to the bearer, or to the order of any person named in such receipt, is a negotiable receipt.

No provision shall be inserted in a negotiable receipt that it is nonnegotiable. Such provision, if inserted, shall be void. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 301, ch. 167, § 5.)

§ 28–1806 [27: 16]. Duplicate receipts must be so marked—Liability for failure to do so.

When more than one negotiable receipt is issued for the same goods, the word "duplicate" shall be plainly placed upon the face of every such receipt, except the one first issued. A warehouseman shall be liable for all damage caused by his failure so to do to anyone who purchased the subsequent receipt for value, supposing it to be an original, even though the purchase be after the delivery of the goods by the warehouseman to the holder of the original receipt. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 302, ch. 167, § 6.)

§ 28–1807 [27: 17]. Nonnegotiable receipt must be so marked—Effect of failure to do so.

A nonnegotiable receipt shall have plainly placed upon its face by the warehouseman issuing it "nonnegotiable" or "not negotiable." In case of the warehouseman's failure so to do, a holder of the receipt who purchased it for value supposing it to be negotiable, may, at his option, treat such receipt as imposing upon the warehouseman the same liabilities he would have incurred had the receipt been negotiable.

This section shall not apply, however, to letters, memoranda, or written acknowledgments of an informal character. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 302, ch. 167, § 7.)

§ 28–1901 [27: 21]. Obligation of warehouseman to deliver—Excuse for refusal.

A warehouseman, in the absence of some lawful excuse provided by chapters 18–22 of this title, is bound to deliver the goods upon a demand made either by the holder of a receipt for the goods or by the depositor, if such demand is accompanied with—

(a) An offer to satisfy the warehouseman's lien;

(b) An offer to surrender the receipt if negotiable, with such indorsements as would be necessary for the negotiation of the receipt; and

(c) A readiness and willingness to sign, when the goods are delivered, an acknowledgment that they have been delivered, if such signature is requested by the warehouseman.

In case the warehouseman refuses or fails to deliver the goods in compliance with a demand by the holder or depositor so accompanied, the burden shall be upon the warehouseman to establish the existence of a lawful excuse for such refusal. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 302, ch. 167, § 8.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 18–22 of this title" set forth the Warehouse Receipts Act.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ABSENCE OF INSTRUCTIONS

Where one ships goods to a warehouseman without instructions, the warehouseman agrees to keep goods, subject to orders of shipper. Terminal Warehouse & Refrigeration Co. v. Cross Transp. Co. (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 617).

§ 28–1902 [27: 22]. Persons to whom warehouseman may deliver with justification.

A warehouseman is justified in delivering the goods, subject to the provisions of the three following sections, to one who is—

(a) The person lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods or his agent;

(b) A person who is either himself entitled to delivery by the terms of a nonnegotiable receipt issued for the goods, or who has written authority from the person so entitled either indorsed upon the receipt or written upon another paper; or

(c) A person in possession of a negotiable receipt by the terms of which the goods are deliverable to him or order or to bearer, or which has been indorsed to him or in blank by the person to whom delivery was promised by the terms of the receipt or by his mediate or immediate indorsee. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 302, ch. 167, § 9.)

§ 28–1903 [27: 23]. Warehouseman's liability for misdelivery.

Where a warehouseman delivers the goods to one who is not in fact lawfully entitled to the possession of them, the warehouseman shall be liable as for conversion to all having a right of property or possession in the goods if he delivered the goods otherwise than as authorized by subdivisions (b) and (c) of section 28–1902, and though he delivered the goods as authorized by said subdivisions he shall be so liable, if prior to such delivery he had either—

(a) Been requested, by or on behalf of the person lawfully entitled to a right of property or possession in the goods, not to make such delivery; or

(b) Had information that the delivery about to be made was to one not lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 302, ch. 167, § 10.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CONVERSION

Failure of a warehouseman to account for goods to depositor is a "conversion" although delivery to or sale for an unauthorized person was not negligent. Terminal Warehouse & Refrigeration Co. v. Cross Transp. Co. (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 617).

Where goods transported by carrier were delivered to warehouseman as consignee, a subsequent delivery of the goods to a third person by warehouseman, without authority from either shipper or carrier, was a "conversion" for which warehouseman was liable. Terminal Warehouse & Refrigeration Co. v. Cross Transp. Co. (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 617).

DETERMINATION OF LIABILITY

The liability of a warehouseman to an owner or depositor who has not obtained a formal warehouse receipt for goods consigned to it is to be determined by reference to applicable rules of law of bailments, independently of any provisions of §§ 28–1801 et seq., 28–1901 et seq., 28–2001 et seq., 28–2101 et seq. and 28–2201 et seq. Terminal Warehouse & Refrigeration Co. v. Cross Transp. Co. (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 617).

NEGLIGENCE OF CARRIER

Fact that carrier was negligent in failing to note on bills of lading that shipment to warehouseman, as consignee, was C. O. D., if established, did not prevent carrier under doctrine of "equitable estoppel" from recovering from warehouseman for a conversion of the goods, resulting from warehouseman's delivery of goods to a third party without authority from either shipper or carrier. Terminal Warehouse & Refrigeration Co. v. Cross Transp. Co. (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 617).

§ 28–1904 [27: 24]. Negotiable receipts must be canceled when goods delivered—Liability of warehouseman.

Except as provided in section 28–1930, where a warehouseman delivers goods for which he had issued a negotiable receipt, the negotiation of which would transfer the right to the possession of the goods, and fails to take up and cancel the receipt, he shall be liable to anyone who purchases for value in good faith such receipt for failure to deliver the goods to him, whether such purchaser acquired title to the receipt before or after the delivery of the goods by the warehouseman. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 303, ch. 167, § 11.)

§ 28–1905 [27: 25]. Negotiable receipts must be canceled or marked when part of goods delivered—Liability of warehouseman.

Except as provided in section 28–1930, where a warehouseman delivers part of the goods for which he had issued a negotiable receipt and fails either to take up and cancel such receipt or to place plainly upon it a statement of what goods or packages have been delivered he shall be liable, to anyone who purchases for value in good faith such receipt, for failure to deliver all the goods specified in the receipt, whether such purchaser acquired title to the receipt before or after the delivery of any portion of the goods by the warehouseman. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 303, ch. 167, § 12.)

§ 28–1906 [27: 26]. Altered receipts—Liability of warehouseman—Right of purchaser for value without notice.

The alteration of a receipt shall not excuse the warehouseman who issued it from any liability if such alteration was—

(a) Immaterial,

(b) Authorized, or

(c) Made without fraudulent intent.

If the alteration was authorized, the warehouseman shall be liable according to the terms of the receipt as altered. If the alteration was unauthorized, but made without fraudulent intent, the warehouseman shall be liable according to the terms of the receipt as they were before alteration.

Material and fraudulent alteration of a receipt shall not excuse the warehouseman who issued it from liability to deliver, according to the terms of the receipt as originally issued, the goods for which it was issued, but shall excuse him from any other liability to the person who made the alteration and to any person who took with notice of the alteration. Any purchaser of the receipt for value without notice of the alteration shall acquire the same rights against the warehouseman which such purchaser would have acquired if the receipt had not been altered at the time of the purchase. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 303, ch. 167, § 13.)

§ 28–1907 [27: 27]. Delivery of goods where receipt lost or destroyed—Bond—Holder for value of receipt without notice.

Where a negotiable receipt has been lost or destroyed, a court of competent jurisdiction may order the delivery of the goods upon satisfactory proof of such loss or destruction and upon the giving of a bond with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the court, to protect the warehouseman from any liability or expense which he or any person injured by such delivery may incur by reason of the original receipt remaining outstanding. The court may also in its discretion order the payment of the warehouseman's reasonable costs and counsel fees.

The delivery of the goods under an order of the court as provided in this section shall not relieve the warehouseman from liability to a person to whom the negotiable receipt has been or shall be negotiated for value without notice of the proceedings or of the delivery of the goods. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 303, ch. 167, § 14.)

§ 28–1908 [27: 28]. Duplicate receipts—Effect—Liability of warehouseman.

A receipt upon the face of which the word "duplicate" is plainly placed is a representation and warranty by the warehouseman that such receipt is an accurate copy of an original receipt properly issued and uncanceled at the date of the issue of the duplicate, but shall impose upon him no other liability. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 304, ch. 167, § 15.)

§ 28–1909 [27: 29]. Warehouseman cannot set up title in himself.

No title or right to the possession of the goods, on the part of the warehouseman, unless such title or right is derived directly or indirectly from a transfer made by the depositor at the time of or subsequent to the deposit for storage, or from the warehouseman's lien, shall excuse the warehouseman from liability for refusing to deliver the goods according to the terms of the receipt. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 304, ch. 167, § 16.)

§ 28–1910 [27: 30]. Interpleader of adverse claimants.

If more than one person claim the title or possession of the goods, the warehouseman may, either as a defense to an action brought against him for nondelivery of the goods, or as an original suit, whichever is appropriate, require all known claimants to interplead. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 304, ch. 167, § 17.)

§ 28–1911 [27: 31]. Warehouseman has reasonable time to determine validity of claims.

If some one other than the depositor or person claiming under him has a claim to the title or possession of the goods, and the warehouseman has information of such claim, the warehouseman shall be excused from liability for refusing to deliver the goods, either to the depositor or person claiming under him or to the adverse claimant, until the warehouseman has had a reasonable time to ascertain the validity of the adverse claim or to bring legal proceedings to compel all claimants to interplead. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 304, ch. 167, § 18.)

§ 28–1912 [27: 32]. Adverse title is no defense, except as above provided.

Except as provided in sections 28–1910, 28–1911 and in sections 28–1902 and 28–1930, no right or title of a third person shall be a defense to an action brought by the depositor or person claiming under him against the warehouseman for failure to deliver the goods according to the terms of the receipt. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 304, ch. 167, § 19.)

§ 28–1913 [27: 33]. Liability for nonexistence or misdescription of goods.

A warehouseman shall be liable to the holder of a receipt for damages caused by the nonexistence of the goods or by the failure of the goods to correspond with the description thereof in the receipt at the time of its issue. If, however, the goods are described in a receipt merely by a statement of marks or labels upon them, or upon packages containing them, or by a statement that the goods are said to be goods of a certain kind, or that packages containing the goods are said to contain goods of a certain kind, or by words of like purport, such statements, if true, shall not make liable the warehouseman issuing the receipt, although the goods are not of the kind which the marks or labels upon them indicate or of the kind they were said to be by the depositor. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 304, ch. 167, § 20.)

§ 28–1914 [27: 34]. Liability for care of goods.

A warehouseman shall be liable for any loss or injury to the goods caused by his failure to exercise such care in regard to them as a reasonably careful owner of similar goods would exercise, but he shall not be liable, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, for any loss or injury to the goods which could not have been avoided by the exercise of such care. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 304, ch. 167, § 21.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

UNAUTHORIZED REMOVAL

Where warehouseman breached bailment contract by removing goods without authority of owner from place specified in warehouse receipt, warehouseman was liable for loss by fire and his liability was not limited by provision in warehouse receipt limiting liability. Barrett v. Freed (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 180).

Where warehouseman limited his liability to $50 for stored goods and goods were destroyed by fire after removal without owner's authority from specified place designated in contract causing owner to lose protection of his insurance, warehouseman could not rely on such limitation since removal was gross negligence. Barrett v. Freed (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 180).

If bailee without authority deviates from contract as to place of storage of bailed property and loss occurs which would not have occurred had property been kept at agreed place, bailee is liable for such loss, even though he is not negligent. Barrett v. Freed (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 180).

§ 28–1915 [27: 35]. Goods must be kept separate.

Except as provided in section 28–1916, a warehouseman shall keep the goods, so far separate from goods of other depositors and from other goods of the same depositor for which a separate receipt has been issued as to permit at all times the identification and redelivery of the goods deposited. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 304, ch. 167, § 22.)

§ 28–1916 [27: 36]. Fungible goods may be commingled, if warehouseman authorized.

If authorized by agreement or by custom, a warehouseman may mingle fungible goods with other goods of the same kind and grade. In such case the various depositors of the mingled goods shall own the entire mass in common, and each depositor shall be entitled to such portion thereof as the amount deposited by him bears to the whole. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 304, ch. 167, § 23.)

§ 28–1917 [27: 37]. Liability of warehouseman to depositors of commingled goods.

The warehouseman shall be severally liable to each depositor for the care and redelivery of his share of such mass to the same extent and under the same circumstances as if the goods had been kept separate. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 305, ch. 167, § 24.)

§ 28–1918 [27: 38]. Judicial proceeding affecting title.

Whenever the title or right of possession to any goods, wares, merchandise, or personal property on storage shall be put in issue by any judicial proceeding, the same shall be delivered upon the order of the court, after prepayment of the storage charges and cash advances then due by the person at whose instance such change of possession is so ordered, and who shall be entitled to recover such payment as part of the costs in such proceeding, or, if defeated therein, he shall be credited with such payment in taxation of costs against him. And unless the person, firm, association, or corporation so conducting a storage business shall claim some right, title, or interest in said stored property other than the lien herein above authorized, he, it, or they shall not be made a party to such judicial proceedings. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1432, ch. 854, § 1621.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

This section is not part of the Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act.

§ 28–1919 [27: 39]. Attachment or levy upon goods for which a negotiable receipt has been issued—Surrender of receipt.

If goods are delivered to a warehouseman by the owner or by a person whose act in conveying the title to them to a purchaser in good faith for value would bind the owner, and a negotiable receipt is issued for them, they can not thereafter, while in the possession of the warehouseman, be attached by garnishment or otherwise, or be levied upon under an execution, unless the receipt be first surrendered to the warehouseman or its negotiation enjoined. The warehouseman shall in no case be compelled to deliver up the actual possession of the goods until the receipt is surrendered to him or impounded by the court. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 305, ch. 167, § 25.)

§ 28–1920 [27: 40]. Creditors' remedies to reach negotiable receipts.

A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a negotiable receipt shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction, by injunction and otherwise, in attaching such receipt or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed at law or in equity, in regard to property which can not readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 305, ch. 167, § 26.)

§ 28–1921 [27: 41]. Claims included in the warehouseman's lien.

Subject to the provisions of section 28–1924, a warehouseman shall have a lien on goods deposited or on proceeds thereof in his hands, for all lawful charges for storage and preservation of the goods; also for all lawful claims for money advanced, interest, insurance, transportation, labor, weighing, coopering, and other charges and expenses in relation to such goods; also for all reasonable charges and expenses for notice, and advertisement of sale, and for sale of the goods where default has been made in satisfying the warehouseman's lien. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 305, ch. 167, § 27.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

RIGHTS OF CONDITIONAL VENDOR OR MORTGAGEE

Neither a conditional vendee nor a mortgagor may by any contract with a warehouseman subordinate the interest of the conditional vendor or mortgagee to the warehouseman's lien. Smiths Transfer & Storage Co. v. Reliable Stores Corp. (61 App. D. C. 106, 58 Fed. (2d) 511).

When the conditional sale contract was neither acknowledged nor recorded, and there was actual delivery of the chattels to the purchaser, whose possession was such that a pledge of the goods by him to one taking them in good faith for value would have been valid, the warehouseman's lien under the express terms of the Warehouse Receipts Act was superior to the claim of the furniture company. Fidelity Storage Co. v. Reliable Stores Corp. (63 App. D. C. 83, 69 Fed. (2d) 569).

§ 28–1922 [27: 42]. Against what property the lien may be enforced.

Subject to the provisions of section 28–1924, a warehouseman's lien may be enforced—

(a) Against all goods, whenever deposited, belonging to the person who is liable as debtor for the claims in regard to which the lien is asserted; and

(b) Against all goods belonging to others which have been deposited at any time by the person who is liable as debtor for the claims in regard to which the lien is asserted, if such person had been so intrusted with the possession of the goods that a pledge of the same by him at the time of the deposit to one who took the goods in good faith for value would have been valid. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 305, ch. 167, § 28.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PRIOR LIENS

There is no provision of law making a warehouseman's lien superior to a prior lien of a conditional vendor or mortgagee. Smiths Transfer & Storage Co. v. Reliable Stores Corp. (61 App. D. C. 106, 58 Fed. (2d) 511).

RECORDED CONDITIONAL SALES

A recorded conditional sale contract is superior to the lien of a warehouseman where goods were stored after removing them from State without seller's consent. Smiths Transfer & Storage Co. v. Reliable Stores Corp. (61 App. D. C. 106, 58 Fed. (2d) 511).

UNRECORDED CONDITIONAL SALES

Warehouseman's lien for goods stored by one who claimed to be the owner was superior to lien of vendor under a conditional sales contract which was neither acknowledged nor recorded. Fidelity Storage Co. v. Reliable Stores Corp. (63 App. D. C. 83, 69 Fed. (2d) 569).

§ 28–1923 [27: 43]. How the lien may be lost.

A warehouseman loses his lien upon goods—

(a) By surrendering possession thereof, or

(b) By refusing to deliver the goods when a demand is made with which he is bound to comply under the provisions of chapters 18–22 of this title. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 305, ch. 167, § 29.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 18–22 of this title" set forth the Warehouse Receipts Act.

§ 28–1924 [27: 44]. Negotiable receipt must state charges for which lien is claimed.

If a negotiable receipt is issued for goods, the warehouseman shall have no lien thereon, except for charges for storage of those goods subsequent to the date of the receipt, unless the receipt expressly enumerates other charges for which a lien is claimed. In such case there shall be a lien for the charges enumerated so far as they are within the terms of section 28–1921, although the amount of the charges so enumerated is not stated in the receipt. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 305, ch. 167, § 30.)

§ 28–1925 [27: 45]. Warehouseman need not deliver until lien is satisfied.

A warehouseman having a lien valid against the person demanding the goods may refuse to deliver the goods to him until the lien is satisfied. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 306, ch. 167, § 31.)

§ 28–1926 [27: 46]. Warehouseman's lien does not preclude other remedies.

Whether a warehouseman has or has not a lien upon the goods, he is entitled to all remedies allowed by law to a creditor against his debtor for the collection from the depositor of all charges and advances which the depositor has expressly or impliedly contracted with the warehouseman to pay. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 306, ch. 167, § 32.)

§ 28–1927 [27: 47]. Satisfaction of lien—Notice required—Sale by auction—Notice of sale—Proceeds—Right of claimant.

A warehouseman's lien for a claim which has become due may be satisfied as follows:

The warehouseman shall give a written notice to the person on whose account the goods are held, and to any other person known by the warehouseman to claim an interest in the goods. Such notice shall be given by delivery in person or by registered letter addressed to the last-known place of business or abode of the person to be notified. The notice shall contain—

(a) An itemized statement of the warehouseman's claim, showing the sum due at the time of the notice and the date or dates when it became due;

(b) A brief description of the goods against which the lien exists;

(c) A demand that the amount of the claim as stated in the notice, and of such further claim as shall accrue, shall be paid on or before a day mentioned, not less than ten days from the delivery of the notice if it is personally delivered, or from the time when the notice should reach its destination, according to the due course of post, if the notice is sent by mail and

(d) A statement that unless the claim is paid within the time specified the goods will be advertised for sale and sold by auction at a specified time and place.

In accordance with the terms of a notice so given, a sale of the goods by auction may be had to satisfy any valid claim of the warehouseman for which he has a lien on the goods. The sale shall be had in the place where the lien was acquired, or, if such place is manifestly unsuitable for the purpose, at the nearest suitable place. After the time for the payment of the claim specified in the notice to the depositor has elapsed an advertisement of the sale, describing the goods to be sold and stating the name of the owner or person on whose account the goods are held and the time and place of the sale, shall be published once a week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in the place where such sale is to be held. The sale shall not be held less than fifteen days from the time of the first publication. If there is no newspaper published in such place, the advertisement shall be posted at least ten days before such sale in not less than six conspicuous places therein.

From the proceeds of such sale the warehouseman shall satisfy his lien, including the reasonable charges of notice, advertisement, and sale. The balance, if any, of such proceeds shall be held by the warehouseman, and delivered on demand to the person to whom he would have been bound to deliver or justified in delivering the goods.

At any time before the goods are so sold any person claiming a right of property or possession therein may pay the warehouseman the amount necessary to satisfy his lien and to pay the reasonable expenses and liabilities incurred in serving notices and advertising and preparing for the sale up to the time of such payment. The warehouseman shall deliver the goods to the person making such payment if he is a person entitled, under the provisions of chapters 18–22 of this title, to the possession of the goods on payment of charges thereon. Otherwise the warehouseman shall retain possession of the goods according to the terms of the original contract of deposit. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 306, ch. 167, § 33.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

"Chapters 18–22 of this title" set forth the Warehouse Receipts Act.

§ 28–1928 [27: 48]. Perishable and hazardous goods—Notice to owner—Sale—Disposition of proceeds.

If goods are of a perishable nature, or by keeping will deteriorate greatly in value, or by their odor, leakage, inflammability, or explosive nature, will be liable to injure other property, the warehouseman may give such notice to the owner, or to the person in whose name the goods are stored, as is reasonable and possible under the circumstances, to satisfy the lien upon such goods, and to remove them from the warehouse, and in the event of the failure of such person to satisfy the lien and to remove the goods within the time so specified, the warehouseman may sell the goods at public or private sale without advertising. If the warehouseman after a reasonable effort is unable to sell such goods, he may dispose of them in any lawful manner, and shall incur no liability by reason thereof.

The proceeds of any sale made under the terms of this section shall be disposed of in the same way as the proceeds of sales made under the terms of section 28–1927. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 307, ch. 167, § 34.)

§ 28–1929 [27: 49]. Other methods of enforcing liens.

The remedy for enforcing a lien herein provided does not preclude any other remedies allowed by law for the enforcement of a lien against personal property nor bar the right to recover so much of the warehouseman's claim as shall not be paid by the proceeds of the sale of the property. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 307, ch. 167, § 35.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

REPLEVIN SUIT

A warehouseman who did not elect to proceed by bill in equity, and who has lost possession of the goods in a replevin suit, may not thereafter file a bill in equity to enforce his warehouseman's lien, as his rights will be fully protected in the replevin suit. Sachs v. Kinyoun (47 App. D. C. 561).

§ 28–1930 [27: 50]. Effect of sale.

After goods have been lawfully sold to satisfy a warehouseman's lien, or have been lawfully sold or disposed of because of their perishable or hazardous nature, the warehouseman shall not thereafter be liable for failure to deliver the goods to the depositor, or owner of the goods, or to a holder of the receipt given for the goods when they were deposited, even if such receipt be negotiable. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 307, ch. 167, § 36.)

§ 28–2001 [27: 61]. Negotiation of negotiable receipts by delivery.

A negotiable receipt may be negotiated by delivery—

(a) Where, by the terms of the receipt, the warehouseman undertakes to deliver the goods to the bearer; or

(b) Where, by the terms of the receipt, the warehouseman undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of a specified person, and such person or a subsequent indorsee of the receipt has indorsed it in blank or to bearer.

Where, by the terms of a negotiable receipt, the goods are deliverable to bearer or where a negotiable receipt has been indorsed in blank or to bearer, any holder may indorse the same to himself or to any other specified person, and in such case the receipt shall thereafter be negotiated only by the indorsement of such indorsee. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 307, ch. 167, § 37.)

§ 28–2002 [27: 62]. Negotiation of negotiable receipts by indorsement.

A negotiable receipt may be negotiated by the indorsement of the person to whose order the goods are, by the terms of the receipt, deliverable. Such indorsement may be in blank, to bearer or to a specified person. If indorsed to a specified person, it may be again negotiated by the indorsement of such person in blank, to bearer or to another specified person. Subsequent negotiation may be made in like manner. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 307, ch. 167, § 38.)

§ 28–2003 [27: 63]. Transfer of receipts.

A receipt which is not in such form that it can be negotiated by delivery may be transferred by the holder by delivery to a purchaser or donee.

A nonnegotiable receipt can not be negotiated, and the indorsement of such a receipt gives the transferee no additional right. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 307, ch. 167, § 39.)

§ 28–2004 [27: 64]. Who may negotiate a receipt.

A negotiable receipt may be negotiated—

(a) By the owner thereof; or

(b) By any person to whom the possession or custody of the receipt has been intrusted by the owner, if, by the terms of the receipt, the warehouseman undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of the person to whom the possession or custody of the receipt has been intrusted, or if at the time of such intrusting the receipt is in such form that it may be negotiated by delivery. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 308, ch. 167, § 40.)

§ 28–2005 [27: 65]. Rights of person to whom a receipt has been negotiated.

A person to whom a negotiable receipt has been duly negotiated acquires thereby—

(b) The direct obligation of the warehouseman to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the receipt as fully as if the warehouseman had contracted directly with him. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 308, ch. 167, § 41.)

§ 28–2006 [27: 66]. Rights of transferee of receipt—Nonnegotiable receipt—Notice to warehouseman—Remedy of creditors of transferrer.

A person to whom a receipt has been transferred but not negotiated acquires thereby, as against the transferrer, the title to the goods, subject to the terms of any agreement with the transferrer.

If the receipt is nonnegotiable, such person also acquires the right to notify the warehouseman of the transfer to him of such receipt, and thereby to acquire the direct obligation of the warehouseman to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the receipt.

Prior to the notification of the warehouseman by the transferrer or transferee of a nonnegotiable receipt, the title of the transferrer to the goods and the right to acquire the obligation of the warehouseman may be defeated by the levy of an attachment or execution upon the goods by a creditor of the transferrer, or by a notification to the warehouseman by the transferrer or a subsequent purchaser from the transferrer of a subsequent sale of the goods by the transferrer. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 308, ch. 167, § 42.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

WRONGFUL DELIVERY, RECOVERY BY TRANSFEREE

Transferee of warehouse receipt, who notified the storage company of the transfer, was entitled to recover from the company the value of the goods, which were delivered to the transferor through mistake of officers of the storage company. Fidelity Storage Co. v. Kingsbury (64 App. D. C. 208, 76 Fed. (2d) 978, revd. on other grounds on reh. and modified 65 App. D. C. 69, 79 Fed. (2d) 705).

Transferee of a warehouse receipt may recover from the storage company for delivery of the goods to the wrong party only to the value placed upon the goods when they were stored, where there was no showing of fraud on the part of the storage company. Fidelity Storage Co. v. Kingsbury (64 App. D. C. 208, 76 Fed. (2d) 978, revd. on other grounds on reh. and modified 65 App. D. C. 69, 79 Fed. (2d) 705).

§ 28–2007 [27: 67]. Transfer of negotiable receipt without indorsement.

Where a negotiable receipt is transferred for value by delivery, and the indorsement of the transferrer is essential for negotiation, the transferee acquires a right against the transferrer to compel him to indorse the receipt, unless a contrary intention appears. The negotiation shall take effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 308, ch. 167, § 43.)

§ 28–2008 [27: 68]. Warranties on sale of receipt.

A person who for value negotiates or transfers a receipt by indorsement or delivery, including one who assigns for value a claim secured by a receipt, unless a contrary intention appears, warrants—

(a) That the receipt is genuine;

(b) That he has a legal right to negotiate or transfer it;

(c) That he has knowledge of no fact which would impair the validity or worth of the receipt; and

(d) That he has a right to transfer the title to the goods, and that the goods are merchantable or fit for a particular purpose whenever such warranties would have been implied, if the contract of the parties had been to transfer without a receipt the goods represented thereby. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 308, ch. 167, § 44.)

§ 28–2009 [27: 69]. Liability of indorser—Limitation.

The indorsement of a receipt shall not make the indorser liable for any failure on the part of the warehouseman or previous indorsers of the receipt to fulfill their respective obligations. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 308, ch. 167, § 45.)

§ 28–2010 [27: 70]. No warranty implied from accepting payment of a debt.

A mortgagee, pledgee, or holder for security of a receipt who in good faith demands or receives payment of the debt for which such receipt is security, whether from a party to a draft drawn for such debt or from any other person, shall not by so doing be deemed to represent or to warrant the genuineness of such receipt or the quantity or quality of the goods therein described. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 309, ch. 167, § 46.)

§ 28–2011 [27: 71]. Negotiation to purchaser for value without notice not impaired by breach of duty, fraud, mistake, or duress.

The validity of the negotiation of a receipt is not impaired by the fact that such negotiation was a breach of duty on the part of the person making the negotiation, or by the fact that the owner of the receipt was induced by fraud, mistake, or duress to intrust the possession or custody of the receipt to such person, if the person to whom the receipt was negotiated, or a person to whom the receipt was subsequently negotiated, paid value therefor, without notice of the breach of duty, or fraud, mistake or duress. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 309, ch. 167, § 47.)

§ 28–2012 [27: 72]. Subsequent negotiation.

Where a person having sold, mortgaged, or pledged goods which are in a warehouse and for which a negotiable receipt has been issued, or having sold, mortgaged, or pledged the negotiable receipt representing such goods, continues in possession of the negotiable receipt, the subsequent negotiation thereof by that person under any sale, or other disposition thereof to any person receiving the same in good faith, for value and without notice of the previous sale, mortgage, or pledge, shall have the same effect as if the first purchaser of the goods or receipt had expressly authorized the subsequent negotiation. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 309, ch. 167, § 48.)

§ 28–2013 [27: 73]. Negotiation defeats unpaid seller's lien—A right of stoppage in transitu.

Where a negotiable receipt has been issued for goods no seller's lien or right of stoppage in transitu shall defeat the rights of any purchaser for value in good faith to whom such receipt has been negotiated whether such negotiation be prior or subsequent to the notification to the warehouseman who issued such receipt of the seller's claim to a lien or right of stoppage in transitu. Nor shall the warehouseman be obliged to deliver or justified in delivering the goods to an unpaid seller unless the receipt is first surrendered for cancelation. (Apr. 15, 1910, 36 Stat. 309, ch. 167, § 49.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

Considered in its entirety, it is manifest that the effect of the act (this chapter) is to enlarge the ability of fiduciaries to avoid the limitations imposed by the common law, although the liabilities of the fiduciaries as such are not affected, but only those of persons dealing with them. Colby v. Riggs Nat. Bank (67 App. D. C. 259, 92 Fed. (2d) 183, 114 A. L. R. 1065.)

§ 28–2302 [11: 32]. Application of payment made to fiduciaries.

A person who in good faith pays or transfers to a fiduciary any money or other property which the fiduciary as such is authorized to receive, is not responsible for the proper application thereof by the fiduciary; and any right or title acquired from the fiduciary in consideration of such payment or transfer is not invalid in consequence of a misapplication by the fiduciary. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 510, ch. 545, § 2.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Trust or joint accounts, deposits, or safe-deposit boxes, § 26–201 et seq.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

"MISAPPROPRIATION" DEFINED

The word "misappropriation" means wrong appropriation, or the use of a fund for a different purpose than that for which it was created, but not necessarily a dishonest purpose. Colby v. Riggs Nat. Bank (67 App. D. C. 259, 92 Fed. (2d) 183, 114 A. L. R. 1065).

§ 28–2303 [11: 33]. Registration of transfer of securities held by fiduciaries.

If a fiduciary in whose name are registered any shares of stock, bonds, or other securities of any corporation, public or private, or company or other association or of any trust, transfers the same, such corporation or company or other association, or any of the managers of the trust, or its or their transfer agent, is not bound to inquire whether the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in making the transfer, or to see to the performance of the fiduciary obligation, and is liable for registering such transfer only where registration of the transfer is made with actual knowledge that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in making the transfer, or with knowledge of such facts that the action in registering the transfer amounts to bad faith. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 510, ch. 545, § 3.)

§ 28–2304 [11: 34]. Transfer of negotiable instruments by fiduciary.

If any negotiable instrument payable or indorsed to a fiduciary as such is indorsed by the fiduciary, or if any negotiable instrument payable or indorsed to his principal is indorsed by a fiduciary empowered to indorse such instrument on behalf of his principal, the indorsee is not bound to inquire whether the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in indorsing or delivering the instrument, and is not chargeable with notice that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary unless he takes the instrument with actual knowledge of such breach or with knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounts to bad faith. If, however, such instrument is transferred by the fiduciary in payment of or as security for a personal debt of the fiduciary to the actual knowledge of the creditor, or is transferred in any transaction known by the transferee to be for the personal benefit of the fiduciary, the creditor or other transferee is liable to the principal if the fiduciary in fact commits a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in transferring the instrument. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 510, ch. 545, § 4.)

§ 28–2305 [11: 35]. Check drawn by fiduciary payable to third person.

If a check or other bill of exchange is drawn by a fiduciary as such, or in the name of his principal by a fiduciary empowered to draw such instrument in the name of his principal, the payee is not bound to inquire whether the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in drawing or delivering the instrument, and is not chargeable with notice that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary unless he takes the instrument with actual knowledge of such breach or with knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounts to bad faith. If, however, such instrument is payable to a personal creditor of the fiduciary and delivered to the creditor in payment of or as security for a personal debt of the fiduciary to the actual knowledge of the creditor, or is drawn and delivered in any transaction known by the payee to be for the personal benefit of the fiduciary, the creditor or other payee is liable to the principal if the fiduciary in fact commits a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in drawing or delivering the instrument. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 510, ch. 545, § 5.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

KNOWLEDGE OF PAYEE

A third person who knowingly participates in the breach of a fiduciary's obligation can be required to make good the resulting loss. Anacostia Bank v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 1941 (119 F. 2d 455, 73 App. D. C. 388, 134 A. L. R. 995).

§ 28–2306 [11: 36]. Check drawn by and payable to fiduciary.

If a check or other bill of exchange is drawn by a fiduciary as such or in the name of his principal by a fiduciary empowered to draw such instrument in the name of his principal, payable to the fiduciary personally, or payable to a third person and by him transferred to the fiduciary, and is thereafter transferred by the fiduciary, whether in payment of a personal debt of the fiduciary or otherwise, the transferee is not bound to inquire whether the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in transferring the instrument, and is not chargeable with notice that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary unless he takes the instrument with actual knowledge of such breach or with knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounts to bad faith. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 511, ch. 545, § 6.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

TRUST DEPOSIT TRANSFERRED

Where trust deposit in the name of the individual trustees and trustee corporation was transferred by check to the account of the corporation, the result being to settle an overdraft of the corporation, the transaction was not covered by this section, but comes within the scope of § 28–2312 and must be decided under common-law principles. Colby v. Riggs Nat. Bank (67 App. D. C. 259, 92 Fed. (2d) 183, 114 A. L. R. 1065).

§ 28–2307 [11: 37]. Deposit in name of fiduciary as such.

If a deposit is made in a bank to the credit of a fiduciary as such, the bank is authorized to pay the amount of the deposit or any part thereof upon the check of the fiduciary, signed with the name in which such deposit is entered, without being liable to the principal, unless the bank pays the check with actual knowledge that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in drawing the check or with knowledge of such facts that its action in paying the check amounts to bad faith. If, however, such check is payable to the drawee bank and is delivered to it in payment of or as security for a personal debt of the fiduciary to it, the bank is liable to the principal if the fiduciary in fact commits a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in drawing or delivering the check. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 511, ch. 545, § 7.)

§ 28–2308 [11: 38]. Deposit in name of principal—Check drawn thereon by fiduciary—Check payable to drawee bank.

If a check is drawn upon the account of his principal in a bank by a fiduciary who is empowered to draw checks upon his principal's account, the bank is authorized to pay such checks without being liable to the principal, unless the bank pays the check with actual knowledge that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in drawing such check, or with knowledge of such facts that its action in paying the check amounts to bad faith. If, however, such a check is payable to the drawee bank and is delivered to it in payment of or as security for a personal debt of the fiduciary to it, the bank is liable to the principal if the fiduciary in fact commits a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in drawing or delivering the check. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 511, ch. 545, § 8.)

§ 28–2309 [11: 39]. Deposit in fiduciary's personal account.

If a fiduciary makes a deposit in a bank to his personal credit of checks drawn by him upon an account in his own name as fiduciary, or of checks payable to him as fiduciary, or of checks drawn by him upon an account in the name of his principal if he is empowered to draw checks thereon, or of checks payable to his principal and indorsed by him, if he is empowered to indorse such checks, or if he otherwise makes a deposit of funds held by him as fiduciary, the bank receiving such deposit is not bound to inquire whether the fiduciary is committing thereby a breach of his obligation as fiduciary; and the bank is authorized to pay the amount of the deposit or any part thereof upon the personal check of the fiduciary without being liable to the principal, unless the bank receives the deposit or pays the check with actual knowledge that the fiduciary is committing a breach of his obligation as fiduciary in making such deposit or in drawing such check, or with knowledge of such facts that its action in receiving the deposit or paying the check amounts to bad faith. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 511, ch. 545, § 9.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

TRUST DEPOSIT TRANSFERRED

Where trust deposit in the name of the individual trustees and the trustee corporation was transferred by check to the account of the corporation, the result being to settle an overdraft of the corporation, it was not the case of a transfer by the fiduciary in payment of a personal debt (§§ 28–2307 and 28–2308), but was a transfer by one set of fiduciaries to another, and the bank was not liable unless it had actual knowledge of misappropriation. Colby v. Riggs Nat. Bank (67 App. D. C. 259, 92 Fed. (2d) 183, 114 A. L. R. 1065).

§ 28–2310 [11: 40]. Deposit in names of two or more trustees.

When a deposit is made in a bank in the name of two or more persons as trustees and a check is drawn upon the trust account by any trustee or trustees authorized by the other trustee or trustees to draw checks upon the trust account, neither the payee nor other holder nor the bank is bound to inquire whether it is a breach of trust to authorize such trustee or trustees to draw checks upon the trust account, and is not liable unless the circumstances be such that the action of the payee or other holder or the bank amounts to bad faith. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 512, ch. 545, § 10.)

§ 28–2311 [11: 41]. Law not retroactive.

The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to transactions that took place prior to the time when it takes effect (May 14, 1928). (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 512, ch. 545. § 11.)

§ 28–2312 [11: 42]. Cases not provided for in chapter.

In any case not provided for in this chapter the rules of law and equity, including the law merchant and those rules of law and equity relating to trusts, agency, negotiable instruments, and banking, shall continue to apply. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 512, ch. 545, § 12.)

§ 28–2313 [11: 43]. Uniformity of interpretation.

This chapter shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 512, ch. 545, § 13.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE REPORTS

In construing this chapter, recourse may be had to the reports of the committees of Congress and to the notes of the Commissioners. Colby v. Riggs Nat. Bank (67 App. D. C. 259, 92 Fed. (2d) 183, 114 A. L. R. 1065).

UNIFORM AND DEFINITE RULES

The purpose of this chapter was to establish uniform and definite rules in place of the diverse and indefinite rules formerly prevailing as to constructive notice of breaches of fiduciary obligations. It is obvious that in the use of the words "actual knowledge" Congress meant to change the rule previously applied in many courts of constructive, implied or imputed knowledge. Colby v. Riggs Nat. Bank (67 App. D. C. 259, 92 Fed. (2d) 183, 114 A. L. R. 1065).

§ 28–2314 [11: 44]. Short title.

This chapter may be cited as the Uniform Fiduciaries Act. (May 14, 1928, 45 Stat. 512, ch. 545, § 14.)

28–2407. Bonds of trustees or other fiduciaries—No discharge by fiduciary's payment to himself in another capacity of trust.

§ 28–2401 [3: 1]. Bond—Definition.

A bond, when required or referred to, in the provisions of this code, shall be understood to signify an obligation in a certain sum or penalty, subject to a condition, on breach of which it is to become absolute and to be enforceable by action. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1264, ch. 854, § 478.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

BONDS AND UNDERTAKINGS DISTINGUISHED

Unlike the ordinary appeal bond, which is an obligation under seal, with a fixed penalty, and a definite condition, limited to become effective or otherwise by the determination of the appeal, an undertaking is without seal, or fixed penalty, and without condition; and is simply a promise or an assumption of liability, to perform a judgment, or to pay damages and costs. Tenney v. Taylor (1 App. D. C. 223).

§ 28–2402 [3: 2]. Undertaking—Definition.

An undertaking shall be understood to signify an agreement entered into by a party to a suit or proceeding, with or without sureties, upon which a judgment or decree may be rendered in the same suit or proceeding against said party and his sureties, if any, the said party and sureties submitting themselves to the jurisdiction of the court for that purpose. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1265, ch. 854, § 479.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PURPOSE AND EFFECT

While an undertaking differs in form from the bond, its essential purpose and effect are the same as those of the bond, to give the guaranty of an additional person as security for the costs that might be incurred and the damages that might result to an appellee by the prosecution of an appeal that prevents him from realizing his claim as speedily and as effectively as he might otherwise have done. Tenney v. Taylor (1 App. D. C. 223).

§ 28–2403 [3: 3]. Fiduciary's bond—Undertaking to be given in lieu thereof—Form—Judgments thereon—Jurisdiction of District Court—Actions, remedies, proceedings.

In all cases where, by the provisions of this code, a bond is required from an executor, administrator, administrator cum testamento annexo, administrator de bonis non, guardian, committee, collector, trustee, receiver, assignee for the benefit of creditors, or any other fiduciary appointed or confirmed by the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, or any member thereof, or where a bond is required from any party to a cause or proceeding pending in such court, such bond shall be in the form of an undertaking, under seal, in a maximum amount to be fixed by the court, conditioned as required by law, the surety or sureties therein submitting themselves to the jurisdiction of the court and undertaking for themselves and each of them, their and each of their heirs, executors, administrators, successors, and assigns to abide by and perform the judgment or decree of the court in the premises, and further agreeing that, upon default by the principal in any of the conditions thereof, the damages may be ascertained in such manner as the court shall direct; that the court may give judgment thereon in favor of any person thereby aggrieved against such principal and sureties for the damages suffered or sustained by such aggrieved party, and that such judgment may be rendered in said cause or proceeding against all or any of the parties whose names are thereto signed.

And the said District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia and its respective special terms, be, and they are hereby, vested with and given jurisdiction and authority to enter such judgments and decrees against the principal and surety or sureties, or any of them, upon such undertaking as law and justice shall require: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall deprive any party having a claim or cause of action under or upon such undertaking from electing to pursue his ordinary remedy by suit at law or in equity.

All provisions of this code relating to actions, remedies and proceedings upon bonds of such fiduciaries shall apply and be effective as to such undertakings to the same extent as if such undertaking had been expressly mentioned and referred to therein. (Apr. 19, 1920, 41 Stat. 564, ch. 153, § 479a.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

The words "this code" refer to the 1901 code, i. e., the act of March 3, 1901, as shown in the history lines of the various sections of this compilation.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

This section does not repeal 1901 code, § 445 (§ 16–301), relative to attachment bonds. Tri-State Motor Corp. v. Standard Steel Car Co. (51 App. D. C. 109, 276 Fed. 631).

§ 28–2404 [3: 4]. Counsel fee may be allowed on bond or undertaking for restraining order or injunction.

In any proceeding in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia or any special term thereof to recover damages upon a bond or undertaking given to obtain a restraining order or preliminary or pendente lite injunction the court, in assessing damages to be recovered thereunder, may include such reasonable counsel or attorney fees as the party aggrieved or damaged by such restraining order or injunction may have been put to or incurred in obtaining a dissolution thereof. (Apr. 19, 1920, 41 Stat. 565, ch. 153, § 479b.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ATTORNEY FEES ALLOWED

Attorney fees, incurred in procuring the dissolution of an injunction improperly issued, are recoverable as damages upon the injunction bond, whether the dissolution of the wrongful injunction be obtained by interlocutory or final decree. Local Union No. 368 v. Barker Painting Co. (58 App. D. C. 51, 24 Fed. (2d) 879).

Counsel fees are not allowed in action on injunction bond after successfully defending action on contract and defeating injunction. Stanfield v. Vollbehr (61 App. D. C. 239, 60 Fed. (2d) 670).

Addition of $2,000 attorneys' fees as part of damages for wrongful injunction against sale of property under a trust deed was unauthorized under the circumstances. Maiatico v. Mortgage Security Corp. (61 App. D. C. 245, 60 Fed. (2d) 1081).

SURETIES

Interest in excess of maximum penalty of the undertaking may become due from surety but only because of surety's own default. Cunningham v. Cunningham (App. D. C. 1946, 157 F. 2d 859).

§ 28–2405 [3: 5]. Actions on bonds in a penal sum containing an avoidance condition.

A bond in a penal sum, containing a condition that it shall be void on the payment of a certain sum of money, or the performance of an act, or of certain duties, shall have the same effect for the purpose of maintaining an action upon it as if it contained a convenant to pay the money or perform the act or the duties specified in the condition. But the damages to be recovered for a breach, or successive breaches, of the condition, as against the sureties therein, shall not exceed the penalty of the bond. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1265, ch. 854, § 480.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CONSTRUCTION

In suit against sureties bond is to be strictly construed. United States v. Maloney (4 App. D. C. 505).

Recitals in bond, and all material traversable matter set forth in breaches assigned and which have not been traversed are to be taken as admitted and withdrawn from the province of the jury. United States v. Maloney (4 App. D. C. 505).

FORGERY

Surety can not plead forgery of principal's name to bond when surety executes it after its purported execution by the principal. United States v. Boyd (8 App. D. C. 440).

SURETIES

By the execution of a bond and its return to the principal or his agent for delivery to the obligee the surety becomes estopped to set up any condition not known to that obligee, upon which his signature has been obtained. United States v. Boyd (8 App. D. C. 440).

Discontinuance of a suit as to the principal will not, in the absence of explanation, be sufficient to release the sureties on his bond who were named as codefendants. Starr v. United States (8 App. D. C. 552, revd. on other grounds 164 U. S. 627, 41 L. Ed. 577, 17 Sup. Ct. 223).

A bond executed to the United States is valid, although there is no previous statutory authorization therefor. United States v. Pumphrey (11 App. D. C. 44).

§ 28–2406 [3: 6]. Action upon bond to United States by fiduciary or public officer in which private person has an interest.

Whenever a bond is executed to the United States by any fiduciary or public officer, conditioned for the performance of certain duties, in the performance of which private persons are interested, any such person, aggrieved by a breach of such condition, shall be entitled to maintain an action thereon in his own name against the obligor and his sureties to recover damages for the injury suffered by him in consequence of such breach; and it shall be the duty of the custodian of such bond to furnish a certified copy thereof to said party for the purpose aforesaid on payment of the legal fees therefor. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1265, ch. 854, § 481; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 530, ch. 1329, § 481.)

AMENDMENT

The 1902 amendment struck out the word "persons," before the word "aggrieved," and inserted in lieu thereof the word "person."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ACTION ON OFFICIAL BOND

Action on an official bond running to the District of Columbia cannot be maintained by one not a party thereto, in the absence of the consent of the District or an express statute authorizing such action. District of Columbia ex rel. Langellotti v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. (50 App. D. C. 309, 271 Fed. 383).

DISBURSING OFFICER

Although bond required of a disbursing officer of the Government when first filed was not properly executed and it was returned to the principal who properly executed it, there is no presumption against its genuineness, in a suit by the Government against the surety, and in such transaction the relation between the Government and the disbursing officer is not that of principal and agent. Howgate v. United States (3 App. D. C. 277, affd. 166 U. S. 571, 41 L. Ed. 1119, 17 Sup. Ct. 682).

In action by United States on the bond of an alleged delinquent disbursing officer, a duly authenticated transcript from the Treasury Department of the accounts of the disbursing officer offered in evidence by the United States under U. S. Rev. Stat, § 886, U. S. Comp. Stats. 1901, p. 670, is not admissible, for it does not include all transactions with the United States during term of service, but only those transactions connected with the appropriations for which such official is alleged to be in default need be shown by such transcript. Goff v. United States (22 App. D. C. 512).

PLUMBING INSPECTOR

Those injured by neglect of the inspector of plumbing in the performance of his official duties may maintain an action in the name of the District of Columbia to his use on the bond given by the inspector, under a plumbing regulation requiring the inspector to give a bond of $5,000, "conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office." District of Columbia v. Ball (22 App. D. C. 543).

Plumbing regulations of District of Columbia requiring inspector of plumbing to give bond with sureties for benefit of persons aggrieved by his acts of neglect, is valid, although the act of Congress of April 23, 1892 (27 Stat. 21, ch. 53) authorizing appointment of inspector of plumbing does not require bond. District of Columbia v. Ball (22 App. D. C. 543).

One who purchases house in which plumbing is defective without knowledge of such facts existing, may maintain action on official bond of inspector of plumbing for failure to inspect plumbing when the house was in the course of construction. District of Columbia v. Ball (22 App. D. C. 543).

§ 28–2407 [3: 7]. Bonds of trustees or other fiduciaries—No discharge by fiduciary's payment to himself in another capacity of trust.

If any person appointed by order or decree of the court to the office of trustee or to any other fiduciary office shall give bond, with surety or sureties, for the due performance of his duties, he shall not be allowed to discharge said bond by receipts, releases, or acquittances from himself, as attorney for parties interested, to himself as such trustee or other fiduciary; but the funds or estate for the due application whereof he is responsible shall be considered as remaining in his hands, and said bond shall continue in force as against both principal and sureties until said funds or estate shall be fully accounted for and paid over or delivered to the parties interested therein, or their attorney, other than said trustee or other fiduciary duly authorized to receive the same. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1265, ch. 854, § 482.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

SALE TRUSTEE

Bond of a trustee appointed by court in an equity cause to sell real estate which runs to the United States, can be put in suit by person injuriously affected and in such suit the United States is the nominal plaintiff only. Morse v. United States ex rel. Hine (29 App. D. C. 433).

When decree for sale of infant's real estate is void for want of jurisdiction, the bond of trustee appointed to make the sale is void also, and the surety may show such invalidity in a suit against him on the bond by the United States. Morse v. United States ex rel. Hine (29 App. D. C. 433).

This section does not apply where payment was by the sale trustee to himself as testamentary trustee. United States Fidelity & Guar. Co. v. Klein (60 App. D. C. 354, 54 Fed. (2d) 828, cert. den. 285 U. S. 544, 76 L. Ed. 936, 52 Sup. Ct. 394).

Chapter 25.—ASSIGNMENT OF CHOSES IN ACTION

Sec.
28–2501. Judgment.
28–2502. Bonds.
28–2503. Nonnegotiable contracts.
28–2504. General assignments.
28–2505. Contract for assignment of future salary or wages—Penalties for attempting to enforce such assignments.

§ 28–2501 [2: 1]. Judgment.

A judgment or money decree may be assigned in writing, and upon the assignment thereof being filed in the clerk's office the assignee may maintain an action or sue out a scire facias or execution on said judgment in his own name, as the original plaintiff might have done. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1256, ch. 854, § 431.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

The words "the clerk's office" should probably read "the office of the clerk of the court in which such judgment was rendered."

RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Writs of scire facias have been abolished in the district courts, similar relief may be obtained by action or motion as prescribed by court rules, see Rule 81 (b).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

DECREE FOR ALIMONY

"A decree ordering the payment of a periodical allowance of alimony in the future is not assignable," although accrued alimony (under an order which it was beyond the power of the court in its discretion to modify or vacate) may be assigned. Lynham v. Hufty (44 App. D. C. 589).

JUDGMENT IMPROPERLY ENTERED

Where the rules require that judgment shall not be entered for four days after verdict, a judgment improperly entered by the clerk within that time is not absolutely void, and may be assigned. Hutchinson v. Brown (8 App. D. C. 157).

§ 28–2502 [2: 2]. Bonds.

Any bond or obligation under seal for the payment of money may be assigned under the name and seal of the obligee therein named, and the assignee may maintain an action thereon in his own name. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1256, ch. 854, § 432.)

CROSS REFERENCE

§ 28–2503 [2: 3]. Nonnegotiable contracts.

All nonnegotiable written agreements for the payment of money, including nonnegotiable bills of exchange and promissory notes, or for the delivery of personal property, all open accounts, debts, and demands of a liquidated character, except claims against the United States or the salaries of public officers, may be assigned in writing, so as to vest in the assignee a right to sue for the same in his own name. NOTES TO DECISIONS

ACTION BY ASSIGNOR AFTER ASSIGNMENT

Evidence tending to prove that action was brought, not in the name of the assignee, as permitted by the Code, or in the name of the assignor to the use of the assignee, as at common law, but by the assignor after his assignment, was properly excluded where such defense had not been pleaded. Pierce v. Gillet & Co. (64 App. D. C. 156, 75 Fed. (2d) 675.)

POSSESSORY ACTION

Owners' agent for management of realty, who was made assignee of leases from agent for former owners, had a right to bring a possessory action against tenant in his own name under the right of an assignee of a nonnegotiable instrument to sue in his own name. Koehne v. Harvey (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 780).

PURPOSE

Obvious purpose of the section was to vest in the assignee the right to sue in his own name. Since the procedural right had not been previously available to him, as the real party in interest, he is able to sue in the name of his assignor. District of Columbia v. Hamilton National Bank (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 60).

SINGLE CAUSE OF ACTION

Creditor has no right to split up a single cause of action, either by the institution in his own name of separate suits upon separate fractions thereof, or by the assignment of such several parts to several persons without knowledge and consent of the debtor, so as to require the latter to respond to different actions and to incur accumulation. Sincell v. Davis (24 App. D. C. 218).

A single cause of action may be assigned, and the assignee may sue upon it in his own name, usually subject to all the equities existing between the assignor and the debtor; but this does not authorize the distribution of a single cause of action into fractional parts, and their assignment to several persons without the consent of the debtor. Sincell v. Davis (24 App. D. C. 218).

STOCK CERTIFICATES

It is well settled that certificates of stock are not negotiable instruments. At the same time, they are so constantly used as collateral and passed from hand to hand, when the blank transfer and power of attorney on their backs has been formally executed by the party to whom they were issued, that the general custom in the city of Washington is to regard the holder as the owner for the purpose of selling or pledging them. National Safe Deposit, Sav. & Trust Co. v. Hibbs (32 App. D. C. 459, affd. 229 U. S. 391, 57 L. Ed. 1241, 33 Sup. Ct. 818).

While indorsed certificates of stock do not become negotiable instruments in a strictly legal sense, they nevertheless so approximate them that the ordinary rules of agency and estoppel which apply in the case of chattels are applied to them with great liberality in the behalf of an innocent purchaser. National Safe Deposit, Sav. & Trust Co. v. Hibbs (32 App. D. C. 459, affd. 229 U. S. 391, 57 L. Ed. 1241, 33 Sup. Ct. 818).

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO CAPITAL STOCK OF CORPORATION

Subscriptions to the capital stock of a corporation may be assigned by the corporation, so as to give the assignee a right to sue in his own name. Crook v. International Trust Co. (32 App. D. C. 490).

§ 28–2504 [2: 4]. General assignments.

In case of a general assignment which shall include choses in action, it shall not be necessary to execute a separate assignment of each chose in action, but the assignee shall be entitled, by virtue of the general assignment, to sue in his own name on the several choses in action included therein. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1256, ch. 854, § 434.)

CROSS REFERENCE

See notes to §§ 28–2501, 28–2503.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ACTION BY ASSIGNOR AFTER ASSIGNMENT

As defenses must be pleaded the court did not err in excluding evidence even though it might have proved that the action was not in the name of the assignee, or in the name of the assignor to the use of the assignee, as the practice was at common law, but an action by an assignor after his assignment. Pierce v. Gillet & Co. (64 App. D. C. 156, 75 Fed. (2d) 675).

§ 28–2505. Contract for assignment of future salary or wages—Penalties for attempting to enforce such assignments.

(a) Every contract attempting or purporting to transfer or assign salary or wages to be earned by the debtor after the date of such contract, shall, if made in the District of Columbia, be invalid and contrary to public policy and unenforceable, and if made outside the District of Columbia, be unenforceable in any court within the District of Columbia.

(b) It shall be unlawful for any person in the District of Columbia to demand or receive from such debtor any assignment of salary or wages to be thereafter earned by such debtor, or to notify any employer that he holds an assignment of such salary or wages. Any person violating this subsection shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than $200 or by imprisonment for not more than sixty days. Prosecutions under this subsection shall be upon information filed in the Criminal Branch of the Municipal Court of the District of Columbia by the Corporation Counsel of the District of Columbia or one of his assistants. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 434–A, as added Dec. 20, 1944, 58 Stat. 819, ch. 610, § 3.)

Chapter 26.—ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS

Sec.
28–2601. Inventory of estate—List of creditors.
28–2602. Assignee—Assent in writing—Acknowledgment—Recordation of assignment.
28–2603. Bond of assignee.
28–2604. Failure of assignee to comply—Appointment of trustee by court—Death or removal of trustee or assignee.
28–2605. Duties of assignee.
28–2606. Preferences to be void.
28–2607. Proceedings by one or more of several creditors—Benefit of all—Costs.
28–2608. Assignments made to hinder, delay, or defraud.
28–2609. Notices to creditors.
28–2610. Exempt property not to be included.

§ 28–2601 [2: 21]. Inventory of estate—List of creditors.

In all cases of voluntary assignments made in the District of Columbia for the benefit of creditors, the debtor shall annex to such assignment an inventory, under oath or affirmation, of his estate, real and personal, according to the best of his knowledge, and also a list of his creditors, their respective residences and places of business, if known, and the amounts of their respective demands; but such inventory shall not be conclusive as to the amount of the debtor's estate, and such assignment shall vest in the assignee the title to any other property, except what is legally exempt, belonging to the debtor at the time of making the assignment and comprehended within the general terms of the same. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1256, ch. 854, § 435.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

DECISIONS UNDER PRIOR LAW

All parts of a deed of assignment for the benefit of creditors will be considered in arriving at the general intention of the instrument, and if consistent with the language two constructions can be given, that is to be adopted which will render it legal and operative rather than illegal and void. Cissell v. Johnston (4 App. D. C. 335).

An attempt to limit the benefit of the trust to such creditors only as shall release their demands if not paid in full is a preference within the meaning of the Act of Congress of February 24, 1893 (27 Stat. 474), and void, and all liabilities within the provisions of the assignment shall be paid pro rata from the assets thereof. Cissell v. Johnston (4 App. D. C. 335).

Assignment by debtor to a creditor of a fund due him under a contract with District of Columbia for erection of school buildings, with directions to the assignee after paying his own claim, to distribute the residue among certain other creditors, passes the legal title to the fund and creates a trust for creditors named although at the time some of them had no knowledge of the transaction and did not assent to it. Smith v. Herrell (11 App. D. C. 425).

Confession of judgment by an insolvent debtor in favor of a bona fide creditor is not such a preference as is prohibited by Act of Congress of February 24, 1893, § 2, declaring void preferences of one creditor over another. Strasburger v. Dodge (12 App. D. C. 37).

Under laws of Maryland the general words of an assignment for benefit of creditors are restricted by particular description of a schedule which is made part of it; and where such assignment executed in Washington, D. C., purports to convey a life estate of the assignor in lands in Maryland as expressed in schedule, the assignee will take only such life estate, although assignment purports to convey all of assignor's property. Keane v. Chamberlain (14 App. D. C. 84).

§ 28–2602 [2: 22]. Assignee—Assent in writing—Acknowledgment—Recordation of assignment.

The assignee in every such assignment shall be a resident of the District of Columbia, his assent shall appear in writing in, or at the end of, or indorsed on, the assignment, and the assignment shall be invalid unless duly acknowledged and recorded within five days after its execution in the land records of the said District. The trust created by such assignment shall be executed under the supervision and control of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1257, ch. 854, § 436.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

RIGHT TO MAINTAIN ACTION

Assignment is admissible in evidence in a suit by the assignee to show his right to maintain the action. Mazza v. Russell (47 App. D. C. 87).

§ 28–2603 [2: 23]. Bond of assignee.

Immediately upon the filing of such assignment for record it shall be the duty of the assignee to execute and file in the clerk's office of the District Court of the United States for the District his bond to the United States, in an amount and with security to be approved by the justice holding the equity court, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties according to law, and said court may from time to time require said assignee, or any trustee appointed in his place, to give additional security whenever the interests of the creditors demand the same. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1257, ch. 854, § 437.)

CROSS REFERENCE

See notes to § 28–2601.

§ 28–2604 [2: 24]. Failure of assignee to comply—Appointment of trustee by court—Death or removal of trustee or assignee.

If the assignee named in any such assignment shall fail or refuse to comply with any of the requirements aforesaid, the justice holding the equity court may, on the application of the assignor or any creditor interested in such assignment, remove said assignee and appoint a trustee in his place to execute the trusts created by said assignment, who shall give bond as the court may require. And said court shall have power to accept the resignation of any assignee or trustee, and in case of his resignation, death, or removal from the District to appoint a trustee in his place. The court shall also have power, for cause shown, on the application of any surety, creditor, or other person interested, to remove any assignee or trustee and appoint a trustee in his place, and to make and enforce all orders necessary to put the newly appointed trustee in possession of all property, moneys, books, papers, and other effects covered by the assignment. And in case of the death of any assignee or trustee the court may require his executor or administrator to settle the account of said assignee or trustee and to deliver over to his successor all property and other effects belonging to the trust, in default of which said successor may bring suit upon the bond of said deceased assignee or trustee or upon the bond of such executor or administrator, accordingly as such assignee or trustee, executor or administrator is the party in default. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1257, ch. 854, § 438; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 530, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

Act of 1901 was amended by adding at the end thereof the words "or upon the bond of such executor or administrator, accordingly as such assignee or trustee, executor or administrator is the party in default."

§ 28–2605 [2: 25]. Duties of assignee.

It shall be the duty of the assignee or trustee, after giving bond as aforesaid, to collect and take into his possession all the property and effects covered by the assignment, and to that end he may bring suit in his own name to recover debts due or property belonging to the assignor and embraced in the assignment. And the court may require the assignor to be examined under oath touching his said property, and may pass all orders necessary to prevent any fraudulent transfer of or change in the property of the assignor. The said assignee or trustee shall return inventories of the assets coming to his hands and, under the direction of the court, sell and dispose of the same, and his conveyance of any property of the assignor, real or personal, shall transfer the entire title of the assignor therein to any purchaser. When the assets have been converted into money the said assignee or trustee shall settle his accounts and make distribution among the creditors, under the direction of the court, according to the usual course of proceeding in equity in creditor's suits. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1257, ch. 854, § 439.)

§ 28–2606 [2: 26]. Preferences to be void.

Every provision in any voluntary assignment made for the payment of one debt or liability in preference to another shall be void, and all debts and liabilities within the provisions of the assignment shall be paid pro rata from the assets: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be held to affect the priority of liens and incumbrances created bona fide and existing before the execution of such assignment. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1258, ch. 854, § 440.)

§ 28–2607 [2: 27]. Proceedings by one or more of several creditors—Benefit of all—Costs.

Any proceeding instituted under this chapter by one or more creditors shall be deemed to be for the equal benefit of all creditors, but the court may make such allowance to the creditor or creditors instituting the same, out of the fund to be distributed, for expenses, including counsel fees, as may be just and equitable. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1258, ch. 854, § 441.)

§ 28–2608 [2: 28]. Assignments made to hinder, delay, or defraud.

Nothing contained in this chapter shall prevent any creditor otherwise entitled from attacking any assignment as made to hinder, delay, or defraud the creditors of the assignor, and whenever any such assignment shall appear to the court to have been made with such intent, the court may enjoin any proceeding thereunder, and upon finally decreeing the same to be void may appoint a trustee with power to take possession of all the effects of the debtor and may pass and enforce all orders necessary to put him in possession of the same, and said trustee shall qualify in the same manner and perform the same duties as the trustee provided for in sections 28–2601 to 28–2607. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1258, ch. 854, § 442.)

§ 28–2609 [2: 29]. Notices to creditors.

In all cases of assignment the court shall require the trustee or trustees, whether named in the assignment or appointed by the court, in pursuance of the sections aforesaid, to give notice as the court may think proper to all the creditors of the assignor to produce and prove their respective claims against the assignor before the auditor of the court, to the end that they may be fairly adjudicated and the said creditors may share equally the assets of the insolvent assignor, subject, however, to any legal priorities created by valid incumbrances antedating the assignment. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1258, ch. 854, § 443.)

§ 28–2610 [2: 30]. Exempt property not to be included.

No assignment for the benefit of creditors shall be construed to include or cover any property exempt from levy or sale on execution unless the exemption is expressly waived; and the court may direct the manner in which exempt property may be ascertained and set aside before any sale by the trustee or trustees. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1258, ch. 854, § 444.)

§ 28–2701 [17: 1]. Rate of interest in absence of agreement—Judgments against the District.

The rate of interest in the District upon the loan or forbearance of any money, goods, or things in action, and the rate to be allowed in judgments and decrees, in the absence of express contract as to such rate of interest, shall be six dollars upon one hundred dollars for one year, and at that rate for a greater or less sum or for a longer or shorter time: Provided, That interest, when authorized by law, on judgments against the District of Columbia, shall be at the rate of not exceeding 4 per centum per annum. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1377, ch. 854, § 1178; July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 610, ch. 1352.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Decisions Under Prior Law

While Act of April 22, 1870, 16 Stat. 91, ch. 59, fixed the rate of interest on judgments it did not cause such judgments or decrees to bear interest which would not have borne interest previously thereto. Washington & G. R. Co. v. Tobriner (147 U. S. 571, 37 L. Ed. 284, 13 Sup. Ct. 557).

Judgments

If a judgment regularly rendered in the Supreme (District) Court of the District in a common-law action of tort cannot bear interest a fortiori it should not be permitted to run upon the judgment of the court of claims. Gray v. District of Columbia (1 App. D. C. 20).

Legal Rates

When debtor defaults, compensation equal to value of the money, which is legal interest upon it, will be permitted during time the party is in default, provided a claim is made in declaration for the interest. District of Columbia v. Metropolitan R. Co. (8 App. D. C. 322, affd. 195 U. S. 322, 49 L. Ed. 219, 25 Sup. Ct. 28).

All that plaintiff was entitled to recover was the principal sum, with interest at the legal rate after the termination of the contract rate, less the credits which she admitted. Richards v. Bippus (18 App. D. C. 293).

OCCASIONAL LOANS ON REAL ESTATE

A nonresident who makes occasional loans on real estate is not engaged "in the business" of loaning money within the meaning of the Loan Shark Law. Zirkle v. Daly (60 App. D. C. 344, 54 Fed. (2d) 455).

USURY

"When the promise to pay a sum above the legal interest depends upon a contingency, and not upon any happening of a certain event, the loan is not usurious." Whelpley v. Ross (25 App. D. C. 207).

Illegality of the transaction does not affect the obligation to pay a tax, and though the accruals represented legally uncollectible usury, there was at all times a reasonable expectation that they would be paid, and this fact is enough to constitute them income to the same extent as if the several amounts were actually paid. Barker v. Magruder (68 App. D. C. 211, 95 Fed. (2d) 122, affg. 26 Fed. Supp. 1004).

Usury law protects the maker in spite of knowledge. The same financial pressure which forced him to submit to usury in the first place may force him to renew. To permit a mere renewal or extension of the contract to purge the usury would defeat the purpose of the statute. Bowen v. Mount Vernon Sav. Bank (70 App. D. C. 273, 105 Fed. (2d) 796).

§ 28–2702 [17: 2]. Rate of interest—Express contracts.

The parties to a bond, bill, promissory note, or other instrument of writing for the payment of money at any future time may contract therein for the payment of interest on the principal amount thereof at any rate not exceeding eight per centum per annum. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1377, ch. 854, § 1179; Apr. 19, 1920, 41 Stat. 568, ch. 153.)

AMENDMENT

The 1920 act changed rate of interest from ten to eight per centum.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ADDITIONAL LOAN AS USURY

Usury sustained based on additional loan payable to intermediary. Quinn v. National Mtg. & Inv. Co. (61 App. D. C. 44, 57 Fed. (2d) 410).

BONUS AS USURY

"Bonus" being a sum paid to the creditor for the continued use of the money, clearly counts as interest for the purpose of the usury law; and a bonus, which, when added to the nominal interest on a 2-year extension exceeded 8 percent, was usurious. Bowen v. Mount Vernon Sav. Bank (70 App. D. C. 273, 105 Fed. (2d) 796).

INCOMPLETE TRANSACTION

Where transaction contemplated, with usurious rates, never took place, claim of usury could not be sustained. Rosslyn Steel & Cement Co. v. Etchison (61 App. D. C. 43, 57 Fed. (2d) 409).

§ 28–2703 [17: 3]. Usury—Definition.

If any person or corporation shall contract in the District, verbally, to pay a greater rate of interest than six per centum per annum, or shall contract, in writing, to pay a greater rate than eight per centum per annum, the creditor shall forfeit the whole of the interest so contracted to be received: Provided, That nothing in this chapter contained shall be held to repeal or affect sections 26–601 to 26–611. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1377, ch. 854, § 1180; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 542; ch. 1329; Apr. 19, 1920, 41 Stat. 568, ch. 153.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

Sections 26–601 to 26–611 is the Money Lenders Act.

AMENDMENTS

Act of 1901 provided for ten per centum rate rather than eight, and act of 1902 provided for no greater rate than six per centum.

The 1920 amendment changed the proviso to refer to the Money Lenders Act of 1913 rather than the act of Mar. 2, 1889, relating to pawnbrokers.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

BONUS AS USURY

Note or obligation is affected with usury if principal makes the loan, knowing that his agent has exacted a bonus or commission, though for his own sole benefit, which, with the interest payable to the principal, would amount to more than the rate permitted by law. Richards v. Bippus (18 App. D. C. 293).

BURDEN OF PROOF

Burden of proof is upon the borrower to show that the lender knew or was chargeable with the knowledge that his agent exacted a commission in obtaining loan for borrower in excess of the legal rate of interest. Such knowledge may be implied as well as actual. Searl v. Earl (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 374).

CONSTRUCTION

The Loan Shark Law, § 26–601 et seq., the usury law, this section and § 28–2704 et seq., and the statute regarding financial institutions, § 47–1701 et seq. are to be read together and when so read constitute a comprehensive code for business of lending money in the District of Columbia. Hartman v. Lubar, 1942 (133 F. 2d 44, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 95, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1329, 319 U. S. 767, 87 L. Ed. 1716, rehearing denied 64 S. Ct. 30, 320 U. S. 808, 88 L. Ed. 488).

DEDUCTING COMMISSIONS

This section may be violated by deducting a commission in advance as well as by any other means by which money in excess of the legal rate is exacted. Hartman v. Lubar (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 553).

DEFENSE

Where there is a single consideration for one or more promises and any part of the transaction is illegal, the promises are wholly unenforceable. Searl v. Earl (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 374).

INTEREST PLUS COMMISSION

Where a lender's agent, with the lender's knowledge and approval, takes the borrower's separate promissory note payable to himself for his compensation for obtaining the loan for the borrower, the agent cannot recover on the note when the interest on the principal loan plus the agent's commission exceeds the legal rate. Searl v. Earl (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 374).

KNOWLEDGE OF HOLDER

One who acquires promissory notes with knowledge of usury in their inception is not a bona fide holder for value. Mollohan v. Masters (45 App. D. C. 414, cert. den. 242 U. S. 652, 61 L. Ed. 546, 37 Sup. Ct. 245).

LAWS APPLICABLE TO CONTRACT

Usurious contract examined and held to be subject to laws of District of Columbia, although expressly declared to be made pursuant to laws of Virginia. Washington Nat. Bldg. & Loan Assn. v. Pifer (31 App. D. C. 434, 14 Ann. Cas. 734), citing Croissant v. Empire State Realty Co. (29 App. D. C. 538).

Where agreement made in Maryland between defendant and certain individuals provided that the individuals should organize a corporation to acquire land in District of Columbia, the corporation to erect buildings thereon and execute to individuals a $19,000 mortgage thereon payable in one year, to be assigned to defendant upon payment of $15,000 to the corporation, and mortgage note was delivered in District of Columbia, where defendant paid the $15,000 and corporation paid the note in full one year later, as between the corporation and defendant the contract was made in District of Columbia, the laws of which permitted corporation to recover money usuriously exacted. Plitt v. Seven Corners Realty (App. D. C. 1945, 149 F. 2d 832).

OCCASIONAL LOANS ON REAL ESTATE

A nonresident who makes occasional loans on real estate is not engaged "in the business" of loaning money within the meaning of the Loan Shark Law. Zirkle v. Daly (60 App. D. C. 344, 54 Fed. (2d) 455).

PREPAYMENT CHARGE

Even if premium charged by lender for privilege of permitting borrower to prepay entire amount of outstanding balance on note secured by deed of trust on realty could be considered as interest, transaction was not usurious where total amount of interest paid plus the premium was less than lawful maximum interest computed to date the loan was paid. Atlantic Life Ins. Co. of Richmond, Va. v. Wolf (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 641).

Where neither note nor deed of trust on realty securing the note contained any provision permitting repayment by borrower before specified date of maturity, or vested any right or option of acceleration in borrower, the charge of premium to permit borrower to prepay entire amount of outstanding balance on note could not be considered as "interest", as regards usury. Atlantic Life Ins. Co. of Richmond, Va. v. Wolf (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 641).

PURCHASE AT DISCOUNT

A purchase of negotiable paper in market overt "at a heavy discount below the face value" does not show usury. Metropolitan Loan & Trust Co. v. Schafer (44 App. D. C. 356).

Where discounted notes were taken by creditor in payment of debt and not as security therefor, there was no mortgage so as to render the transaction usurious though the parties agreed that if proceeds realized exceeded amount of debt, debtors should be reimbursed accordingly and that in case of deficiency they would make it up. Krevait v. Turover (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 39 A. 2d 207).

Where defendants owed plaintiffs money which they could not pay, it was not usury for defendant to give and plaintiff to receive in payment of the debt notes at a discount of 3 percent of their face value multiplied by the number of years required for the maturity of the notes. Krevait v. Turover (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 39 A. 2d 207).

It is not usurious to purchase a note at a discount or to accept in payment of a debt a note at less than its face value. Krevait v. Turover (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 39 A. 2d 207).

SET-OFF

Usurious interest cannot be set off against the principal debt. Presbrey v. Thomas (1 App. D. C. 171).

When usurious interest has been paid or taken, the sole and exclusive remedy for the borrower is by a suit within 12 months to recover the amount of the usury; and the usurious interest could not be made the subject of set-off or counterclaim, when after the lapse of 12 months suit is instituted for the recovery of the principal claim. Lawrence v. Middle States Loan Bldg. & Constr. Co. (7 App. D. C. 161).

"A defense of usury good against one obligation will not constitute a valid offset against a distinct and independent obligation, though between the same parties." Metropolitan Loan & Trust Co. v. Schafer (44 App. D. C. 356).

Under the Code, "if suit is brought on the principal debt after payment of usurious interest, such usury may be made a valid set-off against the principal debt. Usury upon obligations paid and canceled can not be used as a set-off against a subsequent obligation even between the same parties, either in law or in equity." Metropolitan Loan & Trust Co. v. Schafer (44 App. D. C. 356).

"USURY" DEFINED

Money exacted by the lender from the borrower for the use of money in excess of the legal rate allowed by statute is usury under whatever name or pretense the exaction, extension, or forbearance may be designated. Von Rosen v. Dean (59 App. D. C. 359, 41 Fed. (2d) 982).

§ 28–2704 [17: 4]. Action to recover usury paid—Limitation.

If any person or corporation in the District shall directly or indirectly take or receive any greater amount of interest than is herein declared to be lawful, whether in advance or not, the person or corporation paying the same shall be entitled to sue for and recover the amount of the unlawful interest so paid from the person or corporation receiving the same, provided said suit be begun within one year from the date of such payment. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1377, ch. 854, § 1181.)

CROSS REFERENCE

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ADMISSIBILITY OF EVIDENCE

Where there was evidence that indorsee finance company for which trustee brought replevin suit to recover chattels named in chattel trust deed securing a note was in the business of lending money rather than solely that of discounting notes in the sense of buying from a creditor an existing obligation at less than face value, proffered evidence consisting of court trials of five municipal court cases in which finance company sued to recover on notes assigned to it was material to defendant's defense that finance company was in business of lending money at rate of interest greater than 6 percent, without required license and should have been admitted. Hartman v. Lubar (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 553).

CANCELLATION

A suit for cancellation of note and deed of trust on ground of usury, regarded as suit for declaratory judgment that complete defense existed to the obligation on the note, was not barred by this section or three-year general statute, § 12–201. Hill v. Hawes, 1944 (144 F. 2d 511, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 168).

This section applies to recovery of any payments made on usurious obligation in excess of amount necessary to extinguish the note, though cancellation of usurious obligation was not barred. Hill v. Hawes, 1944 (144 F. 2d 511, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 168).

COMMISSIONS DEDUCTED IN ADVANCE

Commissions deducted in advance by the lender constitute usury. Von Rosen v. Dean (59 App. D. C. 359, 41 Fed. (2d) 982).

DEFENSE, LIMITATION ON

There are no limitations on claim of usury as a defense in a suit based on usurious obligations. Hill v. Hawes, 1944 (144 F. 2d 511, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 168).

INFERENCES

Where defendant had subpoenas duces tecum served upon officers of indorsee finance company for which trustee was maintaining replevin suit to compel them to produce at trial all records regarding the company for purpose of showing that company was in business of lending money at rate of interest greater than 6 percent without required license, and officers failed to produce the records, jury could infer from failure to produce subpoenaed records that contents thereof would have been unfavorable to trustee's case. Hartman v. Lubar (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 553).

INTEREST FORFEITED

Whole of the interest contracted to be paid by the terms of the trust is forfeited as usury when the trust deed for amount in addition to the loan was payable to an intermediary who professed to sell the same to the actual lender. Quinn v. National Mtg. & Inv. Co. (61 App. D. C. 44, 57 Fed. (2d) 410).

This section authorizing recovery of all "unlawful interest" paid on a loan, does not limit recovery to the amount above the lawful rate of interest, but authorizes recovery of the whole of the interest paid. Cockrell v. First Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 621).

JOINT ACTION

Action for recovery of usury brought by joint makers of note within one year after last payment on debt by one of the makers was not barred, even as to maker who had made no payment on debt for more than one year. Knott v. Jackson (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 662).

Where makers related by marriage or blood executed a joint and several note secured by joint deed of trust on two properties, and proceeds of note were used by them under an apparent joint agreement, the three joint makers could maintain joint action and obtain joint judgment for usury admittedly paid, even though they could not show exactly what amount each had individually paid. Knott v. Jackson (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 662).

LACHES

An action to cancel usurious obligation was not barred by laches, in view of this section allowing recovery of usurious payments made within one year before suit, regardless of date of the note, since refusal of cancellation would merely result in circuity of action. Hill v. Hawes, 1944 (144 F. 2d 511, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 168).

PLEADING

Where both the original and amended complaints were based on a claim for usury paid on account of a loan to plaintiff and it was apparent that defendants were not misled by an amendment setting up different dates and amounts, the amendment did not set up a "new cause of action" barred by limitations. Cockrell v. First Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 621).

QUESTIONS FOR JURY

In action by joint makers of note for recovery of usury, question whether $50 payment made by lender to his attorney on account of expenses and fees in connection with the loan was proper charge against the borrowers was properly submitted to jury. Knott v. Jackson (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 662).

Where joint makers of note instituted joint action for recovery of usury but lender contended that one maker, upon making payment more than one year before institution of action, was released from all obligation under note and that as a consequence her claim was barred by one-year limitation of this section, question whether such maker was released from further personal liability at time she made the payment was properly submitted to jury. Knott v. Jackson (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 662).

REPAYMENT OF LOAN

One-year limitation runs, not from the time that usurious interest may have been deducted, but from the time the last payment was made. "Until that time the full amount of the deduction had not been paid by her. There could be no usurious interest collected until the appellee had paid the full amount she received, together with legal interest." Brown v. Slocum (30 App. D. C. 576).

Section 28–2703 et seq. relating to usury do not destroy the obligation to repay the principal on account of the usury, but requires a forfeiture of all interest contracted for, if unpaid, or permits its recovery, if paid, by action begun within one year after payment. Cockrell v. First Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n (D. C. 1943, 33 A. 2d 621).

An action to recover usurious interest paid can only be maintained after last payment on debt has been made. Knott v. Jackson (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 662).

A loan transaction which would be free from usury if loan were paid at agreed maturity date is not rendered usurious by borrower's voluntary repayment of loan before maturity, even though, by reason of such repayment, amount of interest received by lender exceeds lawful interest computed to day the loan is paid, provided that total interest received by lender does not exceed lawful interest computed to maturity date stipulated in loan contract. Atlantic Life Ins. Co. of Richmond, Va. v. Wolf (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 641).

SUFFICIENCY OF EVIDENCE

In replevin by trustee of indorsee finance company to recover chattels named in trust deed securing a note, evidence that loan was usurious, in that an amount in excess of legal rate was deducted in advance and that plaintiff knew the amount deducted in advance, was sufficient to make defense of illegality available to defendant. Hartman v. Lubar (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 553).

§ 28–2705 [17: 5]. Unlawful interest to be credited on principal debt—Bona fide indorsee of negotiable paper.

In any action brought upon any contract for the payment of money with interest at a rate forbidden by law, as aforesaid, any payments of interest that may have been made on account of said contract shall be deemed and taken to be payments made on account of the principal debt, and judgment shall be rendered for no more than the balance found due after deducting and properly crediting the interest so paid; but no bona fide indorsee of negotiable paper purchased before due shall be affected by any usury exacted by any former holder of said paper unless he had notice of the usury before his purchase. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1378, ch. 854, § 1182; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 542, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

This act of 1902 amended the 1901 act by striking out the words "in excess of the lawful interest," following the words "said contract."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

INNOCENT HOLDERS FOR VALUE

No relief to borrowers of money at usurious rates against innocent holders for value. Whipp v. Glueck (61 App. D. C. 118, 58 Fed. (2d) 523).

MAKER OF NEW NOTES

Quaere, whether maker of new notes to take the place of former usurious notes to which he was a party can take advantage of 1901 Code, § 1182 (this section) and plead usury as a defense to all except the principal sum due. King v. Curtin (31 App. D. C. 23).

§ 28–2706 [17: 6]. Parties may be made to testify.

Whenever in any action to recover a debt the defendant shall claim that payments of unlawful interest on said debt have been made to said plaintiff or those under whom he claims, which the defendant is entitled to have credited on the principal of the debt, the plaintiff or the party who received said unlawful interest may be examined as a witness to prove the payment of the same, and shall not be excused from testifying in relation thereto, nor shall a creditor who is made defendant to a bill in equity exhibited against him for discovery as to payments of unlawful interest made to him be excused from answering as to the same. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1378, ch. 854, § 1183.)

§ 28–2707 [17: 7]. Interest on judgments for liquidated debt.

In an action in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia to recover a liquidated debt on which interest is payable by contract or by law or usage the judgment for the plaintiff shall include interest on the principal debt from the time when it was due and payable, at the rate fixed by the contract, if any, until paid. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1378, ch. 854, § 1184.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ASSESSMENT BY COURT

"We do not mean by this to rule that, in a case where no question is made by either the pleadings or evidence as to the payment of interest, the court would not be authorized, under the provisions of said section 1184 (this section), to direct the assessment of interest. In such a situation the finding of the jury would, under the statute, automatically carry interest." Metzger v. Metzger (35 App. D. C. 389).

COMPENSATION OF SPECIAL AUDITOR

It is the prevailing view that costs do not bear interest unless so provided by statute, and this section does not apply to special auditor upon decree of compensation. Davis v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. (63 App. D. C. 395, 73 Fed. (2d) 118).

INTEREST BEFORE JUDGMENT

In action to recover for board, including room, pretrial stipulation that sum of $50 per month for two people was a fair and reasonable sum did not turn the action for breach of contract into an action to recover "liquidated debt", and therefore plaintiff was not entitled to interest before judgment. Shima v. Brown, 1942 (133 F. 2d 48, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 115, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 982, 318 U. S. 787, 87 L. Ed. 1154).

In action to recover for board, including room, where court erred in adding interest to jury's verdict from time action was filed, case was remanded with directions to enter judgment for damages assessed by jury with interest from time of entry of judgment until paid. Shima v. Brown, 1942 (133 F. 2d 48, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 115, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 982, 318 U. S. 787, 87 L. Ed. 1154).

INTEREST NOT DEMANDED

This section and § 28–2708 do not charge a surety of government contractor with interest on claims of materialmen when there was no request or demand made. London & Lancashire Indem. Co. v. Smoot (52 App. D. C. 378, 287 Fed. 952).

REFORMING THE VERDICT

Where in a suit on a promissory note for $2,500 (with interest at 6 per centum) the defendant files a plea of the general issue and the statute of limitations, and the jury returns a verdict for the plaintiff "in the sum of $2,500 and costs," the court, on appeal (in the absence of a bill of exceptions containing the evidence introduced), will reverse the action of the trial justice in reforming the verdict so as to include interest. Metzger v. Metzger (35 App. D. C. 389).

TERMINATION OF CONTRACT

Under the statute regulating interest and punishing usury, and the rule that prescribes the running of the legal rate after maturity, all that the plaintiff was entitled to recover was the principal sum, with interest at the legal rate after the termination of the contract rate, less the credits which she had admitted. Richards v. Bippus (18 App. D. C. 293).

§ 28–2708 [17: 8]. Interest on judgments for damages in actions in contract or tort.

In an action to recover damages for breach of contract the judgment shall allow interest on the amount for which it is rendered from the date of the judgment only; but nothing herein shall forbid the jury, or the court, if the trial be by the court, from including interest as an element in the damages awarded, if necessary to fully compensate the plaintiff. In an action to recover damages for a wrong the judgment for the plaintiff shall bear interest. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1378, ch. 854, § 1185.)

CROSS REFERENCE

See notes to § 28–2707.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

INTEREST

Under the statutory provision in this jurisdiction, vesting as it does a broad measure of discretion in the jury or trial court, the court should not lightly disturb the finding of the trial judge in allowing interest as an element of damage in action for breach of contract. Flanaghan v. Charles H. Thompkins Co. (C. A. D. C. 1950, 182 F. 2d 92, 86 U. S. App. D. C. 307).

Neither an abuse of discretion by the trial court nor lack of compliance by it with the statutory standard govern the allowance of interest though uncertainties exist as to amounts due. The long delay of the special master in making his report is also an argument against awarding interest where these arguments are offset by other compensatory factors. Dyker Bldg. Co. v. U. S. (C. A. D. C. 1950, 182 F. 2d 85, 86 U. S. App. D. C. 297).

SPECIAL AUDITOR

Special auditor cannot recover interest upon decree of compensation, as this section provides an action to recover damages for breach of contract. Davis v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. (63 App. D. C. 395, 73 Fed. (2d) 118).

TRUSTEE

A trustee who purchases a second trust deed note at discount and thereafter purchases at his own foreclosure sale, attempting to enforce his personal lien, is nevertheless acting as trustee and beneficiary is entitled to an accounting of all profits on the sale as well as of interest and principal payments to trustee; trustee is entitled to reimbursement for reasonable and lawful expenses incurred and to interest on unpaid loan to trust. Earll v. Picken (91 App. D. C. 72, 113 Fed. (2d) 150).

§ 28–2709 [17: 9]. Interest on judgment in suits on contracts made elsewhere.

In an action on a contract for the payment of a higher rate of interest than is lawful in the District, made or to be performed in any State or Territory of the United States where such contract rate of interest is lawful, the judgment for the plaintiff shall include such contract interest to the date of the judgment and interest thereafter at the rate of six per centum per annum until paid. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1378, ch. 854, § 1186.)

28–2801. Calendar established.
28–2802. Leap year.
28–2803. Leap year—Extra day and preceding day to be accounted one day.

§ 28–2801 [19: 111]. Calendar established.

The supputation, according to which the year of our Lord beginneth on the twenty-fifth day of March, shall not be made use of from and after the last day of December one thousand seven hundred and fifty-one; and the first day of January next following the said last day of December shall be reckoned, taken, deemed and accounted to be the first day of the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and fifty-two; and the first day of January, which shall happen next after the said first day of January one thousand seven hundred and fifty-two, shall be reckoned, deemed, taken and accounted to be the first day of the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and fifty-three; and so on, from time to time, the first day of January in every year, which shall happen in time to come, shall be reckoned, taken, deemed and accounted to be the first day of the year; and that each new year shall accordingly commence, and begin to be reckoned, from the first day of every such month of January next preceding the twenty-fifth day of March, on which such year would, according to the Julian calendar, have begun or commenced: and that from and after the said first day of January one thousand seven hundred and fifty-two, the several days of each month shall go on, and be reckoned and numbered in the same order; and the feast of Easter, and other moveable feasts thereon depending, shall be ascertained according to the same method, as they were under the Julian calendar until the second day of September in the said year one thousand seven hundred and fifty-two inclusive; and that the natural day next immediately following the said second day of September, shall be called, reckoned and accounted to be the fourteenth day of September, omitting for that time only the eleven intermediate nominal days of the common calendar; and that the several natural days, which shall follow and succeed next after the said fourteenth day of September, shall be respectively called, reckoned and numbered forwards in numerical order from the said fourteenth day of September, according to the order and succession of days used in the Julian calendar; and that all acts, deeds, writings, notes and other instruments of what nature or kind soever, whether ecclesiastical or civil, public or private, which shall be made, executed or signed, upon or after the said first day of January one thousand seven hundred and fifty-two, shall bear date according to the said new method of supputation. (24 Geo. II, ch. 23, § 1, 1751; Kilty's Rep., p. 252; Alex. Brit. Stat., p. 768.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

This section sets forth a British statute continued in force by virtue of the act of March 3, 1901 (31 Stat. 1189, ch. 854, § 1). It was obviously impossible to modernize the language of this statute.

§ 28–2802 [19: 112]. Leap year.

For the continuing and preserving the calendar or method of reckoning, and computing the days of the year in the same regular course, as near as may be, in all times coming; the several years of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred, one thousand nine hundred, two thousand one hundred, two thousand two hundred, two thousand three hundred, or any other hundredth years of our Lord, which shall happen in time to come, except only every fourth hundredth year of our Lord, whereof the year of our Lord two thousand shall be the first, shall not be esteemed or taken to be bissextile or leap years, but shall be taken to be common years, consisting of three hundred and sixty-five days, and no more; and that the years of our Lord two thousand, two thousand four hundred, two thousand eight hundred, and every other fourth hundred year of our Lord, from the said year of our Lord two thousand inclusive, and also all other years of our Lord, which by the Julian calendar are esteemed to be bissextile or leap years, shall for the future, and in all times to come, be esteemed and taken to be bissextile or leap years, consisting of three hundred and sixty-six days, in the same sort and manner as was used under the Julian calendar. (24 Geo. II, ch. 23, § 2, 1751; Alex. Brit. Stat., p. 770.)

§ 28–2803 [19: 113]. Leap year—Extra day and preceding day to be accounted one day.

The day increasing in the leap-year shall be accounted for one year, so that because of that day none shall be prejudiced that is impleaded, but it shall be taken and reckoned of the same month wherein it groweth; and that day, and the day next going before, shall be accounted for one day. For effective date see note under § 28–2901.

§ 28–2903. Corporation not forbidden to treat registered holder as owner.

(b) to hold liable for calls and assessments a person registered on its books as the owner of shares. (Dec. 23, 1944, 58 Stat. 928, ch. 729, § 3.)

For effective date see note under § 28–2901.

§ 28–2904. Title derived from certificate extinguishes title derived from a separate document.

The title of a transferee of a certificate under a power of attorney or assignment not written upon the certificate, and the title of any person claiming under such transferee, shall cease and determine if, at any time prior to the surrender of the certificate to the corporation issuing it, another person, for value in good faith, and without notice of the prior transfer, shall purchase and obtain delivery of such certificate with the endorsement of the person appearing by the certificate to be the owner thereof, or shall purchase and obtain delivery of such certificate and the written assignment or power of attorney of such person, though contained in a separate document. (d) after the owner's death or legal incapacity, the possession of the certificate may be reclaimed and the transfer thereof rescinded, unless—

(1) the certificate has been transferred to a purchaser for value in good faith without notice of any facts making the transfer wrongful; or

(2) the injured person has elected to waive the injury or has been guilty of laches in endeavoring to enforce his rights.

Any court of appropriate jurisdiction may enforce specifically such right to reclaim the possession of the certificate or to rescind the transfer thereof and, pending litigation, may enjoin the further transfer of the certificate or impound it. (Dec. 23, 1944, 58 Stat. 929, ch. 729, § 7.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date see note under § 28–2901.

§ 28–2908. Rescission of transfer of certificate does not invalidate subsequent transfer by transferee in possession.

Although the transfer of a certificate or of shares represented thereby has been rescinded or set aside, nevertheless, if the transferee has possession of the certificate or of a new certificate representing part or the whole of the same shares of stock, a subsequent transfer of such certificate by the transferee, mediately or immediately, to a purchaser for value in good faith, without notice of any facts making the transfer wrongful, shall give such purchaser an indefeasible right to the certificate and the shares represented thereby. EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date see note under § 28–2901.

The delivery of a certificate by the person appearing by the certificate to be the owner thereof without the endorsement requisite for the transfer of the certificate and the shares represented thereby, but with intent to transfer such certificate or shares, shall impose an obligation, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, upon the person so delivering, to complete the transfer by making the necessary endorsement. The transfer shall take effect as of the time when the endorsement is actually made. This obligation may be specifically enforced. (Dec. 23, 1944, 58 Stat. 929, ch. 729, § 9.)

(a) that the certificate is genuine;

(b) that he has a legal right to transfer it; and

(c) that he has no knowledge of any fact which would impair the validity of the certificate.

In the case of an assignment of a claim secured by a certificate, the liability of the assignor upon

A mortgagee, pledgee, or other holder for security of a certificate who in good faith demands or receives payment of the debt for which such certificate is security, whether from a party to a draft drawn for such debt, or from any other person, shall not by so doing be deemed to represent or to warrant the genuineness of such certificate, or the value of the shares represented thereby. (Dec. 23, 1944, 58 Stat. 930, ch. 729, § 12.)

Except where a certificate is lost or destroyed, such corporation shall not be compelled to issue a new certificate for the stock until the old certificate is surrendered to it. EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date see note under § 28–2901.

§ 28–2916. Alteration of certificate does not divest title to shares.

The alteration of a certificate, whether fraudulent or not and by whomsoever made, shall not deprive the owner of his title to the certificate and the shares originally represented thereby, and the transfer of such a certificate shall convey to the transferee a good title to such certificate and to the shares originally represented thereby. (Dec. 23, 1944, 58 Stat. 930, ch. 729, § 16.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date see note under § 28–2901.

§ 28–2917. Lost or destroyed certificate.

Where a certificate has been lost or destroyed, a court of competent jurisdiction may order the issue of a new certificate therefor on service of process upon the corporation and on reasonable notice by publication, and in any other way which the court may direct, to all persons interested, and upon satisfactory proof of such loss or destruction and upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to be approved by the court to protect the corporation or any person injured by the issue of the new certificate from any liability or expense, which it or they may incur by reason of the original certificate remaining outstanding. The court may also in its discretion order the payment of the corporation's reasonable costs and counsel fees.

The issue of a new certificate under an order of the court as provided in this section shall not relieve the corporation from liability in damages to a person to whom the original certificate has been or shall be transferred for value without notice of the proceedings or of the issuance of the new certificate. (Dec. 23, 1944, 58 Stat. 930, ch. 729, § 17.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date see note under § 28–2901.

§ 28–2919. Interpretation shall give effect to purpose of uniformity.

This chapter shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those States which enact it. (Dec. 23, 1944, 58 Stat. 931, ch. 729, § 19.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date see note under § 28–2901.

§ 28–2920. Definition of endorsement.

A certificate is endorsed when an assignment or a power of attorney to sell, assign, or transfer the certificate or the shares represented thereby is written on the certificate and signed by the person appearing by the certificate to be the owner of the shares represented thereby, or when the signature of such person is written without more upon the back of the certificate. In any of such cases a certificate is endorsed though it has not been delivered. (Dec. 23, 1944, 58 Stat. 931, ch. 729, § 20.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date see note under § 28–2901.

§ 28–2921. Definition of person appearing to be the owner of certificate.

The person to whom a certificate was originally issued is the person appearing by the certificate to be the owner thereof, and of the shares represented thereby, until and unless he endorses the certificate to another specified person, and thereupon such other specified person is the person appearing by the certificate to be the owner thereof until and unless he also endorses the certificate to another specified person. Subsequent special endorsements may be made with like effect. (Dec. 23, 1944, 58 Stat. 931, ch. 729, § 21.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

Insofar as the general incorporation statutes passed by Congress for the District are concerned, these provide for the incorporation of both business corporations and benevolent corporations. White v. Central Dispensary & Emergency Hosp. (69 App. D. C. 122, 99 Fed. (2d) 355, 119 A. L. R. 1002).

CAPACITY TO SUE AND BE SUED

Defendant corporation is in general capable of suing and being sued, regardless of whether part or all of its stock is owned by the United States. Ingram Day Lbr. Co. v. United States Shipping Bd. Emergency Fleet Corp. ((D. C.-Miss.), 267 Fed. 283).

EMERGENCY FLEET CORPORATION

In form the Emergency Fleet Corporation is a private corporation, but its services are of a public nature and it has never done any business, or conducted any operation, except on behalf of the United States. United States Shipping Bd. Emergency Fleet Corp. v. Western Union Tel. Co. (275 U. S. 415, 72 L. Ed. 345, 48 Sup. Ct. 198, revg. 56 App. D. C. 337, 13 Fed. (2d) 308).

Fleet Corporation was entitled to the Government rate, not because it was an instrumentality of the Government, but because it was a department of the United States within the meaning of the Post Roads Act. In respect to messages sent, on the Government's business, no distinction could properly be made between those of the Shipping Board and those of the Fleet Corporation. United States Shipping Bd. Emergency Fleet Corp. v. Western Union Tel. Co. (275 U. S. 415, 72 L. Ed. 345, 48 Sup. Ct. 198).

When shipbuilding company sued the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation upon an alleged contract for the building of ships, which, it was alleged, it was not allowed to build; it was a suit arising under the Constitution and laws of the United States and motion to remand should be denied. Union Timber Products Co. v. United States Shipping Bd. Emergency Fleet Corp. ((D. C. Wash.), 252 Fed. 320).

"The board (Shipping Board), if in its judgment such action is necessary to carry out the purposes of this act, may form under the laws of the District one or more corporations for the purchase, construction, equipment, lease, charter, maintenance, and operation of merchant vessels in the commerce of the United States." Southern Bridge Co. v. United States Shipping Bd. Emergency Fleet Corp. ((D. C.-Ala.), 266 Fed. 747).

Business of the Fleet Corporation was not peculiarly governmental in its nature, but was commercial and industrial, and its powers not essentially different from those possessed by private corporations. No provision can be found either in acts of Congress or in charter of the company giving to the corporation or its stockholders any rights, privileges, or obligations different from those possessed by any other corporation under laws of the District with respect to its business. In re Eastern Shore Shipbuilding Corp. ((C. C. A. 2), 274 Fed. 893).

Object and purpose of the corporation was to purchase, construct, equip, lease, maintain, and operate vessels in the commerce of the United States and for other lawful purposes. Buffalo Union Furnace Co. v. United States Shipping Bd. Emergency Fleet Corp. ((D. C.-N. Y.), 283 Fed. 673).

Fleet Corporation acted in two capacities. Notwithstanding the ownership of its stock by the United States, it was a private corporation. As such it was a distinct entity. It might make contracts and transact the business for which it was organized. It might sue and be sued, and then it was subject to the statute of limitations. Harwood v. United States Shipping Bd. Emergency Fleet Corp. ((D. C.-Conn.), 26 Fed. (2d) 116).

EXTENSION OF BUSINESS

The 1901 code, §§ 633 and 635 (§§ 29–229, 29–231), providing for the extension of the business of the corporation, cannot be so construed as to permit a combination of two radically different classes of business. Dancy v. Clark (24 App. D. C. 487).

NATURE OF BUSINESS

This section does not authorize or allow the combination of all classes of industrial business by one corporation. "On the contrary, the tenor of the enactment is decidedly adverse to any such theory." Dancy v. Clark (24 App. D. C. 487).

The statute allows formation of corporation for only "one business, one enterprise, and not a combination of all the classes of business provided for in the statute." Dancy v. Clark (24 App. D. C. 487).

"No domestic corporation is authorized to hold real estate except as an incident to its business. It clearly is not authorized to hold it for the purpose of selling or dealing in it." Groo v. Norman (42 App. D. C. 387).

A foreign corporation will not be accorded greater rights than are enjoyed by domestic corporations. Nevertheless "want of capacity in a domestic or foreign corporation to own and dispose of real estate can only be asserted by the State," and until so questioned good title may be conveyed. Hight v. Richmond Park Imp. Co. (47 App. D. C. 518), citing Groo v. Norman (42 App. D. C. 387).

The proviso "neither declares contracts made in violation of its terms void as against public policy nor does it expressly apply this restriction to foreign corporations doing business in this District." Hight v. Richmond Park Imp. Co. (47 App. D. C. 518).

§ 29–202 [5: 262]. Contents of certificate.

In such certificate shall be stated—

First. The corporate name of the company and the object for which it is formed.

Second. The term of its existence, which may be perpetual.

Third. The amount of the capital stock of the company and the number of shares of which said stock shall consist.

Fourth. The number of trustees who shall manage the concerns of the company for the first year and their names.

Fifth. The name of the place in the District in which the operations of the company are to be carried on. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1285, ch. 854, § 606.)

When the certificate shall have been filed, in accordance with the provisions of section 29–202, the persons who shall have signed and acknowledged the same and their successors shall be a body politic and corporate in fact and in name, by the names stated in such certificate, and by that name have succession and be capable of suing and being sued in any court of law or equity in the District; and they and their successors may have a common seal and make and alter the same at pleasure, and they shall by their corporate name be capable in law of purchasing, holding, and conveying any real or personal estate whatever which may be necessary to enable the company to carry on its operations named in such certificates, but shall not mortgage such estate or give any lien thereon, except in pursuance of a vote of the stockholders of the company. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1285, ch. 854, § 607.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

This section does not put District corporations upon a different footing from those formed under the laws of the States. Sloan Shipyards Corp. v. United States Shipping Board (258 U. S. 549, 66 L. Ed. 762, 42 Sup. Ct. 386).

EMERGENCY FLEET CORPORATION

The Emergency Fleet Corporation was in general capable of suing and being sued, regardless of whether part or all of its stock was owned by the United States. Ingram Day Lbr. Co. v. United States Shipping Bd. Emergency Fleet Corp. ((D. C.-Miss.), 267 Fed. 283).

§ 29–204 [5: 264]. Trustees—Qualifications—Election.

The stock, property, and concerns of such company shall be managed by not less than three nor more than fifteen trustees, who shall, respectively, be stockholders, and a majority citizens of the District, and shall, except for the first year, be annually elected by the stockholders, at such time and place as shall be determined by the by-laws of the company. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1285, ch. 854, § 608.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CORPORATE ACTS—EVIDENCE OF INTENTION

A corporation can only act through its agents, directors, or trustees and its intention can only be learned by the language of its recorded acts. The plain terms of a resolution of the board of directors cannot be altered by an affidavit purporting to show its intention. Fox v. Johnson ((D. C.-D. C.), 31 Fed. Supp. 64).

EMERGENCY FLEET CORPORATION

Although most of the stock was owned by the United States, the business of the fleet corporation was not peculiarly governmental in its nature, but was commercial and industrial, and that its powers were not essentially different from those possessed by private corporations. In re Eastern Shore Shipbuilding Corp. ((C. C. A. 2), 274 Fed. 893).

EXCHANGE OF STOCK

When insurance company sold a building to realty company, for whose stock the insurance company's stockholders were allowed to exchange their stock, and as terms would not cause substantial loss to the stockholders, their stock was not illegal or void under this section which gives trustees power to manage the affairs of the corporation. Tryson v. Southern Realty Corp. (51 App. D. C. 55, 274 Fed. 135).

LIABILITY FOR DEBTS

Under the act of Congress (16 Stat. 98, ch. 80), under which certain corporations were organized in the District of Columbia, providing for personal liability of trustees for debts in excess of capital stock, an action at law could not be sustained by one creditor among many for the liability thus created, or for any part of it, but the remedy is in equity. Also, this excess constitutes a fund for the benefit of all the creditors, so far as the condition of the company renders a resort to it necessary for the payment of their debts. Hornor v. Henning (93 U. S. 228, 23 L. Ed. 879).

Under the act of May 5, 1870 (16 Stat. 98), providing for the organization of associations and the liability of trustees for indebtedness exceeding the capital stock, and the act of June 17, 1870 (16 Stat. 153), authorizing the establishment of savings banks under the former act, the excess of debts for which the trustees were liable constituted a trust fund for the benefit of all creditors, and an action at law could not be maintained by one creditor for any part of it, but the remedy was in equity. Hornor v. Henning (93 U. S. 228, 23 L. Ed. 879).

STOCKHOLDERS

"Plainly the requirement of this section is that the trustees shall at all times be stockholders, as well for the first year as for all subsequent years." Dancy v. Clark (24 App. D. C. 487).

§ 29–205 [5: 265]. Election of trustees—Notice—Procedure.

All the elections shall be by ballot, and each stockholder shall be entitled to as many votes as he owns shares of stock in the company, and the persons receiving the greatest number of votes shall be trustees; and when any vacancy shall happen among the trustees it shall be filled for the remainder of the year in such manner as may be provided by the by-laws of the company. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1285, ch. 854, § 609.)

§ 29–206 [5: 266]. Corporation not dissolved by failure to hold election of trustees at time designated in by-laws.

In case it shall happen at any time that an election of trustees shall not be made on the day designated by the by-laws of said company when it ought to have been made, the company shall not for that reason be dissolved, but it shall be lawful on any other day to hold an election for trustees, in such manner as shall be provided by the by-laws, and all acts of trustees shall be valid and binding as against said company until their successors shall be elected. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1285, ch. 854, § 610.)

§ 29–207 [5: 267]. Officers—Bond.

There shall be a president of the company, who shall be designated from the trustees; and also such subordinate officers as may be elected or appointed, and who may be required to give security for the faithful performance of the duties of their office, as the company by its by-laws may require. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1285, ch. 854, § 611.)

(Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1285, ch. 854, § 612.)

No company incorporated under this chapter shall be authorized to transact any business until ten per centum of the capital stock shall have been actually paid in, either in money or in property at its actual value; and it shall be lawful for the trustees to call in and demand from the stockholders the residue of their subscriptions in money or property at such times and in such instalments as the trustees shall deem proper, under the penalty of forfeiting the shares of stock subscribed for and all previous payments made thereon, if payment shall not be made by the stockholder within sixty days after a personal demand or a notice requiring such payment shall have been published for six successive weeks in a newspaper in the District. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1286, ch. 854, § 613.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

Under this section, the stockholders are individually liable to the creditors for the unpaid amount due upon the shares of stock held by them respectively for the debts and contracts of the company until the amount of capital stock fixed by such company shall have been paid in. *Capitol Dress Mfg. To recover on a subscription to the capital stock, the corporation plaintiff must establish, by legal and competent proof, the existence of a contract of subscription to the stock. National Exp. Co. v. Morris (15 App. D. C. 262).

SALE OF STOCK RESCINDED

Person who purchased stock from corporation under an option to rescind the agreement at the expiration of a year is not precluded from doing so because no power has been given to the corporation to purchase its own stock. Royal Glue Co. v. Lange (40 App. D. C. 9).

TRUST FUND

Capital stock of a corporation is a trust fund for the benefit of the creditors, and which cannot be withdrawn without their consent, but the corporation may when solvent hold the property as an individual, free from the touch of a creditor who has acquired no lien, and may dispose of stock to bona fide purchasers for a valuable consideration. Gilbert v. *Washington Ben. C. 312).

§ 29–214 [5: 274]. Failure to publish annual report—Mandamus by creditor—Expenses of action.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CHANGE OF BUSINESS

"Provision is made for a change of business; but even if we assume that this change might be made to a radically different class of business, as for example, from that of mining to that of agriculture, yet the very word 'change' implies the abandonment of the one by the adoption of the other, not the combination of both." Dancy v. Clark (24 App. D. § 29–239 [5: 302]. Stock—Preferred stock authorized—Classes of common—"Charter" defined—Preferences, restrictions, qualifications — Statement thereof on stock.

In addition to its common stock every corporation heretofore or hereafter organized or existing under this chapter, or which has availed or may hereafter avail itself of the provisions of this chapter pursuant to sections 29–101, 29–102, may create one or more classes of preferred stock, with such preferences, restrictions, and qualifications not inconsistent with law as shall be expressed in its charter. Such preferred stock shall have such voting powers as are provided in such charter, or it may have no voting power if such charter so provides. Each such corporation may have one or more classes of common stock, with or without voting powers, and with such rights, restrictions, and qualifications as shall be expressed in its charter. The term "charter" is hereby defined to include a charter granted by Special Act, certificate of incorporation, certificate of organization, or certificate of reorganization, either as originally passed or filed or as amended, unless such construction would be inconsistent with the context. All certificates for stock which has no voting powers or is restricted or limited as to its voting powers, or which is preferred or limited as to its dividends, or as to its share of the assets upon dissolution, shall have a statement of such restriction, limitation, or preference plainly stated thereon. § 29–240 [5: 303]. Sale, lease, or exchange of property or assets as an entirety—Transfer of franchise—Agreement submitted to stockholders—Rights of dissenting stockholders—Procedure—Effect of performance of agreement—Recording.

Every corporation having capital stock and heretofore or hereafter organized or existing under this chapter, or which has availed or may hereafter avail itself of the provisions of this chapter pursuant to sections 29–101, 29–102, may, pursuant to a meeting of its stockholders, held upon notice given in accordance with the provisions of section 29–231, sell, lease, or exchange all of its property and assets as an entirety, including its good will, and franchises howsoever granted and/or acquired, to or with any other such corporation or any other corporation organized or existing under the laws of any state of the United States which is duly authorized by its charter or otherwise to acquire and hold such or similar property, or to or with any natural person. An agreement containing the terms and conditions of the proposed sale, lease, or exchange shall, after approval thereof by a majority of the trustees or directors of such vendor, lessor, or grantor corporation, be submitted to said stockholders at said meeting for their approval; and if approved by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of all the stock outstanding (or, if two or more classes of stock have been issued, of two-thirds of each class, including stock of any class to which the charter denies the right to vote), such agreement shall be executed and its terms and conditions performed. Any stockholder who, at such meeting, voted against the agreement submitted or who shall in writing file his protest at least five days before the holding of such meeting, may within twenty days after such meeting (but not afterwards) make upon such vendor, lessor, or grantor corporation a written demand for payment for his stock; and he shall thereupon be entitled to receive an amount equal to the fair value thereof, unaffected by such sale, lease, or exchange of said corporate property and assets. If such dissenting stockholder and said vendor, lessor, or grantor corporation of which he is a stockholder shall fail to agree upon the fair value of said stock (or if, having agreed, such corporation shall fail to pay or tender the amount thereof), such stockholder shall be entitled to file, within thirty days after such written demand (but not afterwards), against said vendor, lessor, or grantor corporation, in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, a petition for an accounting and for the ascertainment of the fair value of his shares without regard to any depreciation or appreciation thereof in consequence of such sale, lease, or exchange; and on the coming in of the answer to said petition, which shall be filed within such reasonable period as the court may fix, the court shall pass an order referring the matter to a commissioner or commissioners agreed upon by the parties, and if the parties do not so agree, then to the auditor of said court, for the purpose of ascertaining such fair value, and such order may prescribe the time and manner of producing evidence; and the award of said commissioner or commissioners (or that of a majority of them) or of said auditor, when confirmed by decree of said court, shall be final and conclusive on all parties, and said vendor, lessor, or grantor corporation shall pay such stockholder the fair value of his shares ascertained as aforesaid, and on receiving such payment or on a tender thereof, said stockholder shall transfer his stock to the said vendor, lessor, or grantor corporation for cancelation, and until said award is paid or tendered, said stockholder shall have a lien for the payment of such award on the proceeds of such sale, lease, or exchange, prior to any distribution by said vendor, lessor, or grantor corporation and said payment and lien may be collected and enforced in the same manner as other decrees and liens are by law enforceable in said District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia. If the amount awarded said stockholder exceeds the amount offered by the corporation prior to the filing of said suit, costs shall be awarded to said stockholder; otherwise, costs shall be awarded to the corporation. Each party shall have the right of appeal as in other cases in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia. The proceeding by a dissenting stockholder hereunder shall not prevent or delay the execution and performance of any agreement so approved by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of each class of stock: Provided, however, That the right granted to a dissenting stockholder hereunder to demand payment for his shares shall cease, if at any time prior to the entry of any decree herein provided for, the defendant corporation shall make it appear to said District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia that the agreement of sale, lease, or exchange has been rescinded by appropriate corporate action, so that the shares of such dissenting shareholder remain unaffected thereby. Upon the performance of any agreement of sale hereunder of all of the property and assets as an entirety of a corporation (including its good will and franchises), all property, assets, rights, privileges, franchises, and powers of said selling corporation shall be vested in the purchasing corporation or person and shall thereafter be as effectually the property of the purchasing corporation or person as they were of the selling corporation subject to the provisions of this section, and such purchasing corporation or person shall thereupon immediately file in the office of the recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia proper evidence of such sale, and thereupon said selling corporation shall be dissolved and cease, subject, however, to the provisions of sections 29–715 to 29–718. Nothing contained herein shall affect the provisions of sections 28–1701 to 28–1705, or any of the provisions of chapters 1–10 of title 43, or any amendment or supplement thereof, or of any other law regulating public-utility corporations in the District of Columbia. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 639d, as added Feb. 12, 1931, 46 Stat. 1089, ch. 120.)

The prohibition in this section contained shall be deemed to include and is hereby declared applicable to any individual or individuals, association, or incorporation outside of the District of Columbia which shall undertake to do business in the District of Columbia or to confer degrees or certificates therein, and any such individual or individuals, association, or incorporation violating the provisions of this section shall be subject to the penalty hereinafter in section 29–419: Provided, That no institution, incorporated prior to April 16, 1934, under the provisions of this chapter, and carrying on its work exclusively in any foreign country with the consent and approval of the government thereof, shall if otherwise entitled to be licensed by the Board of Education, be denied the same solely because of the inclusion in its name and as descriptive of its origin of any of the specific words the use of which is by this section forbidden to incorporations under the provisions of this chapter. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 586e, as added Mar. 2, 1929, 45 Stat. 1505, ch. 523; Apr. 16, 1934, 48 Stat. 592, ch. 143.)

PURPOSE ABANDONED

corporation. Bradfield v. Roberts (175 U. S. 291, 44 L. Ed. 168, 20 Sup. Ct. 121, affg. 12 App. D. C. 453).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

DECISIONS UNDER PRIOR LAWS

When a Federal right, as the right to incorporate a fraternal organization under act May 5, 1870 (16 Stat. 98, ch. 80), was held by a State court to have been lost by subsequent conduct, that of itself involves no Federal question, and the Supreme Court may not examine the decision unless the State court in substance is denying the right. Creswill v. Grand Lodge K. of P. (225 U. S. 246, 56 L. Ed. 1074, 32 Sup. Ct. 822).

Where a lodge or fraternal organization was organized in Georgia in 1864, and incorporated under the act of May 5, 1870 (16 Stat. 98, ch. 80), complying with the statute in all respects, membership in which was limited to white males, it was estopped by laches from contesting the incorporation in the District of Columbia of an organization similar in name, organized by Negroes in Mississippi in 1880, in Georgia in 1886, and application made in the District of Columbia in 1889. Creswill v. Grand Lodge K. of P. (225 U. S. 246, 56 L. Ed. 1074, 32 Sup. Ct. 822).

White fraternal order incorporated under State law was not entitled to injunction against Negro order, organized under this act, in view of laches and acquiescence. Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order v. Michaux (279 U. S. 737, 73 L. Ed. 931, 49 Sup. Ct. 485, revg. (Tex. Com. App.), 286 S. W. 176).

The South Carolina subordinate lodge of a grand lodge organized under act of Congress of May 1870 (16 Stat. 98, ch. 80), in the District of Columbia could not be held to account for a judgment against the Georgia division of the same lodge. Washington v. King (159 S. Car. 431, 157 S. E. 613).

ABANDONMENT OF PURPOSE

A purely voluntary religious association, unincorporated and unorganized, cannot be said to have an existence after definitely abandoning the purpose of its creation and ceasing to exercise its functions. Rose Campbell Mission v. Richardson (64 App. D. C. 21, 73 Fed. (2d) 661).

DE FACTO CORPORATIONS

To establish a corporation as de facto is all that is necessary to enable it to maintain an action against any one, other than the State, who has contracted with the corporation, or done it a wrong. Baltimore & P. R. Co. v. Fifth Baptist Church (137 U. S. 568, 34 L. Ed. 784, 11 Sup. Ct. 185).

HEALTH ASSOCIATION

Group health association is a "relief association, not conducted for profit." Jordan v. Group Health Assn. (71 App. D. C. 38, 107 Fed. (2d) 239).

Group health is in fact and in function a consumer cooperative. The functions of such an organization are not identical with those of insurance or indemnity companies. The latter are concerned primarily, if not exclusively, with risk and the consequences of its descent. Jordan v. Group Health Assn. (71 App. D. C. 38, 107 Fed. (2d) 239).

A group of individuals might incorporate themselves for their own mutual benefit and such corporation, not for profit but for the mutual benefit of its members, is not engaged in practice of medicine when they contracted with members of medical profession. Group Health Assn. v. Moor ((D. C.–D. C.), 24 Fed. Supp. 445).

HOSPITAL

Even if it be a fact that the appellee is incorporated as a charitable corporation and even if judicial notice could be taken that it is so incorporated, this would not conclude the question whether or not it is a charity. White v. Central Dispensary & Emergency Hosp. (69 App. D. C. 122, 99 Fed. (2d) 355, 119 A. L. R. 1002).

OBJECT OF ORGANIZATION

Object for which a corporation is organized is to be determined from what is stated in its certificate of incorporation and its constitution and bylaws. Vanderbilt v. Com. Int. Rev. ((C. C. A. 1), 93 Fed. (2d) 360).

A corporation cannot deny its purposes are those set forth in its charter. Better Business Bureau of Washington, D. C. v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 614).

POWER TO CONFER DEGREES

Claiming the right to confer degrees a right in the articles of incorporation does not confer such power. "It might have taken less than the section gave but not more." National Assn. of Certified Public Accountants v. United States (53 App. D. C. 391, 292 Fed. 668).

Corporation organized under this section has no power to confer degrees. National Assn. of Certified Public Accountants v. United States (53 App. D. C. 391, 292 Fed. 668).

PROOF OF CORPORATE EXISTENCE

To prove the existence of a corporation under act May 5, 1870, ch. 80, § 2 (16 Stat. 99), a recorder's copy of the certificate of incorporation, acknowledgment, and affidavit was sufficient, together with a record of an action in which the corporation recovered judgment against the defendant in the instant case, without objection of capacity to sue. Baltimore & P. R. Co. v. Fifth Baptist Church (137 U. S. 568, 34 L. Ed. 784, 11 Sup. Ct. 185).

§ 29–602 [5: 122]. Formation—Signers incorporated—Powers—Taxation of property.

Upon filing their certificates the persons who shall have signed and acknowledged the same and their associates and successors shall be a body politic and corporate, by the name stated in such certificate; and by that name they and their successors may have and use a common seal, and may alter and change the same at pleasure, and may make by-laws and elect officers and agents, and may take, receive, hold, and convey real and personal estate necessary for the purposes of the society as stated in their certificate, and other real and personal property the income from which shall be applied to the purposes of such society: Provided, however, That this section shall not be construed to exempt any property from taxation in addition to that specifically exempted by law. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1284, ch. 854, § 600; Apr. 20, 1932, 47 Stat. 87, ch. 121.)

AMENDMENT

The act of 1932 amended this section by striking out the words "clear annual income from which shall not exceed in value $25,000," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "income from which shall be applied to the purposes of such society."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

EXEMPTION FROM SOCIAL SECURITY

In ascertaining whether a corporation organized under § 29–601 relating to benevolent, charitable, educational, and similar corporations was exempt from District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Act, § 46–301, said section must be considered but said section cannot be conclusive in face of specific objects selected by corporation for inclusion in its charter. Better Business Bureau of Washington, D. C. v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 614).

A corporation, whose object in part, as indicated by its charter, was for the mutual welfare, protection, and improvement of business methods among merchants and for protecting the interests of certain classes of businesses to enable them to profitably conduct their business, was not exempt as organized exclusively for "educational or scientific purposes" from District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Act, § 46–301, notwithstanding corporation's purposes were to be accomplished by educational methods. Better Business Bureau of Washington, D. C. v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 614).

GROUP HEALTH ASSOCIATION

Appellee Group Health Association, organized as nonprofit corporation, was not an insurance company. Jordan v. Group Health Assn. (71 App. D. C. 38, 107 Fed. (2d) 239).

§ 29–603. Trustees.

Such incorporated society may elect its trustees, directors, or managers at such time and place and in such manner as may be specified in its bylaws, who shall have the control and management of the affairs and funds of the society, and a majority of whom shall be a quorum for the transaction of business, unless a less number be specified as a quorum in the bylaws; and whenever any vacancy shall happen in such board of trustees, directors, or managers the vacancies shall be filled in such manner as shall be provided by the bylaws of the society. The bylaws of a society incorporated under the provisions of this subchapter may provide that stockholders, if the same be a stock corporation, or members or delegates, if the same be not a stock corporation, may vote by proxy or by mail. The bylaws may restrict such method of voting to the election of trustees, directors, or managers, or to other matters specified in the bylaws, and may prescribe the form or forms of proxy or of mail ballot to be used and the procedure to be followed in the casting and recording of such votes. § 29–714 [5: 404]. Dissolution before capital stock paid in or investments made.

When a majority of the directors, trustees, or other officers of a corporation become satisfied that the objects of the corporation can not be accomplished, and no instalment of the capital stock has been paid, and no investments have been made and no debts incurred which are unpaid, they may call a meeting of the stockholders, by a notice published in some newspaper of general circulation, and if a majority, in amount, of the stockholders present at such meeting, in person or by proxy, shall decide that the objects of the corporation can not be accomplished, the corporation shall thereupon be dissolved and cease. NOTES TO DECISIONS

SUITS AGAINST DISSOLVED CORPORATIONS

A foreign corporation doing business in the District which had been dissolved by its chartering state, could not be sued in the District after dissolution since local statutes preserve litigation only as to local corporations and the chartering state did not preserve such litigation. Sedgwick v. Beasley (C. A. D. C. 1949, 173 F. 2d 918, 84 U. S. App. D. C. 325).

§ 29–717 [5: 407]. Proceedings in corporate name for use of others.

A corporation may, after its dissolution, prosecute any action in and by its corporate name, for the use of the person or persons entitled to receive the proceeds of such action, upon any cause of action accrued, or which, but for such dissolution, would have accrued in favor of the corporation, in the same manner and with the like effect as if it had not been dissolved. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1319, ch. 854, § 784.)

§ 29–718 [5: 408]. Suits after dissolution—Process.

Any such dissolved corporation may be sued by its corporate name for or upon any cause of action accrued or which, but for such dissolution, would have accrued against it in the same manner and with the like effect as if it were not dissolved; and process in such action may be served upon any one of the assignees, trustees, or receivers having the management of the assets of the corporation. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1319, ch. 854, § 785.)

A. D. C. 1949, 173 F. 2d 918, 84 U. S. App. D. C. 325).

§ 29–719 [5: 409]. Involuntary dissolution—Suit of the United States—Petition—Order to show cause.

Whenever the district attorney of the United States for the District of Columbia shall become satisfied that any corporation organized under the laws of said District has been guilty of such misuse, abuse, or nonuser of its corporate powers and franchises, or such violation of law as would authorize and make proper the forfeiture of its charter, corporate powers, and franchises, the said district attorney shall file in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia a petition in the name of the United States setting forth, fully and in detail, the alleged abuse, misuse, or nonuser by reason whereof such forfeiture is sought, which petition shall be supported by affidavits of credible persons; and upon the filing of such petition the said court shall lay a rule requiring such defendant corporation to show cause, within such time as the court may deem proper, why a decree should not issue as prayed in said petition, a copy of which rule and petition shall be served on said corporation by a day therein limited. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1319, ch. 854, § 786.)

If issue or issues be joined on such proceedings, the same shall stand for trial at such time as the court shall direct and shall be tried by a jury if either party desire it; otherwise, they shall be heard and determined by the court. If, from the findings of the jury or upon consideration and determination of the case by the court, the court shall be of opinion that legal cause of forfeiture has been shown and the public interests require that said forfeiture shall be declared, a decree of forfeiture shall be entered and the charter of said corporation shall thereby be annulled and vacated and its corporate franchises and powers shall cease and be void; and the court shall thereupon appoint a receiver or receivers of the assets and estate of said corporation, who shall proceed to wind up the affairs of said corporation, for the benefit of its creditors and stockholders, under the direction of the court. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1319, ch. 854, § 789.)

§ 29–724 [5: 414]. Final decree—Power to withhold pending remedy of grievance.

If the court, either upon a hearing ex parte or after answer, shall be of opinion that no cause of forfeiture is shown or that the public interests do not demand that such forfeiture be decreed, though legal cause therefor has been shown, it shall dismiss the petition. And if the court shall determine that legal cause of forfeiture has been shown, it may, in its discretion, before passing a final decree of forfeiture, pass orders requiring the said corporation, within a time to be therein fixed, to remedy the grievance complained of, and may suspend the passage of the final decree of forfeiture until the time so fixed, and may afterwards refuse to pass such decree if the grievance shall have been remedied by the time so fixed. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1320, ch. 854, § 793; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 534, ch. 1329.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

UNAUTHORIZED DEGREES

This section declares that the district attorney may file a bill in the name of the United States in the Supreme Court of the District and it applies to corporations giving degrees when not authorized. National Assn. of C. P. A. v. United States (53 App. D. C. 391, 292 Fed. 668).

§ 29–726 [5: 416]. Involuntary dissolution at the suit of creditors.

When any corporation in the District has remained insolvent for a year, or has neglected or refused for that period to pay and discharge its notes or other evidences of debt, or has, for that period, suspended its ordinary and lawful business, a bill may be filed by the district attorney, as aforesaid, for the dissolution of said corporation, or, if he shall decline to do so, on the application of any judgment creditor of said corporation, the said judgment creditor, if an execution upon his judgment shall be returned unsatisfied, in whole or in part, may file such bill. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1320, ch. 854, § 794.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

SUFFICIENCY OF BILL

A bill for a receivership of an insurance company, asking for a dissolution, may be sufficient to invoke the court's general equity jurisdiction, though not for a statutory dissolution. National Ben. Life Ins. Co. v. Shaw-Walker Co. (71 App. D. C. 276, 111 Fed. (2d) 497).

§ 29–727 [5: 417]. Injunction against transferring assets—Receiver.

Upon prima facie proof of the facts necessary to sustain such suit the court may issue an injunction restraining the corporation, its trustees, directors, and officers from collecting or receiving any debt or demand and from paying out or transferring or delivering to any person any of its property or effects and from exercising any of its corporate rights and franchises during the pendency of the suit, unless by permission of the court. And at any stage of the proceeding the court may appoint a receiver to collect and preserve the property of the corporation and dispose of and manage the same, under the direction of the court, until final decree in the cause. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1320, ch. 854, § 795.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

COLLATERAL ATTACK

Where a receiver for a life insurance company had been appointed, and a representative of policyholders subsequently instituted a second proceeding for a dissolution, and asking another receiver, on the ground that the court had exceeded its jurisdiction in appointing the first receiver, the second proceeding was an arbitrary exercise of discretion, as the assets had been liquidated, and only distribution remained to be made, and an unwarranted collateral attack. National Ben. Life Ins. Co. v. Shaw-Walker Co. (71 App. D. C. 276, 111 Fed. (2d) 497).

DISCRETION OF COURT IN APPOINTING RECEIVER

The provision for the appointment of a receiver in dissolution proceedings is not mandatory, and the appointment is at the court's discretion. National Ben. Life Ins. Co. v. Shaw-Walker Co. (71 App. D. C. 276, 111 Fed. (2d) 497).

§ 29–728 [5: 418]. Parties defendant in creditor's suit.

Where the action is brought by a creditor, the stockholders, directors, trustees, or other officers, or any of them who may be made liable by law for the payment of the complainant's debt, may be made parties defendant by the original or a supplemental bill, and their liability may be declared and enforced by the decree; but nothing herein shall prevent any creditor from enforcing such liability in a separate suit against such parties. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1321, ch. 854, § 796.)

§ 29–729 [5: 419]. Account and distribution.

In such suit, if the court shall be of opinion that the complainant is entitled to the relief prayed, and that such corporation ought to be dissolved, the court shall cause an account to be taken of the assets and debts of the corporation and shall decree an equal distribution of the assets among the creditors, subject to existing liens; but if said corporation has no property to satisfy its creditors, or to the extent to which its property is insufficient therefor, the court may require the stockholders, who are parties defendant to the suit, to pay into court the amounts due and unpaid on the shares of stock held by them, and shall ascertain the amounts properly chargeable, in favor of creditors, to said stockholders and the trustees, directors, or other officers who are parties to the suit, and in the final decree for the dissolution shall adjudge and decree that said amounts shall be paid into court by the parties respectively liable therefor, to be applied to the payment of the debts of the corporation. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1321, ch. 854, § 797.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

COLLATERAL ATTACK

A collateral attack upon the creation and existence of a cooperative, and alleged want of capacity to own and dispose of real estate can only be asserted by the state and not by parties to a private dispute. Glennon v. Butler (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 519).

POWERS

Cooperative associations are specifically authorized to acquire, own, hold, sell, lease, pledge, mortgage or otherwise dispose of any properties incident to their purposes and activities. Glennon v. Butler (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 519).

§ 29–805. Articles of incorporation—Contents.

Articles of incorporation shall be signed by each of the incorporators and acknowledged by at least three of them if natural persons, and by the presidents and secretaries, if associations, before an officer authorized to take acknowledgments.

Within the limitations of this chapter the articles shall contain—

(1) A statement as to the purpose or purposes for which the association is formed;

(2) The name of the association which shall include the word "cooperative";

(5) The names and addresses of the incorporators of the association;

(6) The names and addresses of the directors who shall manage the affairs of the association for the first year, unless sooner changed by the members;

The articles may also contain any other provisions not inconsistent with law or with this chapter, for the conduct of the association's affairs. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 481, ch. 397, § 5.)

Said fees shall be in lieu of any other fees or payments provided in section 45–708, or in any other section of the Code of Laws of the District of Columbia, to be paid for at the time of said filing; and the last paragraph of section 45–708 shall have no application to associations organized under this chapter. After such filing and recording, he shall issue a certificate of incorporation, whereupon the corporate existence shall begin. This shall not preclude the institution of quo warranto proceedings under sections 16–601 to 16–611. The filing or recording of the articles or of amendments thereto, or of any other papers pursuant to this chapter is required for the purpose of affording all persons the opportunity of acquiring knowledge of the contents thereof, but no person or incorporated or unincorporated group dealing with the association shall be charged with constructive notice of the contents of any such articles or papers by reason of such filing or recording. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 482, ch. 397, § 6.)

§ 29–826. Transfer of shares and membership—Withdrawal.

If a member desires to withdraw from the association or dispose of any or all of his holdings therein, the directors shall have the power to purchase such holdings by paying him the par value of any or all of the holdings offered. The directors shall then reissue or cancel the same. A vote of the majority of the members voting at a regular or special meeting may order the directors to exercise this power to purchase.

If the association fails, within sixty days of the original offer, to purchase all or any part of the holdings offered, the member may dispose of the unpurchased interest elsewhere, subject to the approval of the transferee by a majority vote of the directors. Any would-be transferee not approved by the directors may appeal to the members at their first regular or special meeting thereafter, and the action of the meeting shall be final. If such transferee is not approved, the directors shall exercise their power to purchase, if and when such purchase can be made without jeopardizing the solvency of the association. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 485, ch. 397, § 26.)

The by-laws may give the directors the power to use the reserve funds to recall, at par value, the holdings of any member in excess of the amount requisite for membership; and may also provide that if any member has failed to patronize the association during a period of time specified in the by-laws, the directors may use the reserve funds to recall all his holdings and thereupon he shall cease to be a member of the association. When so recalled, such certificates of share or membership capital shall be either reissued or canceled. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 485, ch. 397, § 27.)

§ 29–828. Share and membership certificates—Attachment.

The holdings of any member of an association, to the extent of the minimum amount necessary for membership, but not to exceed $50, shall be exempt from attachment, execution, or garnishment for the debts of the owner. If any holdings in excess of this amount are subjected to such liability, the directors of the association may either admit the purchaser thereof to membership, or may purchase from him such holdings at par value. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 485, ch. 397, § 28.)

§ 29–829. Liability of members.

Members shall not be jointly or severally liable for any debts of the association, nor shall a subscriber be so liable except to the extent of the unpaid amount on the shares or membership certificate subscribed by him. No subscriber shall be released from such liability by reason of any assignment of his interest in the shares or membership certificate, but shall remain jointly and severally liable with the assignee until the shares or certificates are fully paid up. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 486, ch. 397, § 29.)

§ 29–830. Expulsion of members—Procedure—Purchase of holdings.

A member may be expelled by the vote of a majority of the members voting at a regular or special meeting. The member against whom the charges are to be preferred shall be informed thereof in writing at least ten days in advance of the meeting, and shall have an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel at said meeting. On decision of the association to expel a member, the board of directors shall purchase the member's holdings at par value, if and when there are sufficient reserve funds. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 486, ch. 397, § 30.)

§ 29–831. Allocation and distribution of net savings.

At least once a year the members and/or the directors, as the articles or by-laws may provide, shall apportion the net savings of the association in the following order:

(1) Not less than 10 per centum shall be placed in a reserve fund until such time as the fund shall equal at least 50 per centum of the paid-up capital; and such fund may be used in the general conduct of the business. The amounts apportioned to the reserve fund shall be allocated on the books of the association on a patronage basis, or in lieu thereof, the books and records of the association shall afford a means for doing so, in order that upon dissolution or earlier, if deemed advisable, such reserves may be returned to the patrons who have contributed the same, subject to the limitations of section 29–836 herein;

(2) A return upon capital, within the limitations of section 29–822, may be paid upon share capital, or, if the by-laws so provide, upon the membership capital certificates of a nonshare association; but such return upon capital may be paid only out of the surplus of the aggregate of the assets over the aggregate of the liabilities (including in the latter the amount of the capital stock) after deducting from such aggregate of the assets the amount by which such aggregate was increased by unrealized appreciation in value or revaluation of fixed assets;

(3) A portion of the remainder, as determined by the articles or by-laws, shall be allocated to an educational fund to be used in teaching cooperation, and a portion may also be allocated to funds for the general welfare of the members of the association;

(4) The remainder shall be allocated at the same uniform rate to all patrons of the association in proportion to their individual patronage: Provided, That—

(a) in the case of a member patron, his proportionate amount of savings returns shall be distributed to him unless he agrees that the association should credit the amount to his account toward the purchase of an additional share or shares, or additional membership capital;

(b) in the case of a subscriber patron, his proportionate amount of savings returns may, as the articles or by-laws provide, be distributed to him, or credited to his account until the amount of capital subscribed for has been fully paid;

(c) in the case of a nonmember patron, his proportionate amount of savings returns shall be set aside in a general fund for such patrons and shall be allocated to individual nonmember patrons only upon request and presentation of evidence of the amount of their patronage. Any savings return so allocated shall be credited to such patron toward payment of the minimum amount of share or membership capital necessary for membership. When a sum equal to this amount has accumulated at any time within a period of time specified in the by-laws, such patron shall be deemed and become a member of the association if he so agrees or requests, and complies with any provisions in the by-laws for admission to membership. The certificates of shares or membership to which he is entitled shall then be issued to him.

(d) if within any periods of time specified in the articles or by-laws, (1) any subscriber has not accumulated and paid in the amount of capital subscribed for; or (2) any nonmember patron has not accumulated in his individual account the sum necessary for membership; or (3) any nonmember patron has accumulated the sum necessary for membership but neither requests nor agrees to become a member, or fails to comply with the provisions of the by-laws, if any, for admission to membership, then the amounts so accumulated or paid in and any part of the general fund for nonmember patrons which has not been allocated to individual nonmember patrons shall go to the educational fund and thereafter no member or other patron shall have any rights in said paid-in capital or accumulated savings returns as such: Provided further, That nothing in this section shall prevent an association under this chapter which is engaged in rendering services from disposing of the net savings from the rendering of such services in such manner as to lower the fees charged for services or otherwise to further the common benefit of the members: And provided further, That nothing in this section shall prevent an association from adopting a system whereby the payment of savings returns which would otherwise be distributed, shall be deferred for a fixed period of months or years; nor from adopting a system, whereby the savings returns distributed shall be partly in cash, partly in shares, such shares to be retired at a fixed future date, in the order of their serial number or date of issue. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 486, ch. 397, § 31.)

§ 29–832. Bonding of officers and employees.

Every individual acting as officer or employee of an association and handling funds or securities amounting to $1,000 or more, in any one year, shall be covered by an adequate bond as determined by the board of directors, and at the expense of the association; and the by-laws may also provide for the bonding of other employees or officers. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 486, ch. 397, § 32.)

§ 29–833. Books—Auditing.

To record its business operation, every association shall keep a set of books, which shall be audited at the end of each fiscal year by an experienced bookkeeper or accountant, who shall not be an officer or director. Where the annual business amounts to less than $10,000, the audit may be performed by an auditing committee of three, who shall not be directors, officers, or employees. A written report of the audit, including a statement of the amount of business transacted with members, and the amount transacted with nonmembers, the balance sheet, and the income and expenses, shall be submitted to the annual meeting of the association. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 488, ch. 397, § 33.)

§ 29–834. Annual report of association.

Every association shall annually, within sixty days of the close of its operations for that year, make a report of its condition, sworn to by the president and secretary, which report shall be filed with the recorder of deeds. The report shall state—

(a) The name and principal address of the association.

(b) The names, addresses, occupations, and date of expiration of the terms, of the officers and directors, and their compensation, if any.

(d) The receipts, expenditures, assets, and liabilities of the association.

A copy of this report shall be kept on file at the principal office of the association.

Any person who shall subscribe or make oath to such report containing a materially false statement, known to such person to be false, shall upon conviction of such offense be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200, or by imprisonment of not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 488, ch. 397, § 34.)

§ 29–835. Notice of delinquent reports—Mandamus.

If an association fails to make such report within the required period of sixty days, the recorder of deeds shall within sixty days from the expiration of said period send such association a registered letter directed to its principal office, stating the delinquency and its consequences. If the association fails to file the report within sixty days from the mailing of such notice, any member of the association or the United States attorney for the District of Columbia may by petition for mandamus against the association and its proper officers compel such filing to be made, and in such case the court shall require the association or the officers at fault to pay all the expenses of the proceeding including counsel fees. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 488, ch. 397, § 35.)

§ 29–836. Dissolution—Methods—Procedure.

An association may, at any regular or special meeting legally called, be directed to dissolve by a vote of two-thirds of the entire membership. By a vote of a majority of the members voting three of their number shall be designated as trustees, who shall, on behalf of the association and within a time fixed in their designation or within any extension thereof, liquidate its assets, and shall distribute them in the manner set forth in this section. A suit for involuntary dissolution of an association organized under this chapter may be instituted for the causes and prosecuted in the manner set forth in sections 29–719 to 29–724, 29–726 to 29–729: Provided, That any distribution of assets shall be in the manner set forth in this section. In case of any dissolution of an association, its assets shall be distributed in the following manner and order: (1) By paying its debts and expenses; (2) by returning to the members the par value of their shares or of their membership certificates, returning to the subscribers the amounts paid on their subscriptions, and returning to the patrons the amount of savings returns credited to their accounts toward the purchase of shares or membership certificates; and (3) by distributing any surplus in either or both of the following ways as the articles may provide—

(a) Among those patrons who have been members or subscribers at any time during the past six years, on the basis of their patronage during that period;

(b) As a gift to any consumers' cooperative association or other nonprofit enterprise which may be designated in the Articles. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 489, ch. 397, § 36.)

§ 29–837. Penalties—Unauthorized use of name "cooperative"—Existing cooperatives.

Only (1) associations organized under this chapter, (2) groups organized on a cooperative basis under any other law of the District of Columbia, and (3) foreign corporations operating on a cooperative basis and authorized to do business in the District of Columbia under this or any other law of the District of Columbia shall be entitled to use the term "cooperative," or any abbreviation or derivation thereof, as part of their business name, or to represent themselves, in their advertising or otherwise, as conducting business on a cooperative basis.

Any person, firm, or corporation violating the above provision shall upon conviction of such offense be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200, with an additional fine of not more than $200 for each month during which a violation occurs after the first month, or by imprisonment for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The district attorney of the United States for the District of Columbia, or any individual, or association, or group organized on a cooperative basis, may sue to enjoin an alleged violation of this section.

Should a court of competent jurisdiction decide that any person, firm, or corporation using the name "cooperative" prior to this chapter, and not organized on a cooperative basis, is entitled to continue in such use, any such business shall always place immediately after its name the words "does not comply with the cooperative association law of the District of Columbia" in the same kind of type, and in letters not less than two-thirds as large, as those used in the term "cooperative." (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 489, ch. 397, § 37.)

§ 29–838. Promotion expenses—Limitations—Penalty.

An association shall not, directly or indirectly, use any of its funds, nor issue shares nor incur any indebtedness, for the payment of any compensation for the organization of the association except necessary legal fees; nor for the payment of any promotion expenses in excess of 5 per centum of the amount paid in for the shares or membership certificates involved in the promotion transaction. Any association's officer, director, or agent who gives, or any person, firm, corporation or association which receives such promotion commission in violation of this section shall, upon conviction of such offense, be punished by a fine of not less than $25, nor more than $200, or by imprisonment for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 489, ch. 397, § 38.)

§ 29–839. Spreading false reports—Penalty.

Any person, firm, corporation, or association which maliciously and knowingly spreads false reports about the management or finances of any association shall, upon conviction of such offense, be punished by a fine of not less than $25 and not more than $200, or by imprisonment for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 490, ch. 397, § 39.)

§ 29–840. Existing cooperative groups—Acceptance of act.

Any group incorporated under another law of the District of Columbia and operating on a cooperative basis or any unincorporated group operating on such a basis in the District of Columbia may elect by a vote of two-thirds of the members voting to secure the benefits of and be bound by this chapter, and shall thereupon amend such of its articles and by-laws as are not in conformity with this chapter. A certified copy of the amended articles shall be filed and recorded with the recorder of deeds and a fee of $5 shall be paid. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 490, ch. 397, § 40.)

§ 29–841. Foreign corporations and associations—Admission to do business.

A foreign corporation or association operating on a cooperative basis and complying with the applicable laws of the state wherein it is organized shall be entitled to do business in the District of Columbia as a foreign cooperative corporation or association. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 490, ch. 397, § 41.)

§ 29–842. Legality declared—Not in restraint of trade.

No association, or method or act thereof which complies with this chapter, shall be deemed a conspiracy or combination in restraint of trade or an illegal monopoly, or an attempt to lessen competition or fix prices arbitrarily. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 490, ch. 397, § 42.)

§ 29–843. Laws not applicable.

No law of the District of Columbia conflicting or inconsistent with any part of this chapter shall, to the extent of the conflict or inconsistency, be construed as applicable to associations formed hereunder; nor shall any law of the District of Columbia inappropriate to the purposes of such associations be so construed; nor shall any of the provisions of sections 574 through 797, both inclusive, of the Act entitled "An Act to establish a Code of Law for the District of Columbia," approved March 3, 1901, be construed as applicable to associations formed hereunder, except as expressly stated in this chapter. (June 19, 1940, 54 Stat. 490, ch. 397, § 43.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

COMMON-LAW MARRIAGE

Proof of common-law marriage was not sufficient to sustain a contract in consideration of marriage. Evans v. Neumann (51 App. D. C. 300, 278 Fed. 1013).

Common-law marriage not invalid. Surviving widow may recover compensation. Hoage v. Murch Bros. Constr. Co. (60 App. D. C. 218, 50 Fed. (2d) 983).

The removal of an impediment while parties continue to live together as husband and wife gives rise to a common-law marriage. Thoma v. Murphy (71 App. D. C. 69, 107 Fed. (2d) 268).

The rule which finds a common-law marriage upon the removal of the impediment, has sometimes been applied though one or both of the parties knew of the impediment, and this result seems socially sound. Thomas v. Murphy (71 App. D. C. 69, 107 Fed. (2d) 268).

The removal of an impediment to marriage while the parties continued to live together as husband and wife in the District of Columbia, gives rise to a "common law marriage." McVicker v. McVicker (App. D. C. 1942, 130 F. 2d 837).

DELINQUENT OR DEPENDENT CHILDREN

Marriage of a female child, in itself, does not automatically terminate the control of delinquent or dependent children. Richardson v. Browning (57 App. D. C. 186, 18 Fed. (2d) 1008).

DIVORCED PERSONS

This section does not apply to the prohibited remarriage of a divorced person. Loughran v. Loughran (292 U. S. 216, 78 L. Ed. 1219, 54 Sup. Ct. 684); Thomas v. Murphy (71 App. D. C. 69, 107 Fed. (2d) 268).

DIVORCE OBTAINED BY FRAUD

Although District residents, seeking divorce in Virginia, are in pari delicto, a divorce fraudulently obtained will render a subsequent marriage by one absolutely void. Simmons v. Simmons (57 App. D. C. 216, 19 Fed. (2d) 690, 54 A. L. R. 75).

Status of parties obtaining divorce by falsehood and subterfuge; decree void; subsequent marriage void. Decree not required if marriage void ab initio. Frey v. Frey (61 App. D. C. 232, 59 Fed. (2d) 1046).

LACHES AND ESTOPPEL

Plaintiff who caused divorce action to be instituted in Virginia by defendant, and thereafter married defendant and lived with her for more than 10 years, is barred by the principles of laches or estoppel from challenging the Virginia decree of divorce. Goodloe v. Hawk (72 App. D. C. 287, 113 Fed. (2d) 753).

Since this chapter, read as a whole, is not clear regarding intention of Congress as to whether doctrines of laches and estoppel can be applied in both independent annulment suits and in an attack upon marriage in divorce action on ground of invalidity of prior divorce decree of one of the parties, it must be construed and a reasonable intent must be attributed to Congress. Ruppert v. Ruppert, 1942 (134 F. 2d 497, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

In wife's divorce suit, where at time of hearing of motion for new trial on ground of newly discovered evidence that wife's foreign divorce decree from another was invalid because of fraud perpetrated on court regarding wife's residence, law in District of Columbia had been declared to be that in annulment proceedings doctrines of laches and estoppel were inapplicable but thereafter it was held that the general public policy no longer prevented application in annulment actions of laches and estoppel doctrines in determining the effect to be given an irregular foreign divorce decree, wife was entitled to a determination of the case on the basis of the law as declared in the later decision. Ruppert v. Ruppert, 1942 (134 F. 2d 497, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

Under marriage and divorce statutes of District of Columbia, in determining the effect to be given irregular foreign divorce decree, the doctrines of "laches" and "estoppel" may be applied not only in annulment actions but also in divorce action where attack upon marriage by a party thereto is made by way of defense. Ruppert v. Ruppert, 1942 (134 F. 2d 497, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

In wife's divorce action, where at conclusion of hearing on husband's motion for new trial on ground of invalidity of wife's prior foreign divorce decree, trial court dismissed complaint on ground that wife's previous marriage had not been terminated but made no finding of fact and stated no conclusions of law upon issues of laches and estoppel of husband to set up invalidity of foreign divorce decree of wife, judgment was reversed and cause remanded for further findings of fact and conclusions of law on such issue. Ruppert v. Ruppert, 1942 (134 F. 2d 497. 77 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

In wife's divorce action, where at conclusion of hearing on husband's motion for new trial on ground of invalidity of marriage because of invalidity of wife's prior foreign divorce decree from another, court ordered wife's complaint dismissed on theory that prior marriage had not been terminated and wife's motion to vacate judgment and for new trial was not timely made, overruling of wife's motion could not be considered a determination against the wife of issues of laches and estoppel presented by her motion since it was assumed that the trial court properly overruled the motion on the ground that the motion was too late and did not pass on the merits of the motion. Ruppert v. Ruppert, 1942 (134 F. 2d 497, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

REMARRIAGE DURING PERIOD FOR APPEAL

Where marriage was annulled, remarriage of wife after final decree of annulment but before expiration of period for appeal was valid. Tillinghast v. Tillinghast (58 App. D. C. 107, 25 Fed. (2d) 531).

STATE LAWS

Marriages not polygamous or incestuous, or otherwise declared void by statute, will, if valid by the law of the state where entered into, be recognized as valid in every other jurisdiction. Loughran v. Loughran (292 U. S. 216, 78 L. Ed. 1219, 54 Sup. Ct. 684).

Mere statutory prohibition by the state of the domicile either generally of the remarriage of a divorced person, or of remarriage within a prescribed period after the entry of the decree, is given only territorial effect. Such a statute does not invalidate a marriage solemnized in another state in conformity with the laws thereof. Loughran v. Loughran (292 U. S. 216, 78 L. Ed. 1219, 54 Sup. Ct. 684).

Language of the Illinois statute does not go so far as the language of the District regarding prohibited marriages which "shall be absolutely void ab initio. without being so decreed, and their nullity may be shown in any collateral proceedings." Abramson v. Abramson (60 App. D. C. 119, 49 Fed. (2d) 501).

A marriage which is void under the laws of the state where it was celebrated is void in the District of Columbia. Rhodes v. Rhodes (68 App. D. C. 313, 96 Fed. (2d) 715).

Particular public-policy may require annulment of marriage without regard to guilt or innocence of parties affected, but the general public policy in this jurisdiction, as judicially interpreted, no longer prevents application in annulment actions of the laches and estoppel doctrines in determining the effect to be given foreign divorce decrees. Goodloe v. Hawk (72 App. D. C. 287, 113 Fed. (2d) 753).

Divorce decree of Virginia court granted person acquiring domicil to obtain divorce but with intention of remaining for an indefinite period is valid under Virginia law and will be recognized in the District of Columbia. Goodloe v. Hawk (72 App. D. C. 287, 113 Fed. (2d) 753).

§ 30–102 [14: 2]. Marriage may be decreed to be void.

Any of such marriages may also be declared to have been null and void by judicial decree. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1391, ch. 854, § 1284.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

MARRIAGE VOID UNDER STATUTE

Where it appears to the court that a marriage is an absolute nullity, the duty under the law is to decree such a marriage void and prevent any further criminal union of the parties. Simmons v. Simmons (57 App. D. C. 216, 19 Fed. (2d) 690, 54 A. L. R. 75).

§ 30–103 [14: 3]. Marriages void from date of decree—Age of consent.

The following marriages in said District shall be illegal, and shall be void from the time when their nullity shall be declared by decree, namely:

First. The marriage of an idiot or of a person adjudged to be a lunatic.

Second. Any marriage the consent to which of either party has been procured by force or fraud.

Third. Any marriage either of the parties to which shall be incapable, from physical causes, of entering into the married state.

Fourth. When either of the parties is under the age of consent, which is hereby declared to be eighteen years of age for males and sixteen years of age for females. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1391, ch. 854, § 1285; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 543, ch. 1329; Aug. 12, 1937, 50 Stat. 626, ch. 596, § 1.)

AMENDMENTS

Act of 1901 was amended by act of 1902 by adding, "Fourth, when either of the parties is under the age of consent, which is hereby declared to be sixteen years of age for males and fourteen for females."

Act of 1937 changed the ages in the "Fourth" section.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ANNULMENT BECAUSE OF LUNACY

"Full force and effect will be given to section 1285 (§ 30–103), if the adjudication of lunacy referred to therein is construed to mean adjudication of lunacy in the suit instituted for the annulment of the marriage, although such adjudication per se might not authorize the appointment of a committee, as under section 115b of the code (§ 21–301), which requires a direct proceeding for the purpose." Mackey v. Peters (22 App. D. C. 341). distinguishing Groff v. Miller (20 App. D. C. 353).

Suit for annulment of marriage because of lunacy may be filed by a next friend, notwithstanding the fact that a committee has been appointed. Mackey v. Peters (22 App. D. C. 341).

DISEASE

"Public policy" does not require that an innocent woman must live in marital relationship with a syphilitic husband where marriage is procured by fraud of husband in concealing the disease. Stone v. Stone, 1943 (136 F. 2d 761, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 5).

Where wife suing for annulment of marriage, contracted in Virginia, because of husband's alleged fraudulent concealment of fact that he was suffering with a venereal disease, produced evidence indicating that husband concealed his condition and that wife on being advised that husband had disease immediately separated and speedily instituted annulment suit, suit was improperly dismissed notwithstanding wife failed to produce Virginia examining physician. Stone v. Stone, 1943 (136 F. 2d 761, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 5).

Where wife sought annulment of marriage, contracted in Virginia, on ground of husband's fraudulent concealment of fact that he was suffering with a venereal disease, and wife acted promptly, as soon as she ascertained truth, and refused thereafter to continue marital status, the wife who failed to produce Virginia examining physician, counsel having been appointed by court to represent husband, did not come under rule that a party who has it peculiarly within his power to produce a witness, by failing to do so, creates an inference that if the testimony were produced it would be unfavorable. Stone v. Stone, 1943 (136 F. 2d 761, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 5).

GROUNDS FOR ANNULMENT

Concealment of pregnancy as fraud. Lenoir v. Lenoir (24 App. D. C. 160).

Mere barrenness is not a ground for the annulment of a marriage, though the prime object of marriage is thus defeated. Burroughs v. Burroughs (55 App. D. C. 271, 4 Fed. (2d) 938).

LAW GOVERNING

There being no "public policy" in the District of Columbia which declares marriages contracted by females over 16 but under 18 or males over 18 but under 21 without consent of their parents to be void, the determinant of the right to annulment of a marriage contracted under such circumstances was the law as it prevailed in state where marriage occurred. Hitchens v. Hitchens (D. C., D. C. 1942, 47 F. Supp. 73).

PURPOSE

It is the purpose of this section that marriages procured by fraud may be set aside at instance of innocent party. Stone v. Stone, 1943 (136 F. 2d 761, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 5).

REMARRIAGE WITHIN PERIOD FOR APPEAL

A marriage of the unsuccessful party is not void which was performed before the twenty-day period allowed for appeal from an annulment decree, such provision being for the protection of the unsuccessful party. Tillinghast v. Tillinghast (58 App. D. C. 107, 25 Fed. (2d) 531).

§ 30–104 [14: 4]. Annulment—Party plaintiff—Next friend—Capable person who knowingly contracted illegal marriage.

A proceeding to declare the nullity of a marriage may be instituted in the case of an infant under the age of consent by such infant, through a next friend, or by the parent or guardian of such infant; and in the case of an idiot or lunatic by next friend. But no such proceedings shall be allowed to be instituted by any person who, being fully capable of contracting a marriage, has knowingly and wilfully contracted any marriage declared illegal by the foregoing sections. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1392, ch. 854, § 1286; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 543, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

The 1902 amendment struck out the word "contraeted" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "contracted."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

LACHES AND ESTOPPEL

Under marriage and divorce statutes of District of Columbia, in determining the effect to be given irregular foreign divorce decree, the doctrines of "laches" and "estoppel" may be applied not only in annulment actions but also in divorce action where attack upon marriage by a party thereto is made by way of defense. Ruppert v. Ruppert, 1942 (134 F. 2d 497, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

Since this chapter, read as a whole, is not clear regarding intention of Congress as to whether doctrines of laches and estoppel can be applied in both independent annulment suits and in an attack upon marriage in divorce action on ground of invalidity of prior divorce decree of one of the parties, it must be construed and a reasonable intent must be attributed to Congress. Ruppert v. Ruppert, 1942 (134 F. 2d 497, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

In wife's divorce action, where at conclusion of hearing on husband's motion for new trial on ground of invalidity of wife's prior foreign divorce decree, trial court dismissed complaint on ground that wife's previous marriage had not been terminated but made no finding of fact and stated no conclusions of law upon issues of laches and estoppel of husband to set up invalidity of foreign divorce decree of wife, judgment was reversed and cause remanded for further findings of fact and conclusions of law on such issue. Ruppert v. Ruppert, 1942 (134 F. 2d 497, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

In wife's divorce action, where at conclusion of hearing on husband's motion for new trial on ground of invalidity of marriage because of invalidity of wife's prior foreign divorce decree from another, court ordered wife's complaint dismissed on theory that prior marriage had not been terminated and wife's motion to vacate judgment and for new trial was not timely made, overruling of wife's motion could not be considered a determination against the wife of issues of laches and estoppel presented by her motion since it was assumed that the trial court property overruled the motion on the ground that the motion was too late and did not pass on the merits of the motion. Ruppert v. Ruppert, 1942 (134 F. 2d 497, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

VOID AND VOIDABLE

Statute classifies some marriages as void and others as voidable, and in the latter case prohibits, under some circumstances, the bringing of actions to declare them void. Rhodes v. Rhodes (68 App. D. C. 313, 96 Fed. (2d) 715).

§ 30–105 [14: 5]. Marriage out of District of domiciled persons.

If any marriage declared illegal by the aforegoing sections shall be entered into in another jurisdiction by persons having and retaining their domicile in the District of Columbia, such marriage shall be deemed illegal, and may be decreed to be void in said District in the same manner as if it had been celebrated therein. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1392, ch. 854, § 1287.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PROHIBITED REMARRIAGE OF DIVORCED PERSONS

This section has no application to marriages in violation of a statute which prohibits remarriage of party divorced for adultery. Loughran v. Loughran (292 U. S. 216, 78 L. Ed. 1219, 54 Sup. Ct. 684).

§ 30–106 [14: 6]. Persons authorized to perform marriage ceremony.

For the purpose of preserving the evidence of marriages in the District, every minister of the gospel appointed or ordained according to the rites and ceremonies of his church, whether his residence be in the District or elsewhere in the United States or the Territories, may be authorized by any justice of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia to celebrate marriages in the District. And marriages may be celebrated in the District by any judge or justice of any court of record: Provided, however, That marriages of members of any church or religious society which does not by its custom require the intervention of a minister for the celebration of marriages may be solemnized in the manner prescribed and practiced in any such society, the license in such case to be issued to, and

NOTES TO DECISIONS

LAW GOVERNING

There being no "public policy" in the District of Columbia which declares marriages contracted by females over 16 but under 18 or males over 18 but under 21 without consent of their parents to be void, the determinant of the right to annulment of a marriage contracted under such circumstances was the law as it prevailed in state where marriage occurred. Hitchens v. Hitchens (D. C., D. C. 1942, 47 F. Supp. 73).

MAJORITY OF FEMALE

There is no statute in force which clearly provides that female infants shall as a general rule attain their majority at the age of 18 years. Exceptions to the common-law rule have been provided by statute; these, however, recognize the continued existence of the general rule of the common law. Jones v. Jones (63 App. D. C. 373, 72 Fed. (2d) 829, 95 A. L. R. 352).

§ 30–112 [14: 11]. Form of license—Return—Coupon.

Licenses to perform the marriage ceremony shall be addressed to some particular minister, magistrate, or other person authorized by section 30–106 to perform or witness the marriage ceremony and shall be in the following form:

You are hereby authorized to celebrate (or witness) the rites of marriage between ——— ———, of ———, and ——— ———, of ———, and having done so, you are commanded to make return of the same to the clerk's office of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia within ten days under a penalty of fifty dollars for default therein.

——— ——— Clerk.

By ——— ——— Assistant Clerk.

A second coupon, of corresponding number with the license, shall be attached to and issued with said license, to be given to the contracting parties by the minister or other person to whom such license was addressed, and shall be in the following form:

Number ———.

I hereby certify that on this ——— day of ———, at ———, ——— ——— and ——— ——— were by (or before) me united in marriage in accordance with the license issued by the clerk of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia.

The 1914 amendment made various changes in the form of the licenses and certificates.

(Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1393, ch. 854, § 1294; Apr. 23, 1904, 33 Stat. 298, ch. 1490, § 3.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

COMMON LAW

At common law, the husband was entitled during coverture, to the full control and benefits of property held by entirety, and this right was not derived from the nature of the estate but from the general principle of common law vesting of the wife's property in the husband, and the husband's right to rents and profits was subject to execution, and husband could convey the property so as to divest the wife of possession during his life and, in the case he survived her, to vest in the grantee an absolute estate. Fairclaw v. Forrest, 1942 (130 F. 2d 829, 76 U. S. App. D. C. 197, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 531, 318 U. S. 756, 87 L. Ed. 1130).

INDORSEMENT OF STOCK CERTIFICATES

The indorsement, by a wife, of stock certificates, delivered to her husband to be used by him as security for a loan, does not violate this section, the wife having no part in the transaction. Columbia Nat. Bank v. Shacklett (57 App. D. C. 130, 18 Fed. (2d) 172).

MAJORITY OF FEMALE

There is no statute in force in the District of Columbia which clearly provides that female infants shall as a general rule attain their majority at the age of 18 years. Exceptions to the common-law rule have been provided by statute; these, however, recognize the continued existence of the general rule of the common law. Jones v. Jones (63 App. D. C. 373, 72 Fed. (2d) 829, 95 A. L. R. 352).

TENANCY BY ENTIRETY

"Tenancy by entirety" epitomized the common-law unity of husband and wife by uniting the conceptions of marital entity and joint tenancy and the spouses were neither joint tenants nor tenants in common, for, husband and wife being considered as one person, they could not hold the estate by moities as joint tenants, per tout et per my, but both were seised of the entirety, per tout et non per my, and the consequence of this was a union of husband and wife in the estate so that neither could dispose of any part without the assent of the other and the whole remained to the survivor. Fairclaw v. Forrest, 1942 (130 F. 2d 829, 76 U. S. App. D. C. 197, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 531, 318 U. S. 756, 87 L. Ed. 1130).

"Tenancy by entirety" is available only to husband and wife and is a convenient mode of protecting a surviving spouse from inconvenient administration of the decedent's estate and from the other's improvident debts, each has the right to receive the property at the death of the other clear of the latter's attempt to encumber it or subjection to payment of his obligations, and the accretion to sole ownership is subject to taxation. Fairclaw v. Forrest, 1942 (130 F. 2d 829, 76 U. S. App. D. C. 197, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 531, 318 U. S. 756, 87 L. Ed. 1130).

Under this chapter each spouse is entitled to the enjoyment and benefits of the whole property held by entirety and neither has a separate estate therein which may be subjected to a conveyance or execution. Fairclaw v. Forrest, 1942 (130 F. 2d 829, 76 U. S. App. D. C. 197, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 531, 318 U. S. 756, 87 L. Ed. 1130).

WILLS

Where will executed in 1928 stated that testatrix's husband had been excluded from benefits thereunder because all the real estate in which testatrix was interested was held in joint tenancy with husband and all of testatrix's earnings for 25 years had gone into such real estate, and the residuary clause devised all the residue, real, personal, and mixed, to testatrix's brother, and testatrix's husband thereafter died before testatrix whose will was not thereafter republished, the residuary clause was valid, as respects real estate theretofore owned by testatrix in joint tenancy with her husband who had predeceased testatrix. Fairclaw v. Forrest, 1942 (130 F. 2d 829, 76 U. S. App. D. C. 197, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 531, 318 U. S. 756, 87 L. Ed. 1130).

(Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1376, ch. 854, § 1170.)

§ 30–203 [14: 23]. Disabilities of infant feme covert—Guardian.

In case any married woman entitled to a separate estate as aforesaid shall be an infant under twenty-one years of age, she shall be under the same disabilities in regard thereto as other infants, except as herein elsewhere provided, and a guardian of said estate shall be appointed. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1375, ch. 854, § 1157.)

S. App. D. C. 197, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 531, 318 U. S. 756, 87 L. Ed. 1130).

INDORSEMENT OF STOCK CERTIFICATES TO HUSBAND

This section is not violated when wife indorsed and delivered stock to her husband as she was not a party to the transactions whereby the several banks made the loans to her husband and received the collateral stock from him. Columbia Nat. Bank v. Shacklett (57 App. D. C. 130, 18 Fed. (2d) 172).

PERSONAL INJURY ACTIONS

A husband is not a "necessary party" to suit by wife to recover damages to herself for injuries negligently inflicted on her person Lansburgh & Bro. v. Clark, 1942 (127 F. 2d 331, 75 U. S. App. D. C. 339, affirming 38 F. Supp. 729).

Under this section, wife has right to recover damages to herself for injuries negligently inflicted on her person. Lansburgh & Bro. v. Clark, 1942 (127 F. 2d 331, 75 U. S. App. D. C. 339, affirming 38 F. Supp. 729).

REPEAL OF FORMER STATUTE

This section repeals § 1155, 1901 code, which prohibited married women from being sureties. Steele v. Harrison (59 App. D. C. 69, 32 Fed. (2d) 965).

In view of the foregoing judicial history of this section, taken together with the proviso, it was plainly the legislative intent that the repeal of the proviso should remove the restrictions imposed by it upon the rights of married women to make contracts as sureties or guarantors, or as accommodation drawers, acceptors, makers, or indorsers, thereby empowering them to enter into such contracts as if unmarried. Jett v. Montague Mfg. Co. (61 App. D. C. 277, 61 Fed. (2d) 918).

SURETY FOR HUSBAND

A married woman cannot sign note as surety for husband. Schwartz v. Sacks (55 App. D. C. 87, 2 Fed. (2d) 188).

TORT ACTION AGAINST HUSBAND

A wife may not maintain an action for tort committed by her husband upon her person before coverture, where the action is begun, but not brought to justice before marriage. Spector v. Weisman (59 App. D. C. 280, 40 Fed. (2d) 792).

Action against former husband for assault committed after decree of absolute divorce had been entered, but before expiration of six months period when decree would become effective, could be maintained as against contention that a married woman may not sue for assault committed on her by her husband during coverture. Steele v. Steele (D. C., D. C. 1946, 65 F. Supp. 329).

TORT LIABILITY

Neither husband nor wife is liable for the tortious acts of one against the other. This is the common law rule and it prevails today in the District, unaffected by Code § 30–208. Yellow Cab Co. v. Dreslin (C. A. D. C. 1950, 181 F. 2d 926, 86 U. S. App. D. C. 327).

§ 30–209 [14: 44]. Contracts of married woman deemed made in reference to her separate estate.

Every contract made by a married woman which she has the power to make shall be deemed to be made with reference to her estate which is made her separate estate by this chapter, and also her equitable separate estate, if any she has, as a source of credit to the extent of her power over the same, unless the contrary intent is expressed in the contract. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1374, ch. 854, § 1156.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

A contract clearly within the power of a married woman to make, "must be deemed to have been made with reference to her separate estate, there being no contrary intent expressed. She is therefore liable to be sued separately thereon." Dobbins v. Thomas (26 App. D. C. 157). See also Dobbins v. Thomas (30 App. D. C. 511).

§ 30–210 [14: 45]. Liability of husband for debts of wife before marriage.

No husband shall be liable in any manner for any debts of his wife contracted or for any claims or demands of any kind against her arising prior to marriage, but she and her property shall remain liable therefor in the same manner as if the marriage had not taken place. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1376, ch. 854, § 1166.)

CROSS REFERENCE

§ 30–211 [14: 46]. Husband liable for wife's acts in certain cases.

Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to relieve the husband from liability for the debts, contracts, or engagements which the wife may incur or enter into upon the credit of her husband, or as his agent, or for necessaries for herself or for his or their children; but as to all such cases his liability shall be or continue as at common law. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1377, ch. 854, § 1177.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

FUNERAL EXPENSES

Under the common law and under this section the husband is primarily liable for "necessaries" furnished his wife which include funeral expenses and such obligation is not affected by this chapter. In re Tunison's Estate (D. C., D. C. 1948, 75 F. Supp. 573).

Where testatrix' will failed to make provision for her funeral expenses, her husband was primarily liable for funeral expenses incurred in and out of the District of Columbia, and such expenses were properly chargeable against husband's distributive share of estate, and, if distributive share payable to husband was not sufficient to defray such funeral expenses, excess thereof was payable out of personalty of estate. In re Tunison's Estate (D. C., D. C. 1948, 75 F. Supp. 573).

LIABILITY FOR NECESSARIES

This section "does not undertake to provide that she shall not render herself liable for necessaries when contracted for independently of her husband and with reference to her separate estate, but merely that, in such cases, the husband shall not be relieved of any liability therefor that he may be under by virtue of the common law. It does not substitute the common-law liability of the husband for that of the wife, but retains it as an additional security for the benefit of the other contracting party." Dobbins v. Thomas (26 App. D. C. 157).

PURCHASES ON CREDIT

A wife, who has been furnished with ample means with which to pay cash for articles of clothing may not purchase the same on her husband's credit. Saks v. Huddleston (59 App. D. C. 133, 36 Fed. (2d) 537).

§ 30–212 [14: 47]. Insurance of husband's life—By wife—By husband—Proceeds taken free from claims.

Any married woman, by herself and in her name, or in the name of any third person, with his assent, as her trustee, may insure or cause to be insured for her sole use, the life of her husband for any definite period or for the term of his natural life; and any husband may cause his own life to be insured for the sole use of his wife, and may also assign any policy of insurance upon his own life to his wife for her sole use; and in case of the wife surviving her husband the sum or net amount of such insurance becoming due and payable by the terms of the insurance shall be payable to her for her own use, free from the claims of the representatives of her husband or any of his creditors. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1375, ch. 854, § 1161.)

§ 30–213 [14: 48]. Insurance for benefit of wife, children, dependent relative, or creditor not liable for husband's debts.

All policies of life insurance upon the life of any person maturing on or after January 1, 1902, and which have been or shall be taken out for the benefit of or bona fide assigned to the wife or children of or any relative dependent upon such person, or any creditor, shall be vested in such wife or children or other relative or creditor, free and clear from all claims of the creditors of such insured person. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1375, ch. 854, § 1162.)

§ 30–214 [14: 49]. Insurance payable on death of wife to children, descendants, or her representatives.

If the wife shall die before her husband, the amount of such insurance may be payable after her death to the children or descendants for their use, and to their guardian if under age; and if there be no children or descendants of the wife living at the time of her death, to her legal representatives. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1375, ch. 854, § 1163.)

§ 30–215 [14: 50]. Receipt of married woman for payment of money deposited by her—Deposits made to defraud creditors.

The receipt of any married woman for the payment of money deposited by her before or after marriage shall be a valid discharge to any individual or corporation making such payment: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall prevent any creditor of the husband from attaching the same or restraining the payment by injunction if the deposit was made in fraud of his creditors. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1375, ch. 854, § 1164.)

§ 30–216 [14: 51]. Release of dower.

If the wife of the party executing a deed, being not less than eighteen years of age, shall desire to release her dower in the property conveyed, she may do so either by joining in the same deed or by a separate deed, wherever executed, signed, sealed, and acknowledged by her in the same manner as provided in section 45–402, and her acknowledgment shall be certified in like manner. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1267, ch. 854, § 494; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 531, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

Act of 1901 read as follows: "If the wife of the party executing said deed, being not less than eighteen years of age, shall desire to release her right of dower in the property conveyed, she shall unite in the deed with her husband and sign, seal, and acknowledge the same in the same manner as her husband, and the officer taking her acknowledgment shall add to the above form of certificate a further certificate to the following effect, namely:

"And at the same time personally appeared before me, in said District, E F, the wife of said C D, personally well known to me (or proved by the oath of credible witnesses) to be such, and acknowledged the same to be her act and deed.

"Such wife, however, may release her right of dower by her separate deed, when the release claims or derives title from, by, through or under her husband."

DEED BY HUSBAND AND WIFE

By a deed, voluntarily executed and duly acknowledged by husband and wife, the entire title of both may be conveyed. Hitz v. Jenks (123 U. S. 297, 31 L. Ed. 156, 8 Sup. Ct. 143).

If the conveyance or instrument in which the wife joins is void, or ceases for any reason to operate, and no title has passed, or none remained, the release does not, after that, operate against the wife. Follansbee v. Follansbee (1 App. D. C. 326).

AMENDMENT

The act of February 25, 1929, added the proviso.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

NONRESIDENTS

Where section 303 of this title showed that Congress assumed to deal with the subject specifically and in mandatory language, this section did not authorize the board in its discretion to impose a charge on a nonresident student whose father was employed in the District of Columbia. Cavanagh v. Ballou (D. C., D. C. 1941, 36 F. Supp. 445).

Chapter 3.—TUITION OF NONRESIDENTS

Sec.

31–304. Soldiers and sailors on duty at stations adjacent to District of Columbia admitted without tuition.
31–305. Children of officers and men of Army and Navy and of employees of United States stationed outside District admitted without tuition.

§ 31–301 [7: 161]. Payment of tuition by nonresidents—Board of Education to fix amount of tuition—Payments deposited in treasury.

(Except as otherwise provided in this chapter) pupils shall not be admitted to or taught free of charge in the public schools of the District of Columbia who do not reside in said District, or who during such tutelage do not own property in and pay taxes levied by the government of the District of Columbia in excess of the tuition charged under this section to other nonresident pupils, or whose parents do not reside or are not engaged in public duties therein, or during such tutelage pay taxes levied by the government of the District of Columbia in excess of the tuition charged under this section to other nonresident pupils: Provided, That any other nonresident pupil may be admitted to and taught in said public schools on the payment of such amount, to be fixed by the Board of Education with the approval of the Commissioners of said District, as will cover the expense of tuition and cost of textbooks and school supplies used by such pupil; and all payments under this section shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States, to the credit of the District of Columbia. (Mar. 3, 1899, 30 Stat. 1056, ch. 422, § 1; Apr. 14, 1906, 34 Stat. 113, ch. 1623; June 26, 1912, 37 Stat. 161, ch. 182.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

Act 1922, 42 Stat. 668, 669, ch. 249, § 1, provided as follows:

"Annually, from and after July 1, 1922, 60 per centum of such expenses of the District of Columbia as Congress may appropriate for shall be paid out of the revenues of the District of Columbia derived from taxation and privileges, and the remaining 40 per centum by the United States excepting such items of expense as Congress may direct shall be paid on another basis, * * * * * * * After June 30, 1922, where the United States is the owner of ground or the holder thereof in trust for the public, upon which improvements have been made at the joint expense of the United States and the District of Columbia, the revenues therefrom shall first be used to pay the United States 3 per centum of the full value of the ground as a ground rent, and the remainder shall be divided between them in the same proportion that each contributed to said improvements, and for such purposes the assessor for the District of Columbia shall fix the full value of the ground after he has first made oath that he will fairly and impartially appraise the same; and that after June 30, 1922, any revenue derived from any activity or source whatever, including motor-vehicle licenses, not otherwise herein disposed of, which activity or source of revenue is appropriated for by both the United States and the District of Columbia, shall be divided between the two in the same proportion that each has contributed thereto."

The appropriation act of June 7, 1924, 43 Stat. 539, ch. 302, § 1, made a lump sum appropriation as follows: "Any revenue (not including the proportionate share of the United States in any revenue arising as the result of the expenditure of appropriations made for the fiscal year 1924 and prior fiscal years) now required by law to be credited to the District of Columbia and the United States in the same proportion that each contributed to the activity or source from whence such revenue was derived shall be credited wholly to the District of Columbia, and in addition, $9,000,000 is appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and all the remainder out of the combined revenues of the District of Columbia and such advances from the Federal Treasury as are authorized in the District of Columbia Appropriation Act for the fiscal year 1923, namely:"

Subsequent appropriation acts contained similar provisions, changing only the amount of the appropriation and the fiscal year (see act of June 12, 1940, 54 Stat. —, ch. 333, § 1). These appropriation acts did not, however, provide for the repeal of the provisions of the 1922 act above quoted. This was done by the act of May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 375, § 8, which added title 10 to the District of Columbia Revenue Act of 1937, 50 Stat. 673, ch. 690.

From the foregoing it would seem that there is no longer any apportionment of expenses or segregation of revenues unless specific provision is made therefor by Congress subsequent to the repeal provision.

The words in parentheses were inserted by the compiler.

AMENDMENT

The act of 1906 added provisions for exempting nonresident children owning property in and paying taxes levied by the District and those whose parents pay taxes from paying nonresident tuition. The act of 1912 added the provision that such taxes must be in excess of tuition charged other nonresident pupils. For the amendment of 1922 see the compiler's note above.

Acts of 1906 and 1912 both contained provisions that the money collected be paid into the Treasury of the United States, one-half to credit of United States and one-half to credit of District of Columbia.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ENROLLED NONRESIDENTS EXCEPTED

Minor plaintiffs residing outside District of Columbia, who presented their certificates of graduation from junior high school to enrollment officer in high school of District of Columbia and had their names recorded by enrollment officer before enactment of Act July 25, 1947, 61 Stat. 433, prohibiting free instruction of pupils dwelling outside of District unless they were enrolled on date of approval of the act, were "enrolled" as "pupils" within meaning of the act, notwithstanding that they had not received actual class instruction prior to approval of the act. Wirth v. Corning (D. C., D. C. 1948, 75 F. Supp. 817).

TUITION

That part of this section relative to the admission of nonresident pupils on payment of tuition is permissive and not mandatory. Ballou v. Kemp (68 App. D. C. 7, 92 Fed. (2d) 556).

§ 31–302 [7: 162]. Taxes levied and paid for year preceding time of levying tuition charge credited.

The taxes levied by the government of the District of Columbia and paid for the year next preceding the time of levying tutelage charges by nonresident pupils or the parents of nonresident pupils shall be accepted as a credit or part credit, as the case may be, on said tutelage. (July 21, 1914, 38 Stat. 536, ch. 191.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

It is natural and desirable that such children as may, should go to Washington for a part, at least, of their educational experience, even though nonresidents' tuition fees may be exacted, and it would be indeed a new principle of taxation if exemption should be limited in favor of institutions which excluded all except residents. District of Columbia v. Mt. Vernon Seminary (69 App. D. C. 251, 100 Fed. (2d) 116).

§ 31–303 [7: 163]. Admission of pupils whose parents are employed in the District of Columbia.

All pupils whose parents are employed officially or otherwise in the District of Columbia shall be admitted and taught free of charge in the schools of said District. (Mar. 3, 1915, 38 Stat. 910, ch. 80, § 1.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CONSTITUTIONALITY

Congress had power to provide for free education within the District of Columbia of adult students whose parents are employed in the District as well as for free education of an infant student, notwithstanding parents resided out of the District. Cavanagh v. Ballou (D. C., D. C. 1941, 36 F. Supp. 445).

CONSTRUCTION

Where the board of education and superintendent of schools of the District of Columbia interpreted for many years this section as extending the right to graduate as well as to undergraduate schools, and it was inconceivable that Congress was not advised of such interpretation, the interpretation was legislatively adopted and a contrary interpretation could not be urged. Cavanagh v. Ballou (D. C., D. C. 1941, 36 F. Supp. 445).

Under this section, word "pupils" includes those who might be admitted to graduate schools, such as Wilson Teachers College, as well as to undergraduate schools. Cavanagh v. Ballou (D. C., D. C. 1941, 36 F. Supp. 445).

Under this section, nonresidents of the District of Columbia, whether adults or minors, may under certain conditions be admitted to any public school in the District, graduate or undergraduate, and, when their parents are employed in the District of Columbia, no tuition shall be charged them, whether adults or minors. Cavanagh v. Ballou (D. C., D. C. 1941, 36 F. Supp. 445).

MANDAMUS

Statute being mandatory and clear, the duty of the appellant to admit the appellee to the public schools of the District was purely ministerial. Mandamus is the orthodox remedy to compel the performance of a ministerial duty. Ballou v. Kemp (68 App. D. C. 7, 92 Fed. (2d) 556).

§ 31–304 [7: 164]. Soldiers and sailors on duty at stations adjacent to District of Columbia admitted without tuition.

Soldiers and sailors of the United States not residents of the District of Columbia who are on duty at stations adjacent to the District of Columbia shall be admitted for special instruction to the day schools and night schools of the District of Columbia without payment of tuition. (Mar. 28, 1918, 40 Stat. 470, ch. 28, § 1.)

§ 31–305 [7: 165]. Children of officers and men of Army and Navy and of employees of United States stationed outside District admitted without tuition.

The children of officers and men of the United States Army, Navy, and Marine Corps and children of other employees of the United States stationed outside of the District of Columbia shall be admitted to the public schools without payment of tuition. (May 10, 1926, 44 Stat. 433, ch. 276, § 1; Mar. 2, 1927, 44 Stat. 1314, ch. 271, § 1; May 21, 1928, 45 Stat. 662, ch. 659, § 1; Feb. 25, 1929, 45 Stat. 1279, ch. 314, § 1 and subsequent appropriation acts down to and including June 12, 1940, 54 Stat. 307, ch. 333, § 1.)

REPEATED

Act June 27, 1942, 56 Stat. 435, ch. 452, § 1; act July 1, 1943, 57 Stat. 324, ch. 184, § 1; act June 28, 1944, 58 Stat. 515, ch. 300, § 1.

AMENDMENT

The language of this section is repeated in all appropriation acts subsequent to the Act of 1928, cited to the text.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PROVISIONS MANDATORY

This section is mandatory, and although many hardships would come about due to insufficient funds to take care of resident pupils, it was the duty of appellant to admit appellee to the public schools of the District. Ballou v. Kemp (68 App. D. C. 7, 92 Fed. (2d) 556.)

Any teacher to whom sections 31–721 to 31–739 apply who shall have served on active duty in the public schools of the District of Columbia for a total period of not less than ten years, and who, before becoming eligible for retirement under the conditions defined in the preceding sections hereof, becomes physically or mentally disabled and incapable of satisfactorily performing the duties of his position, by reason of disease or injury not due to vicious habits, intemperance, or willful misconduct on the part of the teacher, shall upon his own application or upon order of the Board of Education as provided later in this section be retired on an annuity computed in accordance with the provisions of sections 31–725 and 31–726 hereof: Provided, That proof of freedom from vicious habits, intemperance, or willful misconduct for a period of more than five years next prior to becoming so disabled for useful and efficient service shall not be required in any case. No claim shall be allowed under the provisions of this section unless the application for retirement shall have been executed prior to the applicant's separation from the service or within six months thereafter. No teacher shall be retired under the provisions of this section unless examined under the direction of the Health Officer of the District of Columbia, and as a result of said examination, in his judgment, or in the judgment of the Superintendent of Schools concurred in by two-thirds of the members of the Board of Education, shall have been found to be physically or mentally incapacitated for efficient service.

In the event that the annuitant refuses to accept the employment prescribed in this section no annuity shall be paid after the date of such refusal. Should the annuitant fail to appear for examination as required under this section payment of the annuity shall be suspended until continuance of the disability shall have been satisfactorily established. Upon written recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools the Board of Education may order or direct at any time such medical or other examination as it shall deem necessary to determine the facts relative to the nature and degree of disability of any teacher retired on an annuity under this section.

In all cases where the annuity is discontinued under the provisions of this section, the annuity payments made under (1) of section 31–725 hereof shall be charged against his individual account and, unless he shall become reemployed in a position under the purview of sections 31–721 to 31–739, he shall be considered as having been separated from the service for other than retirement purposes and entitled to the benefits of section 31–729 hereof: Provided, however, That if such teacher were also receiving an annuity because of voluntary deposits made under the provisions of section 31–721 hereof, such annuity may be continued or, at the option of the teacher, the actuarial reserve value of such annuity may be withdrawn in cash unless the teacher is reemployed in a position within the purview of sections 31–721 to 31–739, in which case the amount of such reserve value shall be treated as a voluntary deposit under the provisions of section 31–721 hereof. The total annuity shall be fixed at the nearest multiple of 12 cents, and shall be payable monthly. The court will take judicial notice that there is an executive officer, subject to the authority of the commissioners, designated as the Inspector of Buildings. The appropriation bills of Congress for the District of Columbia have heretofore made provision for the payment of his salary from time to time, and his office and duties have been recognized by other acts. McBride v. Ross (13 App. D. C. 576).

said District, provided that such indigent persons shall be admitted only upon the order of the executive authority of said District. (Mar. 3, 1877, 19 Stat. 347, ch. 105; July 1, 1916, 39 Stat. 309, ch. 209, § 1.)

COMPILER'S NOTES

Acts 1922, 42 Stat. 668, 669, ch. 249, § 1, provided as follows: "Annually, from and after July 1, 1922, 60 per centum of such expenses of the District of Columbia as Congress may appropriate for shall be paid out of the revenues of the District of Columbia derived from taxation and privileges, and the remaining 40 per centum by the United States excepting such items of expense as Congress may direct shall be paid on another basis * * *. After June 30, 1922, where the United States is the owner of ground or the holder thereof in trust for the public, upon which improvements have been made at the joint expense of the United States and the District of Columbia, the revenues therefrom shall first be used to pay the United States 3 per centum of the full value of the ground as a ground rent, and the remainder shall be divided between them in the same proportion that each contributed to said improvements, and for such purposes the assessor for the District of Columbia shall fix the full value of the ground after he has first made oath that he will fairly and impartially appraise the same; and that after June 30, 1922, any revenue derived from any activity or source whatever, including motor-vehicle licenses, not otherwise herein disposed of, which activity or source of revenue is appropriated for by both the United States and the District of Columbia, shall be divided between the two in the same proportion that each has contributed thereto."

The appropriation act of June 7, 1924, 43 Stat. 539, ch. 302, § 1, made a lump-sum appropriation as follows: "Any revenue (not including the proportionate share of the United States in any revenue arising as the result of the expenditure of appropriations made for the fiscal year 1924 and prior fiscal years) now required by law to be credited to the District of Columbia and the United States in the same proportion that each contributed to the activity or source from whence such revenue was derived shall be credited wholly to the District of Columbia, and in addition, $9,000,000 is appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and all the remainder out of the combined revenues of the District of Columbia and such advances from the Federal Treasury as are authorized in the District of Columbia Appropriation Act for the fiscal year 1923, namely:"

Subsequent appropriation acts contained similar provisions, changing only the amount of the appropriation and the fiscal year (see Act of June 12, 1940, 54 Stat. —, ch. 333, § 1). These appropriation acts did not, however, provide for the repeal of the provisions of the 1922 act above quoted. This was done by the act of May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 375, § 8, which added Title 10, to the District of Columbia Revenue Act of 1937, 50 Stat. 673, ch. 690.

From the foregoing it would seem that there is no longer any apportionment of expenses or segregation of revenues unless specific provision is made therefor by Congress subsequent to the repeal provision.

COMPILER'S NOTES

The words "Such indigent persons shall be admitted only upon order of the executive authority of the District of Columbia" should probably be included after the first sentence, in view of the act of March 3, 1877.

This section is in U. S. C., title 24, § 201, which provides for admissions upon authority of the Secretary of the Interior as set forth by R. S., § 4844, cited to the text. The later law, act March 3, 1877, although not cited as a source to the section in U. S. C., may have superseded R. S., § 4844 to that extent.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PATIENT'S ESTATE, LIABILITY

The estate of a patient committed to St. Elizabeths Hospital while a resident of the District of Columbia is liable to the District for his maintenance, and statute of limitations does not run against the District in its claim for such maintenance. Hart v. Commissioners of District of Columbia (App. D. C. 1946, 155 F. 2d 877).

Where court committing patient to St. Elizabeths Hospital was of view that patient's estate should be used for support of his family in preference to his own support, when patient's wife and child died and other children became of age or married, that primary obligation ceased and patient's estate thereupon became available for his own maintenance. Hart v. Commissioners of District of Columbia (App. D. C. 1946, 155 F. 2d 877).

§ 32–406 [16: 14]. Private patients—Rate of board—Friends to comply with regulations.

Whenever there are vacancies, private patients from the District may be received at a rate of board to be determined by the visitors, to be in no case less than the actual cost of their support, and may remain until restored to reason.

COMPILER'S NOTES

This section as originally enacted provided that the funds from sale of produce should be paid into the Treasury "to the credit of the United States and the District of Columbia in the proportion required by law." The several appropriation acts cited in the history line provide for crediting of such income wholly to the United States.

The act of June 29, 1922, 42 Stat. 668, ch. 249 (title 20, § 670a of the 1929 Code, Supp. V), formed the basis for various sections of the code which provide for the 60% payment by the District of certain expenses, was repealed by the act of May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 375, ch. 223, § 8, adding title X to the act of August 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 673, ch. 690. This repealing act does not provide any substitute provision, and consequently the aforesaid sections are left without foundation in the statutes. The aforesaid 1922 act, p. 671, contains a provision repealing all prior inconsistent acts, and, therefore, the prior acts which were the bases for these various sections no longer apply.

§ 32–607 [8: 57]. Persons received—Age limit.

There shall be received into the said institution, subject to such rules and regulations as the Board of Public Welfare may adopt and pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, feeble-minded persons of not more than forty-five years of age. If the court shall deem it necessary, or if such alleged feeble-minded person or any relative or any person with whom he may reside shall so demand, a jury

Such bond and advance payment, together with the order of admission and bond, shall be transmitted by the clerk of the court to the superintendent of the institution. Until such bond and advance payment are delivered to the superintendent the person shall be admitted to the home and training school only as a public patient. At the request of the superintendent, the court shall require the sureties on such bond to justify their responsibility anew or order that a new bond be given in place of the original, which justification or new bond shall be transmitted to the superintendent, and unless such justification or bond shall be delivered to the superintendent within thirty days the patient shall from the time of such request be regarded as a public patient. Upon the death of such feeble-minded person while an inmate at such institution or within five years after discharge therefrom, his estate shall be liable to the District of Columbia for the cost of his maintenance at said institution, and the claim of the District of Columbia shall be a preferred claim. (Mar. 3, 1925, 43 Stat. 1137, ch. 460, § 14; Apr. 28, 1945, 59 Stat. 100, ch. 102.)

§ 32–616 [8: 66]. Proceedings to charge relatives legally responsible for maintenance of public patient—Collector of Taxes to collect maintenance payments—Enforcement of order—Liability of deceased's estate.

If the order for admission is as a public patient and the court at any time finds that the patient has not an estate out of which the District of Columbia may be fully reimbursed for his maintenance, the father, mother, husband, wife, and adult children of such feeble-minded person, if of sufficient ability, shall pay the cost to the District of Columbia of his maintenance at the District Training School, at Laurel, Maryland. The Commissioners of the District of Columbia may petition the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, at any time during the commitment of such feeble-minded person to said institution, to direct any such relative or relatives to pay the District of Columbia, in whole or in part, for his maintenance at said institution: Provided, That in no case shall any such relative or relatives be required to pay more than the actual cost to the District of Columbia of the maintenance of such feeble-minded person.

If the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia finds that any such relative or relatives is or are able to pay for the maintenance of such feeble-minded person, in whole or in part, it may make an order requiring payment by any such relative or relatives of such sum or sums as it may find he or they are reasonably able to pay and as may be necessary to provide for the maintenance of such feeble-minded person. Said order shall require the payment of such sum or sums to the Collector of Taxes of the District of Columbia annually, semiannually, quarterly, or monthly, as the court may direct. It shall be the duty of the said Collector of Taxes to collect the said sum or sums due under this section and section 32–615, and turn the same into the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the District of Columbia. If any such relative or relatives made liable for the maintenance of such feeble-minded person shall fail to provide or pay for such maintenance, in accordance with the order of court, the court shall issue to such relative or relatives a citation to show cause why he or they should not be adjudged in contempt. The citation shall be served at least ten days before the hearing thereon.

Any such order may be enforced against any property of any such relative or relatives made liable for the maintenance of such feeble-minded person, in the same way as if it were an order for temporary alimony in a divorce case.

Upon the death of any such relative ordered by the court to pay for the maintenance of such feeble-minded person in whole or in part, the estate of such relative shall be liable to the District of Columbia for the unpaid amount due the District of Columbia under said order of court at the time of the death of said relative, and the claim of the District of Columbia shall be a preferred claim against such estate. § 32–618 [8: 68]. Restrictions on discharge—Petition for discharge—Causes for discharge—Superintendent to be notified—Notice of variation of order—Denial of one petition not a bar to another.

No feeble-minded person admitted to the said institution pursuant to an order of court as herein provided shall be discharged therefrom except as herein provided, except that nothing herein contained shall abridge the right of petition for the writ of habeas corpus. At any time after the admission of the feeble-minded person pursuant to an order of court as herein provided, any of the relatives or friends of the feeble-minded person, or any reputable citizen, or the superintendent of the institution having the feeble-minded person in charge, or the Board of Public Welfare, may petition the court that entered the order of admission to discharge the feeble-minded person, or to vary the order of the court sending the feeble-minded person to the institution. If on the hearing of the petition the court is satisfied that the welfare of the feeble-minded person or the welfare of others or the welfare of the community requires his discharge or a variation of the order, the court may enter such order of discharge or variation as the court thinks proper. Discharges and variations of orders may be made for either of the following causes: Because the person adjudged to be feeble-minded is not feeble-minded; because he has so far improved as to be capable of caring for himself; because the relatives or friends of the feeble-minded person are able and willing to supervise, control, care for, and support him, and request his discharge, and in the judgment of the superintendent of the institution having the person in charge no evil consequences are likely to follow such discharge; but the enumeration of grounds of discharge or variation herein shall not exclude other grounds of discharge or variation which the court, in its discretion, may deem adequate, having due regard for the welfare of the person concerned or the welfare of others or the welfare of the community. On any petition of discharge or variation the court may discharge the feeble-minded person from all supervision, control, and care, or make such variation of the order as to maintenance as the court thinks fit under all the circumstances appearing on the hearing of the petition: The superintendent of the institution having the feeble-minded person in charge must be notified of the time and place of hearing on any petition for discharge or variation, as the court shall direct, and no order of discharge or variation shall be entered without giving such superintendent a reasonable opportunity to be heard; and the court may notify such other persons, relatives, and friends of the feeble-minded person as the court may think proper of the time and place of the hearing on any petition for discharge or variation of prior order. No person shall be charged with any greater degree of financial responsibility for the support of such feeble-minded person by variation of the order as to maintenance without notice and a reasonable opportunity to be heard. The denial of one petition for discharge or variation shall be no bar to another on the same or different grounds within a reasonable time thereafter, such reasonable time to be determined by the court in its discretion, discouraging frequent, repeated, frivolous, ill-founded petition for discharge or variation of prior order. (Mar. 3, 1925, 43 Stat. 1138, ch. 460, § 17; Mar. 16, 1926, 44 Stat. 208, ch. 58, §§ 1, 2.)

When the court directs a petition to be filed it may order that, pending the preparation, filing and hearing of the petition, the person or child be detained in a place of safety, or be placed under the guardianship of any suitable person on that person entering into a recognizance for his appearance. (June 14, 1944, 58 Stat. 278, ch. 257, § 9.)

§ 32–760. Review of Board's action.

Should the sum so appropriated, however, be expended or exhausted during the year for the purposes for which it was appropriated, additional sums shall be appropriated by Congress as the case demands to carry out provisions of such sections. The balance remaining in the appropriation "Home care for dependent children" as contained in the District of Columbia Appropriation Act, 1944, approved July 1, 1943 (Public Law 107, Seventy-eighth Congress, first session), as of June 14, 1944 is hereby made available to carry out the provisions of such sections and shall continue available for such purpose through June 30, 1944. NOTES TO DECISIONS

PURPOSE

The purpose of this chapter is to regulate procedure for placing children for adoption to protect children and parents from corrupt, irresponsible, careless, or untrained intermediaries. Goodman v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 812).

§ 32–782. Child-placing agency—License.

Any person, firm, corporation, association, or public agency that receives or accepts a child under sixteen years of age and places or offers to place such child for temporary or permanent care in a family home other than that of a relative within the third degree shall be deemed to be maintaining a child-placing agency. No child-placing agency shall be maintained in the District of Columbia without a license issued by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia: Provided, That notwithstanding any provisions of section 32–784 such a license shall be issued forthwith to any corporation or association chartered by special Act of Congress and having under its charter the purposes or powers of a child-placing agency as herein defined. (Apr. 22, 1944, 58 Stat. 193, ch. 174, § 2.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ATTORNEYS

A lawyer is within his rights under this chapter so long as he gives only legal advice, appears in court in adoption proceedings representing either relinquishing or adopting parents, and refrains from serving as an intermediary, go-between, or placing agent and leaves or refers placement of children and arrangements for their placement to agencies duly licensed for that purpose. Goodman v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 812).

A lawyer, as such in placing children for adoption, is not exempt from this chapter notwithstanding he acts without compensation and with humane motives, and, to place babies for adoption, he must have a license as a child-placing agency. Goodman v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 812).

§ 32–783. Appointment of supervisory committee by Commissioners—Composition and tenure—Chairman—Promulgation of rules and regulations.

Within sixty days after the passage of sections 32–781 to 32–789, the Commissioners shall appoint, after consultation with the Board of Public Welfare, a committee of eight persons to formulate and adopt rules and regulations, subject to the approval of the Commissioners, prescribing standards of placement, care, and services to be required of child-placing agencies, pursuant to the intent and purposes of such sections. The committee shall be composed of a member of the Board of Public Welfare who shall act as chairman of said committee, a member of the staff of the Health Department of the District of Columbia, a member of the staff of the Board of Public Welfare of the District of Columbia, and one representative from each of five charitable organizations of the District of Columbia having an organized program for placing children in family homes. Each member of said committee shall serve for a term of one year and until his successor is appointed and qualified. The rules and regulations shall be reviewed by the committee annually and, subject to the approval of the Commissioners, may be amended when deemed necessary. (Apr. 22, 1944, 58 Stat. 193, ch. 174, § 3.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 11 of the act of Apr. 22, 1944, cited to text, provided: "This Act [§§ 32–781 to 32–789] shall become effective four months after date of the approval of this Act [April 22, 1944], except section 3 hereof [§ 32–783], which shall become effective on the date of the approval of this Act [April 22, 1944]."

§ 32–784. Application for license—Form—Investigation by Board—Provisional license—Term and renewal.

An application for a license as a child-placing agency shall be made to the Commissioners on forms provided by them and in the manner prescribed. Before such license is issued the Board of Public Welfare shall arrange to have an investigation made of the activities and standards of care of the agency and shall consult with persons having official connection with the agency. If the Board is satisfied as to the good character and intent of the applicant, and that the agency is adequately financed, and that its staff, procedures, and services conform to the established standards of care, said Board shall recommend to the Commissioners that a license be issued.

A provisional license may be issued to any agency which is temporarily unable to conform to all the provisions of the established standards of care upon terms and conditions prescribed by the Commissioners upon recommendation of the Board of Public Welfare.

All licenses shall be issued for one year from the date thereof and may be renewed annually on the application of the agency, except that provisional licenses may be issued for not more than three successive years from the date of the passage of sections 32–781 to 32–789. (Apr. 22, 1944, 58 Stat. 193, ch. 174, § 4.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date, see note set out under § 32–781.

§ 32–785. Persons authorized to place children—Custody, control, supervision, and visitation by agency—Compensation.

No person other than the parent, guardian, or relative within the third degree, and no firm, corporation, association, or agency, other than a licensed child-placing agency, may place or arrange or assist in placing or arranging for the placement of a child under sixteen years of age in a family home or for adoption. In accordance with the rules and regulations promulgated hereunder, any licensed child-placing agency may accept children for placement in family homes and shall have and maintain care, custody, and control of any such child until returned to the person from whom received or until responsibility for the child is transferred to another child-welfare agency or terminated by the order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

Every such agency shall keep and maintain careful supervision of all children under its care, including those placed in family homes, and its officers or agents shall visit all such homes and families as often as may be necessary to promote the welfare of such child: Provided, That legally adopted children shall not be subject to such supervision and visitation, or other supervision or visitation. Every such agency shall keep such records as shall be required by the rules and regulations promulgated hereunder and all records regarding children and all facts learned about children and their parents or relatives shall be deemed confidential.

Such agency shall in no case charge or receive from the person or persons legally adopting any child any compensation whatsoever therefor; and in no case shall any person taking a child with the intention of adoption demand or receive from such agency any compensation whatsoever for the care of such child even though it shall be returned to the agency. (Apr. 22, 1944, 58 Stat. 194, ch. 174, § 5.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date, see note set out under § 32–781.

§ 32–786. Agency vested with parental rights—Consent to adoption—Adoption petition—Parents' relinquishment of rights—Recordation.

Whenever a licensed child-placing agency shall have been given the permanent care and guardianship of any child and the rights of the parent or parents of such child shall have been terminated by order of a court of competent jurisdiction or by a legally executed relinquishment of parental rights, the agency is vested with parental rights and may consent to the adoption of the child pursuant to the statutes regulating adoption procedure. In any such adoption proceeding filed in the District of Columbia, which is consented to by a child-placing agency licensed pursuant to sections 32–781 to 32–789, the provisions of section 16–201 requiring the petition to state the name, age, race, occupation, and address of the natural parents, and requiring the Board of Public Welfare to verify the allegations of the petition, make investigation, and report its findings and recommendations to the Court, shall not apply. Except in proceedings for adoption no parent may voluntarily assign or otherwise transfer to another his rights and duties with respect to the permanent care and control of a child under sixteen years of age unless such relinquishment of parental rights is made to a licensed child-placing agency. Such relinquishment of parental rights shall be a statement in writing signed by the person relinquishing such parental rights who shall subscribe his name thereto and acknowledge the same before a representative of the licensed child-placing agency in the presence of at least one witness. Said relinquishment of parental rights shall be recorded and filed in a properly sealed file in the Office of the Clerk of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia. The seal of said file shall not be broken except for good cause shown and upon the written order of a justice of said court. (Apr. 22, 1944, 58 Stat. 194, ch. 174, § 6.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date, see note set out under § 32–781.

§ 32–787. Revocation of license of child-placing agency—Notice—Reinstatement.

The Commissioners may refuse to reissue or may revoke or suspend the license of any child-placing agency after full hearing on proof of violation of any provisions of sections 32–781 to 32–789 or the rules and regulations promulgated hereunder. Before any license shall be suspended or revoked the holder thereof shall have notice in writing of the charge or charges and shall, at the date and place specified in said notice, which shall be at least five days after the service thereof, be given a hearing by said Commissioners, or their designated agents, with a full opportunity to produce testimony in his, her, or its behalf. Any licensee whose license has been suspended or revoked may, after the expiration of ninety days, on application to the said Commissioners, have the same reinstated or reissued upon satisfactory proof that the disqualification has ceased. (Apr. 22, 1944, 58 Stat. 195, ch. 174, § 7.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date, see note set out under § 32–781.

§ 32–788. Penalty for operation as child-placing agency without license—Jurisdiction.

Any person, firm, corporation, association, or public agency who conducts a child-placing agency without a license as provided for in sections 32–781 to 32–789 or who violates any of the provisions of such sections shall, upon conviction, be fined not more than $300 or imprisoned for not more than ninety days, or both. Prosecution for violations of such sections shall be upon information in the criminal division of the municipal court of the District of Columbia by the corporation counsel of the District of Columbia. NOTES TO DECISIONS

In General

This section and acts amendatory thereto were obviously framed to operate according to the age of the individual who comes within its purview and without consideration of either the property rights of the child or her social status. Richardson v. Browning (57 App. D. C. 186, 18 Fed. (2d) 1008).

Issue on Appeal

On appeal from order committing infant to National Training School for Boys until 21 years of age, the issue was whether there was sufficient evidence to support a finding that the boy's welfare or the safety and protection of the public required removal from the home of his parents. In re Kroll (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 706).

Rehabilitation

The objective of legislation dealing with juvenile offenders is rehabilitation, not punishment. In re Kroll (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 706).

Sufficiency of Findings

A finding that infant's welfare and the safety and protection of the public could not be adequately safeguarded without removing infant from his home and parents was not sustained by the evidence. In re Kroll (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 706).

§ 32–816 [8: 186]. Period of detention.

Every boy sent to said school shall remain until he is twenty-one years of age, unless sooner discharged or bound as an apprentice. (May 3, 1876, 19 Stat. 51, ch. 90, § 9; June 5, 1900, 31 Stat. 267, ch. 715.)

Amendment

The act of 1900 deleted a provision that "no boy shall be retained after the superintendent shall have reported him fully reformed."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

Attempts at escape from institutions are forbidden to all inmates, and if they consider their confinement improper, they are bound to take other means to test the question. Aderhold v. Soileau ((C. C. A. 5), 67 Fed. (2d) 259).

§ 32–817 [8: 187]. Number of boys limited to number that can be properly accommodated—Notice to court.

Whenever there shall be as large a number of boys in the school as can be properly accommodated, it shall be the duty of the president of the Board of Trustees to give notice to the criminal and juvenile courts of the fact, whereupon no boys shall be sent to the school by said courts until notice shall be given them by the president of the board that more can be received. (May 3, 1876, 19 Stat. 51, ch. 90, § 10; Mar. 19, 1906, 34 Stat. 73, ch. 960, § 8.)

The 1906 act created the Juvenile Court. See note to § 32–815.

§ 32–818 [8: 188]. Enticing boy from school or harboring escaped boy—Penalty—Arrest and return.

If any person shall entice, or attempt to entice, away from said school any boy legally committed to the same, or shall harbor, conceal, or aid in harboring or concealing any boy who shall have escaped from said school, such person shall, upon conviction thereof, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall pay a fine of not less than $10 or more than $100, which shall be paid to the treasurer of the Board of Trustees; and any policeman shall have power, and it is hereby made his duty, to arrest any boy, when in his power so to do, who shall have escaped from said school, and return him thereto. (May 3, 1876, 19 Stat. 51, ch. 90, § 11.)

§ 32–819 [8: 189]. Employment and instruction of boys—Apprenticing—Indentures.

The trustees shall have full power to place any boy committed as herein described, during his minority, at such employment and cause him to be instructed in such branches of useful knowledge, as may be suitable to his years and capacity, as they may see fit; and they may, with the consent of any such boy, bind him out as an apprentice during his minority, or for a shorter period, to learn such trade and employment as in their judgment will tend to his future benefit; and the president of the board shall, for such purpose, have power to execute and deliver, on behalf of the said board, indentures of apprenticeship for any such boy; and such indentures shall have the same force and effect as other indentures of apprenticeship under the laws of the District of Columbia, and be filed and kept among the records in the office of the said school and it shall not be necessary to record or file them elsewhere. (May 3, 1876, 19 Stat. 51, ch. 90, § 12.)

§ 32–820 [8: 190]. Release on parole of juvenile offenders committed.

Every male juvenile offender who is now or may hereafter be committed to said school, and who has by his conduct given sufficient evidence that he has reformed, may be released on parole as provided in section 32–821. (Feb. 26, 1909, 35 Stat. 657, ch. 217, § 1.)

If it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Board of Trustees of said school that there is reasonable probability that any boy detained in the said school will, if conditionally released, remain at liberty without violating the laws, then said Board of Trustees may in its discretion parole such boy under such conditions and regulations as the said Board of Trustees may deem proper. The parole of all such juvenile offenders committed by courts other than those of the District of Columbia shall be subject to the approval of the Attorney General of the United States. (Feb. 26, 1909, 35 Stat. 657, ch. 217, § 2.)

§ 32–822 [8: 192]. Support of boys committed—Accounts—Payment—Rate.

For the support of the boys sent to said school, as hereinbefore mentioned, the District of Columbia shall pay to the Board of Trustees the actual per capita cost of maintenance of such boys; and it shall be the duty of the superintendent to make out and render to the proper officers monthly accounts at the close of each month for the support of the boys in said school, which shall be paid on demand; and, if not paid within ten days from the time the account is presented, shall draw interest at the rate of 1 per centum per month until paid. The per capita cost of persons committed from the District of Columbia and maintained in the National Training School for Boys shall be fixed at a rate not less than $4.50 per week for each person. NOTES TO DECISIONS

IN GENERAL

Under this section, a reform school for girls of the District was authorized, the powers thereof to be exercised by a Board of Trustees, which board was given the same powers and duties relative to girls as were given with respect to boys, by act of May 3, 1876. Richardson v. Browning (57 App. D. C. 186, 18 Fed. (2d) 1008).

§ 32–908 [8: 218]. Girls committed—Commitment by court or judge.

Whenever any girl under the age of seventeen years shall be brought before any court of the District of Columbia or any judge of such court, and shall be convicted of any crime or misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment other than imprisonment for life, such court or judge, in lieu of sentencing her to imprisonment in the jail or fining her, may commit her to said school, to remain until she shall arrive at the age of twenty-one years unless sooner discharged by the Board of Public Welfare. Except as otherwise provided in sections 11–909 and 11–910, the judges of the criminal and juvenile courts of the District of Columbia shall have power to commit to said school, first any girl under seventeen years of age who may be liable to punishment by imprisonment under any existing law of the District of Columbia or any law that may be enacted and in force in said District; second, any girl under seventeen years of age, with the consent of her parent or guardian, against whom any charge of crime or misdemeanor shall have been made, upon probable cause shown to the satisfaction of the court; third, any girl under seventeen years of age who is destitute of a suitable home and adequate means of obtaining an honest living or who is in danger of being brought up, or is brought up, to lead an idle or vicious life; fourth, any girl under seventeen years of age who is incorrigible or habitually disregards the commands of her father or mother or guardian, who leads a vagrant life, or resorts to immoral places or practices, or neglects or refuses to perform labor suitable to her years and condition or to attend school. AMENDMENTS

The 1876 act, relating to a school for boys (§ 32–815), was made applicable to a similar school for girls by the act of 1888, cited to the text.

The age limit for commitment was changed to 17 years by the 1901 act.

The police court originally had jurisdiction under this section. However, the 1906 act created the juvenile court, and the words were changed and the exception inserted by the compilers of the 1929 edition of this code in conformity therewith. NOTES TO DECISIONS

WANT OF KNOWLEDGE AS A DEFENSE

It is no defense for a druggist prosecuted for selling an adulterated drug to show simply that he was at the time of sale ignorant of the fact that the drug was adulterated, as he must know what he sells, or proposes to sell, and that it conforms to the standard prescribed by law. District of Columbia v. Lynham (16 App. D. C. 85).

§33–102 [20: 1222]. Definition of "drug" and "food"—Best quality to be furnished.

The term "drug," as used in this chapter, shall include all medicines for external or internal use, antiseptics, disinfectants, and cosmetics. The term "food," as used in this chapter, shall include confectionery, condiments, and all articles used for food or drink by man, and if there be more than one quality of any article of food or drug known by the same name the best quality thereof shall be furnished to the purchaser, unless he otherwise requests at the time of making such purchase, or unless he be notified at such time of the inferior quality of the article delivered. (Feb. 17, 1898, 30 Stat. 246, ch. 25, § 2.)

§ 33–103 [20: 1223]. Adulterated article defined.

An article shall be deemed to be adulterated within the meaning of this chapter:

(a) In the case of drugs: First, if, when sold under or by a name recognized in the United States Pharmacopoeia, it differs from the standard of strength, quality, or purity laid down in the edition thereof at the time official; second, if when sold under or by a name not recognized in the United States Pharmacopoeia, but which is found in the German, French, or English Pharmacopoeia, it differs from the strength, quality, or purity laid down therein; third, if, when sold as a patented medicine, compounded drug, or mixture, it is not composed of all of the ingredients advertised or printed or written on the bottles, wrappers, or labels of or on or with the patented medicine, compounded drug, or mixture: Provided, That if the defendant in any prosecution under this chapter, in respect to the sale of any such patented medicine, compounded drug, or mixture, shall prove to the satisfaction of the court that he had purchased the article in question as the same in nature, substance, and quality as that demanded of him by the purchaser, and with a written warranty to that effect; that he had no reason to believe at the time when he sold it that the article was otherwise, and that he sold it in the same state as when he purchased it, he shall be discharged from the prosecution.

(b) In the case of food: First, in the case of cheese, if it is not made exclusively from milk or cream, or both, with or without common salt; second, in the case of coffee, if it is not composed entirely of the seed of the Caffea arabica; third, in the case of lard, if it is not made exclusively from the rendered fat of the healthy hog; fourth, in the case of tea, if it is not composed entirely of the genuine leaf of the tea plant not exhausted; fifth, in the case of all kinds of vinegar, if it contains an acidity equivalent to the presence of less than four per centum of absolute acetic acid; and cider vinegar, if it is not made from the pure apple juice and contains less than one and five-tenths per centum of total solids; sixth, in the case of cider, if it is not made from the legitimate product of pure apple juice; in the case of wines and fruit juices, if not made from the pure fruit as represented; and in the case of cider, wines, fruit juices, and malt liquors, if not free from salicylic acid or other preservatives; and in the case of malt liquors, if not free from piric acid, coculus indicus, colchicine, colocynth, aloes, and wormwood; seventh, in the case of glucose, if it contains more than five one-hundredths per centum of ash; eighth, in the case of flour, if it is not composed entirely of one single ground cereal; ninth, in the case of bread, if there is any addition of alum, sulphate of copper, borax, or sulphate of zinc, or other poisonous or harmful ingredient, and if it contains more than thirty-one per centum of moisture, more than two per centum of ash, and less than six and twenty-five one-hundredths per centum of albuminoids; tenth, in the case of olive oil, if it is not made exclusively from the olive berry (Olea europæa), and its specific gravity at fifteen and six-tenths degrees centigrade (sixty degrees Fahrenheit) "actual density" to be not more than nine hundred and seventeen one-thousandths nor less than nine hundred and fourteen one-thousandths: Provided, That an offense shall not be deemed to be committed under this section in the following cases, that is so say, first, where the order calls for an article of food or drug inferior to such standard, or where such difference is made known by being plainly written or printed on the package; second, where the article of food or drug is mixed with any matter or ingredient not injurious to health and not intended fraudulently to increase its bulk, weight, or measure or conceal its inferior quality, if at the time such article is delivered to the purchaser it is made known to him that such article of food or drug is so mixed. (Feb. 17, 1898, 30 Stat. 246, ch. 25, § 3; June 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 768, ch. 3915; Feb. 27, 1925, 43 Stat. 1006, ch. 358, § 13.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

CONSTRUCTION OF ACT

It is no defense for party prosecuted for selling adulterated foods to show that he was ignorant of such fact, as he must know what he sells and that it conforms with the law. District of Columbia v. Lynham (16 App. D. C. 85.)

It was never intended that this act should hold manufacturers liable for misstatements as to the curative merits of his goods. This is a criminal statute creating a new offense and should be liberally construed. United States v. Johnson ((D. C.-Mo.), 177 Fed. 313).

INTERSTATE COMMERCE

There is nothing in the act to regulate the traffic of foods within the States. Its main purpose was to prevent inferior goods from being sold in interstate commerce. United States v. Charles L. Heinle Specialty Co. ((D. C.-Pa.), 175 Fed. 299).

LABELS

Under this act the label on drugs must state the substance from which such derivative is produced. United States v. Antikamnia Chemical Co. (231 U. S. 654, 58 L. Ed. 419, 34 Sup. Ct. 222).

If the labels on the goods are, in fact, true, then there is no violation of the act. The object of the statute is to protect the public from fraud in the purchase of food. United States v. Sixty-eight Cases of Syrup ((D. C.-Ill.), 172 Fed. 781).

Where food product is labeled "Compound: pure comb and strained honey and corn syrup," it is not misbranded under the terms of this, merely because the percentage of corn syrup is much greater. United States v. Boeckmann ((C. C.-N. Y.), 176 Fed. 382).

REVIEW

Where decree in favor of the United States condemning certain food has been fully executed, and costs against claimant voluntarily paid, the appellate court will not review the case. Charles v. United States ((C. C. A. 5), 183 Fed. 566).

§ 33–104 [20: 1224]. Rules and regulations for collecting and examining drugs and food—Director of public health.

It shall be the duty of the director of public health of the District of Columbia, under the direction of the commissioners of said District, to adopt such measures as may be necessary to facilitate the enforcement of this chapter, and prepare rules and regulations with regard to the proper method of collecting and examining drugs and articles of food in said District. Every person offering for sale or delivering to any purchaser any drug or article of food included in the provisions of this chapter shall furnish to any analyst or other officer or agent of the health department, who shall apply to him for the purpose and shall tender him the value of the same, a sample sufficient for the purpose of analysis of any such drug or article of food which is in his possession. of thirty days from the time of taking such sample, and in case of a complaint the reserved portion alleged to be adulterated shall, upon application, be delivered to the defendant or his attorney. (Feb. 17, 1898, 30 Stat. 248, ch. 25, § 7.)

§ 33–110 [20: 1230]. Repeal—Certain prior laws unaffected.

The original act contains the following additional words preceding the present first word, "That from and after the passage of this act." The act was approved February 27, 1925.

The title of the act of March 2, 1895, 28 Stat. 709, ch. 164, read: "An act to regulate the sale of milk in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes."

The title of the act of Feb. 27, 1925, 43 Stat. 1004, ch. 358, read: "An act to regulate within the District of Columbia the sale of milk, cream, and ice cream, and for other purposes."

Section 20 of the act of 1925 repealed all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith.

The act of 1895 was not in conflict with the Federal Pure Food Act of 1906 (U. S. C. 1934, title 21, § 1, et seq.). The act of 1895, looked primarily to the regulation of the source of supply, while the act of 1906 dealt with the sale of misbranded and adulterated foods, and the later act dealt with it when placed in the market. The former aimed at the regulation of the sources of supply to secure sanitary additions and surroundings; the latter operated when the milk reached the District and was subject to tests as to misbranding and adulteration. District of Columbia v. Simpson (47 App. D. C. 6).

Upon comparing the provisions of the act of 1895 with those of the later act of 1898, it is clear beyond reasonable doubt that section 3 of the former act has been repealed by operation and fair intendment of sections 4, 6, 7, and 8 of the latter act of 1898; and this was affirmed by the last section of the act of 1898, when it declared that all acts and parts of acts inconsistent therewith were thereby repealed. It is conceded that section 7 of the act of 1895 was repealed by the provision of the subsequent act changing the marketable standard of milk, and we think that section 13 of the act of 1895 is also repealed, because inconsistent with the provisions of the latter act and because the provisions of the latter act were intended to furnish the one general and sole rule upon the subject.

The act of 1895, however, is only impliedly repealed by the subsequent act of 1898, so far as the provisions of the latter act are repugnant to it, or so far only as the latter statute, making new provisions is plainly intended as a substitute for provisions contained in the former act. Weigand v. District of Columbia (22 App. D. C. 559).

Since the enactment of 1898 act above referred to (§§ 33–102 to 33–110 herein), the act of Feb. 27, 1925 (§§ 33–301 to 33–319) has become a law and it, in connection with the 1898 act, is deemed to supersede in its entirety the 1895 act which was set out, in part in the District of Columbia Code of 1929 as §§ 1270–1276 of title 20. Consequently, the act of 1895, as set out in the District of Columbia Code of 1929, has been omitted.

(b) That the applicant is equipped as to land, buildings, and paraphernalia properly to carry on the business described in his application.

No license shall be granted to any person who has been convicted of a wilful violation of any law of the United States, or of any state, relating to opium, coca leaves, cannabis, or other narcotic drugs, or to any person who is a narcotic-drug addict.

§ 33–405 [6: 345d]. Use of official written orders.

An official written order for any narcotic drug shall be signed in duplicate by the person giving said order or by his duly authorized agent. The original shall be presented to the person who sells or dispenses the narcotic drug or drugs named therein. In event of the acceptance of such order by said person, each party to the transaction shall preserve his copy of such order for a period of two years in such a way as to be readily accessible for inspection by any public officer or employee engaged in the enforcement of this chapter. It shall be unlawful for a manufacturer or wholesaler to sell, barter, exchange, or give away any preparation or remedy described in section 1041, Title 26, U. S. Code, which contains not more than two grains of opium, or not more than one-fourth of a grain of morphine, or not more than one-eighth of a grain of heroin, or not more than one grain of codeine, or any salt or derivative of any of them in one fluid or avoirdupois ounce, except in pursuant of a written order, on a form to be issued in blank by the District of Columbia Board of Pharmacy. Every person who shall accept any such order, and in pursuance thereof shall sell, barter, exchange, or give away any of the aforesaid preparations shall preserve such order for a period of two years in such a way as to be readily accessible to inspection by any officer or agent authorized for that purpose.

The Board of Pharmacy shall cause suitable written order forms to be prepared for the purchase of narcotics for which no form is provided by the United States Commissioner of Narcotics, and shall cause the same to be for sale by said board at a cost not to exceed $1 a hundred, to those persons who shall have registered under the federal narcotic laws. The Board of Pharmacy shall keep an account of the number of forms sold and the names and addresses of the purchasers and the serial numbers of such forms sold to each purchaser. Whenever the Board of Pharmacy shall sell any such forms it shall cause the name and address of the purchaser thereof to be plainly written or stamped thereon before delivering the same. The said board is authorized and directed to make such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, as it may deem necessary for the administration and enforcement of this chapter.

It shall be deemed a compliance with this section if the parties to the transaction have complied with the federal narcotic laws respecting official order forms if such order forms are authorized and required by federal laws, or, if no such order form is provided, then with the rules and regulations of the Board of Pharmacy respecting official order forms. (b) Prescribing, administering, dispensing, or selling at retail of liniments, ointments, and other preparations that are susceptible of external use only and that contain narcotic drugs in such combinations as prevent their being readily extracted from such liniments, ointments, or preparations, except that this chapter shall apply to all liniments, ointments, and other preparations that contain coca leaves in any quantity or combination.

The exemptions authorized by this section shall be subject to the following conditions:

(1) The medicinal preparation, or the liniment, ointment, or other preparation susceptible of external use only, prescribed, administered, dispensed, or sold, shall contain in addition to the narcotic drug in it, some drug or drugs conferring upon it medicinal qualities other than those possessed by the narcotic drug alone.

Such preparation shall be prescribed, administered, dispensed, and sold in good faith as a medicine, and not for the purpose of evading the provisions of this chapter.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the kind and quantity of any narcotic drug that may be prescribed, administered, dispensed, or sold to any person, or for the use of any person or animal, when it is prescribed, administered, dispensed, or sold in compliance with the general provisions of this chapter.

Manufacturers or wholesalers shall sell tincture opii camphorata, commonly known as paregoric, only in accordance with the provisions of sections 33–405, 33–406, on official written order forms provided for that purpose by the Board of Pharmacy. It shall be unlawful for any person to bring into or have in his possession for sale in the District of Columbia any paregoric unless an official written order form has been issued therefor. It shall, however, be deemed a sufficient compliance with this subsection if any such person using small quantities of solutions or other preparations of such drugs for local application shall keep a record of the quantity, character, and potency of such solutions or other preparations purchased or made up by him, and of the dates when purchased or made up, without keeping a record of the amount of such solution or other preparation applied by him to individual patients.

(b) Manufacturers and wholesalers.—Manufacturers and wholesalers shall keep records of all narcotic drugs compounded, mixed, cultivated, grown, or by any other process produced or prepared, and of all narcotic drugs received and disposed of by them, in accordance with the provisions of subsection (e) of this section.

(e) Form and preservation of records.—The form of records shall be prescribed by the Board of Pharmacy. The record of narcotic drugs received shall in every case show the date of receipt, the name and address of the person from whom received, and the kind and quantity of drugs received; the kind and quantity of narcotic drugs produced or removed from process of manufacture, and the date of such production or removal from process of manufacture; and the record shall in every case show the proportion of morphine, cocaine, or ecgonine contained in or producible from crude opium or coca leaves received or produced, and the proportion of resin contained in or producible from the plant Cannabis sativa L., received, or produced. The record of all narcotic drugs sold, administered, dispensed, or otherwise disposed of, shall show the date of selling, administering, or dispensing, the name and address of the person to whom, or for whose use, or the owner and species of animal for which the drugs were sold, administered, or dispensed, and the kind and quantity of drugs. Every such record shall be kept for a period of two years from the date of the transaction recorded. The keeping of a record required by or under the federal narcotic laws, containing substantially the same information as is specified above, shall constitute compliance with this section, except that every such record shall contain a detailed list of narcotic drugs lost, destroyed, or stolen, if any, the kind and quantity of such drugs, and the date of the discovery of such loss, destruction, or theft. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 791, ch. 532, § 11.)

No person, except an apothecary for the purpose of filling a prescription under this chapter, shall alter, deface, or remove any label so affixed.

(b) Whenever an apothecary sells or dispenses any narcotic drug on a prescription issued by a physician, dentist, or veterinarian he shall affix to the container in which such drug is sold or dispensed a label showing his own name, address, and registry number, or the name, address, and registry number of the apothecary for whom he is lawfully acting; the name and address of the patient, or, if the patient is an animal, the name and address of the owner of the animal, and the species of the animal; the name, address, and registry number of the physician, dentist, or veterinarian, by whom the prescription was written; and such directions as may be stated on the prescription. No person shall alter, deface, or remove any label so affixed as long as any of the original contents remain. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 792, ch. 532, § 12.)

§ 33–413 [6: 345*l*]. Authorized possession of narcotic drugs by individuals.

A person to whom or for whose use any narcotic drug has been prescribed, sold, or dispensed by a physician, dentist, apothecary, or other person authorized under the provisions of section 33–406, and the owner of any animal for which any such drug has been prescribed, sold, or dispensed, by a veterinarian, may lawfully possess it only in the container in which it was delivered to him by the person selling or dispensing the same. (b) A search warrant cannot be issued but upon probable cause supported by affidavit particularly describing the property and the place to be searched.

(c) The judge or commissioner must, before issuing the warrant, examine on oath the complainant and any witnesses he may produce, and require their affidavits or take their depositions in writing and cause them to be subscribed by the parties making them.

(d) The affidavits or depositions must set forth the facts tending to establish the grounds of the application or probable cause for believing that they exist.

(e) If the judge or commissioner is thereupon satisfied of the existence of the grounds of the application or that there is probable cause to believe their existence, he must issue a search warrant, signed by him, to the major and superintendent of police of the District of Columbia or any member of the Metropolitan police department, stating the particular grounds or probable cause for its issue and the names of the persons whose affidavits have been taken in support thereof, and commanding him forthwith to search the place named for the property specified and to bring it before the judge or commissioner.

(f) A search warrant may in all cases be served by any of the officers mentioned in its direction, but by no other person, except in aid of the officer on his requiring it, he being present and acting in its execution.

(g) The officer may break open any outer or inner door or window of a house, or any part of a house, or anything therein, to execute the warrant, if, after notice of his authority and purpose, he is refused admittance.

(h) The judge or commissioner must insert a direction in the warrant, that it be served in the daytime unless the affidavit is positive that the property is in the place to be searched in which case he must insert a direction that it be served at any time in the day or night.

(j) When the officer takes property under the warrant, he must give a copy of the warrant together with a receipt for the property taken (specifying it in detail) to the person from whom it was taken by him, or in whose possession it was found; or in the absence of any person, he must leave it in the place where he found the property.

(k) The officer must forthwith return the warrant to the judge or commissioner and deliver to him a written inventory of the property taken, made publicly or in the presence of the person from whose possession it was taken, and of the applicant for the warrant, if they are present, verified by the affidavit of the officer at the foot of the inventory and taken before the judge or commissioner at the time, to the following in effect: "I, ————, the officer by whom this warrant was executed, do swear that the above inventory contains a true and detailed account of all the property taken by me on the warrant."

(l) The judge or commissioner must thereupon, if required, deliver a copy of the inventory to the person from whose possession the property was taken and to the applicant for the warrant.

(m) The judge or commissioner must annex the affidavits, search warrant, return, inventory, and evidence, and at once file the same, together with a copy of the record of his proceedings, with the clerk of the police court.

(n) Whoever shall knowingly and willfully obstruct, resist, or oppose any such officer or person in serving or attempting to serve or execute any such search warrant, or shall assault, beat, or wound any such officer or person, knowing him to be an officer or person so authorized, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than two years. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1290, ch. 854, § 646; Jan. 17, 1912, 37 Stat. 53, ch. 11.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

DOMESTIC CORPORATIONS

Sections 646 and 647 of 1901 code (§§ 35–102, 35–103), relative to filing copies of charter, "were intended to apply to companies organized without the District and doing business within the District." American Home Life Ins. Co. v. Drake (30 App. D. C. 263).

GROUP HEALTH ASSOCIATION

When Group Health Association was not engaged in the business of insurance or indemnity, and not specifically exempted from the regulations pertaining to them, the superintendent could not challenge generally and without regard to features of insurance or indemnity as to validity of the incorporation. Jordan v. Group Health Assn. (71 App. D. C. 38, 107 Fed. (2d) 239).

Apart from any specific exemption, the business of a Group Health Association was not that of insurance so as to bring it within meaning of this act. Jordan v. Group Health Assn. (71 App. D. C. 38, 107 Fed. (2d) 239).

INTERPRETATION OF LAWS

"No provision of the law conferred or attempted to confer upon the superintendent of insurance the power to make and enforce an interpretation of the laws relating to insurance companies, agents, or brokers. Such power is a judicial one, that can be exercised by the courts alone." Drake v. United States ex rel. Bates (30 App. D. C. 312).

RULES AND REGULATIONS

As to superintendent's power to promulgate regulations for the proper enforcement of the law, see Drake v. United States ex rel. Bates (30 App. D. C. 312).

There is neither express nor implied authority in the superintendent to make rules or to apply the drastic provisions of those rules solely to mutual companies. Without such authority, the limit of his power is to make rules consistent with the provisions of the law. Hutchins Mut. Ins. Co. v. Hazen (70 App. D. C. 174, 105 Fed. (2d) 53).

§ 35–103 [5: 173]. Annual statements—Statement to be published in newspaper.

The said superintendent shall furnish, in December of each year, to every insurance company or association, local, domestic, and foreign, doing business in the District of Columbia, or its agent or attorney in the District, the necessary blank forms for the annual statements for such company or association, which shall be returned to the superintendent on or before the first day of March in each year, signed and sworn to by the president or vice-president and secretary or assistant secretary, or, if a foreign company, by its manager or proper representative within the United States, showing its true financial condition as of the next preceding 31st day of December, which shall include a statement of its assets and liabilities classified according to regulations made by the Superintendent of Insurance on that day, the amount and character of business transacted, losses sustained, and money received and expended during the year, and such other information as the said superintendent may deem necessary. Such annual statements shall be printed in at least one daily newspaper published in the District of Columbia, in the month of March in each year; and any such company or association failing to comply with the provisions aforesaid shall have its license to do business in the District revoked. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1290, ch. 854, § 647; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 534, ch. 1329; Aug. 18, 1911, 37 Stat. 22, ch. 26.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

This section is superseded in whole or in part by chapter 18 of title 47.

The 1902 amendment added "or vice-president" after "president" and "or assistant secretary" after "secretary."

The 1911 amendment substituted "local, domestic, and foreign, doing business in the District of Columbia" for "hereinbefore mentioned."

The 1901 code also contained the word "detailed" between the words "include a" and "statement of its assets and liabilities." The 1902 act changed this word to "classified," and it was omitted in the amendment of 1911.

COMPILER'S NOTES

This section as enacted contains at the beginning the following provision: "No insurance company or association organized outside the territorial limits of the United States shall be licensed to do business in the District until it shall have complied with the laws of some one of said States requiring a deposit of not less than one hundred thousand dollars, or deposited in the registry of the supreme court of the District (District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia) United States or municipal bonds, the market value of which shall not be less than one hundred thousand dollars, to be approved by the superintendent of insurance and the Commissioners of the District, to be held and maintained unimpaired in the registry of said court as a reserve fund for the liquidation of any judgment or judgments that may be obtained against such insurance company or association in said court or any inferior court of competent jurisdiction in said District." However, § 35–1105 of this code provides for deposits by foreign marine insurance companies, § 35–601 provides for deposits by foreign life insurance companies, and § 35–1326 provides the requirements for issuance of a certificate of authority to foreign fire, marine, and casualty insurance companies.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

GROUP HEALTH ASSOCIATION

Whether the decision is made on the technical legal character of the arrangements, the letter of the bond, or on a practical consideration of the functions performed by Group Health Association and the methods used by it in performing them, it properly cannot be brought within the laws relating to insurance or to organizations providing "for the payment of indemnity on account of sickness or accident." Jordan v. Group Health Assn. (71 App. D. C. 38, 107 Fed. (2d) 239).

"Health, accident, and life insurance companies" defined—Assets and capital stock required—Amount of policies—Taxation—Reports to Superintendent of Insurance—Examination by Superintendent of Insurance—Appeal to Commissioners—Fraternal beneficial and certain other organizations exempt.

Every corporation, joint-stock company, or association not exempt herein, transacting business in the District of Columbia, which collects premiums, dues, or assessments from its members or from holders of its certificates or policies, and which provides for the payment of indemnity on account of sickness or accident, or a benefit in case of death, shall be known as "health, accident, and life insurance companies or associations." No such company or association shall transact business within the District of Columbia unless it shall have in assets or in capital stock fully paid up in cash, or in both together, not less than twenty-five thousand dollars as a capital or guarantee fund; which assets may be invested in United States, State, county, municipal bonds, and bonds of the District of Columbia, or railroad bonds; but investments in the bonds of railroads shall be limited to the bonds of those railroads which have paid dividends on their capital stock for the ten years immediately previous to the date of the investment; or in improved real estate, or in first mortgages on improved real estate; but no loan on real estate shall be made for an amount exceeding seventy per centum of its assessed value, such investments to be approved by the Superintendent of Insurance of the District of Columbia. No such health, accident, and life insurance company or association, transacting on August 15, 1911, or thereafter the business of health, accident, and life insurance, or either or all said kinds of insurance, in the District of Columbia shall issue policies or certificates providing, either singly or in aggregate, a greater accident or death benefit than five hundred dollars, or a greater weekly indemnity than twenty dollars, on any one person unless such company or association has in assets or in capital stock fully paid up in cash, or in both together, not less than one hundred thousand dollars invested and approved as aforesaid. Every such company or association shall pay to the collector of taxes for the District of Columbia a sum of money, as tax, equal to one per centum of all moneys received from members of policy or certificate holders within the District of Columbia, said tax to be paid on or before the 1st day of March of each year on the amount of such income for the year ending December 31st next preceding; and shall also file annually with said Superintendent of Insurance, on or before the 1st day of March of each year, a sworn statement, on blanks furnished by said Superintendent of Insurance, showing its true financial condition, income, disbursements, assets, and liabilities on the 31st day of December next preceding, and such other information as said Superintendent of Insurance may require; and shall pay to the said collector of taxes ten dollars for filing such statement. Said Superintendent of Insurance shall examine from time to time and at least as often as once a year all companies or associations described herein; and when he finds the capital stock of any such company impaired or its assets reduced in value to an amount less than required by the provisions hereof he shall at once give notice of said fact to said company or association, and unless said impairment is made good within sixty days after said notice, it shall be the duty of said superintendent to revoke or suspend the license of said company or association until such impairment shall have been made good; and any company or association that issues policies or certificates of insurance as described herein without a license from said superintendent or during a suspension thereof, as herein provided, shall be fined not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars per day: Provided, That if any such company or association shall feel aggrieved by the decision of said superintendent concerning the investment or impairment of its assets or capital stock, it shall have the right to appeal, within ten days, from the decision of said superintendent to the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, who shall prescribe rules and regulations for the hearing of said appeal, and their decision shall be final: Provided also, That when any such company or association shall have complied with the provisions contained herein, the Superintendent of Insurance shall issue to it a license to transact its business in the District of Columbia: Provided, however, That nothing contained in this section shall interfere with or abridge the rights of any fraternal beneficial association licensed to transact business under sections 35–901 to 35–917, or incorporated by special act of Congress: And provided further, That nothing contained herein shall apply to any relief association, not conducted for profit, composed solely of officers and enlisted men of the United States Army or Navy, or solely of employees of any other branch of the United States government service, or solely of employees of any individual, company, firm, or corporation.

Nothing herein contained shall repeal or affect the other provisions of sections 35–101 to 35–108 regulating foreign corporations, or corporations, associations, or companies who are nonresidents of the District of Columbia (to whom the provisions of this section shall also be applicable), or the provisions of section 35–108 relating to inquiry into the affairs of District companies. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1292, ch. 854, § 653; Aug. 15, 1911, 37 Stat. 16, ch. 12, §§ 1, 2.)

Compiler's Notes

The first paragraph of this section is the first section of the act of August 15, 1911. The second paragraph of this section is the proviso clause of the second section of that act. The first part of § 2 of the act of August 15, 1911, was "That all Acts and parts of Acts inconsistent herewith be, and the same are hereby, repealed: Provided, That."

Act of August 15, 1911, also contained a provision making the second sentence effective 90 days after its passage.

This section is, largely if not wholly, superseded by chapter 13 of this title, see notes to § 35–201.

This section is superseded, in part, by chapter 18 of title 47.

Amendment

Prior to the 1911 amendment, which struck out the original section, this section contained provisions relating to companies transacting life insurance on the assessment plan, exempting them from the provisions of § 35–108 and providing for the furnishing of annual statements by such companies.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Application for Reinstatement

This provision applies to an application for the reinstatement of a lapsed policy. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Burch (39 App. D. C. 397).

Benefit Order

Grand Lodge of Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is a benefit order, within the meaning of the section, as amended, and subject to its provisions. Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen v. Groves (48 App. D. C. 151, cert. den. 248 U. S. 587, 63 L. Ed. 434, 39 Sup. Ct. 184).

Entire Application

Copy of entire application must be attached; "it is not left to the discretion of the insurer to select such parts of the application as it may deem material for delivery with its policy." Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Hawkins (31 App. D. C. 493).

Fraudulent Representations

This applies to fraudulent representations in application for previous policy made part of second policy. Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Gott (62 App. D. C. 379, 68 Fed. (2d) 426).

Group Health Association

Apart from any specific exemption, the business of appellee Group Health Association is not that of insurance to bring it within this section of statute. Jordan v. Group Health Assn. (71 App. D. C. 38, 107 Fed. (2d) 239).

The appellee Group Health Association held to be a distributing, not an accumulating agency, and to require it to maintain a guarantee fund was not the intent of Congress. Jordan v. Group Health Assn. (71 App. D. C. 38, 107 Fed. (2d) 239).

It is not necessary to decide whether the exemption or definition of health and accident insurance companies has any effect upon the regulations prescribed by other sections of the code. Apart from any specific exemption the business of the Group Health Association is not that of insurance so as to bring it within those sections. Jordan v. Group Health Assn. (71 App. D. C. 38, 107 Fed. (2d) 239).

Payment of Indemnity

This provision does not include all "insurance" companies, but only those which provide for the "payment of indemnity on account of sickness." The statute does not include necessarily contracts "to indemnify," but is limited to those which provide for the "payment" of indemnity. The word "payment" is not used as equivalent to "indemnify." Group Health Assn. v. Moor ((D. C.-D. C.), 24 Fed. Supp. 445).

REPORT BY RECEIVERS

Where business of insurance association has been so injured by ill will and protracted litigation among the stockholders that it has become insolvent, and its capital and reserve have been seriously impaired, receivers pendente lite were properly appointed to take possession of its assets and to report on the condition of its affairs. Provident Relief Assn. v. Vernon (57 App. D. C. 235, 19 Fed. (2d) 709).

RESERVES

There is no provision of the general law broad enough to cover regulations governing in the minutest detail the operation and business of an insurance company, but the statute itself makes a clear distinction between stock companies and mutual companies with respect to maintaining a reserve. Hutchins Mut. Ins. Co. v. Hazen (70 App. D. C. 174, 105 Fed. (2d) 53).

§ 35–203 [5: 183]. Copy of application to be delivered with policy—Statements in application as defense.

Each life insurance company, benefit order, and association doing a life insurance business in the District of Columbia shall deliver with each policy issued by it a copy of the application made by the insured so that the whole contract may appear in said application and policy, in default of which no defense shall be allowed to such policy on account of anything contained in, or omitted from, such application. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1294, ch. 854, § 657; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 534, ch. 1329.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

This section is largely superseded by §§ 35–703, subd. (3); 35–705, subd. (3); 35–711, subd. (2).

AMENDMENT

Prior to its amendment in 1902 this section read "Each life insurance company doing business in the District of Columbia shall attach to each policy issued by such company a copy of the application made by the insured, so that the whole contract may appear in said application and policy."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

DECISIONS UNDER PRIOR LAW

Prior to the amendment by the act of June 30, 1902, this section "did not cover policies (certificates) issued by fraternal beneficial associations." Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen v. Groves (48 App. D. C. 151, cert. den. 248 U. S. 587, 63 L. Ed. 434, 39 Sup. Ct. 184.)

IN GENERAL

"This section was intended to remedy a mischief and is to be given a liberal interpretation to that end." Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Burch (39 App. D. C. 397).

ENTIRE CONTRACT

Purpose in adopting this section was to compel insurance companies, whether old line or fraternal, to state the entire contract either in the policy or the policy and application, so that the insured would be able to find the terms defining his obligations and rights as a policyholder in not more than two papers. Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen v. Groves (48 App. D. C. 151, cert. den. 248 U. S. 587, 63 L. Ed. 434, 39 Sup. Ct. 184).

INCORPORATION BY REFERENCE

This section could not be satisfied by making a section of the constitution of the insurer a part of the contract by reference, for it requires an actual incorporation in the certificate and application of every element of the agreement "so that the whole contract may appear in said application and policy." Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen v. Groves (48 App. D. C. 151, cert. den. 248 U. S. 587, 63 L. Ed. 434, 39 Sup. Ct. 184).

MISSTATEMENT OF AGE

Misstatement of age is no defense where copy of application was not delivered "with the policy or at any other time." Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen v. Groves (48 App. D. C. 151, cert. den. 248 U. S. 587, 63 L. Ed. 434, 39 Sup. Ct. 184).

ORAL APPLICATION

This provision does not extend to an oral application. Washington Fidelity Nat. Ins. Co. v. Burton (287 U. S. 97, 77 L. Ed. 196, 53 Sup. Ct. 26, revg. 61 App. D. C. 3, 56 Fed. (2d) 300).

POLICY CONSTITUTING CONTRACT

Where a life policy by its terms constitutes the entire agreement, this section does not prevent an insurer from basing a defense on a policy provision stating that if within two years of date of issue insured has received treatment or has been attended by any physician for any serious disease, the policy should be voidable unless reference to such treatment is endorsed on the policy, even though the policy was issued on a written application and no copy of the application was delivered with the policy. Pullen v. Sun Life Ins. Co. of America, 1941 (121 F. 2d 110, 74 App. D. C. 197, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 112, 314 U. S. 613, 86 L. Ed. 494).

Where written application, if there was one, was not delivered with industrial life policy, but policy by its terms constituted the entire agreement, this section did not prevent insurer from making any defense that it had under the terms of the policy. Eureka-Maryland Assur. Co. v. Gray, 1941 (121 F. 2d 104, 74 App. D. C. 191, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 114, 314 U. S. 613, 86 L. Ed. 494).

PRELIMINARY REPORT OF AGENT

A preliminary report, signed only by the agent, intended for the general information of the company and not referred to in the policy, is no part of the contract of insurance and need not be attached thereto. Griffin v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (36 App. D. C. 8).

PROVISIONS OUTSIDE CONTRACT

"No provision in the rules or elsewhere of an insurance company or fraternal order which was not physically embodied in the policy or application should be regarded as a part of the contract." Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen v. Groves (48 App. D. C. 151, cert. den. 248 U. S. 587, 63 L. Ed. 434, 39 Sup. Ct. 184).

§ 35–204 [5: 183a]. Principal office to be in District of Columbia—Keeping and removing of records—Reincorporation of companies chartered by special acts—Penalties—Prosecutions.

Any corporation now or hereafter formed or organized under any provision of law in force and effect in the District of Columbia to engage in an insurance business shall maintain its principal office within said District and shall keep its books, records, and files therein, and shall not remove from said District either its principal office or its books, records, or files without the permission of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia first had and obtained: Provided, however, That nothing contained in this section shall be construed to apply to the books, records, and files of any such corporation kept in a branch-office agency of such corporation, which books, records, and files relate solely to the business transacted by the said branch-office agency: And provided further, That any insurance corporation created by special Act of Congress is authorized upon resolution of its board of directors or trustees to reincorporate under the laws of any State of the United States, a certified copy of such resolution of such board of directors or trustees having first been filed in the office of the Superintendent of Insurance of the District of Columbia and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia. Upon compliance with the above conditions, the assets of the said corporation shall thereby become vested in the new corporation. Said new corporation shall faithfully carry out any and every right, obligation, and liability of said original corporation.

Any corporation violating any of the provisions of this section shall forthwith forfeit its charter, which forfeiture shall operate as a revocation of its license to do business within said District.

Any officer, agent, or employee of any such corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall pay a fine of not less than $300 or be imprisoned for not more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. All prosecutions under this section shall be upon information filed in the police court of the District of Columbia in the name of the District of Columbia by the corporation counsel thereof or any of his assistants. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, as added May 17, 1932, 47 Stat. 158, ch. 189.)

The Superintendent of Insurance may withdraw his approval of any premium rate or schedule made by any insurance corporation or association, if, in his judgment, such premium rate or schedule is inadequate or unreasonable: Provided, That upon petition of the company or association or any other party aggrieved the opinion of the Superintendent of Insurance shall be subject to review by the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia: Provided further, That any petition for review shall be filed with said court within thirty days after the rendition of opinion by the Superintendent of Insurance. There shall be continued in the District a department charged with the execution of the laws relating to insurance, to be called the "Department of Insurance of the District of Columbia." At the head of such department there shall be a Superintendent of Insurance, who shall devote his entire service to the department. He shall be appointed by and hold his office at the pleasure of the commissioners. The superintendent, during his term of office, shall not be interested in the business of any insurance company except as a policyholder. He shall take and subscribe an oath of office which shall be filed with the commissioners. In said department there shall be also two deputy superintendents and such other personnel as may be necessary within appropriations annually made by Congress for said department. The compensation of the superintendent, deputy superintendents, and other personnel shall be fixed in accordance with the provisions of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended (U. S. C., title 5, § 673).

In case of the absence or inability of the superintendent, or in the event of the removal of the superintendent, and pending the appointment of his successor, one of the deputy superintendents shall perform the duties of the superintendent.

The commissioners shall provide the department with an official seal, which shall be the seal of the District of Columbia surrounded by a border in which shall appear "Department of Insurance of the District of Columbia."

Every certificate and other document or paper executed by such superintendent, or his deputies, in pursuance of any authority conferred upon him by law and sealed with the seal of his office, and all copies of papers certified by him or by his deputies and authenticated by said seal, shall, in all cases, be evidence equally and in like manner as the original thereof and shall have the same force and effect as would the original in any suit or proceeding in any court of this District.

The office of the superintendent shall be a public office, and the records, books, and papers thereof on file therein shall be public records of the District, except as it may be provided otherwise herein.

The superintendent shall report annually to the commissioners his official transactions, and shall include in such report abstracts of the annual statements of the several companies and an exhibit of the financial condition and business transactions of the same as shown by their annual statements. He shall also include therein a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the department for the preceding year and such recommendations relative to insurance and the insurance laws of the District as he shall deem proper.

The superintendent is authorized to attend and participate in the meetings of the national convention of insurance commissioners and of the committees thereof; he is also authorized to visit the insurance departments of the various states when in his judgment such visits are necessary for the proper conduct of his official office; and he may require such of his assistants as he may designate to attend and participate in such meetings, all subject to the prior approval of the commissioners. The actual expense of such attendance by the superintendent and his assistants shall be paid in like manner as other expenses of the District are paid. Every advertisement or public announcement and every sign, circular, or card issued by an alien company doing business in the District, representing its financial standing shall exhibit as capital stock and assets only the capital stock and assets held by its United States branch, the liabilities, including therein the premium and loss reserves required by law, and the amount of surplus, and shall correspond to the next preceding verified statement made by such company to the superintendent.

If any witness having been personally summoned shall neglect or refuse to obey the subpena issued as herein provided, then and in that event the superintendent may report that fact to the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, or one of the justices thereof, and said court, or any justice thereof, hereby is empowered to compel obedience to said subpena to the same extent as witnesses may be compelled to obey the subpenas of that court. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Where insurer charged that insured prior to application for life policy had had duodenal ulcer, abnormal blood pressure, dizziness, loss of consciousness and kidney disease, and that in application he falsely denied their existence, to avoid life policy for material misrepresentation on account of answers, insurer had burden of proving one or more of them false. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

Under this section insurer has burden of proof as to elements indicated in order to avoid life policy. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Adams (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 345).

CHANGE OF BENEFICIARY

An erroneous statement in an application for change of beneficiary which does not relate to a material matter and is not made with intent to deceive, does not void a life policy. Carter v. Provident Ins. Co., 1941 (122 F. 2d 960, 74 App. D. C. 348).

CONDITIONS PRECEDENT

The effect of this section enacted to prevent innocent and immaterial misrepresentations in application from avoiding insurance cannot be escaped by device of contracting to the contrary or labeling a contractual attempt to do so a condition to the attaching of the risk. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

The purpose of this section regarding effect of false statement in application for insurance was to nullify contractual provisions contrary to its terms, and therefore a so-called condition precedent is invalid to extent that it is more broadly effective than this section allows. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

Where application for life policy contained clause that policy should not take effect until received by insured and full first premium thereon was paid while conditions material to risk represented by statements in application remained same as described therein, and insurer contended that the clause made truth of statements conditions precedent to attaching of risk, the so-called "condition precedent" was invalid to extent that it was more broadly effective than permitted by this section regarding false statements in application for insurance. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

EVIDENCE

Where evidence was conflicting whether hospitalization of insured and hospital record disclosing diagnosis of duodenal ulcer were genuine or fictitious, excluding evidence that insurance companies generally, and defendant insurer usually declined risk on finding a hospital record disclosing diagnosis of duodenal ulcer, was not error. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

Where insured's wife and companion testified that wife informed insurer's representative of insured's hospitalization not disclosed by application for life policy, refusing to permit insurer to cross-examine the wife and her companion concerning what was said in conversation with the representative as to change in beneficiary was not error, where insurer sought to avoid liability on ground of false statements in application. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

Evidence concerning insured's statements informing his wife, who was beneficiary of life policy, of hospitalization not disclosed by application was not objectionable on ground that statements were "self-serving declarations" and "hearsay", where evidence disclosed facts leading up to the wife's visit to insurer's representative the following day and reason for visit and were admissible to show that full disclosure of facts had been made to insurer's representative. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

Where insurer sought to avoid liability on life policy on ground that insured, prior to application, had had duodenal ulcer, abnormal blood pressure, dizziness, loss of consciousness, kidney disease, and in application falsely denied existence thereof, evidence sustained verdict against insurer. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

In action on life policy defended on ground of misrepresentations in application, objection to testimony of physician who attended insured as to what he treated insured for on ground of privilege was properly sustained. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Adams (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 345).

Where insured stated "Don't remember when last ill" in answer to question in application for life policy, and undisputed evidence established that three months previously to applying for policy insured was so sick that he had to be carried out of bathroom and immediately thereafter was treated by two different physicians on not less than six occasions, insured's statement as matter of law constituted a false misrepresentation, preventing recovery on policy. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Adams (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 345).

GENERALLY

To avoid life policy under this section, the statement must be both false and made with intent to deceive or material to risk or its acceptance, unless possibly both intent to deceive and materiality are required in addition to falsity. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

A misstatement in application for life policy to be "material to hazard assumed" within this section must be shown in some way to have affected the hazard assumed or contributed to the loss in a substantial manner. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

Where the insured stated in his application that he had not consulted a physician for any ailment or disease not included in his previous answers and that he had not consulted or been treated by a physician within the preceding five years, he was making a misrepresentation. Evidence shows as a matter of law that these misrepresentations materially affected either the acceptance of the risk or the hazard assumed by the company, or both. Kaitlin v. Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 188).

INSTRUCTIONS

In action on life policy defended on ground of misrepresentations in application which denied knowledge of heart trouble and medical attendance, instructions which submitted only issue as to whether there were misrepresentations as to heart trouble, and which failed to submit issue as to whether there were misrepresentations in regard to medical attendance, were erroneous. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Adams (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 345).

NOTICE TO INSURER

Where insured's wife informed insurer's representative of hospitalization of insured not disclosed by application for life policy, in determining question of waiver by insurer, the representative's knowledge was to be considered "notice" to the insurer regardless of provision of policy that the representative had no power to bind the insurer by accepting any information. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

PURPOSE

This section providing that falsity of statement in application shall not bar right to recovery under policy unless statement was made with intent to deceive or unless it materially affected either acceptance of risk or hazard assumed by insurer, was intended to prevent innocent and immaterial misrepresentations in application from avoiding insurance. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

QUESTIONS FOR JURY

Where evidence was conflicting as to whether hospitalization of insured and hospital record disclosing diagnosis of duodenal ulcer were genuine or were fictitious, whether insured's answers in application for life policy which failed to disclose hospitalization and diagnosis were material to acceptance of risk was for jury. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

Where insurer contended that life policy did not take effect because of false statements in application regarding hospitalization and consultation of physician, evidence as to whether hospitalization was genuine or was fictitious for purpose of covering up alleged "social lapse" of insured caused by overdrinking at a wedding party, was for jury. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

Where evidence was conflicting regarding whether insured's hospitalization was genuine or fictitious, whether misstatements in application for life policy regarding hospitalization and consultation of physician were made with intent to deceive, and were material to hazard assumed or false within meaning of this section regarding effect of false statements in application, was for jury. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

VALIDITY OF POLICY

To void a life insurance policy on the ground of false representation, the answer must not only have been untrue, but it must have been with reference to a material matter. Kaplan v. Manhattan Life Ins. Co. (71 App. D. C. 250, 109 Fed. (2d) 463).

WAIVER

Where insured's wife informed insurer's representative of the fact, time and place of insured's hospitalization that had not been disclosed by application for life policy, and that wife thought insured was going to die, but representative informed wife that policy was not affected and that she should continue premium payments, the disclosure was adequate to form basis for waiver. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

Where insurer's representative with authority to receive information on insurer's behalf and to forward complaints and controversies concerning matters affecting policy to insurer's home office received knowledge of existence of ground of forfeiture of life policy and failed to communicate it promptly to insurer's home office, insurer became charged with "notice" thereof so that where insurer received premiums and allowed matter to rest for nearly a month until insured's death "waiver" of ground of forfeiture was effectually completed. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

Where insurer's representative having authority to solicit risks and collect premiums was informed by insured's wife of hospitalization of insured not disclosed by application, and thereafter premiums were accepted and insurer and representative stood idle for nearly a month until insured's death, there was a "waiver", precluding insurer from avoiding liability because of insured's failure to disclose the hospitalization, notwithstanding provision of policy prohibiting the representative from waiving any forfeiture. Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Saxe, 1943 (134 F. 2d 16, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 144, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1033, 319 U. S. 745, 87 L. Ed. 1132).

§ 35–415 [5: 217n]. General deposit—Amount—Deposits outside District.

Every company desiring to transact business in the District shall, as a prerequisite to the issuance of a certificate of authority, deposit, as herein provided, approved securities of not less than $100,000 market value. In the case of domestic companies, such deposit shall be made in the District as prescribed under section 35–416: Provided, That the deposit of every domestic company heretofore organized under the provisions of the laws of the District or other Act of Congress may, in the discretion of the superintendent, be limited (1) for stock companies, to an amount equal to the capital stock outstanding on June 19, 1934; (2) for nonstock companies, to such amount as in the opinion of the superintendent would be required from stock companies of comparable size. In no case shall the deposit of a domestic company be less than $25,000 in value. In the case of foreign or alien companies, the deposit may be made as provided under section 35–416, or may be made with the supervising official of any State, Territory, or insular possession of the United States authorized to accept such deposit, which shall be held for the benefit of all policyholders.

In the case of a deposit made with an official outside the District, a certificate of deposit from said official shall be filed with the superintendent, showing the character of the deposit, before a certificate of authority to transact business in the District may be issued, and, if the securities so deposited are not of the class authorized by chapters 3–8 of this title for investments of companies, the superintendent may require an additional deposit in approved securities. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1133, ch. 672, § 16, ch. II; May 20, 1940, 54 Stat. 217, ch. 204.)

AMENDMENT

The 1940 amendment substituted all that part of this section before the proviso for "Every company desiring to transact business in the District shall before being licensed, deposit approved securities of not less than $100,000 market value with the superintendent or the supervising official of any State, Territory, or insular possession of the United States authorized to accept such deposit, which shall be held for the benefit of all policyholders:" inserted the words, "in the discretion of the superintendent" in the proviso clause, inserted "in value" after "$25,000" in the third sentence and added the fourth sentence.

In the second paragraph the amendment of 1940 substituted "In the case of a deposit made with an official outside the District" for "If such deposit is made with an official other than the superintendent" and substituted "a certificate of authority" for "a license."

§ 35–416 [5: 217o]. Custody of general deposits—Collection of income—Substitution of securities—Required securities.

When any company is required by chapters 3–8 of this title to make a deposit in the District, such deposit shall be in securities of the class authorized by chapters 3–8 of this title for investments of companies, and shall be delivered by the company to the secretary of the Board of Commissioners of the District and the auditor of the District, who shall receive and hold the same subject to the lawful orders of the superintendent, and who shall be responsible for the safe-keeping of all securities deposited or delivered under the authority of this section. The company shall have the right to collect the income on deposited securities so long as it continues solvent and complies with the laws of the United States and of the District, and it shall have the right to substitute for such securities other securities, provided such substituted securities are of the character, amount, and value required by this section, and are approved by the superintendent: Provided, That not less than $25,000 of such deposit shall at all times consist of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of the United States or of any state of the United States, or of any county or incorporated city of any state of the United States, and that securities of a class different from such bonds or other evidences of indebtedness shall not in any case be accepted for deposit except with the specific approval of and at values determined by the superintendent.

If the value of securities deposited by any company shall decline, the superintendent may require the company to make a further deposit, in order that the amount and value of the deposit required by chapters 3–8 of this title shall at all times be maintained. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1134, ch. 672, § 17, ch. II; May 20, 1940, 54 Stat. 217, ch. 204.)

AMENDMENT

This section prior to its amendment in 1940 read as follows: "When any company is required by the laws of the District, or of any State or county, or by other competent authority, to make a deposit with an insurance supervising official, or other financial officer, and where said deposit is made by the company in bonds or other evidence of indebtedness of the United States, or of any State of the United States, or of any county or incorporated city of any State of the United States, the said securities shall be delivered to the Secretary of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and the Auditor of the District of Columbia, who shall receive and hold the same, subject to the lawful orders of the Superintendent of Insurance, and who shall be responsible for the safekeeping of all securities deposited or delivered under the authority of this section, so long as the company continues solvent and complies with the laws of the United States and of the District of Columbia, and it may in that event collect the income on such securities. The company shall have the right to substitute therefor other securities, required by this section as lawful investment, provided such substitute securities are of the character, amount, and value called for by this section and are approved by the Superintendent of Insurance. If the value of the securities deposited by any company shall decline below the amounts so required, the company shall make a further deposit and maintain the deposit in the amount and value so required."

When a company determines to discontinue its business or to cease to do business in the District and desires to withdraw its deposit made in the District pursuant to chapters 3–8 of this title the superintendent shall, upon the application of the company, and at its expense, give notice of such intention in a newspaper of general circulation in the District once a week for three consecutive weeks. After such publication he shall deliver to such company or its assigns the securities so deposited when he is satisfied upon examination and investigation made by him or under his authority and upon the oaths of the president and secretary or other chief officers of the company that all debts and liabilities of every kind due and to become due which the deposit was made to secure are paid and extinguished: Provided, That the superintendent may require any company so withdrawing from the District to furnish bond to cover any undisclosed or contingent liabilities.

Upon a company being wholly reinsured the superintendent may deliver to it or to its assigns all securities deposited by it upon compliance with the following condition: The reinsuring company shall assume and agree to discharge all liabilities of every kind due and to become due which the deposit of the reinsured company was made to secure. The deposit of the reinsuring company shall be such that it will subsist for the security of the obligations of the reinsured company assumed by the reinsuring company. § 35–418 [5: 217q]. Examinations—Reports—Verification—Hearing upon—Publication—Expense.

The superintendent may examine the books, papers, property, and the affairs of any insurance company organized or doing business in the District and of any company engaged in or professing to be engaged in organizing, promoting, or soliciting stock or capital contributions to or aiding in the formation of an insurance company or of any company which holds the capital stock of an insurance company for the purpose of controlling the management thereof as voting trustees or otherwise. The superintendent, his deputy, or any examiner may examine under oath the officers and agents of such company and all persons deemed to have material information regarding the company's property or business. Every such company, its officers and agents, shall produce at the home office of the company at the time designated by the superintendent, its books of original entry and all records and papers in its or their possession relating to its business or affairs, and any other person may be required to produce any book, record, or paper in his custody relevant to the examination, for the inspection of the superintendent, his deputy or examiners, whenever required; and the officers and agents of such company shall facilitate such examination and aid the examiners in making the same so far as it is in their power to do so. Every such examiner shall make a full and true report of every examination made by him, verified by his oath, which shall comprise only facts appearing upon the books, papers, records, or documents of such company, or ascertained from the sworn testimony of its officers or agents or other persons examined under oath concerning its affairs, and said report so verified shall be presumptive evidence in any action or proceeding in the name of the District against the company, its officers or agents, of the facts therein stated. The superintendent shall grant a hearing to the company examined, or he shall furnish it a copy of his report, in tentative form, requesting that the statements and items therein contained be checked, and the report be returned to the superintendent within the time specified by him, before filing any such report and before making public such report or any matters relating thereto; and may withhold any such report from public inspection for such time as he may deem proper; and may, after so filing, if he deems it for the interest of the public to do so, publish any such report or the result of any such examination as contained therein in one or more newspapers in the District without expense to the company. It shall be the duty of the superintendent to examine every domestic insurance company at least once in three years.

The expense of every such examination, not to include salaries, shall be paid by the company examined, and such company shall pay to the superintendent, his deputies, and/or his examiners the actual expense of such examination upon itemized bills furnished by the superintendent. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1135, ch. 672, § 19, ch. II.)

§ 35–419 [5: 217r]. Superintendent may take possession of property of company and conduct its business—Conditions precedent—Procedure—Injunction—Resumption of possession by company—Order for liquidation—Appointment of deputies—Expense of liquidation—Bond—Annual report.

The superintendent may, the corporation counsel of the District representing him, apply to the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia for a rule directing any company doing business in the District, any company organized under the laws of the District or other Acts of Congress, or any company in course of organization, to show cause why the superintendent should not take possession of its property and conduct its business and for such other relief as the nature of the case and the interests of its policyholders, creditors, stockholders, or the public may require, whenever any such company (a) is insolvent; or (b) in the case of a stock company, has neglected or refused to observe a lawful order of the superintendent to make good within the time prescribed by law any deficiency of its capital or surplus, or in the case of a mutual company, if its assets have not become equal to its liabilities within ninety days from the date of notification thereof by the superintendent; or (c) has by contract or reinsurance, or otherwise transferred or attempted to transfer substantially its entire property or business, or entered into any transaction the effect of which is to merge substantially its entire property or business, in the property or business of any other company, association, society, or order, without having first obtained the written approval of the superintendent; or (d) is found, after an examination by the superintendent, his deputy or examiners, to be in such condition that its further transaction of business will be hazardous to its policyholders; or (e) has willfully violated its charter; or (f) is carrying on activities against public policy.

On such application, or any time thereafter, such court may, in its discretion, issue an injunction restraining such company from the transaction of its business or disposition of its property pending further order of the court. On the return of such rule to show cause, the court shall hear, try, and determine the issues forthwith and shall either deny the application or direct the superintendent to take possession of the property and conduct the business of such company, and retain such possession and conduct such business until on the application either of the superintendent, the corporation counsel representing him, or of the company, it shall, after a like hearing, appear to the court that the ground for the order directing the superintendent to take possession has been removed and that the company can properly resume possession of its property and the conduct of its business.

If, on the like application and rule to show cause, and after a hearing, the court shall order the liquidation of the business of such company, such liquidation shall be made by and under the direction of the superintendent, who may deal with the property and business of such company in his own name as superintendent or in the name of the company, as the court may direct, and shall be vested by operation of law with title to all of the property, contracts, and rights of action of such company as of the date of the order so directing him to liquidate. The filing or recording of such order in the office of the recorder of deeds for the District shall impart the same notice that a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded by such company would have imparted.

For the purpose of this section the superintendent shall have power to appoint under his hand and official seal one or more special deputy superintendents of insurance as his agent or agents, and to employ clerks and assistants as may by him be deemed necessary, and give each of such persons such powers to assist him as he may consider wise. The fair and reasonable compensation of such special deputy superintendents, clerks, and assistants and all expenses of taking possession of and conducting the business of liquidating any such company shall be recommended by the superintendent, subject to the approval of the court, and shall on certificate of the superintendent be paid out of the funds or assets of such company.

For the purpose of this section the superintendent shall have power, subject to the approval of the court, to make and prescribe such rules and regulations as to him shall seem proper.

The superintendent shall transmit to the commissioners, in his annual report, the names of the companies so taken possession of, whether the same have resumed business or have been liquidated, and such other facts as shall acquaint the policyholders, creditors, stockholders, and the public with his proceedings under this section; and, to that end, the special deputy superintendent in charge of any such company shall file annually with the superintendent a report of the affairs of such company similar to that required by section 35–407. The court may require corporate surety bond from the superintendent or any assistant appointed by him, in such amount as it may deem necessary, the cost of which bond shall be paid as other expenses provided under this section. § 35–421 [5: 217t]. Reinsurance by superintendent.

The superintendent may reinsure all of the policy obligations of any domestic insurance company, of which he is a receiver, in any solvent company authorized to do business in the District, if the assets of the company are sufficient to effect such reinsurance. If such assets are insufficient for that purpose, the superintendent, upon like consent, may reinsure a percentage of each outstanding policy obligation of such company to the extent that its assets may be sufficient for that purpose. No contract of reinsurance shall be entered into by the superintendent, except in pursuance of an order of the court in which he was appointed receiver directing the reinsurance and establishing the general form of the contract for the same. All bonds or other evidences of debt having a fixed term and rate held by any company authorized to do business in the District, if amply secured and if not in default as to principal or interest, shall be valued as follows: If purchased at par, at the par value; if purchased above or below par, on the basis of the purchase price adjusted so as to bring the value to par at maturity and so as to yield meantime the effective rate of interest at which the purchase was made: Provided, That the purchase price shall in no case be taken at a higher figure than the actual market value at the time of purchase: Provided further, That the superintendent shall have full discretion in determining the method of calculating values according to the foregoing rule, and the values found by him in accordance with such method shall be final and binding: And provided further, That any such company may return such bonds or other evidences of debt at their market value or their book value, but in no event at an aggregate value exceeding the aggregate of the values calculated according to the foregoing rule. Every domestic company not having its home office in the District and every foreign or alien company now or hereafter transacting business in the District, and every foreign or alien company now or hereafter soliciting, selling, or writing insurance on any resident of the District, through the medium of the United States mails, shall file with the superintendent a duly executed instrument appointing and constituting him and his successors the true and lawful attorney of such company upon whom all lawful process in any action or legal proceeding against it may be served and therein shall agree that any lawful process against it which may be served upon its said attorney, as herein provided, shall be of the same force and validity as if served upon the company and the authority thereof shall continue in force irrevocably so long as any liability of the company in the District shall remain outstanding. Such process shall be served by leaving the same with the superintendent or his deputy, and service thereof upon such attorney shall be deemed service upon the principal. The superintendent shall forthwith forward such process by mail to the company, or, in the case of an alien company, to the resident manager or last appointed general agent of the company in the United States. The deposit, by the superintendent or his deputy, of such process sent by registered mail in a sealed envelope, postage prepaid, in the United States mail and service of such process, shall not be effectual until the same has been so mailed and received by the company and registered receipt shall be prima facie evidence of the notice of service to a company, or to the resident manager in the case of an alien company.

Failure of any such company to file such instrument, or failure on the part of any such company to authorize such filing, shall not invalidate any service made by serving the superintendent. By accepting a certificate of authority to transact business in the District, every such company shall be held to have appointed the superintendent its true and lawful attorney. Any such insurance company transacting business or soliciting, selling, or writing insurance on any resident of the District without designating an attorney for service of process, incident to adjustment of claims and kindred matters, shall, upon complaint filed by the superintendent in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, be fined, upon conviction of violating any provision of this section, not to exceed $200 a day for such violation. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1137, ch. 672, § 24, ch. II.)

§ 35–424 [5: 217w]. Political contributions prohibited—Penalty—Immunity of witnesses.

Any officer, director, stockholder, attorney, or agent of any company which violates any of the provisions of this section, who participates in, aids, abets, or advises, or consents to any such violation, and any person who solicits or knowingly receives any money or property in violation of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year and a fine of not more than $1,000, and any officer aiding or abetting in any contribution made in violation of this section shall be liable to the company for the amount so contributed.

No person shall be excused from testifying or from producing books, accounts, and papers in any proceeding based upon or growing out of any violation of the provisions of this section, on the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to penalty or forfeiture; but no person having so testified shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he may have testified or produced any documentary evidence: Provided, That no person so testifying shall be exempted from prosecution or punishment for perjury: Provided further, That the immunity hereby conferred shall extend only to a natural person who, in obedience to a subpena gives testimony under oath or produces evidence, documentary or otherwise, under oath. § 35–425 [5: 217x]. General agent, agent, solicitor—License required—Application—Contents—Applicant vouched for by company—Placement of excess or rejected risks—Expiration and renewal of license—Officers and traveling salaried employees excepted—Notice of termination of employment—Information privileged.

No person shall act within the District for any life-insurance company as a general agent, agent, or solicitor in the solicitation or procurement of applications for insurance unless he has complied with the provisions of this section and has secured a license from the superintendent of insurance. Each applicant for such license shall file with the superintendent of insurance his written application therefor on blanks furnished by the superintendent, which application shall be signed and sworn to by the applicant and shall give his name, age, residence, place of business, and occupation for five years next prior to the date of application and also set forth his qualifications for such license, namely, his familiarity with the life-insurance laws of the District and with the provisions of the contracts to be negotiated; what insurance experience he has had, if any; what insurance instruction he has had or expects to receive; whether he has been refused or has had suspended or revoked a license to solicit insurance by the insurance department or supervising officials of the District of Columbia or of any State; whether any insurance company or any general agent claims such applicant is indebted under any agency contract or otherwise, and if so, the name of the claimant, the nature of the claim and the applicant's defense thereto, if any; whether he has had an agency contract canceled, and if so, when, by what company, or general agent and the reason for such action, and such other information as the superintendent may require. The applicant shall be vouched for by an official or a licensed representative of the company for which he proposes to act, who shall certify whether the applicant is personally known to him, whether the applicant has been appointed a general agent, agent, or solicitor to represent such company, and that such company has duly investigated the character and record of such person, and has satisfied itself that he is trustworthy and qualified to act as its general agent, agent, or solicitor and intends to hold himself out in good faith as a life insurance general agent, agent, or solicitor. If, upon the showing made, the superintendent of insurance is reasonably satisfied that the applicant is a trustworthy person he shall promptly issue the license applied for. A general agent, agent, or solicitor licensed to represent any life insurance company doing business in the District shall be entitled to place excess or rejected risks in any other company lawfully doing business in the District, with the knowledge and approval of his own company without additional or separate license. Every license issued under this section shall expire annually on the 30th day of April next after its issue unless prior thereto it is revoked or suspended by the Superintendent of Insurance or the authority of the general agent, agent, or solicitor to act for the company is terminated.

In the absence of a contrary ruling by the superintendent in a given case, license renewals shall be issued from year to year upon the request of the company without further action on the part of the general agent, agent, or solicitor.

No officer or traveling salaried employee of any insurance company not compensated on a commission basis shall be required to obtain a license under this section.

Every life insurance company shall, upon the termination of the employment of any general agent, agent, or solicitor, file with the Superintendent of Insurance a statement of the facts relative to the termination of such employment and the cause thereof. Any information, document, record, statement, or thing required to be made or disclosed to the Superintendent of Insurance by this section, shall be privileged and shall not be used as evidence in any action or proceeding instituted against the company or any representative thereof by or in behalf of any person who has been licensed under the provisions of this section. The Superintendent of Insurance may suspend or revoke the license of any life insurance general agent, agent, solicitor, or broker if, after due investigation, notice and a hearing, either before him or before any salaried employee of the insurance department designated by him whose report he may adopt, he determines that such license has been secured by fraud or misrepresentation; or that the general agent, agent, solicitor, or broker has violated any insurance law of the District; or has made any misleading representations and/or incomplete and/or fraudulent comparison of any policies or companies or concerning any companies to any person for the purpose or with the intention of inducing such person to lapse, forfeit, surrender, or exchange his insurance then in force; or has made any misleading estimate of the dividends or share of surplus to be received on a policy; or has failed or refused to pay or to deliver to the company or to his principal any money or other property in the hands of said general agent, agent, solicitor, or broker belonging to such company or principal when requested so to do; or has violated any lawful ruling of the insurance department; or has been convicted of a felony; or has otherwise shown himself untrustworthy or incompetent to act as a life insurance general agent, agent, solicitor, or broker. Before the Superintendent of Insurance shall revoke or suspend any such license he shall give to the general agent, agent, solicitor, or broker and to the company which or whom he represents written notice of the charges and of the hearing, not less than twenty days prior to the time set for such hearing. Such notice shall be forwarded by registered mail addressed to the general agent, agent, solicitor, or broker at his last-known address, and to the company at its principal place of business. Full opportunity shall be given at such hearing to the general agent, agent, solicitor, or broker and to the company or principal to appear with counsel and be heard upon such charges. Within thirty days after the revocation or suspension of license or the refusal of the superintendent to grant a license, the general agent, agent, solicitor, or broker, or applicant aggrieved may appeal, from the ruling of the Superintendent of Insurance to the court of competent jurisdiction designated in section 35–427. Appeals may be taken from the judgment of said court as prescribed in section 35–427.

Any person who violates any provision of this section upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding $100 for each and every violation: Provided, That in lieu of revoking or suspending the license of any such general agent, agent, solicitor, or broker for causes enumerated in this section after hearing as herein provided, the Superintendent may subject such person to a penalty of not more than $200 when in his judgment he finds that the public interest would be best served by the continuation of the license of such person. The amount of any such penalty shall be paid by such person through the Office of the Superintendent to the Collector of Taxes of the District of Columbia. Every person desiring to engage in business in the District as a life insurance broker shall apply to the superintendent for a license so to do and in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

The applicant for such license shall file with the superintendent his written application therefor and shall make a sworn statement on blanks to be prepared by the superintendent giving his name, age, residence, place of business, occupation for five years just prior to the date of making his application; and shall state that he intends to hold himself out in good faith as carrying on the business of broker of life insurance, and shall also set out his qualifications, namely, his familiarity with the life insurance laws of the District and with the provisions of the policy contracts to be negotiated; what insurance experience and instruction he has had; his intention with reference to engaging regularly if not exclusively in the business of life insurance broker; whether he has been refused or has had suspended or revoked a license as a broker, general agent, agent, or solicitor of life insurance by the insurance department or the supervising officials of any state; whether any company claims that he is indebted to it under any agency contract or otherwise; if so, what company, the nature of the claim and of his defense if any, whether he has had any agency contract canceled by any company, and if so, when, by what company, and the reason for such action, and such other information as the superintendent may require.

The applicant shall be vouched for by at least three reputable citizens of the District setting out whether the applicant is personally known to them, what they know of the reputation of the applicant as a man of business integrity, and what they know of the applicant's general fitness to act as a broker of life insurance.

The superintendent may require such applicant for license or renewal thereof to submit to examination as to his fitness or qualifications for the license or licenses applied for. Such examination may be made by the superintendent or by his deputy, which said examination may be waived by the superintendent, upon satisfactory proof of the qualifications of the applicant.

When the superintendent is satisfied from the application or the examination made by him that the applicant is qualified, he shall issue to said applicant a license to engage in the business specified in said applications which shall also be specified in said license.

No individual whose license as a broker is revoked shall be entitled to any license under chapters 3–8 of this title for a period of one year after such revocation, provided, however, that the failure or refusal of the superintendent to license any such applicant shall be subject to review in the same manner as provided in section 35–427.

Licenses shall be renewed annually and every such license shall continue in force until the 30th day of April next following unless in the meantime suspended or revoked; provided any qualified person may be licensed as a broker regardless of place of residence or domicile.

Any person who violates any provision of this section upon conviction shall be fined not exceeding $100 for each and every violation. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1141, ch. 672, § 29, ch. II.)

Copy of such notice verified by the oath of the publisher of the newspaper, or his agent, copies of proposed bylaws and forms of subscription for capital stock and of proposed applications for membership and for insurance and of all proposed forms of insurance policies, literature, and advertisements shall be filed with the superintendent. The incorporators shall also file with the superintendent a bond payable to the superintendent and his successors, as trustee, in the sum of $10,000 with approved corporate sureties, and conditioned upon the faithful accounting to the proposed company, on completion of its organization and the receipt of its certificate of authority from the superintendent, or the stockholders, members, applicants for policies, and creditors, or the trustee, receiver, or assignee of the proposed company, duly appointed in any proceedings in any court or department of competent jurisdiction in the District, in accordance with their respective rights in case the organization of the proposed company shall not be completed and a certificate of authority shall not be procured from the superintendent. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1144, ch. 672, § 2, ch. III.)

§ 35–503 [5: 218b]. Articles of incorporation—Submission to corporation counsel—Recording—Corporate powers—Permit as "company in course of organization"—Authority to organize—No policies to be issued—Certificate of authority.

The superintendent shall submit the proposed articles and other papers so filed with him to the corporation counsel of the District, who shall examine the same, and, if he finds the same in accordance with law, he shall so certify and return the same to the superintendent, who shall cause the articles and the certificate of the corporation counsel to be recorded in the records of the superintendent and issue to the incorporators two certified copies thereof, one of which shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia, and thereupon such incorporators and their associates shall become and be a body corporate with power to sue and be sued, contract and be contracted with, adopt a seal, and do such other acts, subject to the provisions of chapters 3–8 of this title, as shall be needful to accomplish the purposes of its organization. If the superintendent shall approve the sureties on the bond so filed, or on any like bond substituted therefor, he shall issue to the corporation a permit, as a "company in course of organization," authorizing it to complete its organization. But such company shall not issue policies or enter into contracts of insurance until it shall have received the certificate of the superintendent authorizing it so to do.

Upon completion of organization in accordance with chapters 3–8 of this title the superintendent shall issue to such company, in course of organization, a certificate of authority as an insurance company. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1144, ch. 672, § 3, ch. III.)

The superintendent shall personally, or through his deputy and assistants, examine into the affairs of any such company in course of organization and inspect its books and papers, and may summon and examine under oath any officer or agent or any person who is or has been connected with or who has knowledge of the affairs of such company, and if he find the company is violating the law, or if the company shall not be qualified for a certificate of authority within two years from date of its permit, he shall revoke its permit; and if he find an agent of such company has violated the law, he shall revoke his authority, and he may for such agent's violation revoke the company's permit. Any revocation shall be after twenty days' notice. The superintendent may, on proper showing, reinstate any company's permit or agent's authority which he has revoked. superintendent may settle and close its affairs: Provided, however, That the superintendent may extend the time for any such company to commence the issuance of policies for a period not exceeding two years if the said company shall show good cause in writing why the same should be done. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1145, ch. 672, § 7, ch. III.)

§ 35–508 [5: 218g]. Capital-stock requirements.

A domestic capital-stock company organized under chapters 3–8 of this title shall have a paid-up capital stock of not less than $100,000. AMENDMENT

The 1950 act, cited to text, added the third sentence. For effective date of amendment, see note to § 35–405.

§ 35–509 [5: 218h]. Amendment of articles of incorporation—Procedure.

Any company may amend its articles of incorporation upon publishing notice of such intention, authorized by a majority of its directors, once a week for three consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the District, and with the written consent of two-thirds of its stockholders, or two-thirds of its members present in person or by proxy at a meeting called for that purpose if it does not have capital stock, and by observing such other and further requirements in that behalf as may be prescribed in its articles of incorporation. Such amendment shall be signed and acknowledged by the president and secretary or like officers of the company, and, with a copy of the proceedings of the stockholders or members, if any, and of the directors, shall be filed with the superintendent and by him submitted to the corporation counsel, and if he finds the amendment and proceedings in conformity with the law, he shall so certify to the superintendent. The amendment shall not take effect until the superintendent shall deliver to the company his certified copy of the amendment and of the certificate of the corporation counsel. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1145, ch. 672, § 9, ch. III.)

§ 35–510 [5: 218i]. Increase of capital stock—Effect of failure to subscribe and pay in within 1 year.

If a company amend its articles of incorporation by providing for an increase of its capital stock, such increase shall be subscribed and fully paid up within one year of the date of such amendment, unless the superintendent shall certify his consent to an extension of such time. Failure to have such increase of capital stock paid up within the time provided may be considered grounds for ousting the company from its powers under any such amendment to such articles of incorporation by a court of competent jurisdiction in a proceeding by the superintendent, the corporation counsel representing him, against the company for such judgment. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1146, ch. 672, § 10, ch. III.)

§ 35–511 [5: 218j]. Decrease of capital stock—Conditions—Reissuance of stock certificates.

A company may, with the approval of the superintendent, amend its articles of incorporation by providing for a decrease of its capital stock and a corresponding increase in surplus to an amount not less than the minimum capital stock and surplus required by chapters 3–8 of this title. The superintendent shall not approve or issue his certified copy of such amendment if he be of the opinion that the interests of policyholders or creditors may be prejudiced thereby. No distribution of the assets of the company shall be made to stockholders upon any such decrease of capital stock which shall reduce the surplus and capital stock to less than the minimum capital stock and surplus required as aforesaid. Upon any such amendment so decreasing the capital stock such company may require each stockholder to return his certificate of stock and accept a new certificate for such proportion of the amount of its original capital stock as the reduced capital stock shall bear to the original capital stock. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1146, ch. 672, § 11, ch. III.)

§ 35–512 [5: 218k]. Liability of stockholders—Fiduciaries as stockholders—Pledged stock.

All the stockholders of every company incorporated under this chapter shall be severally and individually liable to the policyholders and creditors of the company in which they are stockholders for the unpaid amount due upon the shares of capital stock held by them, respectively, for all debts and contracts made by such company until the whole amount of capital stock fixed and limited by such company shall have been paid in.

No person holding capital stock in such company as executor, administrator, guardian, committee, or trustee shall be personally subject to any liability as stockholder of such company, but the estate and funds in the hands of such executor, administrator, guardian, committee, or trustee shall be liable in like manner and to the same extent as the testator or intestate or the ward or person interested in such trust would have been if he had been living and competent to act and hold the stock in his own name.

Every such executor, administrator, guardian, committee, or trustee shall represent the capital stock in his hands at all meetings of the company, and may vote accordingly as a stockholder.

No person holding capital stock in such company as collateral security shall be personally subject to any liability as stockholder of such company, but the person pledging such capital stock shall be considered as holding the same, and shall be liable as a stockholder accordingly; and every person who shall pledge his capital stock as collateral security may, nevertheless, represent the same at all meetings and vote as a stockholder. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1146, ch. 672, § 12, ch. III.)

A person in whose name shares of capital stock stand on the books of a company shall be deemed the owner thereof as regards the company, but if any such person shall in good faith sell or otherwise dispose of any of his shares of capital stock to another and deliver to him the certificates for such shares, with written authority for the transfer of the same on the books, the title of the former shall vest in the latter so far as may be necessary to effect the purpose of the sale or other disposition, not only as between the parties themselves but also as against the creditors of and subsequent purchasers from the former. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1147, ch. 672, § 14, ch. III.)

Such book shall, during the usual business hours of the day, on every business day, be open for inspection by policyholders, stockholders, and creditors of the company and their personal representatives at the office or principal place of business of such company in the place where its business operations shall be located, and any policyholder, stockholder, creditor, or representative shall have a right to make extracts from such book.

Such book shall be presumptive evidence of the facts therein stated in favor of the plaintiff in any suit or proceeding against such company or against any one or more stockholders.

Every officer or agent of any company who shall neglect to make any proper entry in such book, or shall refuse or neglect to exhibit the same, or allow the same to be inspected and extracts to be taken therefrom, as herein provided, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and the company shall pay to the party injured a penalty of $50 for any such neglect or refusal, and all damages resulting therefrom.

Every company that shall neglect to keep such book open for inspection, as herein provided, shall forfeit to the District the sum of $50 for every day it shall so neglect, to be sued for and recovered by the superintendent, the corporation counsel representing him, in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1147, ch. 672, § 15, ch. III.)

Public or private corporations, boards, or associations of the District or elsewhere, may make applications, enter into agreements for, hold policies in, and become members of mutual companies. § 35–518 [5: 218q]. Reincorporation of existing corporations.

Any domestic insurance corporation existing or doing business on June 19, 1934, may, by a vote of a majority of its directors or trustees, accept the provisions of chapters 3–8 of this title and amend its charter to conform with the same upon obtaining the consent of the superintendent thereto in writing, and filing such consent in the office of the recorder of deeds for the District; and thereafter it shall be deemed to have been incorporated under this chapter, and every such corporation in reincorporating under this provision may for that purpose so adopt in whole or in part a new charter, in conformity herewith, and include therein any and all provisions of its existing charter, and any or all changes from its existing charter, to cover and enjoy any or all the privileges and provisions of existing laws which might be so included and enjoyed if it were originally incorporated hereunder, and it shall, upon such adoption of and after obtaining the consent, as in this section before provided, to such charter and filing the same with the superintendent and the record thereof with the recorder of deeds of the District, perpetually enjoy the same as and be such corporation, which is declared to be a continuation of such corporation which existed prior to such reincorporation; and the offices therein which shall be continued shall be filled by the respective incumbents for the period and the same general proceedings shall be taken upon the presentation of such amended charter or certificate adopted in relation to such amendment, to the superintendent, as are required by this chapter to be taken with respect to an original charter or certificate, except that no examination of the condition and affairs of such corporation shall be required unless so ordered by the superintendent, and if the amended charter or certificate be approved by the superintendent and his certificate of authority to do business thereunder is granted, the corporation shall thereafter be deemed to possess the same powers and be subject to the same liabilities as if such charter or certificate so amended had been its original charter or certificate of incorporation, but without prejudice to pending action or proceeding or any rights previously accrued.

Upon the reincorporation or upon the amendment of the charter of any corporation having a capital stock in accordance with the provisions of this section it may by a vote of the majority of its directors confer upon its policyholders as may have a prescribed amount of insurance upon their lives the right to vote for all or any less number of the directors in such manner not inconsistent with any provision of chapters 3–8 of this title. (5) (a) Bonds, notes, or loans secured by first lien on real estate in the United States or Dominion of Canada worth at least 40 per centum more than the amount loaned thereon: Provided, That this limitation shall not apply to any of the classes of securities mentioned in subsection (4) of this section, if guaranteed or insured in whole or in part as therein provided; but nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit a company from renewing or extending a loan for the original amount where there has been a shrinkage in the value of such real estate nor to prohibit a company from accepting, as part payment for real estate sold by it, a lien thereon for more than the percentage herein specified of the purchase price of such real estate. For the purpose of this section real estate shall not be deemed to be encumbered by reason of the existence of taxes or assessments that are not delinquent, instruments creating or reserving mineral, oil, water, or timber rights, rights-of-way, joint driveways, sewer rights, rights in walls, nor by reason of building restrictions or other restrictive covenants, nor when such real estate is subject to lease in whole or in part whereby rents or profits are reserved to the owner.

(b) Bonds, notes, or loans secured by first lien on leasehold estates in improved real property located in the United States or Dominion of Canada, where such real property is unencumbered except by rentals to accrue therefrom to the owner of the fee, and where there is no condition or right of reentry or forfeiture under which such lien can be cut off, subordinated or otherwise disturbed, so long as the lessee is not in default, provided the value of such leasehold, with improvements thereon shall be at least 50 per centum more than the amount loaned thereon: Provided, That this limitation shall not apply to any of the classes of securities mentioned in subsection (4) of this section, if guaranteed or insured in whole or in part as therein provided. (d) Ground rents in the District of Columbia or any State of the United States: Provided, That in the case of unexpired redeemable ground rents the premiums paid, if any, shall be amortized over the period between the date of acquisition and earliest redemption date, or charged off at any time prior to redemption date; and in the case of expired redeemable ground rents the premiums paid, if any, shall be charged off at the time of acquisition. Redeemable ground rents purchased at a discount shall be carried at an amount not greater than the cost of acquisition.

(6) Notes, bonds, or equipment trust certificates secured by any transportation equipment leased or sold to a common carrier, domiciled within the United States or the Dominion of Canada, with gross revenues exceeding one million dollars in the fiscal year immediately preceding purchase, which notes, bonds, or equipment trust certificates provide a right to receive determined rental, purchase or other fixed obligatory payments adequate to retire the obligations within twenty years from date of issue and also provide (a) for the vesting of title to such equipment, free from encumbrance in a corporate trustee or (b) for the creation of a first lien on such equipment, provided at the date of purchase such notes, bonds, or trust certificates are not in default as to principal or interest.

(7) Bonds and other evidences of indebtedness of any solvent corporation created under the laws of the United States or any State thereof, or the District of Columbia, or the Dominion of Canada or any province thereof: Provided, That (1) no company shall invest an amount in excess of 2 per centum of its admitted assets in any one issue of such obligations of any one corporation; (2) the net earnings of the issuing corporation available for its fixed charges for a period of five fiscal years next preceding the date of acquisition by such insurance company shall have averaged yearly, and during the last year of said five-year period shall have been not less than one and one-half times its annual fixed charges at the time of the investment, or, if a new issue, as shown by the pro forma statement of the corporation; and (3) there shall have been no defaults in interest thereon, or on any such obligations of such corporation which are of equal or higher priority with those purchased, during the period of five years next preceding the date of acquisition, or, if outstanding for less than five years, at any time since said obligations were issued. The term "net earnings available for fixed charges", as used herein, shall mean the net income after deducting all operating and maintenance expenses and taxes other than Federal, State, and District of Columbia income taxes, but nonrecurring items of income and expense may be eliminated. The term "fixed charges" as used herein shall include interest on all of the fixed interest-bearing debt of the corporation outstanding and maturing in more than one year, as of the date of acquisition, and in case of investment in contingent interest obligations, said term shall also include maximum annual contingent interest as of said date. The earnings of all predecessor, merged, consolidated, or purchased companies may be included through the use of consolidated or pro forma statements provided the fixed charges of all such companies are also included.

(8) Bank certificates of deposit and bankers' acceptances, and other bills of exchange of the kind and maturities made eligible by law for purchase in the open market by Federal Reserve banks.

(9) Preferred stock of any solvent corporation (other than its own) created under the laws of the United States, or of any State thereof, or the District of Columbia, or the Dominion of Canada, or any Province thereof, where such corporation has not failed in any one of the three fiscal years next preceding such investment, to have earned a sum applicable to dividends on such preferred stock equal at least to three times the amount of dividends due in that year, or where in case of issuance of new preferred stock such earnings applicable to dividends are equal to at least three times the amount of pro forma annual dividend requirements after giving effect to such new financing, and where the bonds and other evidences of indebtedness, if any, of such corporation are eligible as investments under the provisions of subsection (7) of this section, and where the total investment in any one issue of such preferred stock of any one corporation does not exceed 1 per centum of the investing company's admitted assets.

(10) Common stocks of any solvent corporation (other than its own) created under the laws of the United States, or of any State thereof, or the District of Columbia, or the Dominion of Canada, or any Province thereof, which shall have paid common dividends in cash for not less than five years next preceding the purchase of such stocks, and where the bonds and other evidences of indebtedness, if any, and the preferred stock, if any, of such corporation are eligible as investments under the provisions of subsections (7) and (9), respectively, of this section, and where the total investment in the common stock of any one corporation does not exceed 1 per centum of the investing company's admitted assets.

(11) Loans upon the pledge of any of the securities aforesaid.

(12) A life-insurance company may also purchase for its own benefit any policy of life insurance or other obligation of the company and claims of the holders thereof, and may lend to the holders of its life-insurance policies sums not exceeding in any case the reserve value of the policy at the time the loan is made, and for the payment of any such loan the policy and all amounts payable thereunder shall be pledged.

(13) A company doing business in a foreign country may invest the funds required to meet its obligations in such country and in conformity to the laws thereof in the same kind of securities in such foreign country that such company is allowed by law to invest in the United States.

(14) A life-insurance company may also acquire, hold, and convey real estate for the purposes and in the manner following:

(a) the building in which it has its principal office and the land on which it stands;

(b) such as shall be requisite for its convenient accommodation in the transaction of its business;

(c) such as shall have been acquired for the accommodation of its business;

(d) such as shall have been conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts, previously contracted, in the course of its dealings;

(e) such as it shall have purchased at trustee sale or sales on judgments, decrees, or mortgages obtained or made for such debts; and

(f) such as it may purchase or hold for the production of income. It may improve or otherwise develop in any manner such real estate and the improvements thereon, and may own, maintain, manage, collect, and receive income from, and sell or convey the same. No company shall, in any period of twelve consecutive months, invest in or agree to pay for real estate, including improvements thereon, under the authority of this item (f) an aggregate amount in excess of 2 per centum of its admitted assets as shown in its most recent annual statement; nor shall the total value of real estate and improvements thereon acquired or held by a company for the production of income under the provisions of this item (f) at any time exceed 5 per centum of its said admitted assets. No investment shall be made by any company pursuant to this item (f) if such company then owns real estate having a total value in excess of 10 per centum of its said admitted assets or if such investment will cause such company's aggregate investments in real estate owned by it to exceed 10 per centum of its said admitted assets: Provided, That for the purpose of applying said 10 per centum limitation real estate shall include all real estate then owned by the company and such real estate as it may have owned and sold on contract, to the extent of the balance unpaid on such contract of sale; or if the balance unpaid on account of real estate owned and sold by a company is secured by mortgage or other instrument, there shall be included as real estate the amount, if any, by which the balance unpaid exceeds 75 per centum of the value of such real estate. A company may, subject to the limitations and conditions of this item (f), elect to consider property acquired as specified in items (c), (d), and (e) as real estate for the production of income as defined in this item (f). Such election shall be duly authorized and recorded by the board of directors or by a committee thereof charged with the duty of supervising loans or investments. All such real estate specified in items (c), (d), and (e) of this subsection (14), which shall not be necessary for its accommodation in the convenient transaction of its business, and which it has not elected to hold for the production of income, shall be sold by the company and disposed of within five years after it shall have acquired the title to the same, or within five years after the same shall have ceased to be necessary for the accommodation of its business, unless the company file with the Superintendent an application for extension of time, supported by such evidence as may be required by the Superintendent, establishing to his satisfaction that an extension would be to the advantage of the company and that the interests of the company would be affected adversely by a forced sale thereof, in which event the time for the sale may be extended to such time as the Superintendent shall direct.

No loan or investment, except loans on the security of life-insurance policies, shall be made by any such company, unless the same shall have been authorized or be approved by the board of directors or by a committee thereof charged with the duty of supervising loans or investments.

No such company shall subscribe to or participate in any underwriting of the purchase or sale of securities or property, jointly with any other corporation, firm, or person, or enter into any agreement to withhold from sale any of its securities or property; but the disposition of its assets shall at all times be within the control of the company.

Nothing in this chapter shall prohibit a company from accepting in good faith, to protect its interests, securities or property, other than herein referred to, in payment of or to secure debts due or to become due the company. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1152, ch. 672, § 35, ch. III; Feb. 3, 1938, 52 Stat. 26, ch. 13, § 12; June 19, 1948, 62 Stat. 480, ch. 503.)

A foreign or alien insurance company desiring to transact business in the District shall file with the superintendent:

(a) Its application for certificate of authority, stating the kind or kinds of insurance it proposes to transact.

(b) A copy of its charter, articles of incorporation, or deed or settlement, certified by the official who is required to keep or record the same in the state under whose laws the company is incorporated, or if organized under the laws of a foreign government, province, or state, by the proper official of such government, province, or state.

(c) A copy of its by-laws, or regulations, if any, certified to by the secretary of the company.

(d) Copies of the policies it is issuing or proposes to issue and of the applications therefor.

(e) The instrument authorizing service of process on the superintendent required by chapters 3–8 of this title.

(f) A statement of its financial condition and business, in form as prescribed by law for annual statements, signed and sworn to by the president and secretary or other principal officers of the company. If an alien company, the statement shall comprise only its condition and business in the United States, and shall be signed and sworn to by its United States manager.

(g) It shall satisfy the superintendent that the company is duly organized under the laws of the state, province, or government under whose laws it professes to be organized, and authorized to do the business it is transacting or proposes to transact, and that its name is not identical with, nor so similar to, that of another company organized prior to the organization of the applying company as to lead to confusion.

(h) It shall satisfy the Superintendent that its funds are invested in accordance with the laws of its domicile and in securities or property which afford a degree of financial security substantially equal to that required for similar domestic companies, and, if a stock company, that it has paid-up capital and surplus at least equal to the capital and surplus required of domestic stock companies, or, if a mutual company, that it has a surplus at least equal to that required by this Act for domestic mutual companies. § 35–701 [5: 220]. Superintendent to value policies—Legal standard of valuation.

(a) The Superintendent shall annually value, or cause to be valued, the reserve liabilities (hereinafter called reserves) for all outstanding life-insurance policies and annuity and pure endowment contracts of every life-insurance company doing business in the District except that in the case of an alien company such valuation shall be limited to its insurance transactions in the United States, and may certify the amount of any such reserves, specifying the mortality table or tables, rate or rates of interest and methods (net level premium method or other) used in the calculation of such reserves. All such valuations made by him or by his authority, shall be made upon the net premium basis. In calculating such reserves, he may use group methods and approximate averages for fractions of a year or otherwise. In lieu of the valuation of the reserves herein required of any foreign or alien company, he may accept any valuation made, or caused to be made, by the insurance supervisory official of any State or other jurisdiction when such valuation complies with the minimum standard herein provided and if the official of such State or jurisdiction accepts as sufficient and valid for all legal purposes the certificate of valuation of the Superintendent when such certificate states the valuation to have been made in a specified manner according to which the aggregate reserves would be at least as large as if they had been computed in the manner prescribed by the law of that State or jurisdiction.

Any such company which at any time shall have adopted any standard of valuation producing greater aggregate reserves than those calculated according to the minimum standard herein provided may, with the approval of the Superintendent, adopt any lower standard of valuation, but not lower than the minimum herein provided.

(b) This subsection shall apply to only those policies and contracts issued prior to the operative date of section 35–705b (the standard nonforfeiture law) of this chapter.

The legal minimum standard for the valuation of life-insurance contracts issued before January 1, 1935, shall be the method and basis of valuation heretofore applied by the Superintendent in the valuation of such contracts, and for life-insurance contracts issued on and after said date shall be the one-year preliminary term method of valuation, except as hereinafter modified, on the basis of the American Experience Table of Mortality with interest at 3½ per centum per annum: Provided, That any life company may, at its option, value its insurance contracts issued on and after January 1, 1935, in accordance with their terms on the basis of the American Men Ultimate Table of Mortality with interest not higher than 3½ per centum per annum by the level net premium method or by the modified preliminary term method hereinafter described.

If the premium charged for term insurance under a limited payment life preliminary term policy providing for the payment of all premiums thereon in less than twenty years from date of the policy, or under an endowment preliminary term policy, exceeds that charged for like insurance under twenty payment life preliminary term policies of the same company, the reserve thereon at the end of the year, including the first, shall not be less than the reserve on a twenty payment life preliminary term policy issued in the same year and at the same age, together with an amount which shall be equivalent to the accumulation of a net level premium sufficient to provide for a pure endowment at the end of the premium payment period, equal to the difference between the value at the end of such period of such a twenty payment life preliminary term policy and the full net level premium reserve at such time of such a limited payment life or endowment policy. The premium payment period is the period during which premiums are concurrently payable under such twenty payment life preliminary term policy and such limited payment life or endowment policy.

Policies issued on the preliminary term method shall contain a clause specifying that the reserve thereof shall be computed in accordance with the modified preliminary term method of valuation provided for herein.

The legal minimum standard for the valuation of annuities issued on and after January 1, 1935, shall be McClintock's Table of Mortality Among Annuitants, with interest at 4 per centum per annum, but annuities deferred ten or more years and written in connection with life insurance shall be valued on the same basis as that used in computing the consideration or premium therefor, or upon any higher standard at the option of the company.

The legal minimum standard for the valuation of industrial policies issued after January 1, 1935, shall be the American Experience Table of Mortality with interest at 3½ per centum per annum: Provided, That any life company may voluntarily value its industrial policies on the basis of the standard industrial mortality table or the substandard industrial mortality table by the level net premium method or in accordance with their terms by the modified preliminary term method hereinbefore described.

The Superintendent may vary the standards of interest and mortality in the case of alien companies as to contracts issued by such companies in other countries than the United States, and in particular cases of invalid lives and other extra hazards.

Reserves for all such policies and contracts may be calculated, at the option of the company, according to any standards which produce greater aggregate reserves for all such policies and contracts than the minimum reserves required by this subsection.

(c) This subsection shall apply to only those policies and contracts issued on or after the operative date of section 35–705b (the standard nonforfeiture law) of this chapter.

(1) The minimum standard for the valuation of all such policies and contracts shall be the Commissioners reserve valuation method defined in paragraph (2), 3½ per centum interest, and the following tables:

(i) For all ordinary policies of life insurance issued on the standard basis, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies, the Commissioners 1941 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table.

(ii) For all industrial life-insurance policies issued on the standard basis, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies, the 1941 Standard Industrial Mortality Table.

(iii) For annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies, the 1937 Standard Annuity Mortality Table.

(iv) For total and permanent disability benefits in or supplementary to ordinary policies or contracts, class (3) Disability Table (1926) which, for active lives, shall be combined with a mortality table permitted for calculating the reserves for life-insurance policies.

(v) For accidental death benefits in or supplementary to policies, the Intercompany Double Indemnity Mortality Table combined with a mortality table permitted for calculating the reserves for life-insurance policies.

(vi) For group life insurance, life insurance issued on the substandard basis and other special benefits, such tables as may be approved by the Superintendent.

(2) Reserves according to the Commissioners reserve valuation method, for the life insurance and endowment benefits of policies providing for a uniform amount of insurance and requiring the payment of uniform premiums shall be the excess, if any, of the present value, at the date of valuation, of such future guaranteed benefits provided for by such policies, over the then present value of any future modified net premiums therefor. The modified net premiums for any such policy shall be such uniform percentage of the respective contract premiums for such benefits that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all such modified net premiums shall be equal to the sum of the then present value of such benefits provided for by the policy and the excess of (A) over (B), as follows:

(A) A net level annual premium equal to the present value, at the date of issue, of such benefits provided for after the first policy year, divided by the present value, at the date of issue, of an annuity of one per annum payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of such policy on which a premium falls due: Provided, however, That such net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the nineteen year premium whole life plan for insurance of the same amount at an age one year higher than the age at issue of such policy.

(B) A net one-year term premium for such benefits provided for in the first policy year.

Reserves according to the Commissioners reserve valuation method for (i) life-insurance policies providing for a varying amount of insurance or requiring the payment of varying premiums, (ii) annuity and pure endowment contracts, (iii) disability and accidental death benefits in all policies and contracts, and (iv) all other benefits, except life insurance and endowment benefits in life-insurance policies, shall be calculated by a method consistent with the principles of this paragraph (2).

(3) In no event shall a company's aggregate reserves for all life-insurance policies, excluding disability and accidental death benefits, be less than the aggregate reserves calculated in accordance with the method set forth in paragraph (2) and the mortality table or tables and rate or rates of interest used in calculating nonforfeiture benefits for such policies.

(4) Reserves for any category of policies, contracts, or benefits as established by the Superintendent, may be calculated, at the option of the company, according to any standards which produce greater aggregate reserves for such category than those calculated according to the minimum standard herein provided, but the rate or rates of interest used shall not be higher than the corresponding rate or rates of interest used in calculating any nonforfeiture benefits provided for therein: Provided, however, That reserves for participating life-insurance policies may, with the consent of the Superintendent, be calculated according to a rate of interest lower than the rate of interest used in calculating the nonforfeiture benefits in such policies, with the further proviso that if such lower rate differs from the rate used in the calculation of the nonforfeiture benefits by more than one-half per centum the company issuing such policies shall file with the Superintendent a plan providing for such equitable increases, if any, in the cash surrender values and nonforfeiture benefits in such policies as the Superintendent shall approve. § 35–702 [5: 220a]. Separate classes and accounts to be kept for participating and nonparticipating insurance.

Every life company doing business in the District which issues both participating and nonparticipating policies shall keep the two classes of business separate and shall make, and include in the annual statement to be filed with the superintendent each year a separate statement of the gains, losses, and expenses properly attributable to each of such classes and also showing the manner in which any general outlay of expenses of the company has been apportioned to each. No such life company shall be permitted to do business in the District unless it makes such a separation of its business. This section shall not apply to paid-up, temporary, or pure endowment insurance issued or granted in exchange for lapsed or returned policies. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1157, ch. 672, § 2, ch. V.)

§ 35–703 [5: 220b]. Standard provisions required in life insurance policies.

No policy of life insurance other than industrial insurance, annuities, and pure endowments with or without return of premiums or of premiums and interest shall be issued or delivered in the District or be issued by a life company organized under the laws of the District after the 1st day of January 1935, unless the same shall contain in substance the following:

(1) A provision that all premiums after the first shall be payable in advance, either at the home office of the company or to an agent of the company, upon delivery of a receipt signed by one or more of the officers who shall be designated in the policy.

(2) A provision that the insured is entitled to a grace period of at least thirty days or of one month within which the payment of any premiums after the first year may be made, subject at the option of the company to an interest charge not in excess of 6 per centum per annum for the number of days of grace elapsing before the payment of the premium, during which period of grace the policy shall continue in full force, but in case the policy becomes a claim during the said period of grace before the overdue premium or the deferred premiums of the current policy year, if any, are paid, the amount of such premiums, with interest on any overdue premiums, may be deducted from any amount payable under the policy in settlement. Grace shall date from the premium-paying date stated in the policy.

(3) A provision that, except as otherwise expressly provided by law, the policy shall constitute the entire contract between the parties and shall be incontestable after it has been in force during the lifetime of the insured for a period of not more than two years from its date, except for nonpayment of premiums and except for violations of the conditions of the policy relating to naval or military service in time of war, and at the option of the company, provisions relative to benefits in the event of total and permanent disability and provisions which grant additional insurance specifically against death by accident may also be excepted; that all statements made by the insured shall, in the absence of fraud, be deemed representations and not warranties; and that no such statement or statements shall be used in defense of a claim under the policy unless contained in a written application and unless a copy of such statement or statements be endorsed upon or attached to the policy when issued: Provided, That nothing contained herein shall apply to applications for reinstatement. A reinstated policy shall be contestable on account of fraud or misrepresentation of material facts pertaining to the reinstatement, for the same period after reinstatement as provided in the policy with respect to the original issue.

(4) A provision that if it shall be found at any time before final settlement under the policy that the age of the insured (or the age of the beneficiary, if considered in determining the premium) has been misstated, the amount payable under the policy shall be such as the premium would have purchased at the correct age, according to the company's rate at date of issue.

(5) A provision that the policy shall participate in the surplus of the company, and any policy containing provisions for participation at the end of the first policy year, and annually thereafter, may also provide that each dividend shall be paid subject to the payment of the premium for the next ensuing year; and the insured under any annual dividend policy shall have the right each year to have the dividend arising from such participation paid in cash; and if the policy shall provide other dividend options, it shall further provide which of said options shall be effective if the insured shall not elect any such other option on or before the expiration of the period of grace allowed for the payment of the premium. This provision shall not apply to any form of paid-up insurance or temporary insurance or pure endowment insurance, issued or granted in exchange for lapsed or surrendered policies, or to nonparticipating policies.

(6) A provision that after the policy has been in force three full years the company at any time, while the policy is in force, will advance, on proper assignment or pledge of the policy and on the sole security thereof, at a specified rate of interest, a sum equal to, or at the option of the insured less than the amount required by section 35–705c of this chapter under the conditions specified thereby; and that the company will deduct from such loan value any indebtedness not already deducted in determining such value and any unpaid balance of the premium for the current policy year, and may collect interest in advance on the loan to the end of the current policy year. This provision shall not be required in term insurance, nor shall it apply to temporary insurance or pure endowment insurance, issued or granted in exchange for lapsed or surrendered policies. The policy may further provide that if the interest on the loan is not paid when due it shall be added to the existing loan and shall bear interest at the same rate.

(7) A provision for nonforfeiture benefits and cash surrender values in accordance with the requirements of section 35–705a or section 35–705b of this chapter.

(8) A provision specifying the options, if any, to which the policyholder is entitled in the event of default in a premium payment.

(9) A table showing in figures the loan values and the options available under the policy each year upon default in premium payments, during at least the first twenty years of the policy or during the premium paying period if less than twenty years.

ability satisfactory to the company and payment of arrears of premiums and the payment or reinstatement of any other indebtedness to the company upon said policy, with interest on said premium and indebtedness at the rate of not exceeding 6 per centum per annum payable annually, and that such reinstated policy shall be contestable, on account of suicide, fraud, or misrepresentation of material facts pertaining to the reinstatement, for the same period after reinstatement as provided in the policy with respect to the original issue.

(11) A provision that when a policy shall become a claim by the death of the insured settlement shall be made upon receipt of due proof of death.

(12) A table showing the amount of instalments, if any, in which the policy may provide its proceeds may be payable.

(13) Title on the face and on the back of the policy briefly describing its form.

Any of the foregoing provisions or portions thereof not applicable to single premium or nonparticipating or term policies shall, to that extent, not be incorporated therein; and any such policy may be issued or delivered in the District which in the opinion of the superintendent contains provisions on any one or more of the several foregoing requirements more favorable to the policyholder than hereinbefore required. The provisions of this section shall not apply to policies of reinsurance, or to policies issued or granted in exchange for lapsed or surrendered policies, or to group insurance. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1158, ch. 672, § 3, ch. V; Feb. 19, 1948, 62 Stat. 30, ch. 66, § 2.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

(1) A provision limiting the time within which any action at law or in equity may be commenced to less than three years after the cause of action shall accrue.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

DELIVERY TO AGENT

The mailing of life policy from home office of insurer in Washington, D. C., to soliciting agent in Alabama for delivery in person to insured did not constitute a delivery of policy at Washington, D. C., since agent was agent of insurer rather than of insured, and delivery took place when agent handed policy to insured in Alabama. United Services Life Ins. Co. v. Farr (D. C., N. Y. 1945, 60 F. Supp. 829).

§ 35–705 [15: 220d]. Standard provisions required in annuities and pure endowment contracts.

On and after January 1, 1935, no annuity or pure endowment contract shall be issued or delivered in the District unless and until a copy of the form thereof has been filed with the superintendent and formally approved by him.

Except in the case of a reversionary annuity, otherwise called a "survivorship annuity," or an annuity contracted by an employer in behalf of his employees, no annuity or pure endowment contract shall be so issued or delivered in this District unless it contains, in substance, the following provisions:

First. A provision that there shall be a period of grace, either of thirty days or of one month, within which any stipulated payment to the company falling due after the first year may be made, subject, at the option of the company, to an interest charge thereon at a rate to be specified in the contract, but not exceeding 6 per centum per annum for the number of days of grace elapsing before such payment, during which period of grace, the contract shall continue in full force; but in case a claim arises under the contract on account of death during the said period of grace before the overdue payment to the company or the deferred payments of the current contract year, if any, are made, the amount of such payments, with interest on any overdue payments, may be deducted from any amount payable under the contract in settlement.

Second. If statements, other than those relating to age and identity, are required, as a condition of issuing the contract, a provision that the contract shall be incontestable after it has been in force during the lifetime of the person or each of the persons as to whom such statements are required, for a period of two years from its date of issue, except where stipulated payments to the company have not been made, and except for violation of the conditions of the contract relating to military or naval service in time of war, and at the option of the company, provisions relative to benefits in the event of total and permanent disability and provisions which grant insurance specifically against death by accident, may also be excepted.

Third. A provision that such contract shall constitute the entire contract between the parties, but if the company desires to make the application a part of the contract it may do so, provided a copy of such application shall be endorsed upon or attached to such contract, when issued, and in such case such contract shall contain a provision that it, together with the application therefor, shall constitute the entire contract between the parties.

Fourth. A provision that if the age of the person or persons upon whose life or lives the contract is based, or of any of them, has been misstated, the amount payable under the contract shall be such as the stipulated payments to the company would have purchased at the correct age or ages.

Any overpayment or overpayments by the company, on account of misstatement of age, shall with interest thereon at a rate to be specified in the contract, but not exceeding 6 per centum per annum, be charged against the current or next succeeding payment or payments to be made by the company under the contract.

Fifth. If the contract is participating, a provision that the divisible surplus shall be apportioned annually and dividends shall be payable in cash or shall be applicable to any stipulated payment or payments to the company under the contract.

Sixth. A provision that if the contract after having been in force for three full years, shall, by its terms, lapse or become forfeited because any stipulated payment to the company shall not have been made, the reserve on such contract, computed according to the standard adopted by said company in accordance with this chapter, shall, after deducting one-fifth of the said entire reserve, and any indebtedness to the company under the contract, be applied as a net single payment, according to said standard, for the purchase of a paid-up annuity or pure endowment contract, which may be nonparticipating and which shall be payable by the company under the same terms and conditions, except as to amount, as the original contract. A company may provide, in lieu of such paid-up values, for a paid-up annuity or pure endowment contract in an amount bearing the same proportion to the original annuity or pure endowment contract as the number of stipulated payments which shall have been made to the company shall bear to the total number of stipulated payments required to be made to the company under the contract, and if there be any indebtedness to the company under the contract, the amount of such paid-up annuity or pure endowment shall be reduced by an amount bearing the same proportion to such paid-up annuity or pure endowment as such indebtedness bears to the reserve on such paid-up annuity or pure endowment, computed according to the standard adopted by said company in accordance with this chapter.

Seventh. A provision that the contract may be reinstated at any time within one year from the date of default in making stipulated payments to the company, provided that all overdue stipulated payments and any indebtedness to the company on the contract shall be made or paid, with interest thereon at a rate to be specified in the contract but not exceeding 6 per centum per annum, payable annually. In cases where applicable a company may also include a requirement of evidence of insurability satisfactory to the company.

No contract for a reversionary annuity shall be so issued or delivered unless it contains in substance the following provisions:

A. Provisions "First," "Second," "Third," and "Fifth," of this section, except that under provision "First," the company may, at its option, provide for an equitable reduction of the amount of the annuity payments in settlement of any overdue or deferred payments, in lieu of providing for a deduction of such payments from any amount payable upon a settlement under the contract.

B. A provision that, if the age of any of the persons upon whose lives the contract is based has been misstated, the amount payable under the contract shall be such as the stipulated payments to the company would have purchased at the correct ages.

C. A provision that the contract may be reinstated at any time within three years from the date of default in making stipulated payments to the company, upon production of evidence of insurability satisfactory to the company, provided that all overdue payments and any indebtedness to the company on the contract shall be made or paid, with interest thereon at a rate to be specified in the contract, but not exceeding 6 per centum per annum, payable annually.

Any of the foregoing provisions or portions thereof not applicable to nonparticipating contracts nor to contracts for which a single stipulated payment to the company is made, shall, to that extent, not be incorporated therein; and any such contract may be issued or delivered in this District, which, in the opinion of the superintendent, contains provisions on any one or more of the several foregoing requirements, more favorable to the holder of the contract than hereinbefore required.

Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent a life company, which issues life insurance on a participating basis, from issuing annuities, reversionary annuities, or pure endowments on a nonparticipating basis.

Any such contract or any application, endorsement, or rider form used in connection therewith, issued in violation of this section, shall, nevertheless, be held valid, but shall be construed as provided in this section and when any provision in such contract, application, endorsement, or rider is in conflict with any provision of this section or with any other statutory provision, the rights, duties, and obligations of the company, of the holder of the contract and of the beneficiary or annuitant thereunder, shall be governed by the provisions of this section.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to contracts of reinsurance nor to contracts for deferred annuities or reversionary annuities included in life insurance policies.

For the purposes of this section, application forms, rider forms, and endorsement forms for use in connection with any such contract, excepting riders or endorsements relating to the manner of distribution of benefits or to the reservation of rights and benefits under any such contract, and used at the request of the individual holders of such contracts, shall be deemed to be parts of such contract and shall require the approval of the superintendent. No rider and no endorsement, except as stated above, shall be attached to or printed or stamped upon any such contract issued or delivered in the District until the form of such rider or endorsement has been filed with the superintendent and formally approved by him. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1161, ch. 672, § 5, ch. V.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

This section largely supersedes § 35–203, which requires application to be attached and that the policy and application constitute the entire contract.

§ 35–705a. Nonforfeiture benefits and cash surrender values.

This section shall apply only to policies of life insurance issued prior to the operative date of section 35–705b (the standard nonforfeiture law) of this chapter.

The nonforfeiture benefits referred to in provision (7) of section 35–703 of this chapter shall be available to the insured in event of default in premium payments, after premiums shall have been paid for three years, and shall be a stipulated form of insurance, effective from the due date of the defaulted premium, the net value of which shall be at least equal to the reserve at the date of default on the policy and on dividend additions thereto, if any, exclusive of the reserve on account of return premium insurance and on total and permanent disability and additional accidental death benefits (the policy to specify the mortality table and rate of interest adopted for computing such reserve), less a specified percentage (not more than two and one-half) of the amount insured by the policy and of existing dividend additions thereto, if any, and less any existing indebtedness to the company on or secured by the policy: Provided, That a company may, in lieu of the provision herein permitted for the deduction from the reserve of a sum not more than 2½ per centum of the amount insured by the policy, and of any dividend additions thereto, insert in the policy a provision that one-fifth of said reserve may be deducted, or may provide therein that a deduction may be made of said 2½ per centum or one-fifth of said reserve, at the option of the company: Provided further, That the policy may be surrendered to the company at its home office within one month of the due date of defaulted premium for a specified cash value at least equal to the sum which would otherwise be available for the purchase of insurance as aforesaid: And provided further, That the company may defer payment for not more than six months after the application therefor is made. A provision may also be inserted in the policy that in event of default in a premium payment before such benefit becomes available, the reserve on any dividend additions then in force may at the option of the company be paid in cash or applied as a net premium to the purchase of paid-up term insurance for any amount not in excess of the face of the original policy. This section shall not apply to term insurance of twenty years or less. The net single premium rate employed in computing the term of temporary insurance or the amount of pure endowment insurance granted as a nonforfeiture value under any life-insurance policy may at the option of the company be based upon a table of mortality showing rates of mortality not greater than 130 per centum of those shown by the American Men Ultimate Table of Mortality instead of the table used in computing the reserve on the policy, or in case of substandard policies not greater than 130 per centum of the rates of mortality shown by the table of mortality approved by the Superintendent for computing the reserve on the policy, anything herein to the contrary notwithstanding. (June 19, 1934, ch. 672, § 5a, as added Feb. 19, 1948, 62 Stat. 30, ch. 66, § 4.)

§ 35–705b. Standard nonforfeiture law.

(a) In the case of policies issued on or after the operative date of this section, as defined in subsection (g) no policy of life insurance, except as stated in subsection (f), shall be issued or delivered in the District of Columbia unless it shall contain in substance the following provisions, or corresponding provisions which in the opinion of the Superintendent are at least as favorable to the defaulting or surrendering policyholder—

(1) that, in event of default in any premium payment after premiums have been paid one full year in the case of ordinary insurance or three full years in the case of industrial insurance, the company will grant, upon proper request not later than sixty days after the due date of the premium in default, a paid-up nonforfeiture benefit on a plan stipulated in the policy, effective as of such due date, of such value as may be hereinafter specified;

(2) that, upon surrender of the policy within sixty days after the due date of any premium payment in default after premiums have been paid for at least three full years in the case of ordinary insurance or five full years in the case of industrial insurance, the company will pay, in lieu of any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit a cash surrender value of such amount as may be hereinafter specified;

(3) that a specified paid-up nonforfeiture benefit shall become effective as specified in the policy unless the person entitled to make such election elects another available option not later than sixty days after the due date of the premium in default;

(4) that, if the policy shall become paid up by completion of all premium payments or if it is continued under any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit which became effective on or after the third policy anniversary in the case of ordinary insurance or the fifth policy anniversary in the case of industrial insurance, the company will pay, upon surrender of the policy within thirty days after any policy anniversary, a cash surrender value of such amount as may be hereinafter specified;

(5) a statement of the mortality table and interest rate used in calculating the cash surrender values and the paid-up nonforfeiture benefits available under the policy, together with a table showing the cash surrender value, if any, and paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, if any, available under the policy on each policy anniversary either during the first twenty policy years or during the term of the policy, whichever is shorter, such values and benefits to be calculated upon the assumption that there are no dividends or paid-up additions credited to the policy and that there is no indebtedness to the company on the policy;

(6) a brief and general statement of the method to be used in calculating the cash surrender value and the paid-up nonforfeiture benefit available under the policy on any policy anniversary beyond the last anniversary for which such values and benefits are consecutively shown in the policy, with an explanation of the manner in which the cash surrender values and the paid-up nonforfeiture benefits are altered by the existence of any paid-up additions credited to the policy or any indebtedness to the company on the policy.

Any of the foregoing provisions or portions thereof not applicable by reason of the plan of insurance may, to the extent inapplicable, be omitted from the policy.

The company shall reserve the right to defer the payment of any cash surrender value for a period of six months after demand therefor with surrender of the policy.

(b) Any cash surrender value available under any policy referred to in subsection (a) in the event of default in a premium payment due on any policy anniversary, whether or not required by subsection (a), shall be an amount not less than the excess, if any, of the present value, on such anniversary, of the future guaranteed benefits which would have been provided for by the policy, including any existing paid-up additions, if there had been no default, over the sum of (i) the then present value of the adjusted premiums as defined in subsection (d), corresponding to premiums which would have fallen due on and after such anniversary, and (ii) the amount of any indebtedness to the company on the policy. Any cash surrender value available within thirty days after any policy anniversary under any policy paid up by completion of all premium payments or any policy continued under any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, whether or not required by subsection (a), shall be an amount not less than the present value, on such anniversary, of the future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy, including any existing paid-up additions, decreased by any indebtedness to the company on the policy.

(c) Any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit available under any policy referred to in subsection (a), in the event of default in a premium payment due on any policy anniversary shall be such that its present value as of such anniversary shall be at least equal to the cash surrender value then provided for by the policy or, if none is provided for, that cash surrender value which would have been required by this section in the absence of the condition that premiums shall have been paid for at least a specified period.

(d) The adjusted premiums for any policy referred to in subsection (a) shall be calculated on an annual basis and shall be such uniform percentage of the respective premiums specified in the policy for each policy year, excluding amounts stated in the policy as extra premiums to cover impairments or special hazards, that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all such adjusted premiums shall be equal to the sum of (i) the then present value of the future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy; (ii) 2 per centum of the amount of insurance, if the insurance be uniform in amount, or of the equivalent uniform amount, as hereinafter defined, if the amount of insurance varies with duration of the policy; (iii) 40 per centum of the adjusted premium for the first policy year; (iv) 25 per centum of either the adjusted premium for the first policy year or the adjusted premium for a whole life policy of the same uniform or equivalent uniform amount with uniform premiums for the whole of life issued at the same age for the same amount of insurance, whichever is less: Provided, however, That in applying the percentages specified in (iii) and (iv) above, no adjusted premium shall be deemed to exceed

4 per centum of the amount of insurance or level amount equivalent thereto.

In the case of a policy providing an amount of insurance varying with duration of the policy, the equivalent level amount thereof for the purpose of this subsection shall be deemed to be the level amount of insurance provided by an otherwise similar policy, containing the same endowment benefit or benefits, if any, issued at the same age and for the same term, the amount of which does not vary with duration and the benefits under which have the same present value at the date of issue as the benefits under the policy.

All adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this section shall be calculated on the basis of the Commissioners 1941 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table for Ordinary Insurance and the 1941 Standard Industrial Mortality Table for Industrial Insurance and the rate of interest, not exceeding 3½ per centum per annum, specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values, if any, and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits: Provided, however, That in calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than 130 per centum of the rates of mortality according to such applicable table: Provided, further, That for insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculation of any such adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the Superintendent.

(e) Any cash surrender value and any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, available under any such policy in the event of default in the payment of any premium due at any time other than on the policy anniversary, shall be calculated with allowance for the lapse of time and the payment of fractional premiums beyond the last preceding policy anniversary. All values referred to in subsections (b), (c), and (d) may be calculated upon the assumption that any death benefit is payable at the end of the policy or contract year of death. The net value of any paid-up additions, other than paid-up term additions, shall be not less than the dividends used to provide such additions. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (b), additional benefits payable (i) in the event of death or dismemberment by accident or accidental means, (ii) in the event of total and permanent disability, (iii) as reversionary annuity or deferred reversionary annuity benefits, (iv) as decreasing term insurance benefits provided by a rider or supplemental policy provision to which, if issued as a separate policy, this section would not apply, and (v) as other policy benefits additional to life insurance and endowment benefits, and premiums for all such additional benefits, shall be disregarded in ascertaining cash surrender values and nonforfeiture benefits required by this section, and no such additional benefits shall be required to be included in any paid-up nonforfeiture benefits.

(f) This section shall not apply to any reinsurance, group insurance, pure endowment, annuity or reversionary annuity contract, nor to any term policy of uniform amount, or renewal thereof, of fifteen years or less expiring before age sixty-six, for which uniform premiums are payable during the entire term of the policy, nor to any term policy of decreasing amount on which each adjusted premium, calculated as specified in subsection (d), is less than the adjusted premium so calculated, on such fifteen-year term policy issued at the same age and for the same initial amount of insurance, nor to any policy or contract which shall be delivered outside the District of Columbia through an agent or other representative of the company issuing the policy.

(g) After February 19, 1948, any company may file with the Superintendent a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this section after a specified date before January 1, 1950. After the filing of such notice, then upon such specified date (which shall be the operative date for such company), this section shall become operative with respect to the policies and contracts thereafter issued by such company. If a company makes no such election, the operative date of this section for such company shall be January 1, 1950. (June 19, 1934, ch. 672, § 5b, as added Feb. 19, 1948, 62 Stat. 30, ch. 66, § 4.)

§ 35–705c. Loan provisions in policies.

(a) In the case of ordinary policies issued prior to the operative date of section 35–705b (the standard nonforfeiture law) of this chapter the loan value referred to in provision (6) of section 35–703 of this chapter shall be the reserve at the end of the current policy year on the policy and on the dividend additions thereto, if any, exclusive of the reserve on account of return premium insurance and of total and permanent disability and additional accidental death benefits, less a sum not more than 2½ per centum of the amount insured by the policy and of any dividend additions thereto (the policy to specify the mortality table and rate of interest adopted for computing such reserve). The policy may provide that such loan may be deferred for not exceeding six months after the application therefor is made. A company may, in lieu of the provision hereinabove permitted for the deduction from a loan on the policy of a sum not more than 2½ per centum of the amount insured by the policy and of any dividend additions thereto, insert in the policy a provision that one-fifth of the said reserve may be deducted in case of a loan under the policy, or may provide therein that the deduction may be the said 2½ per centum or the one-fifth of the said reserve at the option of the company.

(b) In the case of ordinary policies issued on or after the operative date of section 35–705b (the standard nonforfeiture law) of this chapter the loan value referred to in provision (6) of section 35–703 of this chapter shall be the cash surrender value at the end of the current policy year as required by section 35–705b of this chapter. The company shall reserve the right to defer such loan, except when made to pay premiums, for six months after application therefor is made. (June 19, 1934, ch. 672, § 5c, as added Feb. 19, 1948, 62 Stat. 30, ch. 66, § 4.)

§ 35–706 [5: 220e]. Extension of time for payment of life premiums.

A life company may enter into subsequent agreements in writing with the insured, which need not be attached to the policy, to extend the time for the payment of any premium, or part thereof, upon condition that failure to comply with the terms of such agreement shall lapse the policy, as provided in said agreement or in the policy. Subject to such lien as may be created to secure any indebtedness contracted by the insured, in consideration of such extension, said agreement shall not impair any right existing under the policy. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1164, ch. 672, § 6, ch. V.)

§ 35–707 [5: 220f]. Interest on policy and premium loans shall be added to principal.

In ascertaining the indebtedness due upon policy or premium loans the interest, if not paid when due, shall be added to the principal of such loans and shall bear interest at the rate specified in the note or loan agreement. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1164, ch. 672, § 7, ch. V.)

§ 35–708 [5: 220g]. Life-policy forms to be filed with Superintendent—Notice of nonconformity—Review.

A policy of life insurance shall not be issued or delivered in the District until the form of the same has been filed with the superintendent, nor if the superintendent give written notice, within thirty days of such filing to the company proposing to issue it, showing wherein the form of such policy does not comply with the requirements of the laws of the District, provided that such action of the superintendent shall be subject to review by a court of competent jurisdiction. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1164, ch. 672, § 8, ch. V.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

PRIOR LIEN LIABILITY

Where insured was fatally injured when he fell from hotel window in France on October 2, 1945, while serving with occupation forces, the United States was not a country "engaged in war" within life policy provision restricting liability, even though war had not terminated in a political sense. Stinson v. New York Life Ins. Co. (App. D. C. 1948, 167 F. 2d 233).

PROVISIONS LIMITING LIABILITY

Under life policy limiting liability if death of insured resulted from military or naval service outside the United States in time of war and if death of insured resulted within two years from date of issue of policy from war while insured was outside the United States, where death of insured occurred while he was serving as a naval officer outside of the United States in time of war and more than two years after date of policy, ambiguity between policy provisions would be resolved by applying the two year provision as an affirmation of liability. Hayes v. Home Life Ins. Co. (App. D. C. 1948, 168 F. 2d 152).

§ 35–709 [5: 220h]. Provisions required by the laws of a company's own State may be included in policies.

The policies of a life company, not organized under the laws of the District, may contain any provisions prescribed by the laws of the state, territory, District, or country, under which the company is organized. The policies of a life company, organized under the laws of the District, may, when issued or delivered in any state, territory, District, or country, contain any provisions required by the laws of the state, territory, District, or country in which the same are issued or delivered, anything in chapters 3–8 of this title to the contrary notwithstanding. (June 14, 1934, 48 Stat. 1164, ch. 672, § 9, ch. V.)

§ 35–710 [5: 220i]. Group life insurance.

No policy of group life insurance shall be delivered in the District unless it conforms to one of the following descriptions:

(1) A policy issued to an employer, or to the trustees of a fund established by an employer, which employer or trustee shall be deemed the policyholder, to insure employees of the employer for the benefit of persons other than the employer, subject to the following requirements:

(a) The employees eligible for insurance under the policy shall be all of the employees of the employer, or all of any class or classes thereof determined by conditions pertaining to their employment. The policy may provide that the term "employees" shall include the employees of one or more subsidiary corporations, and the employees, individual proprietors, and partners of one or more affiliated corporations, proprietors, or partnerships if the business of the employer and of such affiliated corporations, proprietors, or partnerships is under common control through stock ownership or contract. The policy may provide that the term "employees" shall include the individual proprietor or partners if the employer is an individual proprietor or a partnership. The policy may provide that the term "employees" shall include retired employees. No director of a corporate employer shall be eligible for insurance under the policy unless such person is otherwise eligible as a bona fide employee of the corporation by performing services other than the usual duties of a director. No individual proprietor or partner shall be eligible for insurance under the policy unless he is actively engaged in and devotes a substantial part of his time to the conduct of the business of the proprietor or partnership.

(b) The premium for the policy shall be paid by the policyholder, either wholly from the employer's funds or funds contributed by him, or partly from such funds and partly from funds contributed by the insured employees. No policy may be issued on which the entire premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured employees. A policy on which part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured employees may be placed in force only if at least 75 per centum of the then eligible employees, excluding any as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer, elect to make the required contributions. A policy on which no part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured employees must insure all eligible employees, or all except any as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer.

(c) The policy must cover at least twenty-five employees at date of issue.

(d) The amounts of insurance under the policy must be based upon some plan precluding individual selection either by the employees or by the employer or trustees. No policy may be issued which provides term insurance on any employee which together with any other term insurance under any group life-insurance policy or policies issued to the employers or any of them or to the trustees of a fund established in whole or in part by the employers or any of them exceeds $20,000.

(2) A policy issued to a creditor, who shall be deemed the policyholder, to insure debtors of the creditor, subject to the following requirements:

(a) The debtors eligible for insurance under the policy shall be all of the debtors of the creditor whose indebtedness is repayable in installments, or all of any class or classes thereof determined by conditions pertaining to the indebtedness or to the purchase giving rise to the indebtedness. The policy may provide that the term "debtors" shall include the debtors of one or more subsidiary corporations, and the debtors of one or more affiliated corporations, proprietors, or partnerships if the business of the policyholder and of such affiliated corporations, proprietors or partnerships is under common control through stock ownership, contract, or otherwise.

(b) The premium for the policy shall be paid by the policyholder, either from the creditor's funds, or from charges collected from the insured debtors, or from both. A policy on which part or all of the premium is to be derived from the collection from the insured debtors of identifiable charges not required of uninsured debtors shall not include, in the class or classes of debtors eligible for insurance, debtors under obligations outstanding at its date of issue without evidence of individual insurability unless at least 75 per centum of the then eligible debtors elect to pay the required charges. A policy on which no part of the premium is to be derived from the collection of such identifiable charges must insure all eligible debtors, or all except any as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer.

(c) The policy may be issued only if the group of eligible debtors is then receiving new entrants at the rate of at least one hundred persons yearly, or may reasonably be expected to receive at least one hundred new entrants during the first policy year, and only if the policy reserves to the insurer the right to require evidence of individual insurability if less than 75 per centum of the new entrants become insured.

(d) The amount of insurance on the life of any debtor shall at no time exceed the amount owned by him which is repayable in installments to the creditor, or $5,000, whichever is less.

(e) The insurance shall be payable to the policyholder. Such payment shall reduce or extinguish the unpaid indebtedness of the debtor to the extent of such payment.

(3) A policy issued to a labor union, which shall be deemed the policyholder, to insure members of such union for the benefit of persons other than the union or any of its officials, representatives or agents, subject to the following requirements:

(a) The members eligible for insurance under the policy shall be all of the members of the union, or all of any class or classes thereof determined by conditions pertaining to their employment, or to membership in the union, or both.

(b) The premium for the policy shall be paid by the policyholder, either wholly from the union's funds, or partly from such funds and partly from funds contributed by the insured members specifically for their insurance. No policy may be issued on which the entire premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured members specifically for their insurance. A policy on which part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured members specifically for their insurance may be placed in force only if at least 75 per centum of the then eligible members, excluding any as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer, elect to make the required contributions. A policy on which no part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured members specifically for their insurance must insure all eligible members, or all except any as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer.

(c) The policy must cover at least twenty-five members at date of issue.

(d) The amounts of insurance under the policy must be based upon some plan precluding individual selection either by the members or by the union. No policy may be issued which provides term insurance on any union member which together with any other term insurance under any group life insurance policies issued to the union exceeds $20,000.

(4) A policy issued to the trustees of a fund established by two or more employers in the same industry or by one or more labor unions, or by one or more employers and one or more labor unions, which trustees shall be deemed the policyholder, to insure employees of the employers or members of the unions for the benefit of persons other than the employers or the unions, subject to the following requirements:

(a) The persons eligible for insurance shall be all of the employees of the employers or all of the members of the unions, or all of any class or classes thereof determined by conditions pertaining to their employment, or to membership in the unions, or to both. The policy may provide that the term "employees" shall include the individual proprietor or partners if an employer is an individual proprietor or a partnership. The policy may provide that the term "employees" shall include retired employees. No director of a corporate employer shall be eligible for insurance under the policy unless such person is otherwise eligible as a bona fide employee of the corporation by performing services other than the usual duties of a director. No individual proprietor or partner shall be eligible for insurance under the policy unless he is actively engaged in and devotes a substantial part of his time to the conduct of the business of the proprietor or partnership. The policy may provide that the term "employees" shall include the trustees or their employees, or both, if their duties are principally connected with such trusteeship.

(b) The premium for the policy shall be paid by the trustees wholly from funds contributed by the employer or employers of the insured persons, or by the union or unions, or by both. No policy may be issued on which any part of the premium is to be derived from funds contributed by the insured persons specifically for their insurance. The policy must insure all eligible persons, or all except any as to whom evidence of individual insurability is not satisfactory to the insurer.

(c) The policy must cover at date of issue at least one hundred persons and not less than an average of five persons per employer unit; and if the fund is established by the members of an association of employers the policy may be issued only if (i) either (a) the participating employers constitute at date of issue at least 60 per centum of those employer members whose employees are not already covered for group life insurance or (b) the total number of persons covered at date of issue exceeds six hundred; and (ii) the policy shall not require that, if a participating employer discontinues membership in the association, the insurance of his employees shall cease solely by reason of such discontinuance.

(d) The amounts of insurance under the policy must be based upon some plan precluding individual selection either by the insured persons or by the policyholder, employers, or unions. No policy may be issued which provides term insurance on any person which together with any other term insurance under any group life-insurance policy or policies issued to the employers, or any of them, or to the trustees of a fund established in whole or in part by the employers, or any of them, exceeds $20,000.

(5) A policy issued to the president of the Board of Commissioners, or to the head of any Federal department or independent Federal bureau, board, commission, or other Federal independent establishment, or to an association of Federal employees, as the case may be, covering not less than fifty employees of the government of the District or of the Federal Government, with or without medical examination, the premium on which is to be paid by the employees and insuring only employees, or any class or classes thereof determined by conditions pertaining to the employment, for amounts of insurance based upon some plan which will preclude individual selection, for the benefit of persons other than the employer: Provided, That when the benefits of the policy are offered to all eligible employees, not less than 75 per centum of such employees may be so insured. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1164, ch. 672, § 10, ch. V; July 2, 1940, 54 Stat. 726, ch. 518; July 12, 1950, 64 Stat. 330, ch. 457, § 1.)

AMENDMENTS

The act of July 12, 1950, amended the section generally.

The act of July 2, 1940, amended the above section by adding subdivision (e) thereto.

§ 35–711 [5: 220j]. Standard provisions for policies of group life insurance.

No policy of group life insurance shall be delivered in the District unless it contains in substance the following provisions, or provisions which in the opinion of the superintendent are more favorable to the persons insured, or at least as favorable to the persons insured and more favorable to the policyholder: Provided, however, (a) That provisions (6) to (10), inclusive, shall not apply to policies issued to a creditor to insure debtors of such creditor; (b) that the standard provisions required for individual life-insurance policies shall not apply to group life-insurance policies; and (c) that if the group life-insurance policy is on a plan of insurance other than the term plan, it shall contain a nonforfeiture provision or provisions which in the opinion of the superintendent is or are equitable to the insured persons and to the policyholder, but nothing herein shall be construed to require that group life-insurance policies contain the same nonforfeiture provisions as are required for individual life-insurance policies:

(1) A provision that the policyholder is entitled to a grace period of thirty-one days for the payment of any premium due except the first, during which grace period the death benefit coverage shall continue in force, unless the policyholder shall have given the insurer written notice of discontinuance in advance of the date of discontinuance and in accordance with the terms of the policy. The policy may provide that the policyholder shall be liable to the insurer for the payment of a pro rata premium for the time the policy was in force during such grace period.

(2) A provision that the validity of the policy shall not be contested, except for nonpayment of premiums, after it has been in force for two years from its date of issue; and that no statement made by any person insured under the policy relating to his insurability shall be used in contesting the validity of the insurance with respect to which such statement was made after such insurance has been in force prior to the contest for a period of two years during such person's lifetime nor unless it is contained in a written instrument signed by him.

(3) A provision that a copy of the application, if any, of the policyholder shall be attached to the policy when issued, that all statements made by the policyholder or by the persons insured shall be deemed representations and not warranties, and that no statement made by any person insured shall be used in any contest unless a copy of the instrument containing the statement is or has been furnished to such person or to his beneficiary.

(4) A provision setting forth the conditions, if any, under which the insurer reserves the right to require a person eligible for insurance to furnish evidence of individual insurability satisfactory to the insurer as a condition to part or all of his coverage.

(5) A provision specifying an equitable adjustment of premiums or of benefits or of both to be made in the event the age of a person insured has been misstated, such provision to contain a clear statement of the method of adjustment to be used.

(6) A provision that any sum becoming due by reason of the death of the person insured shall be payable to the beneficiary designated by the person insured, subject to the provisions of the policy in the event there is no designated beneficiary as to all or any part of such sum living at the death of the person insured, and subject to any right reserved by the insurer in the policy and set forth in the certificate to pay at its option a part of such sum not exceeding $250 to any person appearing to the insurer to be equitably entitled thereto by reason of having incurred funeral or other expenses incident to the last illness or death of the person insured.

(7) A provision that the insurer will issue to the policyholder for delivery to each person insured an individual certificate setting forth a statement as to the insurance protection to which he is entitled, to whom the insurance benefits are payable, and the rgihts and conditions set forth in (8), (9), and (10) following.

(8) A provision that if the insurance, or any portion of it, on a person covered under the policy ceases because of termination of employment or of membership in the class or classes eligible for coverage under the policy, such person shall be entitled to have issued to him by the insurer, without evidence of insurability, an individual policy of life insurance without disability or other supplementary benefits, provided application for the individual policy shall be made, and the first premium paid to the insurer, within thirty-one days after such termination: And provided further, That—

(a) the individual policy shall, at the option of such person, be on any one of the forms, except term insurance, then customarily issued by the insurer at the age and for the amount applied for;

(b) the individual policy shall be in an amount not in excess of the amount of life insurance which ceases because of such termination, provided that any amount of insurance which shall have matured on or before the date of such termination as an endowment payable to the person insured, whether in one sum or in installments or in the form of an annuity, shall not, for the purposes of this provision, be included in the amount which is considered to cease because of such termination; and

(c) the premium on the individual policy shall be at the insurer's then customary rate applicable to the form and amount of the individual policy, to the class of risk to which such person then belongs, and to his age attained on the effective date of the individual policy.

(9) A provision that if the group policy terminates or is amended so as to terminate the insurance of any class of insured persons, every person insured thereunder at the date of such termination whose insurance terminates and who has been so insured for at least five years prior to such termination date shall be entitled to have issued to him by the insurer an individual policy of life insurance, subject to the same conditions and limitations as are provided by (8) above, except that the group policy may provide that the amount of such individual policy shall not exceed the smaller of (a) the amount of the person's life insurance protection ceasing because of the termination or amendment of the group policy, less the amount of any life insurance for which he is or becomes eligible under any group policy issued or reinstated by the same or another insurer within thirty-one days after such termination, and (b) $2,000.

(10) A provision that if a person insured under the group policy dies during the period within which he would have been entitled to have an individual policy issued to him in accordance with (8) or (9) above and before such an individual policy shall have become effective, the amount of life insurance which he would have been entitled to have issued to him under such individual policy shall be payable as a claim under the group policy, whether or not application for the individual policy or the payment of the first premium therefor has been made. If any individual insured under a group life-insurance policy hereafter delivered in the District becomes entitled under the terms of such policy to have an individual policy of life insurance issued to him without evidence of insurability, subject to making of application and payment of the first premium within the period specified in such policy, and if such individual is not given notice of the existence of such right at least fifteen days prior to the expiration date of such period, then, in such event, the individual shall have an additional period within which to exercise such right, but nothing herein contained shall be construed to continue any insurance beyond the period provided in such policy. This additional period shall expire fifteen days next after the individual is given such notice but in no event shall such additional period extend beyond sixty days next after the expiration date of the period provided in such policy. Written notice presented to the individual or mailed by the policyholder to the last-known address of the individual or mailed by the insurer to the last-known address of the individual as furnished by the policyholder shall constitute notice for the purpose of this paragraph.

§ 35–712 [5: 220k]. Standard provisions for accident and health policies.

(a) On and after the 1st day of January, 1935, no policy of insurance against loss or damage from sickness, or bodily injury or death of the insured by accident, shall be issued or delivered to any person in the District by any company organized under this, or any other law of the District, or, if a foreign company, authorized to do business in the District, until a copy of the form thereof, and of the classification of risks and the premium rates appertaining thereto, have been filed with the superintendent; nor shall it be so issued or delivered until the expiration of thirty days after it has been so filed, unless the superintendent shall sooner give his written approval thereto. If the superintendent shall give written notice to the company which has filed such form that it does not comply with the requirements of law, specifying the reasons for his opinion, it shall be unlawful thereafter for any such insurer to issue any policy in such form. The action of the superintendent in this regard shall be subject to appeal and review in the form and manner prescribed in section 35–427.

(b) No such policy shall be so issued or delivered (1) unless the entire money and other considerations therefor are expressed in the policy; nor (2) unless the time at which the insurance thereunder takes effect and terminates is stated in a portion of the policy preceding its execution by the company; nor (3) if the policy purports to insure more than one person; (4) nor unless every printed portion thereof and of any endorsement or attached papers shall be plainly printed in type of which the face shall not be smaller than ten point; nor (5) unless a brief description thereof be printed on its first page and on its filing back in type of which the face shall not be smaller than fourteen point; nor (6) unless the exceptions of the policy be printed with the same prominence as the benefits to which they apply: Provided, That any portion of such policy which purports, by reason of the circumstances under which a loss is incurred, to reduce any indemnity promised therein to an amount less than that provided for the same loss occurring under ordinary circumstances shall be printed in bold-face type and with greater prominence than any other portion of the text of the policy.

(c) Every such policy so issued shall contain certain standard provisions, which shall be in the words and in the order hereinafter set forth and be preceded in every policy by the caption "Standard provisions." In each standard provision wherever the word "company" is used there shall be substituted therefor "company" or "corporation" or "association" or "society" or such other word as will properly designate the company. Said standard provisions shall be:

(1) A standard provision relative to the contract, which may be in either of the following two forms: Form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide for reduction of indemnity on account of change of occupation, and form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide. If form (B) is used and the policy provides indemnity against loss from sickness, the words "or contracts sickness" may be inserted therein immediately after the words "in the event that the insured is injured":

(A) 1. This policy includes the endorsements and attached papers, if any, and contains the entire contract of insurance. No reduction shall be made in any indemnity herein provided by reason of change in the occupation of the insured or by reason of his doing any act or thing pertaining to any other occupation.

(B) 1. This policy includes the endorsements and attached papers, if any, and contains the entire contract of insurance except as it may be modified by the company's classification of risks and premium rates in the event that the insured is injured after having changed his occupation to one classified by the company as more hazardous than that stated in the policy, or while he is doing any act or thing pertaining to any occupation so classified, except ordinary duties about his residence or while engaged in recreation, in which event the company will pay only such portion of the indemnities provided in the policy as the premium paid would have purchased at the rate but within the limits so fixed by the company for such more hazardous occupation.

If the law of the state in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued requires that prior to its issue a statement of the premium rates and classification of risks pertaining to it shall be filed with the state official having supervision of insurance in such state, then the premium rates and classification of risks mentioned in this policy shall mean only such as have been last filed by the company in accordance with such law, but if such filing is not required by such law then they shall mean the company's premium rates and classification of risks last made effective by it in such state prior to the occurrence of the loss for which the company is liable.

(2) A standard provision relative to changes in the contract, which shall be in the following form:

2. No statement made by the applicant for insurance, not included herein, shall avoid the policy or be used in any legal proceeding hereunder. No agent has authority to change this policy or to waive any of its provisions. No change in this policy shall be valid unless approved by an executive officer of the company and such approval be endorsed hereon.

(3) A standard provision relative to reinstatement of policy after lapse which may be in either of the three following forms: Form (A) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from accident; form (B) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from sickness; and form (C) to be used in policies which insure against loss from both accident and sickness.

(A) 3. If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy, the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the company or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy, but only to cover loss resulting from accidental injury thereafter sustained.

(B) 3. If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy, the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the company or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance.

(C) 3. If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy, the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the company or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover accidental injury thereafter sustained and such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance.

(4) A standard provision relative to time of notice of claim, which may be in either of the three following forms: Form (A) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from accident; form (B) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from sickness; and form (C) to be used in policies which insure against loss from both accident and sickness. If form (A) or form (C) is used the company may at its option add thereto the following sentence: "In event of accidental death immediate notice thereof must be given to the company."

(A) 4. Written notice of injury on which claim may be based must be given to the company within twenty days after the date of the accident causing such injury.

(B) 4. Written notice of sickness on which claim may be based must be given to the company within ten days after the commencement of the disability from such sickness.

(C) 4. Written notice of injury or of sickness on which claim may be based must be given to the company within twenty days after the date of the accident causing such injury or within ten days after the commencement of disability from such sickness.

(5) A standard provision relative to sufficiency of notice of claim which shall be in the following form and in which the company shall insert in the blank space such office and its location as it may desire to designate for such purpose of notice:

5. Such notice given by, or in behalf of the insured or beneficiary as the case may be, to the company at ————————, or to any authorized agent of the company, with particulars sufficient to identify the insured, shall be deemed to be notice to the company. Failure to give notice, within the time provided in this policy, shall not invalidate any claim if it shall be shown not to have been reasonably possible to give such notice and that notice was given as soon as was reasonably possible.

(6) A standard provision relative to furnishing forms for the convenience of the insured in submitting proof of loss as follows:

6. The company, upon receipt of such notice, will furnish to the claimant such forms as are usually furnished by it for filing proofs of loss: If such forms are not so furnished within fifteen days after receipt of such notice, the claimant shall be deemed to have complied with the requirements of this policy, as to proof of loss, upon submitting within the time fixed in the policy for filing proofs of loss, written proof covering the occurrence, character, and extent of the loss for which claim is made.

(7) A standard provision relative to filing proof of loss which shall be in such one of the following forms as may be appropriate to the indemnities provided:

(A) 7. Affirmative proof of loss must be furnished to the company at its said office within ninety days after the date of the loss for which claim is made.

(B) 7. Affirmative proof of loss must be furnished to the company at its said office within ninety days after the termination of the period of disability for which the company is liable.

(C) 7. Affirmative proof of loss must be furnished to the company at its said office in case of claim for loss of time from disability within ninety days after the termination of the period for which the company is liable, and in case of claim for any other loss, within ninety days after date of such loss.

(8) A standard provision relative to examination of the person of the insured and relative to autopsy which shall be in the following form:

8. The company shall have the right and opportunity to examine the person of the insured, when and so often as it may reasonably require during the pendency of claim hereunder; and also the right and opportunity, in the case of death, to have autopsy performed, where it is not forbidden by law.

(9) A standard provision relative to the time within which payments other than those for loss of time on account of disability shall be made, which provision may be in either of the following two forms and which may be omitted from any policy providing only indemnity for loss of time on account of disability. The company shall insert in the blank space either the word "immediately" or appropriate language to designate such period of time, not more than sixty days, as it may desire, form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide indemnity for loss of time on account of disability and form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide.

(A) 9. All indemnities provided in this policy will be paid ———————— after receipt of due proof.

(B) 9. All indemnities provided in this policy for loss other than that of time on account of disability will be paid ———————— after receipt of due proof.

(10) A standard provision relative to periodical payments of indemnity for loss of time on account of disability, which provisions shall be in the following form, and which may be omitted from any policy not providing for such indemnity. The company shall insert, in the first blank space of the form, appropriate language to designate the proportion of accrued indemnity it may desire to pay, which proportion may be all or any part not less than one-half; and in the second blank space shall insert any period of time not exceeding sixty days.

10. Upon request of the insured and subject to due proof of loss ———————— accrued indem-(Within time to be inserted) nity for loss of time on account of disability will be paid at the expiration of each ———————— (Insert time)
during the continuance of the period for which the company is liable, and any balance remaining unpaid at the termination of such period will be paid immediately upon receipt of due proof.

(11) A standard provision relative to indemnity payments which may be in either of the two following forms: Form (A) to be used in policies which designate a beneficiary and form (B) to be used in policies which do not designate any beneficiary other than the insured.

(A) 11. Indemnity for loss of life of the insured is payable to the beneficiary if surviving the insured, and otherwise to the estate of the insured. All other indemnities of this policy are payable to the insured.

(B) 11. All the indemnities of this policy are payable to the insured.

(12) A standard provision providing for cancelation of the policy at the instance of the insured which shall be in the following form:

12. If the insured shall at any time change his occupation to one classified by the company as less hazardous than that stated in the policy, the company, upon written request of the insured and surrender of the policy, will cancel the same and will return to the insured the unearned premium.

(13) A standard provision relative to the rights of the beneficiary under the policy which shall be in the following form and which may be omitted from any policy not designating a beneficiary.

13. Consent of the beneficiary shall not be requisite to surrender or assignment of this policy, or to change of beneficiary, or to any other changes in the policy.

(14) A standard provision limiting the time within which suit may be brought upon the policy as follows:

14. No action at law or in equity shall be brought to recover on this policy prior to the expiration of sixty days after proof of loss has been filed in accordance with the requirements of this policy, nor shall such action be brought at all unless brought within two years from the expiration of the time within which proof of loss is required by the policy.

(15) A standard provision relative to time limitations of the policy as follows:

15. If any time limitation of this policy, with respect to giving notice of claim or furnishing proof of loss, is less than that permitted by the law of the State in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued, such limitation is hereby extended to agree with the minimum period permitted by such law.

(d) No such policy shall be so issued or delivered which contains any provision (1) relative to cancelation at the instance of the company; or (2) limiting the amount of indemnity to a sum less than the amount stated in the policy and for which the premium has been paid; or (3) providing for the deduction of any premium from the amount paid in settlement of claim; or (4) relative to other insurance by the same company; or (5) relative to the age limits of the policy; unless such provisions, which are hereby designated as optional standard provisions, shall be in the words and in the order in which they are hereinafter set forth, but the company may at its option omit from the policy any such optional standard provision. Such optional standard provisions if inserted in the policy shall immediately succeed the standard provisions named in subdivision (c) of this section.

(1) An optional standard provision relative to cancelation of the policy at the instance of the company as follows:

16. The company may cancel this policy at any time by written notice delivered to the insured or mailed to his last address, as shown by the records of the company, together with cash or the company's check for the unearned portion of the premiums actually paid by the insured, and such cancelation shall be without prejudice to any claim originating prior thereto.

(2) An optional standard provision relative to reduction of the amount of indemnity to a sum less than that stated in the policy as follows:

17. If the insured shall carry with another company, corporation, association, or society other insurance covering the same loss without giving written notice to the company, then in that case the company shall be liable only for such portion of the indemnity promised as the said indemnity bears to the total amount of like indemnity in all policies covering such loss, and for the return of such part of the premium paid as shall exceed the pro rata for the indemnity thus determined.

(3) An optional standard provision relative to deduction of premium upon settlement of claim as follows:

18. Upon the payment of claim hereunder any premium then due and unpaid or covered by any note or written order may be deducted therefrom.

(4) An optional standard provision relative to other insurance by the same company which shall be in such one of the following forms as may be appropriate to the indemnities provided, and in the blank space of which the company shall insert such upward limits of indemnity as are specified by the company's classification of risks, filed as required by this section.

(A) 19. If a like policy or policies, previously issued by the company to the insured, be in force concurrently herewith, making the aggregate indemnity in excess of $————————, the excess insurance shall (Amount to be inserted)
be void and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured.

(B) 19. If a like policy or policies, previously issued by the company to the insured, be in force concurrently herewith, making the aggregate indemnity for loss of time on account of disability in excess of $———————— weekly, the excess insurance shall be void and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured.
(Amount to be inserted)

(C) 19. If a like policy or policies, previously issued by the company to the insured, be in force concurrently herewith, making the aggregate indemnity for loss other than that of time on account of disability in excess of $———————— or the aggregate
(Amount to be inserted) indemnity for loss of time on account of disability in excess of $———————— weekly, the excess insurance of either kind shall be void and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured.
(Amount to be inserted)

(5) An optional standard provision relative to the age limits of the policy which shall be in the following form and in the blank spaces of which the company shall insert such numbers of years as it may elect.

20. The insurance under this policy shall not cover any person under the age of ——— years nor over the age of ——— years. Any premium paid to the company for any period not covered by this policy will be returned upon request.

(e) No such policy shall be so issued or delivered if it contains any provision contradictory, in whole or in part, of any of the provisions hereinbefore in this section designated as "standard provisions" or as "optional standard provisions"; nor shall any endorsements or attached papers vary, alter, extend, be used as a substitute for, or in any way conflict with any of the said "standard provisions" or the said "optional standard provisions"; nor shall such policy be so issued or delivered if it contains any provision purporting to make any portion of the charter, constitution, or by-laws of the company a part of the policy unless such portion of the charter, constitution, or by-laws shall be set forth in full in the policy, but this prohibition shall not be deemed to apply to any statement of rates or classification of risks filed with the superintendent in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(f) The falsity of any statement in the application for any policy covered by this section shall not bar the right to recovery thereunder unless such false statement was made with actual intent to deceive or unless it materially affected either the acceptance of the risk or the hazard assumed by the company.

(g) The acknowledgment by a company of the receipt of notice given under any policy covered by this section, or the furnishing of forms for filing proofs of loss, or the acceptance of such proofs, or the investigation of any claim thereunder shall not operate as a waiver of any of the rights of the company in defense of any claim arising under such policy.

(h) No alteration of any written application for insurance by erasure, insertion, or otherwise shall be made by any person other than the applicant without his written consent, and the making of any such alteration without the consent of the applicant shall be a misdemeanor. If such alteration shall be made by any officer of the company, or by any employee of the company with the company's knowledge or consent, then such act shall be deemed to have been performed by the company thereafter issuing the policy upon such altered application.

(i) A policy issued in violation of this section shall be held valid but shall be construed as provided in this section and when any provision in such a policy is in conflict with any provision of this section the rights, duties, and obligations of the company, the policyholder, and the beneficiary shall be governed by the provisions of this section.

(j) The policies of insurance against accidental bodily injury or sickness issued by a company not organized under the laws of the District may contain, when issued in the District, any provision which the law of the state, territory, or District of the United States under which the company is organized prescribes for insertion in such policies, and the policies of insurance against accidental bodily injury or sickness issued by a company organized under the laws of the District may contain, when issued or delivered in any other state, territory, District, or country, any provision required by the laws of the state, territory, District, or country in which the same are issued, anything in this section to the contrary notwithstanding.

(k) (1) Nothing in this section, however, shall apply to or affect any policy of group accident, group health, or group accident and health insurance.

(2) Nothing in this section shall apply to or in any way affect contracts supplemental to contracts of life or endowment insurance where such supplemental contracts contain no provisions except such as operate to safeguard such insurance against lapse or to provide a special surrender value therefor in the event that the insured shall be totally and permanently disabled by reason of accidental bodily injury or by sickness: Provided, That no such supplemental contract shall be issued or delivered to any person in the District unless and until a copy of the form thereof has been submitted to and approved by the superintendent under such reasonable rules and regulations as he shall make concerning the provisions in such contracts and their submission to and approval by him.

(3) The provisions of this section contained in clause (5) of subdivision (b) and clauses (2), (3), and (12) of subdivision (c) may be omitted from railroad-ticket policies sold only at railroad stations, or at railroad-ticket offices by railroad employees.

(l) Any company, or other insurer, or any officer or agent thereof, which or who issues or delivers to any person in the District any policy in violation of the provisions of this section, shall be punished, upon conviction, by a fine of not more than $500 for each offense, and the superintendent may revoke the certificate of authority of any company, corporation, association, society, or other insurer of any state or country, or the license of the agent thereof, which or who violates any provisions of this section.

(m) The term "indemnity" as used in this section, means benefits promised. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1166, ch. 672, § 12, ch. V; July 12, 1950, 64 Stat. 335, ch. 457, § 3.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Burden of Proof

Insurer had burden of proving that right to recovery on hospitalization policy was barred by insured's failure to state in application inquiring as to past medical or surgical treatment that insured's cervix had been cauterized, and such burden could be carried by evidence deduced from insured's own witnesses. Turner v. National Hospitalization (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 52 A. 2d 274).

Domestic and Foreign Corporations

Subsection (f) of this section providing that falsity of any statement in application for accident and health policy shall not bar right of recovery thereunder unless made with intent to deceive, or unless materially affecting acceptance of risk or hazard assumed by insurer, was applicable to insurance company issuing hospitalization policy and chartered in District of Columbia and authorized to do business in District, and to Maryland company assuming policy with consent of insured, where insured continued to live in District and claim arose in District. Turner v. National Hospitalization (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 52 A. 2d 274).

Intention to Deceive

An insured's failure to state, in hospitalization policy application inquiring as to past medical or surgical treatment, that her cervix had been cauterized, precluded recovery of hospitalization benefits under policy, where failure to disclose such fact was intended to deceive and materially affected acceptance of risk. Turner v. National Hospitalization (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 52 A. 2d 274).

§ 35–713 [5: 220*l*]. Stock operations and advisory board contracts prohibited.

No life company doing business in the District shall issue in the District, nor permit its general agents, agents, officers, solicitors, or employees to issue or deliver in the District, agency company stock or other capital stock, or benefit certificates or shares in any common-law corporation, or securities or any special or advisory board or other contracts of any kind promising returns and profits as an inducement to insure; and no life company shall be authorized to do business in the District which issues or permits its general agents, agents, officers, solicitors, or employees to issue in the District or in any state or territory agency company stock or other capital stock, or benefit certificates or shares in any common-law corporations, or securities or any special advisory board or other contracts of any kind promising returns and profits as an inducement to insurance; and no corporation or stock company acting as agent of a life company nor any of its general agents, agents, officers, solicitors, or employees shall be permitted to sell, agree, or offer to sell, or give or offer to give, directly or indirectly, in any manner whatsoever, any share of stock, securities, bonds, or agreement of any form or nature promising returns and profits as an inducement to insurance or in connection therewith. It shall be the duty of the superintendent, upon due proof after notice and hearing that any such company or agent thereof has violated any of the provisions of this section, to revoke the authority of the company or agent so offending: Provided, however, That the action of the superintendent in this regard shall be subject to appeal and review in the form and manner prescribed in section 35–427. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1173, ch. 672, § 13, ch. V.)

§ 35–714 [5: 220m]. Misrepresentations prohibited.

No life company doing business in the District, and no officer, director, general agent, agent, or solicitor thereof, broker, or any other person shall make, issue, or circulate, or cause to be issued or circulated, any estimate, illustration, circular, or statement of any sort misrepresenting the terms of any policy issued or to be issued by it or the benefits or advantages promised thereby, or the dividends or shares of the surplus to be received thereon, or shall use any name or title of any policy or class of policies misrepresenting the true nature thereof. Nor shall any such corporation or officer, director, general agent, agent, or solicitor thereof, broker or any other person, firm, association, or corporation make any misrepresentation to any person insured in any company for the purpose of inducing or tending to induce a policyholder in any company to lapse, forfeit, or surrender his insurance. It shall be the duty of the superintendent, upon due proof after notice and hearing that any such company or agent thereof has violated any of the provisions of this section, to revoke the authority of the company or agent so offending: Provided, however, That the action of the superintendent in this regard shall be subject to appeal and review in the form and manner prescribed in section 35–427. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1174, ch. 672, § 14, ch. V.)

Cross Reference

§ 35–715 [5: 220n]. Discriminations prohibited.

No life insurance corporation doing business in the District shall make or permit any discriminations between individuals of the same class or of equal expectation of life, in the amount of payment or return of premiums or rates charged for policies of insurance, including endowment policies and annuity contracts, or in the dividends or other benefits payable thereon, or in any of the terms or conditions of the policy; nor shall any such company permit or agent thereof offer to make any contract of insurance, endowment policy, or annuity contract, or agreement as to such contracts other than as plainly expressed in the policy issued thereon, nor shall any such company or officer, agent, solicitor, or representative thereof pay, allow, or give, or offer to pay, allow, or give, directly or indirectly, as inducement to any person to insure, or give, sell, or purchase, or offer to give, sell, or purchase as such inducement or in connection with such insurance, endowment policy, or annuity contract, any stocks, bonds, or other securities of any insurance company or other corporation, association, or partnership, or any dividends or profit accruing thereon, or any valuable consideration or inducement whatever not specified in the policy, nor shall any person knowingly receive any such inducement, any rebate of premium, or any special favor or advantage in the dividends or other benefits to accrue thereon, or any paid employment or contract for services of any kind or any valuable consideration or inducement whatever, not specified in the policy. No person shall be excused from attending and testifying and producing any books, papers, or other documents before any court or magistrate, upon any investigation, proceeding, or trial for a violation of any of the provisions of this section, upon the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to convict him of a crime or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture; but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he may so testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, and no testimony so given or produced shall be received against him upon any criminal investigation or proceeding. Nothing in this section shall be so construed as to forbid a company, transacting industrial life insurance, from returning to policyholders, who have made premium payments for a period of at least one year, directly to the company at its home or distant offices, a percentage of such a premium which the company would have paid for the collection thereof. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1174, ch. 672, § 15, ch. V.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

SPLITTING COMMISSIONS

An insurance broker was not prohibited from splitting commissions with insurance solicitor where arrangement was otherwise valid. Werber v. Wallop (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 110).

This section prohibiting discrimination, rebates, kickbacks, or other improper manipulating of premiums, did not invalidate agreement between insured and broker that broker would pay half of commissions on issuance of life policies, to insurance solicitor who had handled practically all of insured's insurance business. Werber v. Wallop (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 110).

§ 35–716 [5: 220*o*]. Rights of creditors and beneficiaries under policies of life insurance.

When a policy of insurance, whether heretofore or hereafter issued, is effected by any person on his own life or on another life in favor of some person other than himself having an insurable interest therein, or, except in cases of transfer with intent to defraud creditors, if a policy of life insurance is assigned or in any way made payable to any such person, the lawful beneficiary or assignee thereof, other than the insured or the person so effecting such insurance or executors or administrators of such insured or the person so effecting such insurance, shall be entitled to its proceeds and avails against the creditors and representatives of the insured and of the person effecting such insurance whether or not the right to change the beneficiary is reserved or permitted and whether or not the policy is made payable to the person whose life is insured, if the beneficiary or assignee shall predecease such person: Provided, That subject to the statute of limitations the amount of any premiums for said insurance paid with intent to defraud creditors, with interest thereon, shall inure to their benefit from the proceeds of the policy, but the company issuing the policy shall be discharged of all liability thereon by payment of its proceeds in accordance with its terms, unless before such payment the company shall have written notice by or in behalf of a creditor of a claim to recover for transfer made or premiums paid with intent to defraud creditors with specifications of the amount claimed. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1175, ch. 672, § 16, ch. V; Aug. 1, 1947, 61 Stat. 711, ch. 427.)

AMENDMENTS

Act of Aug. 1, 1947, cited to text, substituted the words "executors or administrators of such insured or the person so effecting such insurance" in place of "his executors or administrators".

NOTES TO DECISIONS

BENEFICIARY, RIGHTS OF

Under this section providing that the lawful beneficiary other than insured or person effecting insurance or "his" executors or administrators shall be entitled to its proceeds against creditors and representatives of insured the word "beneficiary" is an antecedent of the word "his" and this section means that lawful beneficiary or his executors or administrators shall be entitled to the proceeds against creditors and representatives of insured. Kindleberger v. Lincoln Nat. Bank of Wash. (App. D. C. 1946, 155 F. 2d 281, 176 A. L. R. 1011, 86 U. S. App. D. C. 101, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 495, 329 U. S. 803, 91 L. Ed. 686.)

IMPAIRMENT OF CONTRACT

Where this section was expressly made applicable to policies previously issued, this section was controlling over contrary provision of policy issued before enactment of this section and such application of this section did not impair obligation of contract embodied in the policy. Kindleberger v. Lincoln Natl. Bank of Wash. (App. D. C. 1946, 155 F. 2d 281, 176 A. L. R. 1011, 86 U. S. App. D. C. 101, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 495, 329 U. S. 803, 91 L. Ed. 686.)

REPRESENTATIVES OF DECEASED BENEFICIARY

Under this section, proceeds of life policy were payable to estate of beneficiary who predeceased insured, notwithstanding insured reserved right to change beneficiary and policy, issued before enactment of this section, provided that interest of beneficiary should vest in insured in event of beneficiary's death before insured. Kindleberger v. Lincoln Nat. Bank of Wash. (App. D. C. 1946, 153 F. 2d 281, 176 A. L. R. 1011, 86 U. S. App. D. C. 101, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 495, 329 U. S. 803, 91 L. Ed. 686.)

Where insured reserves right to change beneficiary of life policy, interest of beneficiary may be defeated by insured by expedient of changing beneficiary; but in absence of change, when policy has matured because of insured's death, claim of beneficiary to proceeds cannot be defeated and, if beneficiary has not survived, beneficiary's executors or administrators are entitled under this section to the proceeds against creditors and representatives of insured. Kindleberger v. Lincoln Nat. Bank of Wash. (App. D. C. 1946, 155 F. 2d 281, 176 A. L. R. 1011, 86 U. S. App. D. C. 101, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 495, 329 U. S. 803, 91 L. Ed. 686.)

REPRESENTATIVES OF INSURED

Where life policy provided that proceeds thereof were to be paid to insured's wife, "if living; otherwise to his executors, administrators or assigns", and insured died 15 months after his wife's death without having changed beneficiary clause, insured's executors, rather than wife's administrators, were entitled to proceeds of policy notwithstanding this section providing that beneficiary's representatives shall be entitled to proceeds of a life policy as against insured's representatives, and though application for policy did not contain the quoted words appearing in policy. Horning v. Lindsay (C. A., D. C. 1948, 169 F. 2d 963).

§ 35–717 [5: 220p]. Exemption of disability insurance from execution.

No money or other benefit paid, provided, allowed, or agreed to be paid by any company on account of the disability from injury or sickness of any insured person shall be liable to execution, attachment, garnishment, or other process, or to be seized, taken, appropriated or applied by any legal or equitable process or operation of law, to pay any debt or liability of such insured person whether such debt or liability was incurred before or after the commencement of such disability, but the provisions of this section shall not affect the assignability of any such disability benefit otherwise assignable, nor shall this section apply to any money income disability benefit in an action to recover for necessaries contracted for after the commencement of the disability covered by the disability clause or contract allowing such money income benefit. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1175, ch. 672, § 16a, ch. V.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ALIMONY

Liability for alimony and support payments to divorced wife is not a "debt or liability" within the meaning of this exemption. Schlaefer v. Schlaefer (71 App. D. C. 350, 112 Fed. (2d) 177).

Payments of disability insurance are not exempt from liability for alimony and for support of divorced wife. Schlaefer v. Schlaefer (71 App. D. C. 350, 112 Fed. (2d) 177).

DISPOSITION OF INSURANCE

So far as general creditors are concerned, the purpose of this provision is clear, with the exceptions stated, to make disposition of these funds a matter solely for the insured's judgment. Schlaefer v. Schlaefer (71 App. D. C. 350, 112 Fed. (2d) 177).

REASON FOR LAW

Congress regarded it better for creditors to go unpaid than to deprive the debtor and his dependents of this means of support when earning capacity would be cut off Schlaefer v. Schlaefer (71 App. D. C. 350, 112 Fed. (2d) 177).

§ 35–718 [5: 220q]. Exemption of group life insurance policies from execution.

No policy of group life insurance, nor the proceeds thereof when paid to any employee or employees thereunder, shall be liable to attachment, garnishment, or other process, or to be seized, taken, appropriated, or applied by any legal or equitable process or operation of law, to pay any debt or liability of such employee, or his beneficiary, or any other person who may have a right thereunder, either before or after payment; nor shall the proceeds thereof, when not made payable to a named beneficiary, constitute a part of the estate of the employee for the payment of his debts. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1176, ch. 672, § 17, ch. V.)

§ 35–719 [5: 220r]. False statements—Misdemeanor.

Any agent, broker, examining physician, or other person who shall knowingly or wilfully make any false or fraudulent statement or representation in or with reference to any application for life insurance, or who shall make any such statement for the purpose of obtaining any fee, commission, money, or benefit from or in any company transacting business under chapters 3–8 of this title shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1176, ch. 672, § 18, ch. V.)

§ 35–720 [5: 220s]. Proceeds of certain policies to be held in trust by life company.

Any life company licensed under the laws of the District shall have power to hold the proceeds of any policy issued by it under a trust or other agreement upon such terms and restrictions as to revocation by the policyholder and control by beneficiaries and with such exemptions from the claims of creditors or beneficiaries other than the policyholder as shall have been agreed to in writing by such company and the policyholder. Such insurance company shall not be required to segregate funds so held, but may hold them as a part of its general corporate assets. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1176, ch. 672, § 19, ch. V.)

§ 35–721 [5: 220t]. When actual premium for life policy is less than net premium.

When the actual premium charged for an insurance policy by any company is less than the net premium on the basis adopted by the company for the valuation of such policy under section 35–701, such company shall be charged as a separate liability with a deficiency reserve equal to the total present value of the future deficiencies in the actual premium calculated according to the table of mortality and rate of interest employed by the company for the valuation of such policy. (June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1176, ch. 672, § 20, ch. V.)

§ 35–722. Acceptance of premiums in arrears and recording of payments.

No industrial insurance company or agent thereof shall accept any money in payment of premiums which are in arrears on any industrial life or industrial sick benefit insurance policy which has lapsed and which the insured seeks to reinstate, unless such payment shall amount at least to the total of all premiums in arrears or unless such payment shall, under the regulations of the company, make the policy immediately eligible for reinstatement, subject only to evidence of insurability.

Every current premium shall be correctly recorded by the agent or by the company in the premium receipt book of the insured at the time the premium is paid.

Every advance premium paid by an industrial life or industrial sick-benefit policyholder shall be recorded in the receipt book of the insured in exactly the same manner as current premiums are recorded, and accurate entry thereof shall be made in the record book of the agent: Provided, however, That failure so to do shall not invalidate the policy. (May 4, 1950, 64 Stat. 104, ch. 157, § 7.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date of section, see note to § 35–405.

§ 35–723. Standard provisions required in industrial life insurance policies.

No policy of industrial life insurance shall be delivered or issued for delivery in the District unless it contains in substance the following provisions, or provisions which in the opinion of the Superintendent are more favorable to the policyholders:

(1) A provision that all premiums after the first shall be payable in advance, either at the home office of the company or to an agent of the company.

(2) A provision that the insured is entitled to a grace period of at least twenty-eight days within which the payment of any premiums after the first may be made, and during which period of grace the policy shall continue in full force, but in case the policy becomes a claim during the said period of grace before the overdue premium is paid, the amount of such premium may be deducted from any amount payable under the policy in settlement.

(3) A provision that, except as otherwise expressly provided by law, the policy shall constitute the entire contract between the parties and shall be incontestable after it has been in force during the lifetime of the insured for a period of not more than two years from its date, except for nonpayment of premiums and except for violations of the conditions of the policy relating to naval or military service in time of war, and, at the option of the company, provisions relative to benefits in the event of total and permanent disability and provisions which grant additional insurance specifically against death by accident may also be excepted; if a copy of the application be attached to the policy, a provision that all statements made by the insured shall in the absence of fraud, be deemed representations and not warranties, and that no such statement or statements shall be used in defense of a claim under the policy unless contained in the attached written application.

(4) A provision that if it shall be found at any time before final settlement under the policy that the age of the insured (or the age of any other person considered in determining the premium) has been misstated, the amount payable under the policy shall be such as the premium would have purchased at the correct age, according to the company's rate at date of issue.

(5) If the policy is a participating policy, a provision indicating the conditions under which the company shall periodically ascertain and apportion any divisible surplus accruing to the policy.

(6) A provision for nonforfeiture benefits and cash surrender values in accordance with the requirements of section 35–705a or section 35–705b of this chapter.

(7) A provision specifying the options, if any, to which the policyholder is entitled in the event of default in a premium payment.

(8) A provision that if in event of default in premium payments the value of the policy shall have been applied to the purchase of other insurance as provided for in this section, and if such insurance shall be in force and the original policy shall not have been surrendered to the company and canceled, the policy may be reinstated within two years from such default, upon evidence of insurability satisfactory to the company and payment of arrears of premiums and the payment or reinstatement of any other indebtedness to the company upon said policy, with interest on said premium and indebtedness at the rate of not exceeding 6 percentum per annum payable annually.

(9) A provision that when a policy shall become a claim by the death of the insured settlement shall be made upon receipt of due proof of death.

(10) Title on the face and on the back of the policy briefly describing its form.

Any of the foregoing provisions or portions thereof not applicable to single premium or nonparticipating or term policies shall, to that extent, not be incorporated therein; and any such policy may be issued or delivered in the District which in the opinion of the Superintendent contains provisions on any one or more of the several foregoing requirements more favorable to the policyholder than hereinbefore required. The provisions of this section shall not apply to policies issued or granted in exchange for lapsed or surrendered policies. Nothing contained in subsection (3) hereof shall apply to applications for reinstatement. A reinstated policy shall be contestable on account of fraud or misrepresentation of material facts pertaining to the reinstatement, for the same period after reinstatement as provided in the policy with respect to the original issue. (May 4, 1950, 64 Stat. 104, ch. 157, § 7.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

For effective date of section, see note to § 35–405.

§ 35–724. Provisions prohibited in industrial life insurance policies.

No policy of industrial life insurance shall be delivered or issued for delivery, in the District, if it contains any of the following provisions:

(1) A provision limiting the time within which any action at law or in equity may be commenced to less than three years after the cause of action shall accrue.

(2) Except for provisions relating to misstatement of age, suicide, aviation, and military or naval service in time of war, a provision for any mode of settlement at maturity, after the expiration of the contestable period of the policy of less value than the amount insured on the face of the policy plus dividend additions, if any, less any indebtedness to the company on or secured by the policy, and less any premium that may, by the terms of the policy, be deducted. This paragraph shall not apply to any nonforfeiture provision.

(3) A provision for forfeiture of the policy for failure to repay any loan on the policy, or to pay interest on such loan, while the total indebtedness on the policy, including interest, is less than the loan value thereof.

(4) A provision to the effect that the agent soliciting the insurance is the agent of the person insured under said policy, or making the acts or representations of such agent binding upon the person so insured under said policy.

(5) A provision permitting the payment of funeral benefits in merchandise or services, or permitting the payment of any benefits other than in lawful money of the United States.

(6) A provision whereby the benefits or any part thereof accruing under such policy upon the death of a person insured may be paid to any designated undertaker or undertaking firm or corporation or to any person or persons engaged in or connected with such business, without the written consent of the person or persons to whom such benefits would otherwise be paid, or so as in any way to deprive the personal representative or family of the deceased of the advantages of competition in procuring and purchasing supplies and services in connection with the burial of the person insured.

(7) A provision that the liability of the company by reason of the insured's death shall be limited to less than the face amount of the policy if the death of the insured results from a specified kind or character of disease. (May 8, 1950, 64 Stat. 104, ch. 157, § 7.)

A fraternal beneficial association is hereby declared to be a corporation, society, order, or voluntary association, formed or organized and carried on for the sole benefit of its members and their beneficiaries, and not for profit, having a lodge system with ritualistic form of work and representative form of government, making provision for the payment of benefits in case of death. Each such association may make provision for the payment of benefits in case of sickness, temporary or permanent physical disability, either as a result of disease, accident, or old age: Provided, That the period in life at which physical disability benefits on account of old age commences shall not be under seventy years, or the age of expectancy from the time of entering, subject to their compliance with its laws. Any such association may create and maintain a reserve, emergency, or benefit fund in accordance with its laws. Any such association having a reserve, emergency, or benefit fund may, in addition to the benefits hereinbefore named, pay withdrawal benefits, not exceeding the contributions of such member, to a member unable or unwilling to continue membership, provided such membership shall continue not less than three successive years. Such association may also, after ten years of membership, apply its funds and accumulations as its laws provide or the association and members agree. The fund from which the payments of such benefits shall be made and the fund from which the expenses of such association shall be defrayed shall be derived from assessments, dues, and other payments collected from its members or otherwise. The payment of death benefits shall be to the families, heirs, blood relatives, affianced husband, affianced wife, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, stepfather, stepmother, stepchildren, stepbrother, stepsister, children or parents by legal adoption, member's estate, a charitable, benevolent, educational, or eleemosynary institution, or to persons dependent upon the member or upon whom the member is dependent. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1310, ch. 854, § 749; Dec. 20, 1928, 45 Stat. 1055, ch. 40, § 1.)

Any provisions of this chapter in conflict with the "Fire and Casualty Act" (act of Oct. 9, 1940, 54 Stat. 1063, ch. 792), chapter 13 of this title, have been repealed. NOTES TO DECISIONS

AMENDMENTS OF CHARTER

The amendment of the charter of a fraternal benefit association, which originally had been a joint-stock company, from depriving certificate holders of the right formerly had of designating beneficiaries, will not affect existing insurance contracts in the absence of anything in the charter showing that it was intended to have a retrospective effect. Brown v. Grand Fountain (28 App. D. C. 200).

AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION

A committee appointed by a fraternal beneficial association to revise the laws and constitution does not have authority to originate and propose methods without the notice as required for amendments generally, as to abolition of both constitution and laws. National Council Junior Order United American Mechanics v. State Council (27 App. D. C. 1).

BENEFICIARIES

This section permitted as beneficiaries only families, heirs, blood relatives, affianced husband, affianced wife, or dependents. Certificate in favor of woman who had been living with the insured, knowing that he had a legal wife living, was void. Electrical Workers Ben. Assn. v. Brown (58 App. D. C. 203, 26 Fed. (2d) 981).

Police Relief Association could not authorize payment of benefit certificates to persons other than those designated by statute as eligible beneficiaries. Simpkins v. McDermott (65 App. D. C. 123, 81 Fed. (2d) 257), cert. den. (297 U. S. 715, 80 L. Ed. 1001, 56 Sup. Ct. 592).

BY-LAWS

When by-laws of fraternal beneficial association imposes upon the officers of local councils the duty of receiving and transmitting all assessments and dues to the central committee, a provision in such by-laws that the officers of each local council shall be agents solely of such council and its members, is not consistent with duty and agency imposed by central governing body, and it cannot defeat claim upon certificate of insurance issued by the association. Prudent Patricians of Pompeii v. Marr (20 App. D. C. 363).

PAYMENT OF DUES

Courts will ordinarily not concern themselves with questions of the good standing of members of such organizations, but when good standing depends solely on payment of dues the civil courts will not hesitate to take cognizance.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

ESTOPPEL AS AFFECTING ISSUE

A corporation which did not question finding that it was not qualified under this chapter to do insurance business as a fraternal beneficial association had no "legal right" to a license and could not invoke an estoppel to obtain a license forbidden by statute. National Hospital Service Soc. v. Jordan, 1942 (128 F. 2d 460, 76 U. S. App. D. C. 23, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 65, 317 U. S. 664, 87 L. Ed. 534).

MANDATORY INJUNCTION TO COMPEL ISSUE

Plaintiff was not entitled to a mandatory injunction requiring superintendent of insurance to renew its permit to do insurance business as a fraternal beneficial association, even though it was not qualified under this chapter, on ground that persons in control of plaintiff had acted in reliance on expired permits which were issued by superintendent's predecessors in office and that superintendent was "estopped" from refusing to renew permit. National Hospital Service Soc. v. Jordan, 1942 (128 F. 2d 460, 76 U. S. App. D. C. 23, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 65, 317 U. S. 664, 87 L. Ed. 534).

The association shall elect from its members trustees, directors, or managers, by whatever title known in its laws, at such time and place and in such manner as may be specified in its laws, who shall have the control and management of the affairs and funds of said association, a majority of whom shall be a quorum for the transaction of business; and whenever any vacancy shall happen among such trustees, directors, or managers, by death, resignation, or otherwise, such vacancy shall be filled in such manner as shall be provided by the laws of said association. 35–1001. Conditions of policies.
35–1002. Validity of policy—Good faith of insured material element—Unsound health as defense.
35–1003. Incontestability of policy.
35–1004. Assignment of policy.
35–1005. Beneficiary.

§ 35–1001 [5: 181a]. Conditions of policies.

Policies of industrial weekly payment life insurance after June 4, 1934, issued or delivered in the District of Columbia shall be subject to the following conditions, in addition to any others prescribed by law and not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter. (June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 834, ch. 373, § 1.)

COMPILER'S NOTE

The act of June 19, 1934, 48 Stat. 1177, ch. 672, § 4, provided as follows: "All laws or parts of laws insofar as they relate to life-insurance companies and the conduct of life-insurance business, and in conflict with any provisions of this act (Life Insurance Act, chapters 3–8 of this title), are hereby repealed."

§ 35–1002 [5: 181b]. Validity of policy—Good faith of insured material element—Unsound health as defense.

If payment of such a policy shall be refused because of unsound health at or prior to the date of the policy, the good faith of both applicant and insured shall constitute a material element in determining the validity of the policy; and it shall not be held invalid because of unsound health unless the insurer shall prove that, at or before the date of issue of the policy, the insured or applicant had knowledge of, or reason to know, the facts on which the defense is based, or shall prove that the insurance was procured by the insured or applicant in bad faith or with intent to defraud the company, any provision, agreement, condition, warranty, or clause contained in said policy, or endorsed thereon, or added or attached thereto, to the contrary notwithstanding. Proof by the insurer of fraud, intent to deceive, unsound health, bad faith, breach or (of) warranty or condition precedent, or other matter of defense, shall be subject to the provisions of section 35–203. (June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 834, ch. 373, § 2.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

BURDEN OF PROOF

Where forfeiture clause invoked in action on industrial life policy was conditioned on proof that insured had been hospitalized, had undergone an operation, or had been attended by a physician for a serious disease or injury, and had failed to disclose the facts, effect of this section was to shift the burden of proof and to make insured's good faith concerning representations on which policy issued the test and by its terms to impose on insurer the burden of proving the contrary. Eureka-Maryland Assur. Co. v. Gray, 1941 (121 F. 2d 104, 74 App. D. C. 191, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 114, 314 U. S. 613, 86 L. Ed. 494).

This section regarding burden of proof where payment of policy is refused because of unsound health of insured, casts the burden of proof on insurer and requires that it establish that the ailment was serious and that the insured knew, or had reason to know, the facts on which the defense is based. Washington Nat. Ins. Co. v. Stanton (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 680).

EVIDENCE

In action on industrial life policy where insurer defended on ground that insured was suffering from serious disease of arthritis at time of issuance of policy but testimony of insured's physician directly rebutted insurer's contention that insured had either real or imputed knowledge of alleged seriousness of her condition and insured's physician testified that the ailment was serious only in sense that it temporarily restricted motion of certain parts of the body, evidence was sufficient for jury. Washington Nat. Ins. Co. v. Stanton (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 680).

PURPOSE

The design of this section is to make its terms applicable in all cases in which the defense is that the insured had suffered, before issuance of policy, a serious injury or disease, and had concealed the truth from the insurer. Eureka-Maryland Assur. Co. v. Gray, 1941 (121 F. 2d 104, 74 App. D. C. 191, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 114, 314 U. S. 613, 86 L. Ed. 494).

QUESTIONS FOR COURT

Where insurer defends action on insurance policy on ground of unsound health of insured at or prior to date of policy, and there is no conflict in evidence or no contradiction of showing of existence of serious disease, the trial judge must take the case from the jury and rule as a matter of law in favor of insurer. Washington Nat. Ins. Co. v. Stanton (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 680).

In an action for the reinstatement of an industrial life insurance policy, a liberal view prevails in favor of holders of such policies. But it is equally well established that the rules of liberal construction have no application where the contract is clear and definite. Capital City Life Insurance Company v. Saunders (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 588).

QUESTIONS FOR JURY

Where insurer defends action on insurance policy on ground of unsound health of insured at time or prior to date of policy and plaintiff creates a substantial issue of fact on question of unsound health, it becomes a question for the jury and not for the court. Washington Nat. Ins. Co. v. Stanton (D. C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 680).

§ 35–1003 [5: 181c]. Incontestability of policy.

Every such policy shall be incontestable upon any ground relating to health after two years from its date of issue (notwithstanding a longer period may be named therein), provided the insured shall be alive at the end of said period. If the policy by its terms shall be incontestable after a shorter period than herein provided the terms of the policy with regard to such period of limitation shall govern. (June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 834, ch. 373, § 3.)

CROSS REFERENCE

NOTES TO DECISIONS

IMMEDIATE FULL BENEFIT

The words "immediate full benefit", as used in industrial life policy, did not make the policy incontestable or require that amount thereof be paid regardless of cause of death, but meant nothing more than that full amount of policy would be paid immediately upon death. Walker v. Superior Life Ins. Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 192).

LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

The words "immediate full benefit", appearing on cover page of industrial life policy, did not preclude insurer from rejecting claim upon the policy for insured's death five days after policy had been issued as result of heart attack under provision in limitation of liability clause, excluding heart disease and other enumerated diseases contracted in any time before or within first year from date of policy, where limitation of liability clause appeared inside the policy in the boldest type of any text matter therein. Walker v. Superior Life Ins. Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 192).

§ 35–1004 [5: 181d]. Assignment of policy.

Nothing contained in the terms of any such policy shall operate to prevent its valid assignment by the insured; but the company issuing the policy so assigned shall be discharged of all liability thereon by payment of its proceeds in accordance with its terms, unless before such payment the company shall have written notice of such assignment. (June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 835, ch. 373, § 4.)

§ 35–1005 [5: 181e]. Beneficiary.

Any individual designated with the consent of the insurer, evidenced by the signature of its president or secretary, or designated upon a form furnished by and filed with the insurer, as beneficiary of such a policy shall be entitled to the proceeds of such policy after the death of the insured in priority to all other claimants, and may sue in his own name for such proceeds if payment is refused by the insurer: Provided, That upon the expiration of fifteen days after the death of the insured, unless proof of claim in the manner and form required by the policy, accompanied by the policy for surrender, has theretofore been made by or on behalf of such designated beneficiary, the insurer may pay to any other claimant permitted by the policy. A person specified as one to whom the insured desires payment made, but not formally designated as beneficiary, shall be deemed a beneficiary for the purposes of this section, provided such designation be made in writing and filed with the company during the lifetime of the insured. (June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 835, ch. 373, § 5.)

An insurance company organized for the transaction of one or more of the kinds of insurance permitted under subdivisions three to nine, inclusive, of this section, shall also, if complying with sections 35–1101 to 35–1132, be admitted or licensed to write any or all insurance and reinsurance comprised in any one or more of the other subdivisions of this section: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed as preventing any insurance company, formed, admitted, or licensed to transact insurance in the District on March 4, 1922, from continuing the writing of those kinds of insurance which it may have been authorized to write on March 4, 1922.

Every company formed, admitted, or licensed to transact in the District any of the kinds of insurance permitted by the several numbered subdivisions of this section shall maintain separate and distinct reserves for each kind of insurance so written, and if a stock company shall not transact the business of insurance in the District unless—

(a) It has a capital stock actually paid in, in cash or invested as provided by law, of at least $100,000 for the insurance specified in any one subdivision of this section, nor unless it has a surplus of money or other lawful assets over its authorized capital and all other liabilities of at least $50,000;

Such reinsurance companies may transact business with any other insurer or reinsurer, and such reinsurance may include all classes of insurance that may be lawfully written: Provided, That any reinsurance company, organized or admitted to reinsure one or more of the enumerated classes of insurance, shall be required to have an aggregate capital and surplus equal to the capital and surplus provided by this section for the direct writing of each class of insurance, and shall be required to hold reserves in the same amount and manner as required of other companies for each such class of insurance which, by the provisions of its charter, it is authorized to transact. There is neither express nor implied authority in the Superintendent of Insurance of the District to amend, add to, or alter insurance law by regulations or to apply the drastic provisions of those rules solely to mutual companies. § 35–1106 [5: 189]. Reinsurance.

Every insurance or reinsurance company, authorized to transact insurance or reinsurance within the District, may reinsure any part of an individual risk in another company having power to make such reinsurance, and with the consent of the superintendent may reinsure all of its risks, within any class of insurance as enumerated under the several subdivisions of section 35–1103, in another company. But no credit shall be taken for the reserve or unearned premium liability on such reinsurance unless the company accepting the reinsurance is licensed by the superintendent, or unless it is licensed in one or more States in the United States and shows the same standards of solvency as would be required if it were at the time of such reinsurance authorized in the District to insure risks of the same kind as those reinsured.

In case such reinsurance is effected with an insurer so authorized, or so recognized for reinsurance in this District, the ceding insurer shall thereafter be charged on the gross premium basis with an unearned premium liability representing the proportion of each obligation retained by it, and the insurer to which the business is ceded shall be charged with an unearned premium liability representing the proportion of such obligation ceded to it calculated in the same way. The two parties to the transaction shall together carry the same reserve which the ceding insurer would have carried had it retained the risk.

The superintendent shall require schedules of reinsurance to be filed by every insurer at the time of making the annual report and at such other times as he may direct. (Mar. 4, 1922, 42 Stat. 405, ch. 93, title 3, § 6.)

With respect to marine insurance risks, the unearned premium shall be found by computing 50 per centum of the amount of premiums received and receivable on unexpired risks on time policies running one year or less from date of policy, and 100 per centum of the amount of premiums on all unterminated voyage and transit risks. As a basis for unearned premium reserves, unterminated voyage or transit risks shall be deemed to expire within thirty days on the average. Every insurance company shall so compute such unearned premium in its annual and other financial statements. (Mar. 4, 1922, 42 Stat. 405, ch. 93, title 4, § 7.)

§ 35–1108 [5: 191]. Taxes—Underwriting profits—Computation of premiums earned on marine insurance contracts.

With the exception of license fees, real estate and personal property taxes, and a tax on investment income derived from funds representing reserves, capital stock and surplus as defined by sections 35–1101 to 35–1132, every insurance company organized, admitted, or licensed to transact business within the District shall, with respect to marine insurance written by it within the District, be taxed only on that proportion of the total underwriting profit of the company from marine insurance written within the United States which the net premiums of the company from marine insurance written within the District bear to the total net marine premiums of the company written within the United States. The term "underwriting profit," as used herein, shall be arrived at by deducting from the premiums earned on marine insurance contracts written within the United States during the calendar year (1) the losses incurred and (2) expenses incurred, including all taxes, in connection with such business.

Premiums earned on marine insurance contracts written during the calendar year shall be arrived at as follows:

(1) Gross premiums on marine insurance contracts written during the calendar year, less return premiums and premiums paid for reinsurance.

(2) Add unearned premiums on outstanding marine business at the end of the preceding calendar year.

(3) Deduct unearned premiums on outstanding marine business at the end of the current calendar year.

Losses incurred, as used herein, shall mean gross losses incurred during the calendar year under marine insurance contracts written within the United States, less reinsurance claims collected or collectible and salvages or recoveries collected or collectible from any source applicable to aforesaid losses.

Expenses incurred shall include—

(1) Specific expenses incurred, consisting of all agency commissions, agency expenses, taxes, licenses, fees, loss-adjustment expenses, and all other expenses incurred directly and specifically for the purpose of doing a marine insurance business.

(2) General expenses incurred, consisting of that proportion of general or overhead expenses, such as salaries of officers and employees, printing and stationery, all Federal Government taxes, and all other expenses not chargeable specifically to a particular class of insurance which the net premiums received from marine insurance bear to the total net premiums received by the company from all classes of insurance written during the current calendar year. § 35–1109 [5: 192]. Statements for taxation purposes—Computation of tax by Superintendent of Insurance—Statement of taxes to be mailed.

Every company transacting marine insurance in the District shall set forth in its annual statement to the superintendent, and in the form prescribed by him, all the items pertaining to its insurance business as enumerated and prescribed in section 35–1108. To determine the basis of the tax on underwriting profit, every company which has been writing marine insurance for five years shall furnish the superintendent a statement of all of the aforementioned items, in the form prescribed by him, for each of the preceding five calendar years. A company which has not been writing marine insurance for five years shall furnish to the superintendent a statement of all of the aforementioned items for each of the calendar years during which it has written marine insurance.

If the superintendent finds the report of the company reporting correct, he shall, if the company has transacted marine insurance for five years, (1) ascertain the total average annual underwriting profit, as hereinbefore defined, derived by the company from its marine insurance business written within the United States during the last preceding five calendar years, (2) ascertain the proportion which the average net annual premiums of the company from marine insurance written by it in the District during the last preceding five calendar years bear to the average total net marine premiums of the company during the same five years, (3) compute an amount of 5 per centum on this proportion of the aforementioned average annual underwriting profit of the company from marine insurance, and (4) charge the amount of tax thus computed to such company as a tax upon the marine insurance written by it in the District during the current calendar year. Thereafter the superintendent shall each year compute the tax, according to the method described in this section, upon the average annual underwriting profit of such company from marine insurance during the preceding five years, including the current calendar year; namely, at the expiration of each current calendar year, the profit or loss on the marine insurance business of that year is to be added or deducted, and the profit or loss upon the marine insurance business of the first calendar year of the preceding five-year period is to be dropped, so that the computation of underwriting profit for purposes of taxation under sections 35–1101 to 35–1132 will always be on a five-year average: Provided, however, That a company which has not been writing marine insurance in the District for five years shall, until it has transacted such business in the District for that number of years, be taxed on the basis of the annual average underwriting profit on marine insurance written within the United States during the preceding five years as averaged for all companies reporting to the superintendent for the current calendar year and which have been transacting marine insurance in the District for the past five years: Provided further, That, if at any time none of the companies reporting to the superintendent shall have written marine insurance in the District for five years, a company which has not been writing marine insurance in the District for five years shall be taxed on the basis of an annual average underwriting profit as averaged for all companies reporting to the superintendent for the number of years during which they have written marine insurance in the District, subject, however, to an adjustment in the tax as soon as the superintendent, in accordance with the provisions of this section, is enabled to compute the tax on the aforementioned five-year basis: And provided further, That in the case of mutual companies the superintendent shall not include in underwriting profit, when computing the tax prescribed by this section, the amounts refunded by such companies on account of premiums previously paid by their policyholders.

When the superintendent has computed the tax on a company's underwriting profit, he shall forthwith mail to the last-known address of the principal office of such company a statement of the amount so charged against it, which amount the company shall pay to the collector of taxes within thirty days after receipt of such notice from the superintendent, and no further tax, except the taxes on investment income from funds representing reserves, capital stock, and surplus as prescribed by sections 35–1110, 35–1111 and the license fee prescribed by section 35–1113 shall be imposed by the District upon such company, or the agents thereof, for the privilege of transacting the business of marine insurance in the District. § 35–1110 [5: 193]. Taxation on earning on reserves for unpaid loss and unexpired insurance.

In addition to the tax on underwriting profit as prescribed under sections 35–1108, 35–1109, every insurance company transacting business within the District shall, with respect to marine insurance written by it within the District, be taxed annually at the rate of 5 per centum on its average earnings on reserves for unpaid losses and unexpired premiums. The reserve for unpaid losses and unexpired premiums shall be arrived at by adding the unpaid loss and unexpired premium reserves on marine insurance risks, written within the District, at the beginning and end of the calendar year, and striking an average. Should any company not carry its unpaid loss and unexpired premium reserves separately for the District, then the tax provided under this section shall be applied to such proportion of the company's total unpaid loss and unexpired premium reserves as the net premiums of the company from marine insurance written within the District during the calendar year bear to the total net marine premiums of the company. Average earnings on reserves for unpaid losses and unexpired premiums shall be deemed, for the purpose of taxation under this section, to mean not more than 2 per centum of these reserves. In addition to the taxes, as prescribed under sections 35–1108 to 35–1110, every company organized under the laws of the District and transacting marine insurance therein shall, with respect to marine insurance written in the District, pay a tax of 2 per centum on its investment income from funds representing capital stock and surplus as shown by the company's annual statement. Such investment income shall, for purposes of taxation under sections 35–1101 to 35–1132, be arrived at as follows: Add the gross assets at the beginning and end of the calendar year and strike an average. Add capital stock and surplus at the beginning and end of the year and strike an average. Ascertain the proportion which the average capital stock and surplus bears to average gross assets. Credit to investment income on capital stock and surplus such proportion of all income, except income taxed under section 35–1110, derived from interest, dividends, rents, and profits on sales or redemption of assets. Charge against investment income on capital stock and surplus such proportion of all losses on sales or redemption of assets.

Should a company subject to this tax be writing other classes of insurance, and the capital stock and surplus referred to herein relate to all the classes of insurance written without being specifically allocated to the several classes of insurance written, then such proportion of the investment income from funds representing capital stock and surplus, computed according to the method prescribed in the preceding paragraph of this section, shall be applicable to marine insurance for purposes of taxation under this section as the net premiums from marine insurance during the calendar year bear to the net premiums of the company from all the classes of insurance written. The corporations may enter into and make an agreement for such merger or consolidation, prescribing its terms and conditions, the amount of its capital, which shall not be larger in amount than the aggregate amount of capital of the merged or consolidated corporations, and the number of shares into which it is to be divided. Such agreement must be assented to by a vote of the majority of the number of directors of each corporation prescribed in its charter and must be approved by the votes of stockholders owning at least two-thirds of the stock of each corporation represented and voted upon in person or by proxy at a meeting, called separately for that purpose, upon a notice stating the time, place, and object of the meeting served at least thirty days previously upon each personally or mailed to him at his last known post-office address, and also published at least once a week for four weeks successively in some newspaper printed in the District. Every such agreement must have the approval of the superintendent before the details of said agreement may be carried into effect as provided therein.

The new corporation may require the return of the original certificates of stock held by each stockholder in each of the corporations to be merged or consolidated and issue in lieu thereof new certificates for such number of shares of its own stock as such stockholder may be entitled to receive. If such company is required by the foreign nation within which it transacts business to make a deposit in the securities of its own Government, or otherwise, the excess of such deposit over the local reserve liability, computed according to the terms of sections 35–1101 to 35–1132, shall be allowed as an asset in the company's home statement. The company shall also be allowed to include in its admitted assets all agents' balances in foreign countries which are collectible and which are not more than one hundred and eighty days past due. The superintendent may, through the corporation counsel of the District, apply to the District Court of the United States for the District for a rule directing any company organized under the laws of the District or any company in the course of organization to show why the superintendent should not take possession of its property and conduct its business as the nature of the case and the interests of the policyholders, creditors, stockholders, or the public may require, whenever any such company is—

(a) Insolvent; or

(b) Has neglected or refused to observe a lawful order of the superintendent to make good any deficiency in its capital or surplus; or

(c) Has by contract of reinsurance or otherwise transferred or attempted to transfer substantially its entire property or business, or has entered into any transaction, the effect of which is to merge substantially its entire property or business in the property or business of any other company, without having first obtained the written approval of the superintendent; or

(d) Is found after an examination by the superintendent to be in such condition that its further transaction of business would be hazardous to its policyholders; or

(e) Has violated its charter; or

(f) Is carrying on activities against public policy.

Upon such application, such court may, in its discretion, issue an injunction restraining such company from the transaction of its business or disposition of its property pending further order of the court. On the return of such rule to show cause, the court shall hear, try, and determine the issues forthwith, and shall either deny the application or direct the superintendent to take possession of the property and conduct the business of such company and retain such possession and conduct such business until on the application either of the superintendent, the corporation counsel representing him, or the company, it shall, after a like hearing, appear to the court that the ground for the order directing the superintendent to take possession has been removed, and that the company can properly resume the possession of its property, and the conduct of its business. If on the like application and rule to show cause, and after a hearing, the court shall order the liquidation of the business of such company, such liquidation shall be made by and under the direction of the superintendent, who may deal with the property and business of such company in his own name as superintendent, or in the name of the company, as the court may direct, and shall be vested by operation of law with title to all of the property, contracts, and rights of action of such company as of the date of the order so directing him to liquidate. The filing or recording of such order in the office of the recorder of deeds for the District shall impart the same notice that a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded by such company would have imparted. For the purpose of this section, the superintendent shall have power to appoint under his hand and official seal one or more special deputy superintendents, and to employ clerks and assistants as may by him be deemed necessary. The fair and reasonable compensation of such special deputies, clerks, and assistants, and all the expenses of taking possession of and conducting the business of any such company shall, subject to the approval of the court, be paid out of the funds or assets of such company. The court may require a corporate surety bond or bonds from the superintendent in such amount as it may deem necessary. (Oct. 9, 1940, 54 Stat. 1067, ch. 792, §5, ch. II.)
